PART VI.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA. LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COUNCIL OF THE GOVERNOR GENERAL OF INDIA,
ASSEMBLED FOR THE PURPOSE OF MAKING LAWS AND REGULATIONS
UNDER THE PROVISIONS OF THE INDIAN COUNCILS ACTS,
AND 9 EDW. VII, C. 4).

The Council met at Government House on Tuesday, the 23th March 1910.

PRESENT :

His Excellency THE EARL OF MINIO, P.C., G.C.M.G., G.M.S.I., G.M.I.E., Viceroy and Governor General of India, presiding, and 58 Members, of whom 53 were Additional Members.

OATH OF OFFICE.

The following Additional Member, before taking his seat, made the prescribed oath of his allegiance to the Crown :—

The Hon'ble Mr. W. Maxwell.

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU asked :—

"Will the Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement of accounts detailing the initial and recurring expenditure involved in the reduplication of the administrative machinery consequent on the partition of Bengal?"

"Will the Government be pleased to state if the expenditure, both initial and recurring, incurred on account of the partition of Bengal has not exceeded the original estimates made for the purpose by the Government of Lord Curzon, and, if so, by how much?"

The Hon'ble Sir HARVEY ADAMSON replied :—

"It is not possible to answer the first part of the question with precision, as other factors affect the accounts besides the increase of administrative staff which was directly consequent on the formation of the new province. I lay on the table, however, two statements * showing :—

- (1) the cost of the administrative offices affected by the formation of the province of Eastern Bengal and Assam in 1904-05, the year before its formation, and in 1906-07, the year after it;

* Vide Appendices C and D.

[Sir Harvey Adamson ; Mr. Chitnavis ; Mr. S. P. Sinha ; Raja Partab Bahadur Singh ; Mr. Robertson.]

- (2) an estimate (for the work is not yet complete) of the special non-recurring expenditure incurred, chiefly at Dacca, in connection with the formation of the new province.

"In the first statement the increase of expenditure shown in the two years is roughly 12 lakhs. Some part of this is due to the normal growth of recurring charges which would have taken place even if there had been no change. But the increase directly attributable to the creation of the new province has no doubt in some measure exceeded the estimate framed by Lord Curzon's Government, which was 8.59 lakhs. The greater part of the excess occurred before the new province was actually formed and was due to three additions to the original scheme:—(i) the Secretary of State's decision to substitute a Board of Revenue for the proposed Financial Commissioner (Rs. 42,000) ; (ii) the appointment of a Commissioner of the Surma Valley (Rs. 36,000) ; and (iii) the appointment of a Legal Remembrancer (Rs. 46,000).

"For non-recurring initial expenditure no regular estimate was prepared by Lord Curzon's Government. A telegraphic rough estimate of 10 lakhs was furnished to the Secretary of State for the building of a Government House and Secretariat. This was prepared at very short notice, before an opportunity occurred of considering the requirements of the new province in consultation with its officers. The estimate which I now lay on the table includes large sums for improvements of a general character such as roads, water-works and sanitation. It also includes 8.92 lakhs for residence for Government officials. This is capital expenditure upon which interest and depreciation charges will be realized in the shape of rent from the occupants of the houses.

"For temporary buildings the original estimate was Rs. 1,85,000. The actual expenditure has been Rs. 2,68,527 to end of January 1910, or an increase of Rs. 83,500."

The Hon'ble MR. CHITNAVIS asked :—

"Is Government aware that it has been held by the Judicial Commissioner of the Central Provinces that a plaint cannot be admitted unless it is signed by the plaintiff himself, even when the plaintiff lives away and cannot sign the plaint without considerable trouble, inconvenience and loss of time? Is Government aware that suitors experience difficulties owing to this view of the law? Will Government be pleased to amend order VI, rule 14, of the First Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, so as to make signing of plaints by agents legal and valid?"

The Hon'ble MR. S. P. SINHA replied :—

"If on enquiry the Government of India are satisfied that hardship is caused by the interpretation put upon rule 14 of order VI of the First Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, by the Courts of the Central Provinces, they will represent the matter to the Local Government with a view to the removal of such hardship by the amendment of the rule in question by the High Court for the Central Provinces."

The Hon'ble RAJA PARTAB BAHADUR SINGH asked :—

"Will the Government be pleased to state the total amount of Government expenditure on Primary and Higher Education in the different provinces of India, and what is the amount per head of the population in respect of each one of the provinces?"

The Hon'ble SIR HARVEY ADAMSON replied :—

"A statement * giving the information asked for is placed on the table."

The Hon'ble RAJA PARTAB BAHADUR SINGH asked :—

"Is the Government aware that considerable inconvenience is caused to the public by the new rules of the Telegraph Department in the case of second class telegraph offices that are kept open only at stated hours? If so, what, if any, action is intended to be taken thereon?"

The Hon'ble MR. ROBERTSON replied :—

"Government are not aware that considerable inconvenience is caused to the public by the new rules of the Telegraph Department in the case of telegraph offices that are open only at stated hours.

"Considerable changes have been made in the working hours of such offices since 1908, but the requirements of the public were considered in every case, and the working hours have not been curtailed in any instance except where the traffic returns showed that this could be done without inconvenience to the public.

[Mr. Robertson ; Mr. Dadabhoy ; Sir Guy Fleetwood Wilson.]

"The principle which has governed the fixing of the working hours in telegraph offices is that an office should not be kept open when there is practically no traffic offering. To keep offices open for longer hours than this would generally mean a disproportionate increase in the working expenses. The 'late fee' system, by which, on payment of an extra charge, a telegram may be sent during the hours when an office is closed, is intended to meet the case of occasional telegrams.

"Superintendents of Divisions have standing instructions to keep themselves informed of the suitability of the working hours of all offices in their Divisions to the public requirements and to alter the working hours where required.

"If the Hon'ble Member will inform the Director General of Telegraphs of any particular instances in which the public are inconvenienced, enquiry will at once be made into the circumstances."

The Hon'ble MR. DADABHOY asked :—

"Having regard to the Hon'ble Sir Edward Baker's statement in this Council of 27th March 1907, anent compensation from the British Exchequer for the loss of the opium revenue of this Government, and to the actual loss of revenue necessitating the imposition of fresh taxation, will the Government be pleased to state what action, if any, has been taken by it or the Secretary of State to secure a substantial grant by way of compensation from the British Exchequer ?"

The Hon'ble SIR GUY FLEETWOOD WILSON replied :—

"The matter is one on which the Government of India are not in a position to make any statement."

The Hon'ble MR. DADABHOY asked :—

"In view of the official statement in reply to a recent question in the House of Commons about the suggested amendment of the law relating to life assurance in India, will the Government be pleased—

- (a) to make an early declaration of its intentions ;
- (b) to consult the public bodies besides Chambers of Commerce before taking final action ; and
- (c) to lay on the table all correspondence on the subject ?"

The Hon'ble MR. ROBERTSON replied :—

"The Government of India have under consideration the question of amending the law relating to Life Assurance in India on the lines of the English law. Local Governments and Administrations have already been consulted on the subject, and with their replies they have submitted the views of the Chambers of Commerce and other representative commercial bodies. The Government of India have considered these replies and have found that there are likely to be practical difficulties in applying certain of the provisions of the English Act to Indian conditions. The difficulties are for the most part of a technical nature and will require careful examination. Amongst others I may mention the question of obtaining from Indian Companies a statement of valuation of liabilities similar to that required by the provisions and schedules of the English Act. This can be properly prepared only by a qualified actuary, and, so far as the Government of India are aware, there is only one actuary in the whole of India. At the same time the Government of India have as yet at their disposal no organization similar to that which the Board of Trade possess for scrutinising the statements and returns. There is further the question of distinguishing between companies which actually transact life assurance business and those which are in fact nothing more than Provident Societies, though they describe themselves as Life Assurance Companies. It is clear that the two classes cannot be brought under one common regulation. Any cautionary deposit, for example, which it might be deemed advisable to require from Companies doing life assurance proper would probably be excessive in the case of the smaller Provident Societies. Again, it may be necessary in the case of the latter to limit the liability for which each society may engage itself in respect of any individual policy and to restrict the class of business undertaken by such societies. The above are not the only points that have been raised, but I mention them to show that the application to India of the English procedure is a matter which requires a good deal of consideration. The Government of India are at present in consultation with experts at Calcutta and Bombay as to the best method of dealing with the whole question.

"With regard to the second part of the Hon'ble Member's question, I may say that public bodies will have an opportunity of putting forward their views on any measures that may be finally proposed before they become law.

"The Government of India do not consider it desirable at this stage to lay the correspondence on the table."

The Hon'ble MR. N. SUBBA RAO asked :—

"Will the Government be pleased to state—

- (1) whether it is aware that Provident Funds under various names have been started in the Presidency of Madras, under cover of which promoters make large sums of money at the expense of subscribers and members, and ignorant people have been deluded by false promises and cheated of their monies ;
- (2) whether its attention is drawn to the judgment of the High Court in the Bapatla Provident Fund Criminal Appeal in which their Lordships Mr. Justice Benson and Mr. Justice Abdur Rahim, on the 2nd February last, held that the Fund in question was more in the nature of a lottery and set aside the conviction and sentence passed on the accused—the Directors of the Company—by the Sessions Judge of Guntur ; and to the remarks of Sir Ralph Benson therein that the Legislature should take into consideration cases of this sort and protect the ignorant and unwary from the snare set up by the promoters of such Companies ;
- (3) how far this evil is prevalent in other Provinces, and to place on the table reports, if any, received on the subject from Provincial Governments ;
- (4) whether it will take steps to introduce legislation to check the evil and extend the protection of law to bona fide Companies started for mutual benefit on the lines of Friendly Societies in Western countries ? "

The Hon'ble MR. ROBERTSON replied :—

"The Government of India have recently received a communication from the Government of Madras urging the desirability of legislation to control the operations of Provident Societies which undertake life assurance business. No reports on the subject of such societies have of late been received from other Local Governments. But I may state that the question of undertaking legislation for their control was considered in consultation with all Local Governments in 1900, and the decision arrived at was that the necessity of such legislation had not at the time been established. So far as the Government of India are aware, the evil referred to by the Hon'ble Member does not prevail to the same extent in any other part of India as in Madras. The judgment of the Madras High Court alluded to by the Hon'ble Member has not been brought to the notice of the Government of India officially, but they have seen a report of the case in the public Press. As it appears from the reply which I have just made to the Hon'ble Mr. Dadabhoy, the question of undertaking legislation to control the operations of these societies is closely connected with that relating to Life Assurance Companies. The whole subject is at the present time engaging the attention of the Government of India, and they do not consider it desirable at the present stage to lay the correspondence on the table."

The Hon'ble MR. MADGE asked :—

"Will the Government be so good as to state whether, in the reply of the Under Secretary of State to a question from Mr. Rees, that it has been decided in future to aim at recruiting for Indians one-half of the vacancies occurring in the Enrolled List of the Finance Department, the word 'Indians' includes or excludes 'Statutory Indians' as defined by an earlier decision of the Secretary of State ; and, if it excludes them, whether the Government will take steps to remove the barrier thus thrown up against the domiciled community."

The Hon'ble SIR GUY FLEETWOOD WILSON replied :—

"What has been decided is to recruit Indians, in the sense of persons of pure Asiatic descent, for one-half of the future vacancies in the Enrolled List. But this new decision throws up no new barrier against members of the domiciled community. They will still remain eligible, as at present, for admission by competition in India or by promotion from the subordinate ranks. Their position is in no way affected."

The Hon'ble Mr. GRAHAM, in the absence of the Hon'ble MR. ARMSTRONG, asked :—

"Are the Government of India aware that the amendment of the Bombay Port Trust Act, 1879, made by the Bombay Repealing and Amending Act, 1909, which recently received the assent of the Governor General, has created great dissatisfaction amongst that part of the mercantile community of Bombay which is represented by the Bombay Chamber of Commerce ?

"Have the Government of India replied to the memorial of the Bombay Chamber of Commerce of the 31st July 1909, praying that assent might be withheld from the Act in question ?"

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON replied :—

"The Government of India are aware that the amendment of the Bombay Port Trust Act made by the Bombay Repealing and Amending Act, 1909, has been received with dissatisfaction by the Bombay Chamber of Commerce.

"The memorial of the Chamber to which the Hon'ble Member refers was carefully considered by the Government of India before His Excellency's assent was given to the Act, and they were of opinion that it was contrary to precedent to refuse assent to an Act passed by the Legislative Council of a Local Government on grounds such as were set forth in the memorial. The Government of India regret that a reply was not sent to the Chamber of Commerce with regard to their memorial at the time when the decision of the Government of India on that memorial was communicated to the Government of Bombay."

The Hon'ble MR. GHUZNAVI asked :—

"Will the Government be pleased to state the number and the names of the students from the different Universities who proceeded to England as State scholars under Home Department Resolution Nos. 1—45-57, dated the 12th February 1886, and No. 9—269-81, dated the 23rd August 1882 ? Will the Government be pleased to state generally the nature of their occupation since their return ?

"Will the Government be pleased to state the number and nature of studies of the scholars who were selected for technical education in Europe under Home Department Resolution No. 41, dated 20th January 1904, and the nature of their occupation since their return ? Also whether any Muhammadan was selected for any of these scholarships ?

"Will the Government be pleased to state whether they have under consideration any scheme for a special scholarship, general or technical, tenable in England for Muhammadans similar to the special scholarship for Eurasians and Anglo-Indians instituted by Home Department Resolution Nos. 22—38, dated the 19th March 1907 ?"

The Hon'ble SIR HARVEY ADAMSON replied :—

"In answer to the first and second questions, the statements* placed on the table give the information asked for by the Hon'ble Member, so far as it has been possible to obtain it. Several of the scholars whose names are included in the statements have not yet completed their studies abroad. The answer to the third question is in the negative."

DISCUSSION OF THE BUDGET FOR 1910-11.

His Excellency THE PRESIDENT said :—"I should like to inform Hon'ble Members, before the discussion on the Budget begins, that, as I told them the other day, I propose to limit the speeches to 20 minutes with the exception of those of Members in charge. But as I am anxious not to interrupt Hon'ble Members in the middle of a sentence, I have arranged that a bell of warning should ring one minute before the time is up. I hope that will assist Hon'ble Members as regards their speeches."

The Hon'ble MR. DADABHOY said :—"My Lord, the general features of the Budget do not call for any special comment. But for the taxation and the loan, necessitated principally by an alarming growth in expenditure, it would perhaps have evoked popular applause. Even as it is it affords proof of the care and skill with which the Hon'ble Sir Guy Fleetwood Wilson has worked out the whole thing. I only wish he had made more strenuous efforts to keep down expenditure, both civil and military. It seems we are progressing too fast in the matter of expenditure. The main increase has been in the civil departments. The public have their suspicions about the utility and the necessity of all this heavy expenditure. A fuller explanatory note on the point would have been welcome, and would have helped us to form a correct estimate of the administrative value of the Government liberality.

"My Lord, the decision of the Government about the inquiry into the whole subject of high prices, mooted first by my friend the Hon'ble Mr. Chitnavis, is disappointing to a degree. In 1908 the Government undertook to consider the suggestion of a joint Commission of officials and non-officials "should they decide that inquiry was advisable." In 1909, in answer to my question on the subject, in explanation apparently of the delay in taking action, Government stated: "It is, however, a question of much complexity, involving a number of other issues of much moment." In the course of the Budget debate of last year the Hon'ble Finance Member announced in effect the Government decision to inquire into the subject, and his remarks induced the belief that an open inquiry by a Commission would be sanctioned. He observed:—

'Nor can I make any announcement yet regarding an inquiry into prices, for the manner and agency of the inquiry are still under the Secretary of State's discussion. . . . We are prepared to ascertain the facts with the utmost care and to give our best consideration to any suggestions which are based on knowledge and accurate data.'

"Suggestions . . . based on knowledge and accurate data," consideration of which was promised can only be made to a Commission taking evidence at important centres; the ascertainment of "the facts with the utmost care" is best effected by such a Commission of officials and non-officials. But a single officer is expected to do this work in disregard of the fact, that a departmental inquiry of the sort can never be expected to elicit the facts bearing on a matter of "much complexity" and pregnant with various momentous issues. The terms of the reference would clearly shew that the subject lies more in the line of a first-rate economist than the cleverest officer, however experienced at figures. What is an office head to know of "world factors," of the permanent or temporary nature of the rise in prices, and of its "probable economic effects on the country as a whole and on the different sections of the community" which he is asked to report upon? The principle which the Finance Minister lays down of diagnosis preceding treatment, is exceptionable. We are in cordial agreement there. But in my humble opinion proper diagnosis of the particular evil can only be made with the help of an open commission. The ascertainment of facts and the reasons underlying them is peculiarly within the province of a commission. That is by common consent the function assigned to commissions. Why should then the satisfactory method of an open inquiry by a commission be abandoned in a matter which is unusually complex and difficult, and in an examination of which all the help which economists of experience can give should be courted? The order has been reversed, and the idea seems to be that the "treatment" and not the "diagnosis" can be referred to a commission. This treatment, on the contrary, could be left, as it must in the end be, to Government.

"My Lord, the subject of the financing of Protective Irrigation Works finds a suitable place in a review of the Financial Statement. The present arrangement is precarious, and satisfactory provision for such works is a matter more or less of chance. The policy being to finance them from the revenue, a source of supply dependent upon various fortuitous circumstances, the initial outlay on them must necessarily be somewhat uncertain. The past history of the works supports this view. The Secretary of State, with a statesmanlike appreciation of the importance of irrigation, has been pleased to fix the maximum expenditure on Protective Works at 100 lacs of rupees, but that figure has so far not been worked up to. Last year's principle of economy and retrenchment does not inspire the allotments in the Budget under discussion, and the Finance Minister has set forth his position in clear language:

'Though I view with grave anxiety the steady growth of our expenditure, yet I realise that, without a general recasting of our scale of public charges, we cannot extend indefinitely those retrenchments of a temporary and emergent character which have been forced upon us in the last two years.'

[Mr. Dadabhoy.]

✓ The "inevitable" "permanent strengthening of our resources," which the Finance Minister thinks necessary, has been effected by the imposition of fresh taxes. And yet the allotment for Protective Irrigation Works is less than the former maximum of 75 lacs by about $5\frac{1}{2}$ lacs. Unless, therefore, Protective Irrigation Works are placed on the same footing as regards Capital outlay as Productive Works, and are financed out of loan funds, as recommended by the Scott-Moncrieff Commission, there is not much prospect of their being pushed on with vigour.

"The utility of these works is best proved in the province of which I am one of the humble representatives. In the scheme recommended by the Irrigation Commission there was not a large provision of productive works for the Central Provinces. Most of the works for that province were what are known as protective, as the prospective return was calculated to fall below the normal standard of $3\frac{3}{4}$ per cent. They were recommended for their protective value, a very great thing in itself which, in my humble opinion, would justify a liberal allotment even in years of financial stress. How popular these protective works are will appear from the remarks of the Local Government in the Resolution on the Administration Report on the Irrigation Branch of the Public Works Department for the year 1908-09 :

'The agricultural year 1908-09 under review was marked by a heavy monsoon and a good harvest. The rainfall was generally above the average, yet the area irrigated, 34,808 acres, was very little short of the figure, 37,357 acres, for the year 1907-08, which was one of very short rainfall. This is most satisfactory, as it confirms the opinion repeatedly expressed in connection with the projects recommended for sanction that irrigation will be required and prove beneficial to crops even in years of good or normal rainfall, owing to the fact that the distribution of the rainfall is seldom exactly suitable.'

"This of itself would warrant a more vigorous programme of construction. The history of the Chhattisgarh irrigation works will make it abundantly clear that there is no cause for nervousness in expenditure on these protective works, and that the strong condemnation of the present classification of irrigation works into Productive and Protective by the Irrigation Commission is just. The following extract from the same Resolution explains the position :

'Now that the great advantage of irrigation has been realised by the cultivator in Chhattisgarh, and that the water-rates there are being raised, a better forecast can be made of the probable return that may be expected from these works. At present the areas irrigated are largest in the Raipur and Drug districts, because the protective works elsewhere are not yet sufficiently advanced to irrigate large areas. The water-rate charged in Chhattisgarh during the year was only Rs. 0-12-0 per acre on most of the area irrigated, yet five of the works there have given a net direct return of practically one per cent. The water-rate has already been raised to Rs. 1-4-0 and will soon be raised to Rs. 2. This should send the net return up to 27 per cent. and the indirect return may be estimated at about two per cent. But transplanted rice is beginning to replace broadcasted rice, and the water-rate in the case of this crop will eventually rise to Rs. 2-8 or even Rs. 3 per acre. These works therefore give every promise of becoming productive and if this should prove the case in Chhattisgarh, there is no doubt that those in other parts of the Province, where transplanted rice is the chief crop, cannot fall behind.'

"My Hon'ble friend Mr. Jacob, in spite of his experience and high authority as one of the most capable and distinguished engineers in the service of the Crown, will thus see that the Swat River Canal is not solitary proof of the artificial and misleading nature of the distinction now made between Productive and Protective Works. The estimated return in Chhattisgarh, with a water-rate of Rs. 2 per acre, is 27 per cent. ; with the expected increased rate of Rs. 2-8-0 and Rs. 3 per acre, the yield should be much larger. The distinction is the more to be regretted in that it influences the method of financing the two different classes of works. The exigencies of the situation require that Protective Irrigation Works should be financed out of loan funds and not left to the tender mercies of the monsoons, which to a large extent determine the amount of available revenue. My Lord, a change of policy in the treatment of Protective Irrigation Works should now be carefully considered in view of the East India Loans Bill that has just passed through Parliament. The Secretary of State will have under the measure large borrowing powers for the support of Railways and Irrigation, and it will be a matter of regret if the increased financial ability is not utilised for the construction of these very necessary and valuable works. Larger and more liberal allotments are clearly required for the Central Provinces. The execution of the Tendula project, costing 95 lacs of rupees, can no longer be delayed with justice to the province, and the Mahanadi Canal should also be taken in hand as soon as it is sanctioned. I earnestly hope the facts I now place before the Council will engage the sympathetic attention of Government, and at least the maximum expenditure of 100 lacs a year on Protective Works sanctioned by the Secretary of State will be provided for in the annual Budget, irrespective of the amount of surplus.

"My Lord, it is a matter of the deepest regret that no provision is made in the Budget for the separation of judicial and executive functions. The Hon'ble Finance Member is silent on the subject. There is thus little chance of the reform being introduced even next year. Need the Government be reminded that delay in the introduction of this urgent reform is capable of misconstruction? "Hope deferred maketh the heart sick." Two years ago the Hon'ble Home Member in this Council explained the details of a scheme this Government undertook to refer to the Governments of the two Bengals and the High Court of Bengal for examination and criticism. The reference must have been made soon after. In February last year I was informed in this Council that replies had not been received, and when they were, further consideration of the scheme and a further reference to the Secretary of State would be necessary. Nearly fourteen months have elapsed since then, but the subject does not appear to have passed beyond the initial stage of discussion. Nor is it expected that the scheme would be fit for introduction during the coming year. Why there should be so much delay over the settlement of the details of a small measure is a matter of surprise to the country. An early declaration of the intentions of Government in this respect will remove much misapprehension. Surely the tentative introduction of a change of this nature in the district administrative machinery is not a reform of such magnitude or complexity as to elude settlement, if tackled with vigour by Government. The public hope, notwithstanding absence of Budget provision, the Government will see its way to put the scheme into practical operation next year. The experiment cannot cost much, and such as it is, the bulk of it, if not the whole, will be met from Provincial revenues.

"My Lord, the Hon'ble Mr. Harvey's statement last year of the Government policy of financing improvements in the existing Railway lines with borrowed capital, unsupported as it was by detailed reasons, is, to my mind, inconclusive, and has failed to convince the people of either its necessity or its wisdom; and I regret I have to repeat my complaint on that head. I shall be glad to know the special reasons which prevent the adoption in Railway finance of the same salutary method of effecting improvements out of revenue as is followed with such conspicuous success in private commercial and industrial undertakings. Improvement in such enterprises is provided for by a Depreciation Fund, and unless a thorough overhaul becomes necessary, the arrangement is found satisfactory. New machinery, new buildings, and additional facilities are provided for from the revenue, and on exceptional occasions by temporary loans. Private companies do satisfactory business that way. It is doubtful economy to appropriate to general account any portion of the revenue, and leave the cost of the improvements to be defrayed out of Capital Expenditure. The existing arrangement is unsatisfactory, especially because it does not give the public an accurate idea of the commercial value of Railways.

"One thing more before I leave the subject. The Hon'ble Mr. Harvey, in response to my appeal of last year for a moderation of the constructive activity of Government, stated that the Government looked forward to "an increase, and not a reduction, in our present rate of progress." My Lord, duty impels me to sound a note of warning that such a decision will be opposed to public opinion which the Government values. I do not refer here to the large commercial bodies who are interested in Railway development; I speak of the intelligent general public who are not satisfied with the Railway returns, are apprehensive that the present rate of progress in construction, not to speak of any increase in it, may ultimately impose a heavy burden on our finances, and are in favour of a cautious programme. The Finance Minister says last year there was "a net loss" on Railway account. Judged in the light of human probabilities, the experience may not be unique, and it is likely that, given similar meteorological and commercial conditions, the same results will follow. Will it not be prudent to shape the Railway policy in recognition of this fact?

"My Lord, in judging of the financial position of Government, the present price of opium should be considered. The market has firmed up within the last few weeks, and the rate at present is much over the estimated price per chest with a distinct upward tendency. There are operators who would predict a steady average of about Rs. 3,000 per chest. The reduction in the supply would thus be more than counterbalanced by a large improvement in the selling rate. It may in the end be that the actual loss during the current year will be considerably less than the latest estimate, and that there will be small loss next year in the revenue from this source. The anticipations of the Hon'ble Finance Member may thus prove unnecessarily lugubrious. There is at least no reason to suppose that the financial difficulty is really so serious as to justify additional taxation. At the same time it may be, and it appears only natural in the circumstances that it should be, that the ultimate loss in revenue to this Government, due to the British agreement with the Chinese Government, will be very serious. No improvement in the rate can compensate for the interdiction of the trade. The ultimate elimination of this source of revenue is a factor which must be constantly kept in view and provided against beforehand. But the manner in which the difficulty is sought to be overcome is open to comment. The loss is the direct result of the policy of the Imperial Government. The people have therefore a right to expect that the Home Government would recoup the loss occasioned by its policy by a handsome contribution. It is but bare justice to this country; it is unfair to place the whole burden upon India. Government, the public earnestly hope, will press this matter upon the Home Government.

"My Lord, the present depressed condition of the Indian cotton industry should engage the anxious consideration of this Government. The development of Indian manufacture, providing as it does a solution of the Indian economic problem, must have official sympathy and support; and when a hitherto progressive industry is threatened with injury, adequate provision ought to be made by Government for its preservation. Every obstruction, every drawback should be removed; nay more, every encouragement should be given to maintain vitality and to ensure growth. The countervailing excise duty upon Indian cotton fabrics is an impediment—unnecessary, unjust, irritating, and vexatious—which a wise Government would in the circumstances hasten to remove. But there does not appear to be, in England at any rate, any disposition to do this act of justice and statesmanship. The public had hoped that the temper of the Home Government in relation to this matter would improve after the General Elections; but the Secretary of State's promise to consider the question of a countervailing excise upon Indian tobacco is calculated to dispel all hopes of redress. My Lord, now we hear a good deal of Tariff Reform; there is a swinging back of the pendulum in free-trade England. Why cannot the people of this country hope for a share in that reform when it comes? Why cannot they expect a protectionist change in the tariff policy of this Government? I refuse to believe that Lord Curzon's view, that India cannot have a place in a scheme of tariff reform, except one of absolute and unquestioning subordination, represents correctly the sentiment of the English nation. There is a general feeling in favour of Protection in this country; a judicious protective tariff is demanded by intelligent public opinion in the interests of the undeveloped industries. Can the Government disregard this opinion long with either justice or advantage? No doubt the question is very serious, involving far-reaching issues, and should not be lightly disposed of; but public interest would best be served by a free discussion in private conference between the representatives of the Government and the leaders of public opinion. If protective tariff is found either impossible or undesirable at such conference, the people will be easily reconciled to the position.

"My Lord, so far as Government has any real financial difficulty to fear at present, it is due, not so much to the contraction in the opium revenue, but to that ill-fated Partition of Bengal which has taxed, and promises to tax in future, the resources of this Government. The incidental charge, capital and revenue, is inconveniently large. This is only the beginning. The prospective increase in expenditure on account of this Partition may be assumed to be larger still. And the burden unhappily falls equally upon provinces that have no direct interest in it.

"My Lord, outside this Council the complaint has been that Central Provinces subjects have bulked too largely in our deliberations, but the existing state of things forces our hands. We, representatives of the province, shall be glad to exclude matters of provincial interest from our appeals and criticisms, provided facilities are given us for their discussion in a Provincial Legislative Council. Last year I pleaded for the creation of such a Council by proclamation under section 46 of the Indian Councils Act of 1861, but the suggestion was not acceptable to Government. Nobody regrets the decision more than the people of the province. It deprives them of the most effective means of bringing local matters to the notice of Government. Two members, or even three members, cannot be expected to do full justice to the various insistent claims of a large and growing province in a Council having charge of the legislative interests of the whole of India. Many subjects, besides, have now to be eliminated from our discussion as being too parochial; for every point raised a reference to the Local Administration becomes necessary. The absence again of the direct and free discussion between the Hon'ble the Chief Commissioner and the representatives of the people, such as is ensured by a Provincial Legislative Council, often gives rise to misconceptions, and the decisions of Government based upon the views of local officials, which are from the necessities of the situation uninfluenced by "advanced public opinion," do not meet the public wishes, and are liable to misinterpretation. The people have no means now of influencing the decisions of the Local Administration, except by a personal appeal or in private interview. However sympathetic and enlightened the Chief Commissioner may be, and the present incumbent, the Hon'ble Mr. Craddock, I am glad to publicly acknowledge, is both, he has to depend more or less upon local officials for information and advice. The reports of these officers go unchallenged. The corrective influence of public opinion is absent. The local public therefore demand a local machinery for the discussion of provincial matters. Meetings have been held at different centres, requesting the Government to create at least an Advisory Council, such as was recommended by the Hon'ble Mr. Craddock in his Note on the Reform proposals of this Government. My Lord, is it too much to hope that Your Excellency will still, before laying down the reins of office, provide a Legislative Council for the Central Provinces, or, failing that, an Advisory Council on the lines suggested by the Hon'ble Chief Commissioner.

"The Central Provinces people also earnestly hope that the recent amendment of the Central Provinces Civil Courts Act will lead to the creation of a Chief Court at Nagpur.

"My Lord, the Regulations framed under the Reform Scheme demand careful notice. I do not doubt they are framed with care and the best of means, but they are capable of considerable improvement in certain respects. The rules regulating elections are not popular; they fail to secure popular co-operation in the work in the manner contemplated in Lord Morley's despatch of November 1903. Important classes have no share in the elections; the educated Indian as such has no voice; the masses do not participate in them. These are defects which the country expects will shortly be removed. In my humble opinion, with a view to associate the people more intimately in these elections, a few seats on the various Councils should be thrown open to individual voting, so that every respectable citizen may feel he is a recognised unit in the Empire. To secure proper representation and discourage undue influence in these elections, it would be far better to provide for individual voting by the members of the local bodies instead of voting through delegates. The educated community should also have the suffrage, not through universities only, but individually. The veto which Government has reserved to itself should provide the most effective check upon reckless elections. Government has nothing to fear but much to gain from the suggested changes. The people will then come to take a healthy interest in these elections, and will necessarily be more intimately associated with the Administration. The object of the scheme will thus be served.

"My Lord, before I conclude I must give expression to the general feeling of regret felt in India at the termination of the period of Your Excellency's office. It is a very great loss at the present time. It is almost a personal loss to us who have had the privilege and the pleasure of coming into direct contact with Your Excellency; to the general public Your Excellency's retirement means the withdrawal from the Administration of a Pro-Consul who, distinguished alike by numerous qualities of head and heart,—firm, sympathetic, and far-seeing—has done much to restore order at an exceptionally difficult juncture, and to lead the people to a nobler sphere of political activity and administrative utility than before. We all hope, my Lord, although removed from us by continents and oceans, for long years to come Your Excellency will continue to watch over the interests of this distant dependency, and from a higher sphere of executive responsibility to mould its destinies with Your Excellency's characteristic sympathy and benevolence."

The Hon'ble MR. JACOB said :—" My Lord, I do not propose to occupy the time of the Council for very long. I spoke at some length at the irrigation debate on the 9th of this month, and Mr. Dadabhoy, in the part of his speech referring to irrigation, has introduced nothing new except a new inaccuracy. It is only with reference to this inaccuracy that I should like to say a few words.

" My Lord, Mr. Dadabhoy and I are both irrigation enthusiasts, but I must confess that he has beaten me this time. My enthusiasm is on a lower plane than his and does not permit me to ignore decimal points or to multiply the returns of our irrigation works by ten to show what amazing feats our irrigation officers can perform.

" When I spoke on the last occasion I explained to the Council that there was only one work which, originally classified as a protective work, had ultimately proved to be productive. This was the Lower Swat Canal, and I also explained that it was not a case in point as it was a work which should never have been classed as productive. Mr. Dadabhoy contests the truth of what I then said. He calls attention to another work, and to prove his point he quotes, or rather misquotes, from the Central Provinces Resolution on the irrigation report of 1908-09. He makes the Local Administration say that provided certain irrigation rates are imposed on the tank works in the Chhattisgarh civil division, these works will pay 27 per cent. I would first like to explain that these Chhattisgarh tank works are not protective works in the way we technically class them. They are minor works, and I never said that minor works were not remunerative; in a good many cases they are, but for the purposes of the Irrigation Bill Mr. Dadabhoy's argument they are irrelevant. But even if these works were in the protective class, Mr. Dadabhoy is mistaken in thinking that they are remunerative. What the Local Administration said was this. The present rates are Rs. 1-4 and it was hoped in time to raise them to Rs. 2, and when they had been so raised the project should pay 2·7 per cent. and not 27 per cent. as stated by the Hon'ble Mr. Dadabhoy.

" My Lord, Mr. Dadabhoy in his error can comfort himself in the knowledge that another famous statesman, Lord Randolph Churchill, found a difficulty with decimal points and wanted to know what all the little dots meant. I have corrected his mistake because it is right that the Council should not be misled. The Central Provinces irrigation works are doing extremely well and they will no doubt do better in course of time, but they are not, and never will be, the El Dorado that the Hon'ble Mr. Dadabhoy would have the Council to believe."

The Hon'ble MR. CHITNAVIS said :—" My Lord, three brief years have dissolved the hopes expressed by the Hon'ble Sir Edward Baker ' that the 'void' in our opium revenue ' will be made good without imposing on Indian taxpayers a burden greater than they can bear.' The fears I then expressed have come out true. In the words of Mr. Montagu, Under-Secretary of State, ' India's strict fulfilment of the agreement has imposed serious burdens on the Indian Government and the Native States.' We have so far only lost a fraction of the revenue. The budgeted loss in revenue of a little over a crore of rupees, together with a small increase in the Provincial allotment to East Bengal, has necessitated not only a loan of a crore-and-a-half of rupees, but heavy taxation. I shudder to think what the influence upon Indian finances of the total loss of the revenue a few years hence will be. The financial difficulty of the Government gives point to the appeal I made in 1907 for a substantial contribution from the British Exchequer. To place upon India's weak shoulders the whole of the loss in revenue caused by the policy of the Imperial Government would be opposed to the noble traditions of the English people. This is not the first time they are engaged in a moral fight; all their past services in the cause of morality have been accompanied by pecuniary sacrifices which have made them honoured among civilised nations. Why should India alone be denied that financial assistance that has been ungrudgingly given to other countries on similar occasions? Owing to difficulties over the British Budget, it may not be possible to give practical effect to this suggestion immediately; but all I plead for is a contribution by the Home Government after settlement of its present troubles.

" The partition of Bengal, according to the Hon'ble Finance Member, is equally responsible with the opium policy for Government's difficulties. Notwithstanding the well-known arguments of administrative efficiency and needs, the multiplication of offices which an administrative change like the partition involves is an act calculated to alarm the public. My Lord, in India, judging from past experience, the cost of administration has a normal tendency towards expansion, and, in my humble opinion, anything which helps the growth cannot be too strictly scrutinised, and, if avoidable, cannot be too severely condemned. The whole country must view with alarm the duplication of offices in Bengal and the large increase in cost in consequence of the partition, especially when it imposes burdens upon the other provinces.

"The growth of expenditure under the head 'Salaries and Expenses of Civil Departments' is alarming. The budget estimate for 1910-11 exceeds the actual expenditure in 1905-06 by 14 per cent., and that of 1904-05 by 22 per cent. Such a large increase in normal years imperatively demands scrutiny. The police expenditure has grown enormously. Compared to 1905-06 the increase is 31 per cent., and to 1904-05 it is 40 per cent. ! Something should be done to arrest such abnormal growth, and the Finance Minister who applies the brake will deserve well of the community. The Finance Minister himself, speaking of the difficulties of the Government, remarked last year: 'The occasion is one not for cheery optimism, but for circumspection and economy.' The lapse of a year has only added force to the weighty opinion. It should not be beyond the resourcefulness of such a capable Minister as the Hon'ble Sir Guy Fleetwood Wilson to devise means for keeping civil expenditure under control.

"My Lord, the suggestion for retrenchment and apportionment of cost is made not in a captious spirit, but with all humility, in full recognition of the good intentions of Government, under a sense of alarm at the risks Government is undergoing in adding to the popular irritation and discontentment by fresh taxation. Were economy the dominating principle of Indian finance, in spite of the contraction in the revenue, the recent taxation could have been avoided. Taxation is always unpopular, and introduced at a time of public excitement and unrest, it excites suspicion and becomes a source of danger to the State.

"My Lord, the Budget under discussion is remarkable in more ways than one, and the Hon'ble Finance Member is to be congratulated on not only a distinctly Puritan budget, but on taxation which might encourage, however feebly, home industries. The country must be grateful to him for his sympathetic attitude towards the Indian industries. 'I think Swadesi is good; and if the outcome of the changes I have laid before the Council result in some encouragement for Indian industries, I for one shall not regret it.' For a Finance Minister to say even so much is not a small thing. No Finance Minister could be expected to evince a more active sympathy in the present state of India's fiscal dependence upon the most pronounced and determined free-trade country of the world. The Hon'ble Sir Guy Fleetwood Wilson has indeed placed the people under deep obligations. We all appreciate his kindness and benevolence. At the same time we regret the absence of fiscal autonomy for India, and the limitations under which this Government has to frame its industrial policy; we regret Government cannot give the country a protective tariff forthwith. However excellent free trade may be for a country in an advanced stage of industrial development, it must be conceded that protection is necessary for the success and development of infant industries. Even pronounced protagonists of free trade do not view this idea with disfavour. England has not reached her present state of development without protection. The history of English monopolies of the sixteenth century and the early part of the seventeenth points to an unmistakable moral. That Indian manufacturing industry is in its infancy, does not admit of controversy. Why should not India then claim special protection for her undeveloped industry? Even countries remarkable for their industrial enterprise and excellence protect their industries. The United States of America and Germany are decidedly protectionist; the British colonies have protective tariffs; according to the Master of Elibank, they impose 33½ per cent. duties even upon British imports; and latterly there has come to be a distinctly protectionist feeling in Britain itself. The duties imposed by the colonies are protective in purpose, scope and effect. They are not like the Indian import-duties levied for revenue purposes. The Indian appeal for protection cannot in the circumstances be unreasonable. The development of the industries is a matter of great moment to the Empire, and the popular leanings towards protectionism ought to engage the sympathy of the Government. But, my Lord, even taxes levied for revenue purposes, uninspired by economic considerations, excite the jealousy of the British manufacturer, and lead to the imposi-

No. 1357-P.—THE fees prescribed in the fourth schedule to the Inventions and Designs Act of 1888 have been paid for the continuance of exclusive privilege in respect of the undermentioned inventions for the periods shown against each:—

- No. 555 of 1905.—Heinrich Hofmann. Improvements in and relating to roofs and the like. (From 17 April 1910 to 17 April 1911.)
- No. 170 of 1906.—Joseph Gouldie. Improvements in brakes for railway trucks and other vehicles. (From 16 May 1910 to 16 May 1911.)
- No. 405 of 1905.—Samuel Telford Dutton. An improved apparatus for exchange of tokens used as "line clears" on railways. (From 11 April 1910 to 11 April 1911.)
- No. 235 of 1901.—A. P. Roy, Roy's tiled walling. (From 15 April 1910 to 15 April 1911.)

- No. 38 of 1905.—Archibald, A. Crawford. Improved method for supply of electric current to lamps and fans, especially on railway carriages deriving electricity from axledriven dynamos in combination with storage cells. (From 29 May 1910 to 29 May 1911.)
- No. 296 of 1905.—James Robinson, Hatmaker. Improvements in cylindrical drying machines. (From 28 May 1910 to 28 May 1911.)
- No. 492 of 1905.—Lon A. Bond. Improved manufacture of water-proof fabric or material. (From 4 June 1910 to 4 June 1911.)

No. 1358-P.—WHEREAS the inventors of the undermentioned inventions have respectively failed to pay, within the time limited in that behalf by the fourth schedule to the Inventions and Designs Act of 1888, the fees hereinafter respectively mentioned, it is hereby notified that under the provisions of section 8, sub-section (2), of the said Act the exclusive privilege of making, selling and using the said inventions in British India, and of authorizing others so to do, has ceased:—

- No. 258 of 1905.—Constant Lecaime. Improvements in and relating to rotary engines. (Specification filed 3 January 1906.)
- No. 259 of 1905.—The Portable Folding Mosquito bar Frame, Company. A portable folding mosquito bar frame. (Specification filed 3 January 1906.)
- No. 275 of 1905.—The Morgan Crucible Company, Limited. Improvements in commutator brushes. (Specification filed 8 January 1906.)
- No. 276 of 1905.—Thomas Mills Anderson, and Roscoe Wormald. Improvements in machines for rolling screw nut-blanks. (Specification filed 8 January 1906.)
- No. 520 of 1905.—Joyce Mary Deacon. Improvements in shirts. (Specification filed 5 January 1906.)

Fee in respect of the continuance of an exclusive privilege—

- 4 (a) After the filing of the specification and before the expiration of the fourth year from the date of the filing thereof—

The sum of Rs50 for each of the above inventions.

- No. 257 of 1904.—Richard Beaumont Walker and Frederick Robert Sandford. Improvements in railway and similar signals. (Specification filed 6 January 1905.)
- No. 504 of 1904.—The Lamp Manufacturing Company, Limited. Improvements in oil lamps for railway signals and other purposes. (Specification filed 4 January 1905.)

Fee in respect of the continuance of an exclusive privilege—

- 4 (b) After the expiration of the fourth year and before the expiration of the fifth year from the date of the filing of the specification—

The sum of Rs50 for each of the above inventions.

- No. 207 of 1898.—The Linotype Company, Limited. Improvements in the tremm[ing] mechanism of linotype machines. (Specification filed 7 January 1899.)
- No. 209 of 1898.—The Linotype Company, Limited. Improvements in the pump stops of linotype machines. (Specification filed 7 January 1899.)

Fee in respect of the continuance of an exclusive privilege—

- 4 (h) After the expiration of the tenth year and before the expiration of the eleventh year from the date of the filing of the specification—

The sum of Rs100 for each of the above inventions.

THE YEARLY EXAMINATION OF CANDIDATES FOR FOURTH GRADE OF ACCOUNTANTS.

The yearly examination of candidates for fourth grade of Accountants, Public Works Department, will be held at the Civil Engineering College, Sibpur, on Monday and Tuesday, the 6th and 7th June 1910, both days :—

SUBJECTS.	Full marks.	Minimum pass marks.
Writing (neatness, clearness, and rapidity)	100	50
Dictation (spelling, punctuation, etc.)	100	50
Arithmetic (the whole)	240	160
Mensuration (a) (the whole)	60	30
Book-keeping (b) (mercantile)	100	50
TOTAL	600	...

Minimum required in all papers
collectively, 400.

(a) Todhunter's Mensuration for beginners.

(b) "Book-keeping" by Ball and Hamilton.

"Book-keeping" by double and single entry, by W. Inglis (Chambers' Educational Course).

1. The examination is held annually at the Civil Engineering College, Sibpur, on the first Monday in June. The examination will be conducted, either at the College, or by an Examiner, Public Works Accounts (including Railway and Telegraph), in Bengal, Eastern Bengal and Assam and Burma only. The Examination will be ipso facto vitiated, if it be not held (begun and completed) on the dates fixed; but the officer who will conduct the examination may make his own arrangements, in regard to the place and hour of examination, with the candidates.

Candidates will not be examined in any of the Calcutta offices.

A candidate already in permanent Government employ* may be allowed to compete in the examination, even if he is more than 25 years of age, and may be appointed to an accountantship if he passes it; but if he is not already in pensionable service, he will be eligible only for appointment to the non-pensionable establishment on State Railways.

* This term includes employment under Local Boards and foreign bodies, if such is pensionable by the British Government.

2. The candidate should apply to an Examiner of Public Works Accounts not later than 30 days previous to the date fixed for the examination, and obtain his consent to conduct the examination, if examination at the College is not convenient. The application must bear the address of the candidate, must be accompanied by a fee of Rs 10 and the following certificates, and registration form duly filled in and must be forwarded by him, not direct to the Principal, but through the Examiner.

Certificates may be submitted in original, or true copies attested by an Engineer or Accounts Branch, but none will be returned :—

(1) Certificate of good character signed by applicant's immediate official superior, or by the instructor under whom he has been educated, or by some other superior under whom he may have been brought up or employed, or to whom he may be well known. (This certificate must have special reference to the two years immediately preceding the application.)

(2) Certificate of age, baptismal or of birth (not required, if the candidate is already in permanent Government employ).

(3) Certificate that the application is in the candidate's hand-writing.

(4) Registration statement containing the following information :—

(a) Name in full.

(b) Father's name.

(c) Nationality or class, i.e., European, Eurasian or Indian, of candidate; and if Indian, caste or tribe.

(d) Date of birth.

(e) Place of birth.

(f) Present address.

(g) Examinations passed.

(h) Thumb mark of candidate, left hand, to be made in the presence of a responsible person who knows candidate.

(i) Signature and address of above-mentioned witness.

NOTE.—A candidate already in Government service should, in like manner, submit his application, through his immediate official superior, to an Examiner of Accounts qualified to hold the particular examination, and should state whether he desires to be examined at the office of the Examiner of Accounts concerned or at the College.

It will rest with the Examiner of Accounts, to whom the candidate submits his application, to decide, on a consideration of the certificates submitted, whether the candidate should be allowed to appear for the examination, or whether his application should be rejected. The Examiner of Accounts will then forward to the Principal for registration the names of the accepted candidates together with their registration statements which should be signed by the Examiner. The registration statements should be carefully preserved by the Principal. The names of these candidates should be entered in a statement showing their ages and their addresses, and also showing where each candidate is to be examined, whether at the College or at the office of the Examiner of Accounts. This statement, together with the fees, should be transmitted to the Principal not later than 15 days after the dates fixed in paragraph 2 for the submission of applications of candidates.

3. Examination papers that are issued for examination need not be returned.
4. Each examination is complete in itself. A candidate who has failed in an examination, and presents himself for examination on a subsequent occasion, must undergo the full examination and furnish fresh fee and certificates.
5. If from any cause a candidate fails to appear for the examination the fee paid will not be refunded.
6. It must be distinctly understood that the passing of this examination does not give any claim to an appointment, and that in making appointments, preference will be given to qualified persons who are already employed in the Department.
7. Passed candidates should apply, not to the Principal of the College, nor to the Accountant-General, Public Works Department, but direct to the Examiner of Public Works Accounts, in the province or railway under whom they may desire to be employed.
8. The Civil Engineering College acts solely as an examining body in reference to admission to the 4th grade of Accountants, Public Works Department.
9. Candidates for the 4th grade Accountantship examination, who are not Government servants and over 25 years of age, are allowed to appear at the examination at the Sibpur College centre only, but, even if successful, they are debarred from employment in the service of Government, and their names will be excluded from the list of passed candidates which is furnished to the Accountant-General, Public Works Department.
10. Candidates over 25 years of age should apply in writing to the Principal of the Civil Engineering College not later than 30 days previous to the examination; the application to be accompanied by the fee of rupees ten, and the registration statement prescribed in Rule 2 (4).

PART VI.

Proceedings of the Council of the Governor General of India, assembled for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.
LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COUNCIL OF THE GOVERNOR GENERAL OF INDIA,
ASSEMBLED FOR THE PURPOSE OF MAKING LAWS AND REGULATIONS
UNDER THE PROVISIONS OF THE INDIAN COUNCILS ACTS,
AND 9 EDW. VII, C. 4).

The Council met at Government House on Tuesday, the 29th March 1910.

PRESENT :

His Excellency THE EARL OF MINTO, P.C., G.C.M.G., G.M.S.I., G.M.I.E., Vice-roy and Governor General of India, presiding, and 58 Members, of whom 53 were Additional Members.

OATH OF OFFICE.

The following Additional Member, before taking his seat, made the prescribed oath of his allegiance to the Crown :—

The Hon'ble Mr. W. Maxwell.

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU asked :—

“Will the Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement of accounts detailing the initial and recurring expenditure involved in the reduplication of the administrative machinery consequent on the partition of Bengal?”

“Will the Government be pleased to state if the expenditure, both initial and recurring, incurred on account of the partition of Bengal has not exceeded the original estimates made for the purpose by the Government of Lord Curzon, and, if so, by how much?"

The Hon'ble Sir HARVEY ADAMSON replied :—

"It is not possible to answer the first part of the question with precision, as other factors affect the accounts besides the increase of administrative staff which was directly consequent on the formation of the new province. I lay on the table, however, two statements * showing :—

- (1) the cost of the administrative offices affected by the formation of the province of Eastern Bengal and Assam in 1904-05, the year before its formation, and in 1906-07, the year after it;
- (2) an estimate (for the work is not yet complete) of the special non-recurring expenditure incurred, chiefly at Dacca, in connection with the formation of the new province.

"In the first statement the increase of expenditure shown in the two years is roughly 12 lakhs. Some part of this is due to the normal growth of recurring charges which would have taken place even if there had been no change. But the increase directly attributable to the creation of the new province has no doubt in some measure exceeded the estimate framed by Lord Curzon's Government, which was 8.59 lakhs. The greater part of the excess occurred before the new province was actually formed and was due to three additions to the original scheme :—(i) the Secretary of State's decision to substitute a Board of Revenue for the proposed Financial Commissioner (Rs. 42,000); (ii) the appointment of a Commissioner of the Surma Valley (Rs. 36,000); and (iii) the appointment of a Legal Remembrancer (Rs. 46,000).

"For non-recurring initial expenditure no regular estimate was prepared by Lord Curzon's Government. A telegraphic rough estimate of 10 lakhs was furnished to the Secretary of State for the building of a Government House and Secretariat. This was prepared at very short notice, before an opportunity occurred of considering the requirements of the new province in consultation with its officers. The estimate which I now lay on the table includes large sums for improvements of a general character such as roads, water-works and sanitation. It also includes 8.92 lakhs for residence for Government officials. This is capital expenditure upon which interest and depreciation charges will be realized in the shape of rent from the occupants of the houses.

"For temporary buildings the original estimate was Rs. 1,85,000. The actual expenditure has been Rs. 2,68,527 to end of January 1910, or an increase of Rs. 83,527."

The Hon'ble MR. CHITNAVIS asked :—

"Is Government aware that it has been held by the Judicial Commissioner of the Central Provinces that a plaint cannot be admitted unless it is signed by the plaintiff himself, even when the plaintiff lives away and cannot sign the plaint without considerable trouble, inconvenience and loss of time? Is Government aware that suitors experience difficulties owing to this view of the law? Will Government be pleased to amend order VI, rule 14, of the First Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, so as to make signing of plaints by agents legal and valid?"

The Hon'ble MR. S. P. SINHA replied :—

"If on enquiry the Government of India are satisfied that hardship is caused by the interpretation put upon rule 14 of order VI of the First Schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, by the Courts of the Central Provinces, they will represent the matter to the Local Government with a view to the removal of such hardship by the amendment of the rule in question by the High Court for the Central Provinces."

[Raja Partab Bahadur Singh; Sir Harvey Adamson; Mr. Robertson; Mr. Dadabhoy; Sir Guy Fleetwood Wilson.]

The Hon'ble RAJA PARTAB BAHADUR SINGH asked :—

"Will the Government be pleased to state the total amount of Government expenditure on Primary and Higher Education in the different provinces of India, and what is the amount per head of the population in respect of each one of the provinces?"

The Hon'ble SIR HARVEY ADAMSON replied :—

The Hon'ble RAJA PARTAB BAHADUR SINGH asked :—

"Is the Government aware that considerable inconvenience is caused to the public by the new rules of the Telegraph Department in the case of second class telegraph offices that are kept open only at stated hours? If so, what, if any, action is intended to be taken thereon?"

The Hon'ble MR. ROBERTSON replied :—

"Government are not aware that considerable inconvenience is caused to the public by the new rules of the Telegraph Department in the case of telegraph offices that are open only at stated hours.

"Considerable changes have been made in the working hours of such offices since 1908, but the requirements of the public were considered in every case, and the working hours have not been curtailed in any instance except where the traffic returns showed that this could be done without inconvenience to the public.

"The principle which has governed the fixing of the working hours in telegraph offices is that an office should not be kept open when there is practically no traffic offering. To keep offices open for longer hours than this would generally mean a disproportionate increase in the working expenses. The 'late fee' system, by which, on payment of an extra charge, a telegram may be sent during the hours when an office is closed, is intended to meet the case of occasional telegrams.

"Superintendents of Divisions have standing instructions to keep themselves informed of the suitability of the working hours of all offices in their Divisions to the public requirements and to alter the working hours where required.

"If the Hon'ble Member will inform the Director General of Telegraphs of any particular instances in which the public are inconvenienced, enquiry will at once be made into the circumstances."

The Hon'ble MR. DADABHOY asked :—

"Having regard to the Hon'ble Sir Edward Baker's statement in this Council of 27th March 1907, anent compensation from the British Exchequer for the loss of the opium revenue of this Government, and to the actual loss of revenue necessitating the imposition of fresh taxation, will the Government be pleased to state what action, if any, has been taken by it or the Secretary of State to secure a substantial grant by way of compensation from the British Exchequer?"

The Hon'ble SIR GUY FLEETWOOD WILSON replied :—

"The matter is one on which the Government of India are not in a position to make any statement."

The Hon'ble MR. DADABHOY asked :—

"In view of the official statement in reply to a recent question in the House of Commons about the suggested amendment of the law relating to life assurance in India, will the Government be pleased—

(a) to make an early declaration of its intentions ;

[Mr. Robertson ; Mr. N. Subba Rao.]

- (b) to consult the public bodies besides Chambers of Commerce before taking final action ; and
- (c) to lay on the table all correspondence on the subject ? ”

The Hon'ble MR. ROBERTSON replied :—

¶ The Government of India have under consideration the question of amending the law relating to Life Assurance in India on the lines of the English law. Local Governments and Administrations have already been consulted on the subject, and with their replies they have submitted the views of the Chambers of Commerce and other representative commercial bodies. The Government of India have considered these replies and have found that there are likely to be practical difficulties in applying certain of the provisions of the English Act to Indian conditions. The difficulties are for the most part of a technical nature and will require careful examination. Amongst others I may mention the question of obtaining from Indian Companies a statement of valuation of liabilities similar to that required by the provisions and schedules of the English Act. This can be properly prepared only by a qualified actuary, and, so far as the Government of India are aware, there is only one actuary in the whole of India. At the same time the Government of India have as yet at their disposal no organization similar to that which the Board of Trade possess for scrutinising the statements and returns. There is further the question of distinguishing between companies which actually transact life assurance business and those which are in fact nothing more than Provident Societies, though they describe themselves as Life Assurance Companies. It is clear that the two classes cannot be brought under one common regulation. Any cautionary deposit, for example, which it might be deemed advisable to require from Companies doing life assurance proper would probably be excessive in the case of the smaller Provident Societies. Again, it may be necessary in the case of the latter to limit the liability for which each society may engage itself in respect of any individual policy and to restrict the class of business undertaken by such societies. The above are not the only points that have been raised, but I mention them to show that the application to India of the English procedure is a matter which requires a good deal of consideration. The Government of India are at present in consultation with experts at Calcutta and Bombay as to the best method of dealing with the whole question.

“ With regard to the second part of the Hon'ble Member's question, I may say that public bodies will have an opportunity of putting forward their views on any measures that may be finally proposed before they become law.

“ The Government of India do not consider it desirable at this stage to lay the correspondence on the table.”

The Hon'ble MR. N. SUBBA RAO asked :—

“ Will the Government be pleased to state—

(1) whether it is aware that Provident Funds under various names have been started in the Presidency of Madras, under cover of which promoters make large sums of money at the expense of subscribers and members, and ignorant people have been deluded by false promises and cheated of their monies ;

(2) whether its attention is drawn to the judgment of the High Court in the Bapatla Provident Fund Criminal Appeal in which their Lordships Mr. Justice Benson and Mr. Justice Abdur Rahim, on the 2nd February last, held that the Fund in question was more in the nature of a lottery and set aside the conviction and sentence passed on the accused—the Directors of the Company—by the Sessions Judge of Guntur ; and to the remarks of Sir Ralph Benson therein that the Legislature should take into consideration cases of this sort and protect the ignorant and unwary from the snare set up by the promoters of such Companies;

(3) how far this evil is prevalent in other Provinces, and to place on the table reports, if any, received on the subject from Provincial Governments;

(4) whether it will take steps to introduce legislation to check the evil and extend the protection of law to bond fide Companies started for mutual benefit on the lines of Friendly Societies in Western countries?"

The Hon'ble MR. ROBERTSON replied:—

"The Government of India have recently received a communication from the Government of Madras urging the desirability of legislation to control the operations of Provident Societies which undertake life assurance business. No reports on the subject of such societies have of late been received from other Local Governments. But I may state that the question of undertaking legislation for their control was considered in consultation with all Local Governments in 1900, and the decision arrived at was that the necessity of such legislation had not at the time been established. So far as the Government of India are aware, the evil referred to by the Hon'ble Member does not prevail to the same extent in any other part of India as in Madras. The judgment of the Madras High Court alluded to by the Hon'ble Member has not been brought to the notice of the Government of India officially, but they have seen a report of the case in the public Press. As it appears from the reply which I have just made to the Hon'ble Mr. Dadabhoy, the question of undertaking legislation to control the operations of these societies is closely connected with that relating to Life Assurance Companies. The whole subject is at the present time engaging the attention of the Government of India, and they do not consider it desirable at the present stage to lay the correspondence on the table."

The Hon'ble MR. MADGE asked:—

"Will the Government be so good as to state whether, in the reply of the Under Secretary of State to a question from Mr. Rees, that it has been decided in future to aim at recruiting for Indians one-half of the vacancies occurring in the Enrolled List of the Finance Department, the word 'Indians' includes or excludes 'Statutory Indians' as defined by an earlier decision of the Secretary of State; and, if it excludes them, whether the Government will take steps to remove the barrier thus thrown up against the domiciled community?"

The Hon'ble SIR GUY FLEETWOOD WILSON replied:—

"What has been decided is to recruit Indians, in the sense of persons of pure Asiatic descent, for one-half of the future vacancies in the Enrolled List. But this new decision throws up no new barrier against members of the domiciled community. They will still remain eligible, as at present, for admission by competition in India or by promotion from the subordinate ranks. Their position is in no way affected."

The Hon'ble MR. GRAHAM, in the absence of the Hon'ble MR. ARMSTRONG, asked:—

"Are the Government of India aware that the amendment of the Bombay Port Trust Act, 1879, made by the Bombay Repealing and Amending Act, 1909, which recently received the assent of the Governor General, has created great dissatisfaction amongst that part of the mercantile community of Bombay which is represented by the Bombay Chamber of Commerce?"

"Have the Government of India replied to the memorial of the Bombay Chamber of Commerce of the 31st July 1909, praying that assent might be withheld from the Act in question?"

[*Mr. Macpherson ; Mr. Ghuznavi ; Sir Harvey Adamson ;
The President ; Mr. Jacob.*]

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON replied :—

"The Government of India are aware that the amendment of the Bombay Port Trust Act made by the Bombay Repealing and Amending Act, 1909, has been received with dissatisfaction by the Bombay Chamber of Commerce.

"The memorial of the Chamber to which the Hon'ble Member refers was carefully considered by the Government of India before His Excellency's assent was given to the Act, and they were of opinion that it was contrary to precedent to refuse assent to an Act passed by the Legislative Council of a Local Government on grounds such as were set forth in the memorial. The Government of India regret that a reply was not sent to the Chamber of Commerce with regard to their memorial at the time when the decision of the Government of India on that memorial was communicated to the Government of Bombay."

The Hon'ble MR. GHUZNAVI asked :—

"Will the Government be pleased to state the number and the names of the students from the different Universities who proceeded to England as State scholars under Home Department Resolution Nos. 1—45-57, dated the 12th February 1886, and No. 9—269-81, dated the 23rd August 1882? Will the Government be pleased to state generally the nature of their occupation since their return?

"Will the Government be pleased to state the number and nature of studies of the scholars who were selected for technical education in Europe under Home Department Resolution No. 41, dated 20th January 1904, and the nature of their occupation since their return? Also whether any Muhammadan was selected for any of these scholarships?

"Will the Government be pleased to state whether they have under consideration any scheme for a special scholarship, general or technical, tenable in England for Muhammadans similar to the special scholarship for Eurasians and Anglo-Indians instituted by Home Department Resolution Nos. 22—238, dated the 19th March 1907?"

The Hon'ble SIR HARVEY ADAMSON replied :—

"In answer to the first and second questions, the statements* placed on the table give the information asked for by the Hon'ble Member, so far as it has been possible to obtain it. Several of the scholars whose names are included in the statements have not yet completed their studies abroad. The answer to the third question is in the negative."

DISCUSSION OF THE BUDGET FOR 1910-11

His Excellency THE PRESIDENT said :—"I should like to inform Hon'ble Members, before the discussion on the Budget begins, that, as I told them the other day, I propose to limit the speeches to 20 minutes with the exception of those of Members in charge. But as I am anxious not to interrupt Hon'ble Members in the middle of a sentence, I have arranged that a bell of warning should ring one minute before the time is up. I hope that will assist Hon'ble Members as regards their speeches."

The Hon'ble MR. JACOB said :—"My Lord, I do not propose to occupy the time of the Council for very long. I spoke at some length at the irrigation debate on the 9th of this month, and Mr. Dadabhoy, in the part of his speech referring to irrigation, has introduced nothing new except a new inaccuracy. It is only with reference to this inaccuracy that I should like to say a few words.

"My Lord, Mr. Dadabhoy and I are both irrigation enthusiasts, but I must confess that he has beaten me this time. My enthusiasm is on a lower plane than his and does not permit me to ignore decimal points or to multiply the returns of our irrigation works by ten to show what amazing feats our irrigation officers can perform.

[Mr. Jacob ; Mr. Chitnavis.]

"When I spoke on the last occasion I explained to the Council that there was only one work which, originally classified as a protective work, had ultimately proved to be productive. This was the Lower Swat Canal, and I also explained that it was not a case in point as it was a work which should never have been classed as productive. Mr. Dadabhoy contests the truth of what I then said. He calls attention to another work, and to prove his point he quotes, on rather misquotes, from the Central Provinces Resolution on the irrigation report of 1908-09. He makes the Local Administration say that provided certain irrigation rates are imposed on the tank works in the Chhattisgarh civil division, these works will pay 27 per cent. I would first like to explain that these Chhattisgarh tank works are not protective works in the way we technically class them. They are minor works, and I never said that minor works were not remunerative; in a good many cases they are, but for the purposes of the Hon'ble Mr. Dadabhoy's argument they are irrelevant. But even if these works were in the protective class, Mr. Dadabhoy is mistaken in thinking that they are remunerative. What the Local Administration said was this. The present rates are Rs. 1-4 and it was hoped in time to raise them to Rs. 2, and when they had been so raised the project should pay 27 per cent. and not 27 per cent. as stated by the Hon'ble Mr. Dadabhoy.

"My Lord, Mr. Dadabhoy in his error can comfort himself in the knowledge that another famous statesman, Lord Randolph Churchill, found a difficulty with decimal points and wanted to know what all the little dots meant. I have corrected this mistake because it is right that the Council should not be misled. The Central Provinces irrigation works are doing extremely well and they will no doubt do better in course of time, but they are not, and never will be, the El Dorado that the Hon'ble Mr. Dadabhoy would have the Council to believe."

The Hon'ble MR. CHITNAVIS said :— "My Lord, three brief years have dissolved the hopes expressed by the Hon'ble Sir Edward Baker 'that the void' in our opium revenue 'will be made good without imposing on Indian taxpayers a burden greater than they can bear.' The fears I then expressed have come out true. In the words of Mr. Montagu, Under-Secretary of State, 'India's strict fulfilment of the agreement has imposed serious burdens on the Indian Government and the Native States.' We have so far only lost a fraction of the revenue. The budgeted loss in revenue of a little over a crore of rupees, together with a small increase in the Provincial allotment to East Bengal, has necessitated not only a loan of a crore-and-a-half of rupees, but heavy taxation. I shudder to think what the influence upon Indian finances of the total loss of the revenue a few years hence will be. The financial difficulty of the Government gives point to the appeal I made in 1907 for a substantial contribution from the British Exchequer. To place upon India's weak shoulders the whole of the loss in revenue caused by the policy of the Imperial Government would be opposed to the noble traditions of the English people. This is not the first time they are engaged in a moral fight; all their past services in the cause of morality have been accompanied by pecuniary sacrifices which have made them honoured among civilised nations. Why should India alone be denied that financial assistance that has been ungrudgingly given to other countries on similar occasions? Owing to difficulties over the British Budget, it may not be possible to give practical effect to this suggestion immediately; but all I plead for is a contribution by the Home Government after settlement of its present troubles.

"The partition of Bengal, according to the Hon'ble Finance Member, is equally responsible with the opium policy for Government's difficulties. Notwithstanding the well-known arguments of administrative efficiency and needs, the multiplication of offices which an administrative change like the partition involves is an act calculated to alarm the public. My Lord, in India, judging from past experience, the cost of administration has a normal tendency towards expansion, and, in my humble opinion, anything which helps the growth cannot be too strictly scrutinised, and, if avoidable, cannot be too severely condemned. The whole country must view with alarm the duplication of offices in Bengal and the large increase in cost in consequence of the partition, especially when it imposes burdens upon the other provinces.

"The growth of expenditure under the head 'Salaries and Expenses of Civil Departments' is alarming. The budget estimate for 1910-11 exceeds the actual expenditure in 1905-06 by 14 per cent., and that of 1904-05 by 22 per cent. Such a large increase in normal years imperatively demands scrutiny. The police expenditure has grown enormously. Compared to 1905-06 the increase is 31 per cent., and to 1904-05 it is 40 per cent. ! Something should be done to arrest such abnormal growth, and the Finance Minister who applies the brake will deserve well of the community. The Finance Minister himself, speaking of the difficulties of the Government, remarked last year: 'The occasion is one not for cheery optimism, but for circumspection and economy.' The lapse of a year has only added force to the weighty opinion. It should not be beyond the resourcefulness of such a capable Minister as the Hon'ble Sir Guy Fleetwood Wilson to devise means for keeping civil expenditure under control.

"My Lord, the suggestion for retrenchment and apportionment of cost is made not in a captious spirit, but with all humility, in full recognition of the good intentions of Government, under a sense of alarm at the risks Government is undergoing in adding to the popular irritation and discontentment by fresh taxation. Were economy the dominating principle of Indian finance, in spite of the contraction in the revenue, the recent taxation could have been avoided. Taxation is always unpopular, and introduced at a time of public excitement and unrest, it excites suspicion and becomes a source of danger to the State.

"My Lord, the Budget^{under discussion} is remarkable in more ways than one, and the Hon'ble Finance Member is to be congratulated on not only a distinctly Puritan budget, but on taxation which might encourage, however feebly, home industries. The country must be grateful to him for his sympathetic attitude towards the Indian industries. 'I think Swadesi is good; and if the outcome of the changes I have laid before the Council result in some encouragement of Indian industries, I for one shall not regret it.' For a Finance Minister to say even so much is not a small thing. No Finance Minister could be expected to evince a more active sympathy in the present state of India's fiscal dependence upon the most pronounced and determined free-trade country of the world. The Hon'ble Sir Guy Fleetwood Wilson has indeed placed the people under deep obligations. We all appreciate his kindness and benevolence. At the same time we regret the absence of fiscal autonomy for India, and the limitations under which this Government has to frame its industrial policy; we regret Government cannot give the country a protective tariff forthwith. However excellent free trade may be for a country in an advanced stage of industrial development, it must be conceded that protection is necessary for the success and development of infant industries. Even pronounced protagonists of free trade do not view this idea with disfavour. England has not reached her present state of development without protection. The history of English monopolies of the sixteenth century and the early part of the seventeenth points to an unmistakable moral. That Indian manufacturing industry is in its infancy, does not admit of controversy. Why should not India then claim special protection for her undeveloped industry? Even countries remarkable for their industrial enterprise and excellence protect their industries. The United States of America and Germany are decidedly protectionist; the British colonies have protective tariffs; according to the Master of Elibank, they impose 33½ per cent. duties even upon British imports; and latterly there has come to be a distinctly protectionist feeling in Britain itself. The duties imposed by the colonies are protective in purpose, scope and effect. They are not like the Indian import-duties levied for revenue purposes. The Indian appeal for protection cannot in the circumstances be unreasonable. The development of the industries is a matter of great moment to the Empire, and the popular leanings towards protectionism ought to engage the sympathy of the Government. But, my Lord, even taxes levied for revenue purposes, uninspired by economic considerations, excite the jealousy of the British manufacturer, and lead to the imposition of countervailing excise-duties. The imposition of import-duties for revenue purposes is sanctioned by precedent and principle alike. The Hon'ble Sir Guy Fleetwood Wilson himself forcibly points out: 'Even in free-trade England we have always imposed considerable customs-dues, not to protect industries, but to raise revenue.' And yet for a small import-duty of $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. upon cotton goods a countervailing excise-duty upon home manufactures is imposed in disregard of Indian public opinion, and the latest pronouncement of the Secretary of State has dispelled all our expectations of the righting of this wrong. The people again feel alarmed at the news that the Secretary of State has promised to consider the question of an excise-duty upon Indian tobacco. We hope the Government of India will strongly resist all attempts to force these irritating excise-duties upon India. This Government with its knowledge of local feeling and local conditions cannot favour such duties, and they must be fought with vigour with all the resources of enlightened statesmanship which we have come to associate with Your Excellency's honoured name.

"My Lord, for the industrial progress of the country something more positive than a protective tariff is necessary. I thankfully acknowledge Government is fully alive to this fact, as is evident from its efforts, so fully explained by the Hon'ble Sir Harvev Adamson the other day in this Council, for the spread of technical and technological knowledge in the country. Such education is necessary; but the question is, what is the urgent need of the hour? In my humble opinion, it is the encouragement of industrial ventures by the establishment of model factories and a well-devised system of guarantee even more than mere technological and polytechnic instruction. The present industrial prostration of the country, in the opinion of experts, is due principally to want of enterprise and initiative on the part of the people,—an inertia and lack of foresight which prevent application of capital to undertakings out of the common groove, and keep it confined within traditional limits. The immobility and shyness of capital is the chief impediment to industrial development. Administrative treatment should be directed to this subject first. In saying this I do not for a moment deprecate the spread of technological knowledge. I believe in it, and I believe there is need for it in the country; but drawback for drawback, even more than lack of expert knowledge that which retards industrial progress is want of correct information about the economic uses of the raw materials that are plentiful, the market for the manufactured article, the commercial prospects of particular industries, and the method of work. The State undoubtedly should provide adequately for the technological education of the people, but at the same time should do something more to encourage and facilitate the employment of capital in new and remunerative channels by inspiring confidence among capitalists. The nervousness of the nation must be got over. And for this example is decidedly better than precept. A model factory successfully worked will provide an object-lesson at once effective and inspiring. The Western nations have developed their manufacturing industry not so much by technological education on scientific lines, as by practical training in the factories. Japan has taken all its industrial inspiration from the West. Factories and new manufactures will help industrial development more than anything else. The alumni of a Technological or Polytechnic College are much in the position of elaborate instruments that have to be employed with discretion and skill in order to derive profit. And they can only be profitably employed by capitalists informed, imaginative and enterprising. The objective of Government should therefore be to raise such a body of capitalists in the country, simultaneously with making adequate provision for the industrial education of the people. The requisite information should be supplied by commercial bureaus, and confidence must be inspired by the successful working of model factories as also by offering guarantees for the payment of interest upon Indian capital employed in new and promising ventures. Government, it must be acknowledged with gratitude, has made a fine start in the matter of the introduction of the principle of co-operation. The work has now to be followed up with spirit. Mr. Chatterton's example in Madras may well be followed in other provinces. But for him probably we would not have heard so much about the aluminium industry and chrome tanning. In industrial ventures as in many other matters the initiative must come from Government. The development in Indian railways is largely due to a system of State guarantee which might profitably be extended to other industries. The Government is more or less in the position of a trustee of the national wealth, and everything should be done by it to develop that wealth. These measures are all the more urgent in that, through Government as well as private liberality, a large body of young men are being trained in the various industrial arts, and the promised establishment of technological colleges we advocate will swell the ranks of Indian experts. Unless an opening is found for their talent and they are employed, they will be idle and discontented, and might be a source of anxiety to Government.

"My Lord, Government should also foster and encourage the accumulation of capital in the country. With more sympathetic settlements this object can be easily attained so far as landholders are concerned. The capital holdings of the malguzars have latterly become more and more attenuated. It is not that they lack intelligence and foresight; but under existing conditions they have seldom much to put by. Mr. Sly's description of their condition in his admirable Memorandum of 1902 has a sad interest, not only for its truth, but for the remedies that a perusal of it will obviously suggest to the mind:

'Coming to the agricultural population proper, I first take the malguzars or village landlords. It is an opinion commonly held that during the famines the malguzars have suffered even more severely than the tenants. * * Most reports agree that the burden of indebtedness has increased, whilst there can be no doubt that the value of landed property has temporarily decreased, except in the cotton tracts. Government has assisted them by large remissions of land-revenue; but these involve corresponding remissions of rent, so that the income of the malguzar is still diminished. The standard of living has deteriorated; gram and juar are sometimes eaten instead of wheat and rice; houses are not kept in such good repair; and clothes are not so good. Apart from losses in his cultivation and in his rent collections, the malguzar has lost largely in his transactions as village grain-lender. Formerly the position of landlord was as much coveted for the profits made out of grain-lending to tenants as it was for profits out of cultivation and rent-collecting, but the famines ruined most of the grain-lending business.'

"There has been some improvement, it is true, in the condition of malguzars since 1902, but it is still much below the mark. This deterioration in the condition of malguzars, coupled with a general movement of village labourers to towns for lucrative employment, has paralysed village industries. According to Mr. Sly:—

'Indigenous village industries, which are of far more importance to the welfare of the people, present a very different picture of gradual decay.'

"Every effort should be made for the revival of these industries. They serve a very useful purpose; they give employment and secure competence to thousands of village hands and contribute to the prosperity of the villages, by attracting back emigrants. Easier assessments of rent and revenue, with a view to leave a sufficient margin of profit to the malguzar and tenant, and longer settlements will, in my opinion, go a great way to infuse hope and spirit among malguzars, and to promote accumulation of fluid capital in the hands of both malguzars and tenants.

"My Lord, speaking of villages and industries, the claims of the principal industry—the agricultural industry—force upon one's attention. Government, I gratefully acknowledge, has of late done much to improve agriculture. The agricultural schools and colleges, the peripatetic lectures on agriculture, the experimental farms, the Civil Veterinary Department all testify to the keen interest Government takes in the improvement of this very important industry. But one subject in this connection demands an early and sympathetic treatment at the hands of Government. The question of the preservation of the stock of cattle, to which my friend the Hon'ble Mr. Dadabhoy has also drawn the attention of Government, is causing intense anxiety to agriculturists. Prices have gone up; and the cattle difficulty threatens to become acute in the near future. It is time something should be done by Government to tackle this difficulty. A general survey of the stock of cattle, periodically renewed, will help the authorities in deciding upon necessary measures. The incidental cost will be little in case this survey is undertaken along with the next census.

[Mr. Chitnavis; Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan.]

"Allow me, my Lord, on behalf of the important constituency I have the honour to represent on this Council as also of the larger public who are unrepresented but who feel much as I do, to offer Your Excellency sincere felicitations on the substantial work of administrative reform Your Excellency has done in this country and the calm and unperturbed disposition and sympathy that have distinguished Your Excellency throughout the troublous years of Your Excellency's régime, and to express our sincere regret that Your Excellency's term of office will shortly expire. My Lord, believe me, this is not the conventional language of the courtier; it has its roots in the heart of the nation for whom I am only the humble spokesman."

The Hon'ble MAHARAJADHIRAJA BAHADUR of BURDWAN said:—"My Lord, it has been the custom in the past for non-official members to indulge in making general observations about the administration of India on this the Budget Debate day, and I therefore crave the indulgence of this Council to bear with me for a few minutes in the remarks that I am about to make, which, although they do not directly concern the Budget before us, will, I hope, not be found irrelevant in regard to the general administration of the Government of India.

"My Lord, a strong case was made out the other day for the expansion of primary education in this country and the urgent necessity of its being made free and compulsory. I need hardly say that the principle of the movement has my cordial sympathy, but certain difficulties have got to be overcome: not only have ways and means to be found, but having regard to the peculiarity of the masses of India, other matters will have to be taken into consideration which I leave to the Government of India to enquire into. Mr. Gokhale made certain suggestions when he moved his resolution in Council, and I hope that when the Government of India have examined them minutely, the results of such examinations will be made known to us, so as to enable us to know how we stand. Now, my Lord, while fully admitting the necessity of considering the question of compulsory and perhaps free education in this country, I am one of those who like to confront the actual difficulties before us before going into matters in regard to which difficulties have not arisen at present, but may arise hereafter. It is, therefore, that I think that before giving attention to the question of primary education, the Government of India should give its closest attention to the claims of those that are knocking at the door. At the present moment, we are confronted with the most serious problem, that of the educated unemployed. My Lord, if we were to collect statistics—a thing which I do not intend to venture upon myself, as I am not an expert at it like my Hon'ble Colleague Mr. Gokhale—and to find out what number of young men who went up for the Matriculation Examination and the Intermediate Examination in Arts got plucked every year, and out of those who failed, what percentage went up again for the higher standards and what number left their studies in search of employment, we would get at the bottom of a great deal of unrest in this country. It is not at all surprising to find, my Lord, that youths should be led astray when they realize that even if they were to go in for the B.A., M.A., or other higher standards, there were not sufficient openings for them in this country, and naturally, the minds of some of these disaffected young men turn to themes of a distinctly anti-Government nature. It is for these that I plead before Your Excellency today. Either retard the progress of education in this country, or give India's sons a million or two more in the shape of employments as a reward for the education that they are receiving. Larger openings for them in technical and industrial lines have become a crying and irresistible need. The problem is, no doubt, a knotty one; but I venture to say not insoluble. When at the present moment the number of the educated unemployed is overwhelming, it is the duty of the Government to meet as far as possible the demands of these, before launching into the question of educating the masses or taking up larger schemes of scientific, industrial and technical education. By this, I hope I shall not be misunderstood as being against encouraging primary education in this country or desirous of hampering the progress of the different branches of education mentioned above of which I am an ardent advocate ; but what I mean to say, my Lord, is that the other is the greater and more urgent need : and every Minister of the Government should give this problem his most careful consideration ; for, if you give education—which you are bound to do, as the best traditions of the English race urge you to do—more openings, more posts must be thrown open to the inhabitants of this country, so that they can feel that a broader field is still open for them to cover, and thus enable them to realize that they are officers and citizens of the British Empire and not simply British subjects, and as such they cannot afford to be disloyal to the Government.

“ Now, my Lord, I turn to a less controversial question. Much to our regret, this is the last session in which we shall have the pleasure of seeing Your Lordship preside over us as Viceroy and President ; and I, therefore, take this opportunity on behalf of the zamindars of Bengal, Behar and Orissa, whose suffrage I have the honour to represent in this Council, to convey to Your Excellency our deepfelt gratitude for the special electorate that you have given us. Being a great zamindar yourself, Your Lordship will realize what hopes, what ambitions have been aroused in the hearts of the zamindars of India by this recognition on the part of the Government that they are a body of men not to be ignored, that they are a community whose unflinching loyalty has furthered the cause of the stability of the British rule in India, and that they are the natural leaders of the people, and, as such, they have a legitimate claim for a legitimate attention from the Government. I admit, my Lord, freely that there have been and there are unfortunately some zamindars in this country, as in every other country, who have indulged and indulge in useless lives of indolence ; but that is why we feel all the more grateful to Your Excellency for giving us these special electorates, and thus helping to bring home to us the fact that the age has arrived in India when every zamindar must realize that duty comes first and pleasure afterwards, and that every zamindar must understand the true meaning of the term ‘ natural leaders.’ I sincerely hope, my Lord, that we shall not belie the trust reposed in us and that some day, though that day may be distant yet, India may once more claim a whole host of useful and capable zamindars, real leaders of the people and stalwart supporters of the Government.

“ My Lord, in this connection, though it does not concern this Council in particular, I beg to convey to Your Excellency, and through Your Lordship to the Secretary of State for India, our appreciative thanks for the appointment of a zamindar to a Provincial Executive Council. By this appointment, the Government has accepted a principle which is very dear to us zamindars as a body ; that is, if capable members of the aristocracy be found, they will not be debarred from getting portfolios on the Provincial Executive Councils, or, for the matter of fact, on the Imperial Executive Council in this country. I refer, Sir, to the appointment of my respected friend, the Hon’ble Maharaja of Bobbili, to the Madras Executive Council. I see he has been criticised freely, and a little bit unjustly too ; but I am sure he has a broad back, and that his common sense and his experience in zamindari management will help him through, and that he will prove worthy of the trust reposed in him, and that, as he is the first Maharaja to get such an appointment under British rule in India, he will not fail in his duty ; for with him has begun a great experiment, and on him will rest, to a certain extent, the success which will enable the door to remain open for others hereafter.

“ With these few remarks, my Lord, and with the hope that my esteemed friend, the Hon’ble Sir Guy Fleetwood Wilson, will not allow the probate-duties to remain permanently enhanced, and that my colleague, the Hon’ble Sir Trevredyn Wynne, will be able to put the Burdwan-Cutwa Railway project higher up in the Railway Programme, I beg to support the Budget before us.”

The Hon’ble MR. FENTON said :—“ Today is the first occasion on which an opportunity has been provided for the official members who represent the Provinces to touch upon the question of Provincial finance. The views of the Hon’ble the Finance Member on the subject, his apportionment of praise and blame among the several members of the administrative family of Provinces, have now for some time been before the Council ; and the Council, I believe, will not have failed to mark that the proverbial partiality which a parent so frequently exhibits towards the youngest member of the family is fully in evidence in the present budget. When I contrast the liberal treatment meted out to the Province of Eastern Bengal and Assam with the stern admonitions administered to some other Provinces, and notably to the Punjab, I am moved to a feeling of profound sympathy with the attitude of that brother of the prodigal son for whom the fatted calf was not killed. My Lord, the Hon'ble the Finance Member in his introductory statement has not dealt tenderly with the Punjab. I was particularly impressed by the emphasis of his declaration that the Government of India declined to admit that the Provincial Settlement is inadequate. That its operation has resulted in a depleted balance and in an appeal for help is, in Sir G. F. Wilson's opinion, proof not of illiberality on the part of the Supreme Government but of uneconomical management by the Provincial administration. We are invited to examine the causes of what is called the insidious growth of expenditure, and we are admonished sharply to check them. Sir Edward Baker is held up for admiration as the exemplar to be copied in this respect. My Lord, during the period that has elapsed since the financial settlement came into operation four Lieutenant-Governors have been at the head of the Punjab administration. If there has been failure, then one and all of them have failed sharply to check the causes of this so-called insidious growth of expenditure. And why ? Let us begin at the beginning, for this failure manifested itself at a very early stage. The new settlement came into force on 1st April 1905. On 4th April, just four days later, there occurred one of the most calamitous earthquakes of modern times. Its disastrous effects upon the finances of the Punjab are still in evidence. The immediate effect was the loss of a considerable sum in land-revenue and a heavy expenditure in relief operations. But you cannot restore the public buildings of one of the largest districts of the Province without making abnormal demands upon the Exchequer. The rebuilding of the courts and offices of Dharmasala, which is yet far from complete, is a heavy item in each annual Provincial budget. It is open no doubt to the Government of India to say that the Provincial Settlement was a win or lose, for better or worse, one, but when the cause of failure is of the nature of the event of the 4th April 1905, I think that the situation is one which calls for sympathy rather than admonition.

"And, my Lord, sympathy rather than admonition is called for in respect of another failure sharply to check the insidious growth of expenditure. I refer to the medical charges in connection with plague and malaria. These calamities, no less than famine, in the present state of our knowledge and of the attitude of the people towards remedial measures, are beyond the control of a Local Government. But when famine visits a neighbouring province Imperial purse-strings are loosened. The accounts for the year 1908-1909 show a donation of no less than 68½ lakhs in aid of Provincial resources to Sir John Hewett's Government. Such generosity to the Punjab Province in its afflictions of the past five years would have been welcomed, and I may add will still be welcomed should the Finance Member cease to harden his heart. I may remind him that we are not at the end of our calamities. The destruction and havoc that may be caused by river inundation have been brought prominently to notice by the floods which have submerged Paris. To compare Dera Ghazi Khan with Paris may seem ridiculous, but while in the French capital the calamity was a temporary one, the Indus town is being swallowed up for good and all. Already a third of it has been wiped out of existence, and in all probability two-thirds will have disappeared before the next autumn floods subside. The town includes several Government buildings. After it has gone the civil station with its residences, courts, jail, police lines and other institutions must inevitably follow. This shadow looming in the near future is calculated to dissipate all hopes of building up a Provincial balance within any time that can reasonably be forecasted.

"But, it may be said, granted that the Provincial Government is to be acquitted of responsibility for such causes of increased expenditure as earthquake, plague, malaria and river inundation, there are other causes more amenable to human control. Yes, my Lord, there are. But I venture to assert that the Provincial administration would have been guilty of a serious dereliction of duty had its attitude towards the more important of these other causes of expenditure been that which is advocated by the Finance Member. If I were asked to indicate by one word the dominant feature in the administrative situation past, present and future in the Punjab, I would answer 'Colonization.' Does Sir Guy Fleetwood Wilson desire us sharply to check this colonization and all the moral and material development which it implies? Is this conversion of the arid, waterless Doabs into a vast and spacious granary to be thwarted and postponed? Are the overflowing stocks of wheat and cotton to rot in the villages because there are no roads to carry them to the export markets? Is it possible to dump down in the wilderness a population of a couple of millions without providing any administrative machinery to look after them? These people like others cannot be left wholly uncontrolled. Police must be provided to protect them, and police establishment and buildings cannot be had for nothing. Judges and Magistrates are called for to settle their disputes, and courts and kacharis cost money. Teachers and schools for their children, medical officers and medicines, hospitals and dispensaries for their sick, are also needed, and some provision must be made for collecting the water-rates and revenue assessed on their lands. New treasuries, sub-treasuries and treasury establishments; new tahsils and tahsildars and tahsildari establishments; new land record agencies, kanungos and patwaris, must be provided. These are all a charge upon Provincial funds, and it is charges of this description that would confront the investigator who sought to discover the reasons for the insidious growth of expenditure in the Provincial Budget.

"But, it may be said, all this development must mean something for Government. What are new treasuries and sub-treasuries built for but the reception of treasure? Overflowing and abounding prosperity for the people must mean affluence in the Exchequer. True, my Lord, Government—the State, the general tax-payer, the public purse—is reaping a splendid harvest from these Punjab colonies; but the paradox of the position is this, that while the people and the public treasury share in the profits of this magnificent prosperity, the local administration, the Government of the Punjab, is being, I might almost say, impoverished by it. The Local Government bears all the expenditure; the Imperial Government takes nearly all the profit. Out of every rupee of assessment collected from the Chenab colonist Sir Fleetwood Wilson takes 15 annas and leaves only one anna to Sir Louis Dane.

"My Lord, that is not the only source in the Punjab of Sir Fleetwood Wilson's wealth. There has been some disappointment that the railway traffic returns of Indian railways have fallen short of the estimates, but how much greater would the shortage have been had not the North-Western Railway come to the rescue? The increase of about a crore and a half in the current year's takings on this line, which is more than half the year's increase in railway earnings for the whole of India, reflects the prosperity of the province from which that railway draws its income. That income, the gross traffic receipts of the North-Western Railway, although more than three times the land-revenue of the Punjab, does not contribute a single pice to meet the cost of the Provincial administration. So far from the North-Western Railway contributing to the cost of the local administration, its action has only the other day imposed upon Provincial funds a new recurring charge of over one lakh per annum in consequence of first and second class fares having been enhanced 50 per cent.

"And, my Lord, paradoxical as it may seem, the cost of the Provincial administration is in another respect prejudicially affected by the very prosperity which is so fruitful for the Imperial Exchequer. The unprecedentedly high prices which the Punjabi agriculturist is realizing for his produce coupled with an inexhaustible demand for labour has inevitably raised wages all round. Though the coolie, the menial and the artisan have to pay more for the daily ration of grain which represents the minimum of subsistence, yet the conditions of the labour market are such that they are able to meet the cost. When the coolie demands and obtains the necessary increment in his wage it is impossible for Government to withhold a similar increment from those ranks of its servants whose wages are little if anything above the rates received by coolies; and of course in the Public Works Department all expenditure is affected by the increased rates for labour. The Provincial Secretariat is at the present moment full of memorials from all classes of public servants praying for a revision of salaries on account of the increased cost of living, and though the justice of their cause is undeniable the Local Government can do nothing without an addition to its resources.

"Well, my Lord, the critics of the Punjab administration may rejoin to all this—granted that the causes which I have mentioned—calamities, colonization developments and rising prices—granted that these causes explain the increases in expenditure, it is nevertheless necessary to overhaul the expenditure schedules as a whole; they may have from the outset been framed on a scale indicative of extravagance. Now there is no absolute standard in this matter, and the only possible method of arriving at a just estimate of the cost of the Punjab administration is to compare it with that of other provinces, allowance of course being made for the difference in conditions. It happens that the new province of Eastern Bengal and Assam is in many respects comparable with the Punjab. Its area is practically the same. It consists of 26 districts as compared with 29 in the Punjab, and the system of administration—a Lieutenant-Governor, Board of Revenue (in the Punjab a Financial Commissioner), Commissioners and Collectors—is the same. The comparison is instructive. Taking the expenditure figures last available—those of the year 1908-1909—it will be found that the Secretariat of the Eastern Province costs 56 per cent. more, and although the Punjab land-revenue exceeds that of Eastern Bengal by 50 per cent. the Board of Revenue costs 25 per cent. more than in the Punjab. Commissioners cost 22 per cent. more in the Eastern Province and, although it has to pay nothing for a High Court, the charges for 'Courts of law' exceed by 20 per cent. the cost of the Judicial Establishment in the Punjab, which has to pay for a Chief Court of six Judges. Both in the number of officers and in their rates of pay the Punjab is more economical. For many years the Punjab has been the only one of the eight major provinces which has managed to carry on with two Secretaries in the Civil Department. Even the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces has three Secretaries. An application has now been made for a third officer, but, even then, the Secretaries, other than the Chief Secretary, will be receiving lower rates of pay than in any other Province, not excluding the Central Provinces. This inferiority in the scale of pay allowed to officers of the Civil Service in the Punjab, as compared, for instance, with Eastern Bengal, is found also in the ranks of the Commissioners and Judges. In the lower ranks of the Civil Service the disadvantages of the junior officers in the Punjab are still more marked, and I can testify to the existence of a very widespread discontent in consequence of the delay which has occurred in dealing with the representation made on their behalf two years ago.

"The general conclusion then derived from an examination of the charges for civil administration is that the Punjab is the most economically managed of the major Provinces in India. However, let us apply another test. If a Local Government is suspected of indulging in extravagance and if its critics desire to put their finger on the particular expenditure which they would hold up for exposure as evidencing financial profligacy, we all know where they will turn. The Public Works Department is the residuary legatee of Provincial finance. When the Provincial exchequer is full the Public Works Department is the chief beneficiary. When it is empty it is the principal sufferer. When the word goes forth for retrenchment it is the Civil Works budget that must yield up its allotments. Consequently there is no better test or index to the financial prosperity or adversity of a local administration than that which is afforded by its Civil Works budget. I would therefore invite special attention to the figures in the Financial Statement under the head '45.—Civil Works.' They are most significant. Taking the figures for the five years 1906-1907 to 1910-1911, the Punjab, with all its colonization developments, has spent less and has less to spend on Public Works than any other Provincial Government—between 11 and 12 per cent. less than the Central Provinces and 18 per cent. less than Eastern Bengal and Assam. The Council will remember that the Hon'ble Mr. Weston referred most sympathetically to the position of the Central Provinces and spoke of Public Works there having been starved owing to financial stringency. And yet the Public Works expenditure of the Central Provinces for the five years 1906-1911 exceeds by no less than 32 lakhs the amount which the Punjab has been able to afford for civil works during the same period. In these circumstances, as might have been expected, the margin available for new works, as distinguished from repairs and establishment, is in the Punjab markedly below that of other Provinces. I have available only the figures of 1908-1909. They are—United Provinces 19 lakhs; the year was one of famine in the Provinces of Agra and Oudh and expenditure was abnormally curtailed; Madras 28 lakhs; Central Provinces 33 lakhs; Burma 37 lakhs; Bengal 38 lakhs; Bombay 41 lakhs; and Eastern Bengal and Assam—the Benjamin of the Provinces—47 lakhs. And what was the Punjab able to spend? A beggarly 17 lakhs only.

“What, my Lord, is the remedy for this penury of the local administration? No remedy can be of any permanent value which is of the nature of temporary charitable relief. Doles or grants-in-aid are no doubt welcome, but when they carry with them obligations involving growing expenditure charges, without any corresponding provision on the revenue side, they tend to aggravate the conditions which produce the penury of which I have spoken. The financial settlement of 1905 was at the time a fair and reasonable one. What we assert is that its character has been very materially modified since then by the action of the Government of India. It has been materially modified by the allotment of fixed assignments instead of new sources of growing revenue to meet growing expenditure charges imposed by the Government of India; and in regard to the most important source of growing revenue there has been a recent retardation in the rate of growth which has falsified the expectations entertained in 1905 on the basis of previous experience. Such a retardation, we believe, would not have occurred under a régime such as that advocated by the Royal Decentralization Commission. That body has recommended a larger measure of autonomy for Local Governments, not merely in respect of expenditure, but also in matters affecting the revenue side of the Provincial balance sheet; and it is obviously only fair and reasonable that at a time when Local Governments are being told that, by hook or by crook, they have got to make both ends meet and pay their way,—it is only fair and reasonable that, when this responsibility is being enforced upon them, there should at the same time be some degree of emancipation from that centralised control in revenue matters which acts as a check upon the development of Provincial sources of income in directions suggested by local knowledge and experience. In matters connected with land-revenue settlements this centralization of control seems to be of comparatively modern origin. From paragraph 245 of the Decentralization Commission's Report it would appear that the present limitations have grown up only since 1880. During the past two or three years this tightening of control in the Punjab has become more intensified and the instances of intervention by the Government of India in settlement proceedings more numerous. This, I think, the Hon'ble the (Revenue Member will not deny. A movement in the opposite direction, in the direction of relaxation of the control of the Government of India, is what is recommended by the Decentralization Commission. They have in fact definitely and deliberately advised that in settlement matters all the major Provinces should be on the same footing as Madras and Bombay; and the system in Madras and Bombay is described as ‘practically a free hand in settlement and cognate matters.’ Were the Royal Commission's recommendation carried into effect, a more hopeful financial future for the Punjab administration would be assured, one more responsive to the progress of the Province, more commensurate with the prosperity of its agricultural classes.

"Now, my Lord, just a word about this prosperity. Its existence is attested not only by the reports of those who live and work among the people and who witness its actuality, but by statistics of all kinds—statistics of the value of surplus produce exported, statistics of the imports of bullion and treasure which in enormous quantities are being absorbed in the hoards of the people, and statistics of the phenomenal rise in the market-value of agricultural land and of all kinds of real property. But it must seem strange to the ears of members of this Council to hear mention of the word 'prosperity' in connection with the agricultural population of any portion of the country—strange because the Council must by this time have grown accustomed to the constant rancorous, I may almost say venomous, repetition of that ancient threadbare claptrap regarding the growing poverty of the people, which in season and out of season is so regularly paraded, and which, whether the subject of debate be silver or sanitation, railways or epidemics, education or technology, seldom suffers exclusion from the speeches of the Hon'ble and learned Pandit from Allahabad. This disingenuous cant about the comparative poverty of the Indian population is egregiously overdone. If we appeal to our experience, we can, most of us, testify that in the United Kingdom, partly owing to the unequal distribution of wealth, and partly to the rigorous conditions of northern winters, there is among the slum dwellers and submerged element in the population far more real poverty, misery and destitution than there is in this tropical land, where nature makes the conditions of existence for the poor soft and easy, and where in the matter of food, housing and clothing the requirements for bodily comfort are easily satisfied and at a moderate cost. Moreover, the percentage of the population represented by the million or so of paupers permanently in receipt of poor law relief in the United Kingdom has never, in the Punjab at least, been equalled even at the worst times of famine.

"However, if in the investigation of the question of poverty in this country the Hon'ble Pandit Madan Mohan Malaviya wishes to make an excursion into the realm of truth, let him study the memoirs of the Venetian Manucci, the Court Physician of the Emperor Shah Alum, and having done so let him tell us what was the condition of the masses in general and of the agriculturists and revenue-payers in particular in the days of Native rule preceding our own. But if, with a high flying disregard of easily ascertainable facts, he persists in ignoring the enrichment of the people under the British administration and affronts the intelligence of this Council and taxes its patience by his harping in that wearisome refrain on the growing poverty of the people, which he seeks to associate with the failure of Government to spend on education, sanitation, and the manufacture of examination-room technological experts the sums which he and his friends consider suitable, then I think that the conclusion is inevitable that my Hon'ble friend Malik Umar Hyat Khan was not so very far wide of the mark, at any rate as regards one member of this Council, when he said that the aim and object of the supporters of what he called 'fancy resolutions' are to exhibit Government in the light of an opponent and enemy of all measures designed for the advancement and well-being of the people.

"But this is a digression. I had reached the stage of showing that one remedy for the financial difficulties encountered by the Punjab Government is the decentralization in revenue and settlement matters recommended by the Royal Commission. The other remedy for the present situation also has the support of the Decentralization Commission. Though the Hon'ble the Finance Member has declared with much emphasis that the Government of India will admit of no revision of the settlement of 1905, yet I trust that he will not exclude from consideration the recommendation on pages 33 and 292 of the report issued last year regarding the substitution of growing revenues for fixed assignments in the Provincial settlements. The Punjab is specially referred to as a Province in which fixed assignments have reached abnormal limits. Moreover, in considering the extent to which Provincial finances have been prejudiced during the term of the present settlement by the largeness of the fixed assignment element, we should add to the 58½ lakhs mentioned on page 292 of Vol. I of the Royal Commission's Report the 30½ lakhs minimum guarantee for irrigation which up to the present and for years to come promises to be nothing but a fixed assignment; and this circumstance should be borne in mind in explanation of what I have said as to the distribution of Colony income. This question of fixed assignments versus shares of growing revenue is, I fear, too technical to interest the Council, but it is all important for Provincial finances. The Punjab Government has indicated to the Government of India what heads of revenue are suitable for provincialization. The United Provinces are, I understand, the only other administration which receives a share of the land-revenue less than one-half. Whatever other adjustments be made, I trust that in this respect the Punjab will be placed on a footing of equality with other Provinces, and I shall not be surprised if a similar claim is made on behalf of Sir J. Hewett's Government.

"In conclusion, my Lord, I would ask the Hon'ble the Finance Minister to remember that it is customary and in accordance with precedent to allow to the official representatives of the Provinces a certain amount of license and latitude in pleading for their Provinces in these budget debates, and I would remind him that the late Sir Alexander Mackenzie on one occasion likened the dealings of the Financial Department with the Provinces to that of the shearer who takes the Provincial lamb, throws it down, ruthlessly deprives it of its fleece, and turns it out to shiver in the cold. I have not used such exaggerated language, for I believe that the situation is not really so bad as all that, and that the Provincial lamb, like the victims of the taxes on silver, petroleum and tobacco, may claim a share of that sympathy, that 'blessed sympathy' of the Hon'ble the Finance Member, which, if costly, has on others been so freely bestowed?"

The Hon'ble MR. HOLMS said:—"To apportion the resources of a Province between the Imperial Government and the Local Government is probably one of the most difficult tasks which fall for a Finance Member; but it is an even more difficult—and perhaps an impossible—task to satisfy the representatives of a Province as to the fairness of that division. While I fully recognise this difficulty, and while I have noted the Hon'ble Member's pronouncement that he sees no prospect in the near future of being able to take on his shoulders a further share of the recurring expenditure of the Local Governments, still I have a few words to say about the finances of the United Provinces.

"The financial history of the United Provinces is well known, how in a somewhat distant past a probably excessive appreciation of the superior claims of the Imperial Government led to a mistaken economy and to the requirements of the Province being starved; how when financial settlements came at first to be made they were based on a comparatively inadequate standard of expenditure; and how of late years the Government of India have taken a wider and more liberal view of the situation, and, in the settlement which was arranged two years ago, they have made provision for a standard of expenditure more in accordance with the needs of the Province. This is all matter of common knowledge. The Hon'ble the Finance Member has expressed his confidence in the financial future of the Province. The words he used were 'The United Provinces with its new settlement and respite from famine will no doubt be able to avoid deficits in normal conditions and to build up a strong balance against contingencies.' I regret that the authorities of the Province do not find themselves altogether able to share this confidence. The Local Government is doing what it can to husband its resources, but there is little to be expected in the near future in the way of increase to the heads of revenue allotted to it from which to meet the growth of expenditure which is forced on us by the changed conditions in most branches of the administration.

"I do not wish to attempt to make an exhaustive, or anything approaching an exhaustive, catalogue of the needs of the Province. In many respects they are similar to the needs of the Punjab which the Hon'ble Member who has just spoken has detailed at some length: but I may take a few examples only, which are illustrative of many other needs. The main judicial divisions of the Province were fixed over fifty years ago and a large increase to the courts of law is contemplated. Again, an enquiry has been set on foot regarding the adequacy of the pay of clerical establishments—pay which was fixed at a time when the cost of living was much lower than at present—and there is bound to be considerable increase of expenditure under this head. As a further instance I need only mention the needs of the Province in the matter of education—a topic which I mentioned in Council this time last year. The net expenditure per head of the population in the United Provinces budgeted for in the coming year is lower than the similar figure for any other Province in India, and this is a significant indication of how far the resources left to the Province fall short of satisfying the wants of the people in this respect.

"In these circumstances the anticipated normal growth of revenue is likely to prove unequal to meeting the almost inevitable growth of what is practically unavoidable expenditure; and, in view of this consideration and of the very large proportion of the revenue raised in the Province which goes to the Imperial Government, the Local Government may find itself constrained at no very distant date to ask for a reconsideration of the position, and especially that its share in the land-revenue receipts may be brought up to the level of that enjoyed by other Provinces.

"The Hon'ble the Member for the Punjab has referred to the large grants which have been made by the Imperial Government to the Government of the United Provinces. These grants were made on account of famine, which is outside the ordinary Provincial finances; and in considering the amount of these grants it should be noted that, at the time the last settlement was concluded, the Provinces received no initial grant at all, which is the usual accompaniment of new settlements.

"There is one minor matter which I would mention. In the memorandum which accompanies the Imperial Financial Statement the decrease in the revenue estimate for the current year under 'Medical' in the United Provinces is attributed to heavy lapses in the special subvention made from Imperial revenues for the improvement of sanitation. The latest information that has reached me is that it is expected that the whole amount of this subvention would be spent in full during the current year and that the shortage under the revised estimate is due to less being spent on plague, and this is fortunately due to plague being less prevalent in the current year.

"In conclusion I am to express regret that the Government of India find themselves unable to find money to complete the reorganization of the Police in the Province and to find money for the relief of rural towns from the cost of their police."

The Hon'ble SIR VITHALDAS D. THACKERSEY said:—"My Lord, the Hon'ble the Finance Member explained in his Budget statement the circumstances that compelled him to levy additional taxation. He told us that, notwithstanding the highly favourable prospects with which the year opens, he could not expect a surplus without the help of additional taxation, because of the reduction in our exports of opium to China and the abandonment to Eastern Bengal and Assam of a larger share of land-revenue than it has hitherto retained. My Lord, it has already been urged in this Council that the revenue from opium has been greatly under-estimated; and this criticism has been amply justified by the further extraordinary rise in the price of opium during the last few weeks. The larger receipts from opium and the increase that may be expected in the receipts from railways owing to the excellent crop and the consequent heavy traffic, would be in my opinion amply sufficient to carry through the next year without any extra taxation. My Hon'ble friend Mr. Gokhale pointed out the other day that it was extremely unusual for Government to levy additional taxation in a normal year. It is therefore a matter of regret that the Hon'ble Finance Member has not seen his way to make his arrangements without resort to additional taxation even after the practically unanimous opposition of the non-official members. Assuming the official estimate to be correct, it strikes me nevertheless that the decrease in the opium revenue cannot be given as the cause of the additional taxation. The policy of reducing our opium exports is three years old, and at the time of its inception our late Finance Member, His Honour Sir Edward Baker, explained that Government would be able to meet the loss on that account from the normal growth of revenue. As a matter of fact, my Lord, the opium revenue during these three years has belied the estimates. In 1907-08 the receipts exceeded the estimates by £371,800; in 1908-09 by £1,041,300; and in the current year, again, we have had an excess of £1,000,000 over the estimates. That is to say, in the three years, opium has given us about 2½ million pounds more than it was estimated to yield. Probably it may give us another million in the next year or it may not. In any case, it seems to me that the reasons for saddling opium with the responsibility of the additional taxation in the budget are not very cogent.

"My Lord, in this connection I request Government to tell the Council in distinct terms what their future policy in regard to opium is going to be. The three years during which China was to have the opportunity of proving her ability to prosecute her anti-opium policy has expired. The Finance Member told the Council last year that the question of the curtailment of cultivation and production of opium in China was under enquiry by the International Commission at Shanghai. He devoted a paragraph to the conclusions of the Commission in his Financial Statement this year, but I have looked in vain through it for a definite statement as to whether China has carried out her part of the agreement to the satisfaction of Government. Of course, the announcement of a programme of reduction for another three years carries with it the inference that Government are satisfied with the progress made by China; but I think the Council would like to have a clear statement especially in view of a recent interpellation in the House of Commons.

"My Lord, I now come to the increased grant to Eastern Bengal and Assam. If the grant proposed was due to exceptional causes and was non-recurring, there would be no great objection to it. But this is not the case. The new Province is to be credited with a much larger share of its land-revenue than has been hitherto found sufficient, and to meet the deficiency caused thereby in the Imperial revenue the whole country is taxed. My Lord, when the people of other Provinces are sought to be burdened with extra taxation on account of the partition of Bengal, it must be admitted that they have a good cause for complaint. If it is the intention of Government not to modify the partition so as to make the new Province self-supporting, I am afraid they have not adopted the best method of convincing the country of the wisdom of the existing arrangements. The justice of finding money for the administration of Eastern Bengal by taxing an important industry in the Bombay Presidency is far from obvious to those who have to bear the larger share of the burden.

"My Lord, from what I have said above, it follows that the new taxes are not rightly attributed either to opium or Eastern Bengal. They are really due to the extra expenditure under Interest, Post and Telegraphs, Salaries and Expenses of Civil Departments, Ordinary Civil Works and Military Services that have been budgeted for in the coming year. I do not doubt, my Lord, that all this increase is necessary and that if they are taken item by item the departments concerned can easily show that every one of the items of increase is absolutely necessary to the efficiency of administration. But at the same time we must all recognise that India is a poor country and that any increase in the cost of administration should therefore be well within the normal growth of revenue. I beg, my Lord, to associate myself with the observation of the Hon'ble Finance Member that he viewed with great anxiety the steady growth of our expenditure. The secret of good government is economical government. Economy in administration leads to the contentment and prosperity of the people and to the stability of government.

[Sir Vithaldas D. Thackersey.]

I earnestly hope that the Government of India will seriously consider and realise the danger of allowing expenditure to grow as it has been growing of late years.

"My Lord, I beg the indulgence of the Council for a few observations which I desire to make with reference to the part of the Financial Statement relating to Provincial finance. The Hon'ble Finance Member, I think, rather rebuked Provincial Governments for their extravagance. The Government of India, he said, were driven to the conclusion that the Provinces in the aggregate were steadily over-spending their income by about half-a-million a year. I think, my Lord, the Hon'ble the Finance Member was particularly hard on Bombay, where, he said, our cash balances were being somewhat rapidly diminished, and he warned us that care would have to be exercised to prevent the scale of recurring expenditure from settling into permanent excess over the normal revenues. He observed :—'It will be the duty, disagreeable and unpopular, but inevitable, of the Local Governments to overhaul their expenditure and to adapt it to their normal resources.' He concluded this important portion of his statement with some noteworthy remarks : 'I can hold out no hope,' said the Hon'ble Member, 'of any general revision of these arrangements (Provincial Settlements). They were made, before I came to India, with scrupulous care, and were intended to foster provincial independence, economy and foresight. Nor do I see any near prospect of our being able to undertake a further share of the recurring expenditure of Local Governments. Our own necessities will not improbably force systematic retrenchment upon us, which will affect Imperial and Provincial services alike ; and in the meantime Local Governments can best co-operate with us, and thus mitigate future difficulties, by examining the causes of the insidious growth of expenditure, and sharply checking them.'

"My Lord, speaking at the last meeting of the Bombay Legislative Council, the Revenue Member, the Hon'ble Sir John Muir-Mackenzie, gave expression to some very weighty remarks which I think state the case from the point of view of Provincial Governments with great force and clearness. While Sir John thought that there was no reason to fear that the Bombay Government in any way exceeded the bounds of prudence, he pointed out that the growth of expenditure had been very rapid and that even with a continuance of normal seasons the Provincial Government could not expect to increase their expenditure at the same rate as they had been doing in the last few years. 'On the other hand,' he continued, 'the urgent demands for expenditure will not cease. There is practically no limit to them. To mention a few of our immediate needs, we urgently require funds to improve the pay and organisation of our subordinate establishments in both the Revenue and Judicial Departments. There is heavy expenditure still required to bring our Police up to a full level of efficiency. Large sums are required for Education. The demands even for primary education, which come first are far from being satisfied. Expenditure ought to be increased still more in the Medical, Agricultural and Veterinary Departments. All departments are clamouring for their share of the grant for public works which ought not, if we can help it, to be curtailed.' He went on to suggest that the only alternative to the retardation of the progress of the Province by the undue curtailment of expenditure was the investment of the Provincial Council with the requisite power to impose the taxation required to meet the needs of the Province.

"My Lord, I am unable to detect in the words of the Hon'ble the Finance Member any confirmation of the earnest hope with which Sir John Muir-Mackenzie looked forward to the widening of the financial powers of Provincial Councils. The prospect of Provincial Governments having abruptly to lay aside their plans of development is not a pleasing one. The largest proportion of Provincial expenditure, indeed I may say the whole of Provincial expenditure, is devoted to the immediate wants and requirements of the community. As such, it may be said to be entirely productive expenditure, while Imperial expenditure, though it is not less important, is less direct in the benefits that it confers on the people. Any curtailment of Provincial expenditure will therefore re-act more rapidly on the well-being and, consequently, on the peace and contentment of the people than a similar reduction in Imperial expenditure. My Lord, I think there is greater room for some reduction in the Imperial expenditure which amounts to over 75 crores than a further restriction of the Provincial expenditure which amounts to only 37 crores for all the Provinces combined.

"My Lord, the Hon'ble Finance Member opened his very lucid and interesting Financial Statement last month, with an account of the procedure to be adopted for the discussion of the financial proposals of Government. He pointed out that ample opportunity would be afforded for a genuine scrutiny of the estimates by the Council and for a criticism which was based on precise facts. 'We believe,' he added, 'that the result will be helpful to the Government and will foster the growth of an informed public opinion upon the vital problems of our public finance.'

"My Lord, I am sorry to say that the experience of the debates on the present financial proposals of Government has not tended to confirm these generous hopes. Weighty and well-considered proposals were brought forward with the object of amending the Government proposals and were argued before the Council by Members having the advantage of possessing first hand information on the subjects on which they spoke. I venture to think that their arguments made considerable impression on not only the non-official but also the official Members of the Council, but all the same their resolutions were one and all rejected by Government. I need hardly point out to Government that this has produced a feeling of great disappointment in the country.

"I fully recognise that it is not altogether in the hands of Government to modify their proposals in response to the criticisms that may be passed on them in this Council; and I am also sure that the Government of India will give the fullest consideration to such criticism in their proposals in subsequent years. But, my Lord, it is not always possible to put off the mischief that may be done by any measure for twelve months, and it is, therefore, most desirable that the Government of India should be given some larger degree of freedom in regard to the measures they bring forward before the Council.

"My Lord, we all admit that the financial requirements of the Government must be provided from the resources of the country. We do not want them to be borne by Great Britain. We are prepared to bear our burdens and, my Lord, all that we ask, is that the country should be allowed greater freedom in choosing the methods of raising revenue. I am unable to see, my Lord, how it will be injurious to the interests of Government if this Council is allowed a more real share as regards what articles shall be taxed and what duties shall be raised. Indeed, I believe that not only will not Government interests suffer in any way, but on the other hand their prestige and popularity will be greatly enhanced and the recent reforms will have the stamp of greater reality if, instead of seeming to dictate to the people what taxes they shall pay, they showed greater consideration to the wishes of the people as to the way in which taxation should be distributed. My Lord, I need not remind the Council that there is an impression abroad that in deciding most important questions of the economic and financial policy the Government of India are obliged to be guided by political exigencies. It cannot be denied that the excise-duty on Indian-made piece-goods, which is without a parallel in any country in the world, was levied and is continued to satisfy the Lancashire manufacturers. Even as regards the taxation of the ensuing year it is generally believed that if the Government of India had a freer hand they would have preferred the raising of the general tariff or a duty on sugar, which would have been less objectionable instead of levying the proposed enhanced duties in the teeth of practically unanimous opposition of the non-official members of this Council and the public generally. Again, it is generally believed that the proposed factory legislation to restrict the working hours of the adult male, in spite of the recommendations of the Factory Commission to the contrary, is not solely due to a consideration of the interests of Indian labourers. The country must recognise and is deeply grateful for the strenuous stand the Government of India have often made against any measures which they consider either unpopular or to the detriment of Indian industries. My Lord, I can think of no more effective way of dissipating these and similar impressions, which are injurious to the prestige of the Government of India and to the contentment of the people, than to take the public more fully into confidence and to show greater regard to their wishes and preferences. My Lord, the discontent that is likely to prove really serious is not the discontent of political theorists but the discontent which arises from ill-devised taxation. The bulk of the people are not affected by theoretical considerations as to what is or what is not the best form of government so long as they feel that their material interests are not liable to be sacrificed at the instance of outside influences without regard to their interests and feelings. My Lord, I appeal to Your Lordship and to Lord Morley to crown your great work for India by removing this serious cause of irritation, and by ensuring, for the opinions and sentiments of the Indian people, an adequate and effectual voice in the management of their finances.

"My Lord, as this will probably be the last occasion of Your Excellency's presence at the principal session of this Council, I may be permitted to express the general feeling of regret at the early prospect of Your Lordship's completing your term of Indian Viceroyalty. My Lord, it is the greatest tribute to the high sense of justice and statesmanship that Your Lordship has brought to the duties of your exalted office that notwithstanding what we all regretfully recognise has been a record period of repressive legislation, throughout the length and breadth of the country, among all classes and creeds, Your Lordship's name is held in the highest respect and gratitude along with the names of your illustrious predecessors Canning and Ripon. The large and far-reaching reforms which Your Lordship has brought about, undeterred by anarchist developments and reactionary counsels, will long be remembered among the most beneficent achievements of British statesmanship. My Lord, I am sure that Your Lordship's interest in this great country will not pass away, and I humbly hope that from your high place in the counsels of Parliament and of His Majesty you will long continue to exert your kindly influence for the welfare and prosperity of India."

The Hon'ble MR. GOKHALE said :—"My Lord, when the Tariff Bill was under discussion in this Council last month I took the opportunity to offer some general criticism on the Financial Statement which had then been laid before us by my Hon'ble friend the Finance Minister. In the course of that criticism I had ventured to observe that in my opinion the estimates of revenue were under certain heads under-estimates. In reply to that my Hon'ble friend Mr. Meston told us that it was not usual for any one in this Council to question the accuracy of the figures supplied by the Finance Department. My Lord, I confess I was surprised to hear that statement. My Hon'ble friend will pardon me if I say that my experience of this Council is much longer than his, and it is not only not correct to say that it is unusual to question the accuracy of these figures, but I should go further and say that the reverse of that statement will be the correct one. It is true that during the last four or five years no occasion has arisen to question the accuracy of the figures supplied by the Finance Department, but if my Hon'ble friend will turn to the debates of this Council between 1902 and 1905, he will find that every year a complaint was made that the estimates of revenue were under-estimates. During the time of Sir Edward Law no answer was received to this complaint, but in 1905, when His Honour Sir Edward Baker became Finance Minister, he took notice of it and admitted its substantial correctness. If the Hon'ble Member will turn to the Financial Statement of 1905-1906 he will find there a paragraph called 'Comparison of Estimates with Actuals,' in which Sir Edward Baker observes as follows :—

'It is sometimes made a reproach against Government that their estimates of revenue and expenditure are wanting in accuracy, and that the actual results when made up at the end of the year, are apt to differ somewhat widely from those forecasted in the budget at its beginning. Latterly this charge has taken the form of a suggestion that we habitually under-estimate our revenue and over-estimate our expenditure.'

[Mr. Gokhale.]

"Then, after comparing the practice of England and several of the continental countries, Sir Edward Baker goes on to admit that there was much in that charge that was true. He naturally says all that he can in favour of the old practice, and then proceeds:—

'I would not, however, be understood to contend that the criticisms to which I have referred are wholly without justification. That would be an over-statement of the case. Even when allowance is made for the disturbing elements to which allusion has been made above, the figures in the statement in paragraph 52 show that during the last three years the revenue has exceeded the estimate by more than these causes fairly explain. This feature probably has its origin in the former uncertainty of sterling exchange. So long as all growth of revenue and the fruits of all retrenchment were liable to be swallowed up by a fall in exchange, it was common prudence to frame the estimates in the most cautious manner, and to take no credit for developments of revenue until they were absolutely assured. When this factor was eliminated, the traditions of excessive caution remained, and due allowance was not always made in the estimates for the normal expansion of the growing heads of revenue.'

"Here then is an admission by a former Finance Minister that for a number of years it was the habitual practice of the Finance Department to under-estimate revenue owing to causes which have been explained by him. My Lord, this is in reality a small matter; but the statement made by the Hon'ble Mr. Meston, if allowed to remain uncontradicted might cause serious inconvenience hereafter, because objection might again be taken to any suggestion as to under-estimates or over-estimates. I believe my Hon'ble friend mistook what is a rule for the new Council for the practice of this Council in the past. There is undoubtedly a rule among the new rules that in framing resolutions that a Member wants to move, the accuracy of the figures supplied by the Finance Department shall not be questioned. That applies, however, only to resolutions and not to any general criticism of the financial estimates that may be offered.

"My Lord, this year's budget has come upon us all as an unpleasant surprise. The feeling is like that of a person who is walking securely on the ground and all of a sudden discovers a yawning gulf before him. After a great number of years—after ten years—of consecutive surpluses we first came to a year of a heavy deficit, due, as we then understood, to famine. Then there was what appeared to be a normal year, and we have now another normal year in which, however, extra taxation has been imposed on the people. This circumstance, namely, the levying of extra taxation in a normal year, suggests that something is wrong with the financial position of the country, and in any case it suggests an inquiry. I have given some attention to this question and I find that the results are such as to cause apprehension. My Lord, for a correct understanding of this question it is necessary to pass under brief review the finances of the ten years from 1898 to 1908, because our series of surpluses began with the year 1898. From that year we had ten consecutive surpluses ending with the year 1908. Let us therefore see what were the special features of the financial position during that time and what use was made of the prosperous finances of those years by the Government. It will be found that there were four distinctive features of this period. The first was that there was a large saving in the cost of the home remittances of the Government owing to exchange having established itself at a steady rate of 1s. 4d. to the rupee in the year 1898. The second was an improvement in the opium revenue, which before 1893 had been steadily falling for a number of years. The third was the expansion, the more than average expansion, of the ordinary revenues of the country. And the fourth was an improvement in the railway revenues of the Government. These four causes combined to give the Government large surpluses, and the Government utilized the position in the first place to remit a certain amount of taxation and then to sanction a large amount of increased expenditure in various directions.

"I would respectfully invite the Council to consider this matter carefully. It has been said by some critics that the present difficulties of Government have arisen from the fact that during those fat years Government remitted taxation which should not have been remitted. Now, my Lord, I must protest strongly against this view. If the Council will look at the amount of taxation remitted during those ten years, it will find that the total of remissions came to about four millions sterling or six crores of rupees. But owing to the artificial rise in the rupee the savings of the Government on their home remittances also had come to about five and a half crores of rupees. What had happened was this. The Government had gone on adding tax after tax in the period preceding the year 1898, so as to secure a balance between revenue and expenditure and even a surplus, no matter what the level of exchange was, and thus even when exchange was at its lowest, as it was in the year 1894, namely, at 13d. to the rupee, the Government were able to show not only an equilibrium between revenue and expenditure but also a small margin as surplus. As the exchange value of the rupee steadily went up, the level of taxation remaining the same, it meant a steadily increasing surplus at the disposal of the Government. By the year 1898 exchange established itself firmly in the vicinity of 16d. to the rupee. Now a rise of 3d. in the value of the rupee meant a saving of $5\frac{1}{2}$ crores in the cost of home remittances. Therefore, when the Government of India remitted taxation to the amount of 6 crores, they practically gave back to the tax-payers only what they had saved on their home remittances. The remissions were thus not taken out of their ordinary revenue: they merely represented the savings effected in the cost of the home remittances. We may, therefore, put aside these two items, namely, the savings on the home remittances and the amount of remissions granted to the people during the period we are considering. So much for remissions of taxation. Let us now consider the amount of increased expenditure sanctioned in different directions. My Lord, the first six years of this period were a period of 'efficiency' or, as one of my friends has said, efficiency with a capital 'E'. The result was that expenditure was pushed up by leaps and bounds in various directions. A comparison of the expenditure for 1908-09 for which complete figures are available with the year 1898-99 will reveal certain startling results. It will be found, for instance, that the civil expenditure of the country grew during this period by about 16 crores, including in such expenditure the charges of collection, the salaries and expenses of civil departments, miscellaneous civil charges and civil works. I may mention that from the charges of collection I omit for obvious reasons opium and provincial rates as also refunds and drawbacks and compensations and assignments. The figures for 1908-09, however, include the expenditure for Berar, whereas those for 1898-99 do not. It is necessary, therefore, to exclude Berar figures from the year 1908-09. Even then we find that the increase in civil expenditure comes to about 15 crores, the expenditure having risen from about 29 crores to over 44 crores. My Lord, I venture to think that this is an amazing increase. If the Council will compare this increase with the growth of expenditure during the previous ten years as also with the five years 1881 to 1886, the contrast will appear most striking. The Council may remember that in 1886 Lord Dufferin's Government found itself in a position somewhat similar to that which the Government of India occupy today. From 1881 to 1885 the country had enjoyed what may be called financial prosperity. There was remission of taxation in consequence and also increased expenditure, and the result was that when lean years came in 1886 and the frontier policy of the Government necessitated heavy additional military expenditure, Lord Dufferin found himself driven to appoint a committee to carefully inquire into the growth of expenditure; and one of the reasons adduced for the appointment of that committee was that the increase in civil expenditure had been excessive during the five years which had preceded His Lordship's administration. Now the increase in civil expenditure during those five years had been only about $2\frac{1}{4}$ crores, the expenditure rising from about 22 crores to about $24\frac{1}{4}$ crores. And yet this increase was regarded by Lord Dufferin as excessive. Judging by that standard, I wonder, my Lord, what we are to think of the increase of 15 crores in the ten years from 1898 to 1908! Again, taking the period 1888-1898, what do we find? I do not wish to take the Council through a mass of figures, but I will only state the results of my calculations, giving this assurance to the Council, that I have taken every care I could to compare likes with likes only. Taking the period of ten years immediately preceding 1898, we find that the increase in civil expenditure was from about $24\frac{1}{2}$ crores to about $29\frac{1}{2}$ crores, or about five crores in ten years, against 15 crores in the ten years following 1898. We thus have the following results: if the increase during 1898 to 1908 had been at the same rate as during the five years 1881—1886, when in Lord Dufferin's opinion the civil expenditure had grown enormously, it should not have been more than $4\frac{1}{2}$ crores! Had the rate continued to be what it had been during the ten years preceding 1898, the increase would not have been more than about 5 crores! But instead of these figures, we have here an increase of no less than 15 crores! This shows what the era of surpluses has done to push up civil expenditure! Turning next to military charges during this period, we find the same kind of growth. From 1888 to 1898 the military charges grew by about 3 crores a year or from $22\frac{3}{4}$ crores to $25\frac{3}{4}$ crores, but from 1898 to 1908 they rose by about $5\frac{1}{2}$ crores a year, that is, from $25\frac{3}{4}$ crores to about 31 crores. The whole position therefore is this, that during the ten years 1898 to 1908, while six crores were remitted in taxation, the annual civil expenditure was allowed to grow by 15 crores and about 5 crores of additional expenditure was incurred every year in connection with the army; this gives an increase of about 20 crores in civil and military expenditure in the course of ten years, or an average growth of 2 crores a year. My Lord, every one must admit that this is a phenomenal increase considering that the normal growth of revenue ordinarily has been estimated by a previous Finance Minister at only about one crore and twenty lakhs. I think these figures suggest—to my mind they imperatively suggest—the necessity for an inquiry into the growth of civil and military expenditure during the last ten years. This need of inquiry is all the greater because there is a serious situation in front of us now in connection with the opium revenue. We all know that the opium revenue is doomed, that it will be extinguished altogether, if things go on at the present rate, in the year 1917, i.e., in about seven years from now. In this connection I must express my dissent from my Hon'ble friend Mr. Chitnavis, who has urged that we should ask the Imperial Government to make a contribution to the Indian Exchequer in order to compensate us for the loss of opium revenue. My Lord, I do not think that it will be a dignified course on our part to ask for such a contribution. It is we who have financially benefited in the past by this opium revenue, and it is we who must be prepared to bear this loss when the opium revenue is extinguished, seeing that the stain that will then be wiped away will be wiped away from us. We must face the situation ourselves, and I think, if only the Government will be sufficiently careful, it is possible to do, and even do well, with a diminishing opium revenue. But one thing is now absolutely necessary to do in connection with this opium revenue, and that is that from next year Government should take into account only a steadily diminishing figure as opium revenue for recurring purposes. What I mean is this—the whole of this revenue, which for next year is taken at about $5\frac{1}{2}$ crores nett, has to be extinguished in seven years. The Finance Department should therefore take as ordinary revenue only a descending series of figures terminating in zero in seven years for each succeeding year, and all excess over that figure should be treated as a windfall or extraordinary revenue to be devoted to extraordinary purposes such as non-recurring expenditure on education, sanitation, and so forth. My Lord, I submit this course should have been adopted three years ago, so that the burden of a diminishing revenue should have been evenly distributed and the great need of retrenchment realized in time. I trust the Council will remember that when His Honour Sir Edward Baker enunciated the new opium policy of the Government of India three years ago, he assured the Council that the sacrifice could be made without a resort to extra taxation. That meant that the steadily widening gap made by a diminution in opium revenue would be met by economies, unless the growth of revenue under other heads sufficed for the purpose. And yet here we have my Hon'ble friend the Finance Minister coming to the Council in a normal year with proposals for additional taxation on the ground of a diminishing opium revenue! My Lord, recent discussions have made it abundantly clear that the course I am urging is necessary, if a policy of steady retrenchment is to be followed and a sudden financial crisis to be averted. What is happening at present is this: owing to the reduction in the number of chests the price per chest is rising. Probably this will go on for some time, and we may even reach four thousand rupees per chest. So for some time the rise in prices will make up, and perhaps even more than make up, for the reduction in the number of chests, with the result that during the next two or three years the Government may not necessarily get a smaller amount as their opium revenue than at present; but when the maximum price is reached, then there will be a sudden and precipitate drop, and in the course of three or four years following the Government will have to be prepared to face the extinction of the whole of this revenue of about $5\frac{1}{2}$ crores. And it is easy to foresee what will then happen. If all of a sudden, say, 2 crores were to be lost in any particular year, I am quite sure that the Finance Minister will again urge the same plea that he has urged this year, that it is not possible to arrange for economies sufficient to cover such a loss all at once. And then fresh taxation will again be imposed upon the people as was done this year. Unless, therefore, Government take credit only for a steadily diminishing opium revenue and arrange to keep all excess above that figure as a windfall or extraordinary revenue to be devoted to non-recurring expenditure, I am quite sure they will not feel the same incentive to retrenchment, and the results will be deplorable.

"My Lord, I have urged an inquiry, I would even say an immediate, inquiry into the growth of expenditure on two grounds,—first, because there has been this vast growth in civil and military expenditure, and secondly, because the opium revenue is to disappear in seven years. I think the Government has no choice now but to pursue a policy of rigorous retrenchment, and for that a necessary preliminary is an inquiry such as I have suggested. But while the present high scale of charges on both civil and military administration require to be cut down, an increase, and even a large increase, of expenditure is necessary on objects intimately connected with the real well-being of the people—such as primary and technical education, sanitation and relief of agricultural indebtedness. And if retrenchment will not produce the money required for these objects, I for one shall not shrink from advocating additional taxation for the purpose. Only the resources of retrenchment must first be exhausted, before those of additional taxation are drawn upon. My Lord, we feel strongly that the present expenditure on the objects I have mentioned is most inadequate, and unless the Government are prepared to spend far larger sums in these directions, the discontent which we see on all sides at present will not in reality diminish. This question is to us a question of the most vital importance, and it is only in the measure in which the Government deal with it that they will have identified themselves with our best interests."

The Hon'ble MR. ANDREW said:—"My Lord, I have to express the gratification of the Madras Government at the receipt of the Secretary of State's sanction to the scheme for the reconstitution of district and divisional charges, and at the promise made by the Government of India to finance it, and I am glad to thank the Hon'ble Sir Guy Fleetwood Wilson for having made a provision of two lakhs of rupees for this purpose in the Budget for the coming year.

"But, my Lord, there is another matter at which I must express regret. The recent abolition of the post of Consulting Engineer for Railways, which in the case of Madras had been united with that of Secretary to Government in the Railway Branch, had the effect of severing the connection of the Madras Government with the direct control of railways in the Presidency. In response, however, to the representations of the Madras Government, the Government of India with the approval of the Secretary of State decided that as a temporary measure, for two years, the Government Inspector then appointed should also be at the disposal of the Madras Government as Railway Secretary. This period has expired. The Government of Madras feel the need for technical advice close at hand and they apprehend that by being deprived of their Secretary in the Railway Department they will be unable to preserve their legitimate influence in railway matters or to safeguard the interests of the people. I regret that the Secretary of State has not complied with the representations of the Madras Government that the temporary arrangements under which the Government Inspector was also Railway Secretary might be made permanent.

[Mr. Andrew.]

• “ My Lord, last year I referred to the difficulty experienced by District Boards in Madras in obtaining satisfactory terms for the construction and working of certain projected lines from the South Indian Railway Company, and I ventured to press for early and satisfactory settlement of terms. I mentioned one proposed railway about which negotiations had been proceeding for nearly three years. I regret to say, my Lord, that satisfactory progress has not been made since in respect of this and other railway projects. I hope, my Lord, that it may be possible now to obtain satisfactory terms from the South Indian Railway. Many District Boards in the Madras Presidency have of late years at the instance and with the encouragement of the Imperial and Local Governments raised large sums by local taxation with which to build railways, and they are able to spend but little of this money, which has already accumulated to over 50 lakhs, owing to the difficulty they experience in obtaining reasonable terms from the South Indian Railway Company. I have long been connected with District Boards and I know well how keenly interested some of them are in this matter, and one of them—Tanjore—won the warm appreciation of Lord Curzon for setting the example of local railway enterprise to all India. It will be most discouraging if district boards fail in their efforts to secure satisfactory terms from the South Indian Railway Company. Should they fail they will be forced, I have no doubt, to the conviction that they will best serve their own interests by constructing and working their own lines departmentally or through some agency other than that of the South Indian Railway. Should this happen the consequences to that Company may be very serious when it finds itself confronted by local lines affecting its own system and that, not always perhaps, in an advantageous manner.

“ My Lord, a few weeks ago the Hon'ble Mr. Robertson, in reply to a question put by an Hon'ble Member, stated that the Government of India have suggested to the Secretary of State the inclusion of certain provisions in the new contract with the object of ensuring suitable terms for Madras District Board railways. I hope, my Lord, that the South Indian Railway Company will see the wisdom of agreeing to such terms as may be consistent with the interests of the District Boards and of the people whom they represent.

• “ Lastly, my Lord, I would urge the need for legislation to check the growth of fraudulent Provident Societies. By this I do not refer of course to Insurance Companies properly so called to which my Hon'ble friend Mr. Dadabhoy referred in the question he put an hour ago and of which the Hon'ble Mr. Robertson spoke in his reply. I rather refer to those provident Societies which have been unhappily very common in the Madras Presidency for many years past, and which are either organised swindles from the outset or, at best, lotteries of a most reprehensible character. Even when not worked with actual dishonesty by the Directors from the beginning, they are worked on such unsound principles that they are bound to collapse after a few years, and each collapse involves the ruin of numbers of poor and ignorant people who have been deluded by the promises held out.

• “ I see that my Hon'ble friend Mr. Subba Rao has in front of him an interesting pamphlet on the subject by Mr. Ramchandra Rao in which an account is given of the history of some of these societies in the Northern Sircars. The rules are all much the same. They are founded on a society founded in Calcutta some years ago which ended in the prosecution of the leading members and in the conviction of certain of them. The Hon'ble Mr. Robertson, in reply to Mr. Subba Rao this morning, referred to a discussion that took place about ten years ago when it was decided that legislation was not needed. My Lord, I do not intend to speak of what Provident Societies may have done in other parts of India, but I can say that in the Madras Presidency the evils have assumed gigantic proportions and I think the time has come for legislation. It may be that legislation is not necessary all at once over all India, but I think legislation should be undertaken by this Council, and in any Act that might be passed power could be left to the Government of India to apply it from time to time to such parts of India as might seem expedient.

"My Lord, I will not take up the time of the Council by going into details of the nature of the frauds committed by these societies, but I may say that it has over and over again led to prosecutions for perjury and forgery and even murders in many Courts. The Hon'ble Mr. Subba Rao, in his question, alluded to a recent judgment of the High Court in Madras. I may be permitted to refer to a judgment of the Sessions Judge of Vizagapatam a few years ago. The Judge's remarks are of very general application. In that case a man who had taken out policies in the names of a number of old men and women was tried and convicted of the murder of an old woman whose life he had insured, and whom he had made away with in order to obtain the bonus payable on death. Here perhaps I may say that one of the great evils of these societies is that the same conditions apply to every policy-holder, irrespective of age or state of health. Although the rules lay great stress on the fact that the applicant should be a person of sound health, he is not obliged to produce either a certificate of health or to undergo medical examination, and the rules are such that in almost every society it is to the pecuniary interest of a knavish nominee to get as his policy-holder an old person who is likely to live for not less than four months after he takes out his policy by which time he will have fully qualified, and to see that the policy-holder dies as soon as possible after four months. In his judgment the Judge observed—

'This crime was largely the result of the temptation to gamble upon the lives of the old and feeble thrown in the accused's way These so-called Insurance Companies constitute a grave danger to the public It is probably not too much to say that hundreds of old men and women are now moving about in the district in the midst of people who desire their early death themselves being ignorant of this, have no idea who to beware of.'

"My Lord, it has been suggested that the Indian Companies Act of 1882 should be amended so as to cover the case of these fraudulent provident societies, but I do not imagine that that would be at all possible, and this, I gather from his reply, is the opinion of the Hon'ble Mr. Robertson himself, for ordinarily Insurance Companies properly so called are meant for educated and intelligent people who should be allowed full freedom of contract. But these Societies almost invariably deal with the poorest and most ignorant classes of the people who, not having received the benefits of free primary education, are misled by the promises held out, and constantly fall a prey to the frauds practised."

The Hon'ble MR. N. SUBBA RAO said :—"My Lord, I may at the outset congratulate the Hon'ble the Finance Member on the lucid and straightforward budget he has presented to the Council. This is the first year when after a succession of surpluses we are confronted with a deficit. It is well that our financial position calls upon us to examine our resources and expenditure, for when our coffers are overflowing we are tempted to be generous and feel no necessity to be watchful. The Hon'ble the Finance Member disarms all criticism by his candour in pointing to the steady growth in our expenditure and in urging that the scale of public expenditure should be revised. One of the salient features in the budget is the rapid increase under civil and military charges. This increase has been going on steadily, though under rules and regulations duly considered and sanctioned from time to time, and unless a careful enquiry is instituted under different heads, it is not possible to reduce the scale of expenditure. I cannot pretend to deal with the whole question within the short time at my disposal, and I shall take up only the question of expenditure relating to the general administration, especially the Indian and Provincial Civil Services, and show that there is need for enquiry and reform in that direction.

"Before I do so, my Lord, I may be permitted on behalf of the Madras Presidency at this, the last meeting when Your Lordship presides over the Reformed Council, to express our deep gratitude to Your Excellency for the statesmanlike insight and wisdom shown by Your Lordship in meeting an extremely difficult situation in the affairs of this country. For never during the last fifty years has India passed through such a crisis as the one out of which we are now emerging. I say emerging, because though the tension of the situation is much eased and the critical stage has passed, it cannot be said that we have yet reached the haven of contentment and peace.

"The situation which Your Lordship had to grapple with on assuming charge of your high office was indeed unprecedented. There was the legacy of deep discontent on the part of the people due to various causes which Your Lordship was called upon to deal with. The partition of Bengal, which is disturbing the finances of the country as it has disturbed the peaceful political evolution of a great people, was, after all, like the ugly boil on the face which simply pointed to the malady from which the patient was suffering. The root cause was the conviction created in the minds of the people by the policy of your illustrious predecessor that they had no hope to rise from the inferior political status accorded to them in the administration of the country. The Enlarged Legislative Councils which were welcomed in 1892 had played out their part and proved ineffective in influencing the administration of the country to any appreciable extent. It became evident that the children of the soil had no part in guiding the machinery of the Government or a free and effective voice in its deliberations. Japan's success drew pointedly the attention of the people to their inferior status in their own country. Under the circumstances intelligent men pointed to the danger signals ahead and pressed for reforms in the legislative and administrative machinery of the Government. But their voice was unheeded and it was considered that efficiency in administration connoted contentment and happiness of the people. Such was the legacy left to Your Lordship and such the situation Your Lordship had to face. How Your Lordship early penetrated behind the veil and grasped the true position of affairs, how Your Lordship adopted measures to meet the growing aspirations of the people and secure their goodwill and co-operation in the cause of peace and order, are now matters of history. It is a misfortune that Your Lordship's Government had to adopt one repressive measure after another to put down the exotic growth of anarchy in this land.

"It is a matter of congratulation, however, that Your Lordship persevered in the path of reform in spite of numerous appeals from a powerful party in England and here that Repression and not Reform should take a predominant place in meeting the situation. The reformed Councils throughout the country with all their defects mark a substantial advance in constitutional reform and meet a pressing want. They present a problem to the people as to how to coalesce the divergent and conflicting elements in India and how to make them work for the welfare of the country with one mind towards a common goal. I hope that the experience gained from the working of the old Councils will not be lost in adapting the new Councils to the changing conditions of the country. Already the experience gained of the present Council, I venture to state, is not so full of good augury as was hoped. It is becoming evident that no proposal can find favour with the Council, unless the Government gives countenance to it. In his memorable speech, sketching the reform proposals in December 1908, Lord Morley, quoting His Honour Sir Edward Baker, said that 'The great task was to adjust the machinery of the Government so that their Indian fellow-subjects might be allotted parts which a self-respecting people would fill. I am sure that with growing experience the legislative machinery will be so adjusted as to meet the wants and aspirations of the people. But the machinery of the Government is not only legislative but also administrative, and it cannot be said to be adjusted to the needs of the situation, unless and until the administrative portion also is reformed.

" I shall now briefly state some facts to show that there is need for adjusting the administrative machinery of the Government as well and for further enquiry in that direction. My Lord, nearly 40 years after the passing of the Statute of 1833 and even after the Proclamation of 1858, capable Indians continued to be excluded from the higher offices of trust and responsibility in the administration of their country. Accordingly the Statute of 1870 was passed by Parliament, by which power was taken to appoint Indians to places hitherto held by the members of the Covenanted Civil Service under rules to be framed by the Governor General in Council and sanctioned by the Secretary of State in Council. These rules were long in coming, and when they finally came in 1879, one-sixth of the offices reserved to the Covenanted Civil Service was declared open to Indians of approved merit and ability. There were not two separate lists for those appointed under the Statute and for the members of the Civil Service, and no stigma of inferiority was attached to the former. But the system of recruitment was generally by nomination and not by open competition, and birth was considered to be a better recommendation than ability. Naturally such a system failed to give satisfaction. Hence came the appointment of the Public Service Commission in 1886 to devise a scheme which might reasonably be hoped to do 'full justice to the claims of the natives of India to higher and more extensive employment in the public service.'

" The Commission formulated a scheme recommending that there should be two services—one called the Indian Civil Service, mainly European, recruited in England under a system of open competition, and the other the Provincial Civil Service, mainly Indian, recruited in different provinces, partly by open competition and partly by promotion from the Subordinate Service. It recommended that 108 appointments reserved to the Indian Civil Service should be declared open to the Provincial Service. Among the offices so excluded from the listed appointments are a membership of the Board of Revenue in Madras, Bengal and United Provinces and a Financial Commissionership in Punjab, Under Secretaryships to the several Governments, one-third of the District and Sessions Judgeships, and so on. The Government of India accepted the recommendation about the establishment of the two services but reduced the places from 108 to about 90, and declined to allow some of the higher appointments, such as a membership of the Board of Revenue and some of the District Judgeships, etc., to be excluded from the listed appointments. The Government finally directed that so far as the Provincial Service was concerned, the recruitment should ordinarily be by nomination and not by competition, and so it has come to be in all provinces except to a limited extent in the Punjab, as stated by the Government in its answer to my question on the 23rd instant. I may in passing mention that most of the Indian members of the Commission who joined in the report disowned it when they saw the final outcome of their labours. To continue: the differentiation into two services has been extended to all the special departments, such as Education, Public Works, Police, Customs, Survey, Forest, etc. Thus two services have been created in all departments of the Public Service, one superior, mainly European, and the other inferior, mainly Indian. Almost all the important appointments involving direction, initiative and supervision are kept in the hands of Europeans. The result is that only about 7 per cent. of the appointments carrying a salary of over one thousand rupees a month are in the hands of Indians. Lord Curzon took great pains in publishing tabular statements with his famous Resolution of the 24th May 1904 to convince the public how largely and how liberally the Government had been utilizing indigenous agency in the administration of the country. It is true, as is evident from these statements, that a very large number, and I would say an unduly large number, of offices in the lower rungs of the ladder are held by Indians. But as we go higher and higher up the administrative ladder, the Indian element practically disappears. I submit that the principles enunciated by Lord Curzon strike at the very foundations on which the administration of this country can be carried on with honour to the English nation and with happiness to the people.

[Mr. N. Subba Rao.]

"Never before, my Lord, in the long history of India was native talent divorced so largely from the controlling centres of authority. But now, in spite of repeated pledges and declarations, we find, as a matter of fact, if I may say so, two practically water-tight compartments in the administration, one filled mainly by Europeans and the other mainly by Indians, and native talent has to find scope in the Native States to the limited extent they offer. Such a state of things, I submit, cannot last long. I need not refer here to the drain of experience and intelligence from the country caused by this system nor to its depressing effect on the manly growth of national individuality. I do not now propose to examine the rules framed in connection with different special departments which tend to keep back native intelligence from reaching the highest places therein. But I shall say this that, you cannot expect a sensitive people with long historic civilization to rest contented with such a system, when they come to understand its true inwardness and significance. As Lord Salisbury said:—

'No system of government can be permanently safe where there is a feeling of inferiority or mortification affecting the relations of the governors and governed.'

"We are grateful to Your Lordship and Lord Morley for your insight into the realities of the situation and for the courage you have shown in making a breach in what Lord Curzon was pleased to characterize as the 'core and crown' of British autocracy in this land. The appointment of the Hon'ble Mr. Sinha to Your Lordship's Executive Council has been hailed with joy by all classes of people in this country. The recent appointments to the Executive Councils of Bombay and Madras, as well as the appointment of two Indians to the Secretary of State's Council and an Indian to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, have gone far to strengthen the feeling that Indians are regarded as much equal subjects of His Majesty, the King Emperor, as the British. But unless, my Lord, these are followed up by the adjustment of the services, the measures adopted will not go a long way to meet the just aspirations of the people.

"The Public Service Commission in formulating its proposals point out 'that the circumstances of the country and the social condition of the population change with extraordinary rapidity, and absolute finality in any arrangement of the kind is not to be hoped for.' Your Lordship has noted, in your statesman-like opening address on the 25th January last, how India has shared in the general awakening of the Eastern world and 'how important classes of the population are learning to realize their own position, to estimate for themselves their own intellectual capacities, and to compare their claims for an equality of citizenship with those of a ruling race.' There is no doubt that there has been a rapid and marvellous change in the general outlook and aspirations of the people during the last few years. The time is come, if not long passed by, when it is necessary to examine the relationship of the services in the light of the altered conditions of the country and place them on a footing of equality, so that the members of the two services might feel that they are comrades animated by one single desire to administer the country for the welfare of its people. I would suggest, my Lord, that in any system that may be devised there should be such an interchange between the two services that the members of both may have equal facilities and equal opportunities to rise to the top of the service, and that the badge of inferiority should not be attached to the Provincial Service. It is only when they are placed in a position of equality, that there can be real mutual respect, and this will be a more potent cause for promoting friendly relations between the two communities than all the social gatherings that may be conceived and all the palliatives suggested by the Decentralization Commission. I need hardly mention that it is only when the Indian is respected in his own country and by his Government that the Colonies would accord due respect to him.

"I submit, my Lord, that this reform is essential in the interests of economy as well, and it is a necessary complement of the scheme of reform which Your Lordship has taken in hand. Half the troubles of the present situation are due to the dissatisfaction felt on account of the privileged position which is secured to the Europeans and the inferior status accorded to the Indians under the rules and regulations framed by the Government. I do not blame the members of the distinguished Indian Civil Service. Their whole-hearted devotion to duty, their marked ability, and their esprit de corps are worthy of admiration. We are concerned here more with the system and not with men, more with the safety and well-being of the Empire than with the interests and convenience of individuals. My Lord, you may spread universal education throughout the country, as asked for by the Hon'ble Mr. Gokhale. You may establish a Central Technological Institute and Provincial Polytechnic Institutions in different provinces, as asked for by the Hon'ble Mr. Mudholkar. You may stud the country with irrigation works, as asked for by the Hon'ble Mr. Dadabhoy. But all these and many more like these will not remove discontent in the land, so long as the present differentiation continues. For if you touch the self-respect of a person, you touch that which he values more than life itself. My Lord, I have ventured to place this matter before Your Lordship, because I feel that on the proper solution of this question depends the harmonious evolution of Indian progress and the permanence of British rule in this country.

"I am aware, my Lord, that this is a large question and has to be examined from several standpoints. What I submit, my Lord, is that there are good grounds for looking into the matter at this juncture and readjusting the administrative machinery, and I trust that the question will receive due consideration at the hands of Your Lordship's Government.

"I shall now say a few words about Provident Funds which are doing so much mischief in the Presidency of Madras. I am glad that the Hon'ble Mr. Andrew has given his warm support to the necessity for legislation to check the evil caused by these societies. The plan on which they are started is very simple. A few people join together and call themselves directors. Subscribers have to pay one rupee a year as well as an entrance fee from one to three rupees. Nearly half the amount collected each year is distributed among the subscribers, who have no voice in the management of the concern. The directors receive generally about one-fourth of the amount of the subscriptions, and it is calculated that together with interest and lapsed policies, etc., the directors receive nearly two-thirds of the amount paid by the subscribers. The bait placed before ignorant and poor people is that a lump sum of about Rs 100 or Rs 200 would be paid at one time to the nominee on the death of the subscriber. There is no limitation practically as to the life that can be insured. The result is that old men and women are sought out and their lives are insured without their knowledge, and the nominees who are the real subscribers gamble on their lives. Of course these Societies collapse after a few years and large numbers of poor people are cheated and ruined. Some of the Societies had as many as ten to thirty thousand subscribers. The Hon'ble Mr. Andrew has drawn the attention of the Council to the pamphlet published by Mr. M. Ramachandra Rao, Chairman, Municipal Council, Bangalore, which gives a lucid account of this movement. My Lord, I join with the Hon'ble Mr. Andrew in urging that legislation should be taken in hand as early as possible. At present the strong arm of the law is impotent to reach those that deal in these lotteries. The Hon'ble Mr. Justice Krishnaswami Iyer, presiding at the first Co-operative Conference at Salem on the 10th instant, pointed out that it was very difficult to bring those dealing in such funds and enriching themselves at the expense of poor people within the reach of the Penal Code. I submit that it is necessary to undertake legislation in this matter not only to check the evil but also to extend the protection of the law to bona fide Societies started for the mutual benefit of the members and encourage the growth of societies whose objects are similar to those of the Friendly Societies in the West. By bringing these societies within the purview of the law, a small fee for registering them might be levied, and I dare say the Hon'ble the Finance Member will not despise to receive from this source a small addition to the Exchequer which is badly in need of funds.

[Mr. N. Subba Rao ; Maung Bah Too ; Raja Partab Bahadur Singh.]

"Before I resume my seat, I associate myself with my Hon'ble colleagues in giving expression to our sincere regret that Your Lordship's term of office is fast drawing to a close and pray that Your Lordship may be spared long for a career of greater usefulness in a higher sphere of activity in your native country."

The Hon'ble MAUNG BAH TOO said :—"My Lord, I am much interested in the proposed establishment of a separate University for Burma. There is little reason to suppose that a system of education applicable to Bengal would also be suitable for Burma, or that a body of men who have a very small knowledge of Burma and the Burmese would regulate satisfactorily the higher educational affairs of the province. In practice we have seen many unfortunate results. The Burmese undergo much difficulty in having to come to Calcutta for certain practical examinations. I think it highly desirable that we should have a well equipped University in Rangoon and that our young men should not need to go either to Calcutta or to London for qualifications in law, medicine, engineering or other professions. The sooner we make a beginning, the better. Our people will be more eager to qualify themselves when they see a chance of participating in the management of a University.

"Until the last reduction of salt-tax in 1908, Burma had an advantage over other provinces in the rate of salt-duty. This was, I believe, supposed to be a set-off for the levy of capitation-tax in Burma. Now, however, the capitation-tax is still levied, and Burma is at a disadvantage. I am glad to hear that the local salt-industry is not to be taxed out of existence. I have heard it said that Burma contributes too little to the salt-revenue. But I see that our 10½ millions of people paid nearly 19 lakhs of rupees. And if allowance is made for the movement of salt from Madras, Bengal and Bombay to other Provinces and Native States, I think Burma will be shown to pay its full share of this revenue. If we cannot get any advantage again in this taxation, we should like a set-off in a greater share of the general revenues. And we look with jealousy at the relief promised to Madras in the matter of village-cesses.

"The opium policy of Government has checked the rising generation of Burmans from acquiring the opium habit, but this policy, which has the approval and sympathy of the great majority of Burmans, leads both to diminished revenue and to increased expenditure. I do not think that the preventive and detective establishments can be reduced in the near future, and the charge for them ought to be accepted as part of the normal expenditure of the Province. In fact there will be, as in other items of normal expenditure, an increase from year to year, not large but reasonably proportioned to the growth of population.

"I think that the administration of the Post Office in Burma ought to be brought more into touch with the Burmese. The Department is much too full of Indians at present. I should like to see an officer of the Burma Commission made Postmaster General of Burma. He would understand how to obtain and manage Burman assistants. I do not wish to disparage Mr. Lalkaka, who worked hard to develop his Department and accomplished much useful work ; but he and his predecessors and successors have all laboured under the great disadvantage of knowing little of the country and the people. I may point out that little is seen of the Burman in Rangoon.

"In the Telegraph Department, as in the case of the Post Office, I want to urge the greater employment of the Burmese."

The following are the observations of the Hon'ble RAJA PARTAB BAHADUR SINGH, which were, by the permission of THE PRESIDENT, taken as read :—

"My Lord, on the Financial Statement that has been laid before the Council I have the following observations to make.

"It is distressing that in a year of comparative prosperity, when the Government has not been called upon either to meet the expenses of a war or a famine or an epidemic, the country is face to face with a deficit and the Finance Minister has to resort to, however reluctantly, fresh taxation of a people, 'a large proportion' of whom, he himself admits, are poor, an appreciable proportion very poor.

"He has my fullest sympathies when he says towards the close of his speech 'that no right-minded man can impose an additional taxation on India with a light heart.' His deficit Budget has, however, not much resemblance to an average deficit Budget. Here we have every item provided for, sometimes with the remark that it is not expected that the whole grant will be utilized during the year.

"One of the largest of the spending departments is the Military Department. What have we then in this year of deficit? The figures speak eloquently—

	Rs.
1907-1908	28,87,25,310
1908-1909	29,40,44,820
1909-1910	28,84,06,500
1910-1911	29,55,97,500

"More money is to be spent on this head this year than was spent during any of the previous three years.

"The most disquieting feature of the new taxes is that they are not levied to meet merely a passing emergency. The Hon'ble the Finance Minister announces his intention of 'strengthening the basis of our revenues,' which being put in plain language means that the taxes he has imposed are going to stay and are not to be expected to be removed on the passing away of the present demand. This is not consoling to a lay mind in a year of general prosperity. What are we to expect in a less prosperous year?

"As to the objects chosen for taxation, I am in full agreement with the Hon'ble the Finance Minister when he says that it is better to have 'substantial duties on a few articles of comparative luxury rather than interfere with all-round uniform rate upon a variety of less important articles, many of which may be described as necessities.' And under this, I beg respectfully to congratulate the Hon'ble the Finance Minister on having chosen imported liquors and tobacco. But, my Lord, I have doubts as to the suitability of petroleum for such a purpose, and also of silver.

"As to how the duty on silver will affect the cotton trade my Hon'ble friend from Bombay has already spoken eloquently. On that aspect of the duty I do not wish to add anything more. But this duty on silver is likely to have effect on prices in India also, and this is what I wish to point out to the Council.

"My Lord, at present we have the good fortune of having a very good harvest; but in this country the price of agricultural products depends largely on the rains. How much the calculations of even so exalted an individual as the Finance Minister depend on rain has been pointed out to us by the Hon'ble Sir Guy Fleetwood Wilson. But suppose there is not enough rain next year or the year after next, will the prices of agricultural products remain unaffected by the new tax under those conditions? I fear not. Mr. Montagu in the House of Commons might state that the effect of enhanced duty on price had been extremely small. May we not point out that the time given to the observation of the phenomenon had been very small also? Later on there may be a different tale to tell. My apprehension is all the greater as even this tax has been levied with an idea to 'strengthening the basis of our revenues.'

"As to petroleum also, my Lord, I fear I am unable to agree with the Hon'ble the Finance Minister on looking upon it as an article of 'comparative luxury.' It has now become a necessity with the poorest people, who purchase it in small quantities. The vegetable oils that were formerly used by the people have now become too expensive for them owing to the great rise in prices, which is one of the most marked features of the present day. A cheap and satisfactory illuminant is one of the greatest comforts of life, specially of a class who have no luxuries to boast of. This tax will tell heavily upon them without, I fear, doing corresponding good to the Burma oil industry. On these and other grounds I am told a tax on petroleum in the past had been rejected. Besides all this, my Lord, there is the general objection to indirect taxes. The subject has to pay a great deal more than the State receives. And when this applies to a necessity of life like light used by the very poorest of the poor, its significance is really very great. At this stage of the proceedings it would be useless to suggest other or more durable objects of taxation, if taxation be necessary. But, my Lord, may I be permitted to suggest that in the framing of the Financial Statement the Government will be well advised to associate some of the representatives of the people; for, my Lord, the real burden of the taxation falls on us; and, in spite of all the trained skill and knowledge that the officials can command it is but human nature that they cannot realise the exact bearing of the evidence of a tax so well as those who have really to pay it. Your Lordship's régime will be remembered always as the régime of reform, in spite of untoward circumstances and in the face of great difficulties. But, my Lord, the people do not derive the full measure of the beneficence of your intentions till they are taken more into the counsel of the Government than is implied by being a member of even this distinguished assemblage.

"Lastly, my Lord, I wish to say a few words on the condition of the United Provinces and their relation to the Supreme Government.

"From his place in the Council last year the Hon'ble Mr. Holms, speaking on the Budget, pointed out that the United Provinces had been 'starved in the past', and although the Supreme Government had been somewhat more liberal since then, compared with the large amount of revenue raised in the Provinces, the share allotted was not adequate to meet the wants. One of the principal causes of the deficit this year had been the large sum of money given by the Supreme Government to the new provinces of Eastern Bengal and Assam. My Lord, I do not grudge the sum allotted to the new provinces. But I only wish to point out that the United Provinces too have a claim on the generosity of the Government. For a long time the provinces had suffered greatly from plague and malaria. Famine had come in their wake last year. The need of sanitation was very great. Sir John Hewitt was alive to these needs and was doing all that could be done for the people. But his hands were tied up on all sides by the want of money.

"Technical education, too, was greatly needed, and in this matter also the Lieutenant-Governor was fully alive to the situation; but here, too, his beneficent energies were crippled by the want of funds.

"My Lord, this is the first time in the history of India since the British connection that the representatives of the people have been allowed to discuss the Budget so freely, and in the spirit in which the reform has been initiated I have made bold to present to the Government what appeared to me to be the shortcomings. I have ventured to suggest also a small matter of further reform which to me seemed imperative. But before resuming my seat I wish to convey to the Government the sense of gratitude of the Taluqdars of Oudh I have the honor to represent for the great concessions made by the reforms. Your name, my Lord, will henceforth be linked with those of Bentinck, Lawrence and Ripon and be enshrined in the grateful hearts of the Indian people, for whom Your Lordship has laboured so dauntlessly and so well."

The Hon'ble ZULFIKAR ALI KHAN said:—"My Lord, at the end of this session it is only appropriate to congratulate Your Excellency on the successful working of the first year of this reconstituted Council which Your Excellency's political foresight has created. I do not think it is possible for human ingenuity to establish ideal conditions, but under the existing circumstances no better method could be devised to satisfy the aspiration of the educated Indians and to secure their co-operation in the administration of this country.

"The official members have displayed excellent spirit in accommodating themselves to the changed environment, and I am sure that I am giving expression to the unanimous opinion of my colleagues when I say that we are all sensible of the great courtesy and consideration invariably displayed by them in their attitude towards non-official members.

"The privilege of moving resolutions has been fully exercised, and those resolutions which are useful for the country have been accepted by Government with unhesitating cordiality and willingness.

"The country is again grateful to Your Excellency for appointing two Indians to the Executive Councils of their Excellencies the Governors of Madras and Bombay.

"The different communities in India have reason to rejoice over it, for I am sure they will get their proportionate share of these high offices in due course.

"My Lord, I beg to be allowed to make a few observations in connection with the Budget, and although several of the prominent features have already been thoroughly discussed yet enough remains which calls for remarks. It is a matter for regret that the first Council should have imposed new taxes on the people, and though I am sure the Hon'ble the Finance Member could not avoid the exigency of meeting the deficit by fresh taxation, yet I think he could have spared the petroleum, which is so commonly used by the poor in this country, by taxing some other luxury such as sugar or country liquors. However I am sure that our ingenuous Finance Member will soon announce that he no longer sees the necessity of continuing taxes on such necessities as are in daily use among the poor.

"My Lord, another point which claims attention is the ungenerous treatment of the Province to which I belong, I mean the Punjab. It is not for me to enter into details, for the official members from my Province will, I am sure, fully explain the situation; but I cannot refrain from saying that in certain departments more than half the revenue is appropriated by the Imperial Government and less than half left to the Punjab. Considering that the Province is not a rich one, the Government of India could be reasonably expected to treat the Punjab more generously than is actually done. There are many reforms which cannot be initiated for want of funds, and it would be only fair if something more is left to the Province to cope with the demand for improvement which is felt in all directions.

"My Lord, I must draw the attention of the Government of India to the recent enhancement of railway fares over most of the Indian railways. The tendency all over the world is to reduce the railway fares, but in India these have gone up by large figures. The sole justification is sought in the diminished railway receipts in recent year, but if this decreased income is still sufficient to ensure a decent percentage of profit on the capital outlay on the railway lines concerned, surely there is no justification for the enhanced railway tariff.

"While I am about this subject I may as well invite the attention of the Government to the desirability of river bridges in the Punjab being thrown open to traffic free of charge. This concession has been made in the United Provinces and it is time it were extended to the Punjab also, particularly as some of the bridges there have already brought back a considerable proportion of the money spent on the construction of these bridges. I think a beginning may be made with the Jumna Bridge at Delhi and the Ravi Bridge at Lahore.

"My Lord, there is one more point which I would bring to the notice of the Government of India, and it is the necessity of increasing the emoluments of the low-paid clerks and similar Government servants in Government offices in the Punjab, especially the offices which are subordinate to the Government of India, such as the Irrigation and Public Works Departments, Accountant General's Department, Railway and Postal employés.

"In view of the enormous rise in prices in the Punjab it is essential that something should be done for these men, who will greatly appreciate the beneficence of Government if their condition in service is improved."

[Mr. Quin.]

The Hon'ble MR. QUIN said:—"Like the Hon'ble Mr. Fenton I also desire to say a few words with reference to some remarks which fell from the Hon'ble the Finance Member in the course of the speech in which he introduced the Financial Statement on the 25th February last. When dealing on that occasion with the financial position of the various provinces the Hon'ble Sir Guy Fleetwood Wilson gave the Council to understand that the situation of some of them—and amongst those he included Bombay—was not altogether reassuring. He went on to add, with special reference to Bombay, that the existing substantial balances were being somewhat rapidly diminished, and he uttered a note of warning as to the care which would have to be exercised to prevent the scale of recurring expenditure from settling into permanent excess over the normal revenues.

"In respect of both these matters I desire to offer a brief explanation, and, first, as to the diminution of balances. It is of course true that for the year 1910-11 the Government of Bombay have estimated their expenditure at a figure which will involve the reduction of their balance from Rs. 76,84,000 to Rs. 60,87,000, that is, by nearly 16 lakhs.

"This, I admit, is no inconsiderable sum, but in order to understand the bearing of this reduction on the general policy of Government in dealing with their balances it is necessary to see what the situation was a few years ago, and to compare it with the situation existing today.

"The balance at the beginning of 1905-06 was Rs. 76,73,000. The balance at the end of 1910-11 is expected to be Rs. 60,87,000, so that in 6 years the net diminution will have amounted to Rs. 15,86,000 only, that is to say, the balance will have been reduced at the rate of not much more than 2½ lakhs per annum on the average.

"In only one of the five years between 1905-06 and 1909-10 has there been a really large draft on the balance. That was in 1908-09, when it was reduced by 26 lakhs, of which it may be said roughly that half was spent on police reforms and half on education. In two of the years the balance was drawn on to a small extent, and in two an addition was made to it.

"On the whole then, and especially looking to the fact that in 1905-06 the sum of 50 lakhs was given to Bombay for the express purpose of expenditure on public works and other objects, provision for which had fallen into arrears owing to the famines, it will I think be agreed that the Government of Bombay have made only a very moderate inroad on their balance.

"I may add that the expected balance at the end of 1910-11 is more than three times the minimum prescribed for the Province.

"I come now to the Hon'ble the Finance Member's warning as to the need for taking care that the scale of recurring expenditure should not be allowed to exceed the normal revenues. Well, all I have to say about this is that the Government of Bombay are already fully alive to the necessity for carefulness in this matter. It will be seen from the Budget estimate for 1910-11 that the figures of recurring expenditure have been rigorously kept down to the limit to which the revenues are expected to attain, which means that all the money taken from the balance is to be devoted entirely to meeting charges of a non-recurring nature. So much for the past and the present.

"It remains for me only to take upon myself the thankless rôle of the prophet and to say a few words about the future.

"It would be foolish to ignore the existence of the tendency foreshadowed in the warning of the Finance Member, a tendency fraught with very grave significance, which is asserting itself yearly with increasing force, and which it will be very difficult to hold in check much longer without running a serious risk of impairing the efficiency of our administration.

"I refer of course to the tendency for the growth of the demand for fresh but necessary expenditure to outstrip the natural expansion of the share of the ordinary revenues of the province which have been assigned to the Government of Bombay.

[Mr. Quin ; Mr. Gates.]

"The total expenditure has risen from 525 lakhs in 1905-6 to 639 lakhs in 1910-11, a rise of nearly 22 per cent. in 6 years, during which time the revenue (exclusive of the fixed allotment from the Government of India) has risen by about 18 per cent. Notwithstanding this very substantial increase we are still confronted with the immediate necessity for further additional expenditure. I will spare the Council the details, but I may say that funds are urgently required to improve the pay and organization of the subordinate establishments in both the Revenue and the Judicial Department. Heavy expenditure has still to be incurred to complete the measures of reform recommended by the Police Commission and thus to bring the Police up to a state of full efficiency, and large sums are required for education, especially primary education, as well as in many other Departments.

"There is but little hope in these days of diminishing receipts from opium and of fresh taxation that further Imperial subventions will be made to Bombay, and it is most unlikely that there will be any such expansion of the share of the normal revenues assigned to us as will be in any way adequate to the new demands.

"In these circumstances, if there is to be no revision of the terms of our settlement, one of two things must happen. Either it will become necessary to call a halt in the forward march of our administration or we shall have to come to the Government of India for powers to acquire new sources of revenue by means of provincial and local taxation.

"I have very little doubt that the Hon'ble the Finance Member is already repeating to himself the good old adage about cutting one's coat according to one's cloth, but it seems to me that in the life of the body politic, as in that of the human body, there comes a time when instead of endeavouring to cut your coat according to the dimensions of an obviously undersized piece of cloth it is the course of wisdom and of prudence to request that you may be supplied with a larger piece a piece large enough indeed to allow of your fashioning from it without difficulty a garment of the additional amplitude rendered necessary by the growth and expansion of the body. The present however is not the time nor is this Council chamber the place to enlarge upon the suggestion which I have just put forward. This suggestion raises issues which are both important and complex, and I will, therefore, conclude these few remarks by saying only that it is one to which I have little doubt it will be found necessary in the not far distant future to devote very serious consideration "

The Hon'ble Mr. GATES said :—"My Lord, I am sorry that it falls to my lot to address this Council on the Provincial assignment of Burma ; I wish the circumstances were such as to render no speech from me necessary. I am conscious that the claims and grievances of Burma are not interesting to a majority of the Hon'ble Members of this Council. Still this is the place and this is the time which have been recognised as suitable for representation of this kind ; and perhaps Hon'ble Members from the more fortunate provinces may derive some pleasure from contemplating our misfortunes. After all they have some interest in our tale of woe. Our hand is against them. They were equipped in the days before 1871 with establishments, roads and buildings when all the Provinces scrambled for money from the common bag. We were less fortunate in those days. For nearly 40 years Arakan was a neglected division of the Province of Bengal. So far as Arakan is concerned we are able to sympathise with what has been described today as the Benjamin of Provinces. Tenassarim also was an isolated division directly under the Government of India for a similar period of nearly 40 years. Pegu was another isolated division for a period of ten years. Even after 1862, when these three divisions were consolidated as the Province of Lower Burma, the voice of the Province was feeble and its cries from across the Bay of Bengal attracted little attention. Consequently Lower Burma entered into the system of Provincial assignments in 1871 with a poor equipment. Upper Burma was acquired in 1886 and in 1892 was brought under the system of Provincial assignments. At that time it was even worse equipped than Lower Burma. Consequently the United Province of Burma has never had a fair start and has now a great deal of lee-way to make up. When we hear clamours for grants from the Central Exchequer for primary education, for sanitation and for technical education, we feel that Burma, with its increasing revenues, and with its present comparatively small population, is being asked to pay more than its share. These old established and powerful provinces with large populations and comparatively small revenues are trying to obtain from the Central Government grants for their amenities, after being provided with their necessities.

"Now, I have mentioned our bad start as a reason why we should be treated with special favour, and I will mention two other reasons in support of the same argument. The first is the high yield of taxation in Burma, and the other is the high level of prices and wages obtaining in Burma. I find that the average yield of taxation per head in Burma was a little over Rs 7 against less than one and a half rupees in Bengal and under Rs. 3 in Madras. That is for what are generally known as the principal heads of revenue; namely, land-revenue, stamps, forests, excise, income-tax and registration. Salt and customs are not included for either Burma or the other two provinces, because it is impossible to say how much of the revenue received at the Custom Houses of Calcutta and Madras is borne by the populations of Bengal and the Madras Presidency. Then there are special taxes levied in Burma which are not levied in the other Provinces, for instance, the capitation-tax and the tax on fisheries and the thathameda. The last mentioned tax is an income-tax levied on the smallest incomes and is paid by agriculturists also. We do not grumble unduly at the high rate of taxation, but we think it gives our Province a claim for a larger share of the yield.

"Now I turn to the question of high prices. I have not time to develop the statement, but the fact of the high cost of living in Burma is notorious and can be verified from any volume of statistics. It was only yesterday that I was informed that there would be a difference of about Rs. 100 a month in the establishment of a European officer, between living in Burma and living in Simla and Calcutta combined. That perhaps will indicate to the Council the high level of wages and prices obtaining in Burma. Now it is not the higher officers of Government who get higher salaries in Burma. They get the same as the officers in Bengal, or in some cases they get less. Nor is it the officers of the Provincial Services who get higher salaries in Burma. It is the labourers, the menials, the clerks and the members of the Upper and Lower Subordinate Services who have to get higher rates. We have a great deal of lee-way to make up in establishments as well as in Public Works. Not long ago we had first class Magistrates and Subdivisional Officers drawing as little as Rs. 175 a month, and even now we employ officers of the Subordinate Civil Service on duties which in other Provinces are assigned to Deputy Collectors or Extra Assistant Commissioners.

"Now having established that Burma ought to be treated with special favour, let me demonstrate to the Council that it suffers the reverse. The present Provincial Settlement was based on the Budget figures for 1906-07. But some of our estimates of revenue were raised on the ground that we had shewn a tendency to under-estimate revenue, and some of our estimates of expenditure were lowered on the ground that we had shewn a desire to over-estimate expenditure; in particular the grant for Public Works was cut down by over 35 lakhs. The fact is that we made strenuous efforts to please the Finance Department by sanguine estimates of revenue, and we have been only too successful as the figures supplied by Mr. Meston to the Decentralization Commission shew. I will give the Council one instance. The figure for stamps in the Budget of 1906-07 was 39½ lakhs. That was raised in the Provincial Settlement to 41 lakhs. We received 40 lakhs in 1907-08. The figure was 38 lakhs for the next year and we expect to get 37 lakhs this year. For next year we estimate 38 lakhs. Now the settlement estimated an increment of one and a half lakhs a year. We have not got that; we have not yet even reached the basis figure. Our estimate for land-revenue was accepted, but it was too sanguine, and in the two years 1907-08 and 1908-09 we have received 15 lakhs less than was anticipated. The result in the two years just mentioned is that on the revenue side we have received 46 lakhs less than was anticipated, and we have reduced our expenditure below what was anticipated by 7 lakhs. Now we knew that at the beginning of the settlement our expenditure would exceed our income and we expected to reduce our opening balance of 62 lakhs, but we did not anticipate this enormous drop in revenue. When the Lieutenant-Governor discovered this drop he took immediate steps to limit expenditure. He was not able to avoid the expenditure to which the Province was committed in 1908-09. But the total expenditure of the Province has been reduced from 465 lakhs in 1907-08 to 450 lakhs in the current year 1909-10. We were blamed by the Hon'ble Finance Member for not postponing certain items of expenditure in 1909-10. These items have been examined. It would take too long to put before the Council an explanation in respect of each of them, but to most of them the Local Administration has a sufficient answer. Some of these items we did postpone; in one case the Government of India declined to allow us to economise. But we value the good opinion of the Hon'ble Finance Member; if we could obtain some of his blessed sympathy, we might also obtain some of his blessed cash. Therefore when he contrasts our profligacy with the virtue of another Province we feel moved to protest and to explanation. Now the fact is, my Lord, that the financial virtue of my Province is of a very high order. In the years 1897 to 1902 we accumulated a crore of rupees and Lord Curzon's Government gladly recognised that the Lieutenant-Governor was not led into extravagance and rewarded him by a very much less favourable settlement for the next five years. When this financial crisis came upon us we managed to close the year 1908-09 with a balance of ten lakhs and we budgeted to close the present year with five lakhs, but owing to sundry economies we now expect to close with not less than 18 lakhs.

"This is exclusive of any grant which may be made to the Rangoon Port improvement scheme. Now the Province of Bengal, which received some sympathy and a good deal of cash from the Hon'ble Finance Member, closed the year 1908-09 with 8 lakhs; they budgeted to close the current year with nothing and now expect to close with 7 lakhs and they are to receive 30 lakhs in addition from the Central Exchequer. I submit to this Council that Burma is a more virtuous Province than Bengal and that we ought to have got both sympathy and cash. I suppose it is out of the question now that Burma should receive a grant. Of course a grant would be acceptable, but I quite agree with what has been said that grants do not go to the root of the evil. What we want is a revision of our assignment; 93 out of 452 lakhs of our income in 1908-09 were due to a fixed assignment; that means that over one-fifth of our income is fixed and the same of course cannot be said of one-fifth of our expenditure. In the current year this condition is a little aggravated. The Central Government has thrown back on the Province of Burma a charge for certain subsidies. We have received Rs. 2,89,000 to cover them. This charge may increase; the fixed grant will not.

"Now there are three main reasons why we should obtain revision of our Provincial assignment. The first is that we are worse off than other Provinces; the second is that we meet expenditure of a kind which is not met by other Provinces, or not to a like extent; and the third is that the present system has grown by degrees and without due deliberation.

"Madras, which is a fortunate Province, has a minus fixed assignment and other Provinces started their Provincial settlements with fixed assignments of 5, 7 and 2 lakhs respectively. The fixed assignments have grown since owing to grants for famine, police, education and sanitation, but nowhere are they near our proportion.

"Then we spend a considerable sum—58 lakhs—on military police which relieves the army and defends our frontier. Our land-revenue expenditure is bound to increase rapidly. We have to give one rupee for every ten collected and we have to increase from time to time the number of revenue-surveyors. The Government of India were asked to share this expenditure, but they said it was of an administrative character. Well, 24 lakhs out of 68 are of an administrative character. 22 lakhs are spent on direct collection, 9 lakhs on survey and settlement; 14 lakhs on supplementary survey and land record services, which in our system are intimately connected with the expansion of the revenue.

"The third point is that the system came about by degrees. The original figure of fixed assignment in the first stage of the discussion was 65 lakhs. Then the estimate of growing revenue dropped by 18 lakhs and political expenditure of 5 lakhs was handed over and there were some minor adjustments, and the result was that the figure fixed was 90 lakhs. It has grown a little since and now stands at 99 lakhs. We say that the circumstances have changed; that other Provinces, and particularly Madras, have got a revision of assignment, and we appeal to the Government of India for a revision of ours. My Government quite understands the reluctance of the Hon'ble Finance Member to interfere with arrangements concluded before his arrival, but when the circumstances have changed, when it can be shewn that a state of affairs has arisen which was never contemplated, that the expenditure must grow faster than the revenue, then I think it will be admitted that a case has been made out for a revision of assignment and we beg that the Finance Member will give us some hope of a revision of the arrangements in the early future."

The Hon'ble MR. SACHCHIDANANDA SINHA said :—" My Lord, it is a matter of thankfulness—on the principle of being thankful even for small mercies—that the Government modified their first proposals relating to the stamp-duties which, if passed in their original form, would have seriously affected the exchange brokers. But while grateful for this, it is to me a matter of extreme regret that the Government did not see their way to modify their proposals in regard to the levy of the imports on silver and petroleum. It may be that, in due course, the conditions brought about by the raising of the duty on silver may be able to adjust themselves, but it is certain that at present, and perhaps for some years to come, it will adversely affect our cotton-industry. As for the enhanced duty on petroleum, Indian opinion is well nigh unanimous, and it is supported on this point by some of the leading organs of Anglo-Indian public opinion, that the rise in the cost of this illuminant will necessarily hit hard the poorest classes in the country; and with the greatest deference to the Hon'ble the Finance Member, I feel bound to demur to his inclusion of petroleum among 'articles of comparative luxury,' which he very properly proposed to tax. It is regrettable that the Government did not see eye to eye with the majority of the non-official members of the Council as to the desirability of enhancing the import-duty on sugar and levying an export-duty on jute, the principal staple of East Bengal, to meet the requirements of which province a portion of the additional taxation was alleged to have been necessary. Duties on sugar and jute would have brought in a substantial sum, and would have been much less unpopular than those on silver or petroleum. I earnestly hope that the Government will take the first favourable opportunity to remit the enhanced duty on petroleum. In connection with the new duties, we have learnt with considerable apprehension that efforts are being made by some members of the House of Commons to induce the Secretary of State for India to force the hands of the Indian Government to impose an excise-duty on Indian tobacco to countervail the import-duty. My Lord, I earnestly hope that Your Excellency's Government will not yield to any pressure from the Home Government. The import-duty levied on tobacco is admittedly for revenue purposes and it is not at all of a protective character. It is bad enough, in all conscience, that an excise-duty is imposed on the products of our cotton-mills, but an excise-duty on indigenous tobacco would be so indefensible that I am not surprised to find that even some of the Anglo-Indian papers have begun to enter emphatic protest against the suggestion. The Home Government has already forced the Government of India to relinquish the opium-revenue in order, as Lord Morley is reported to have said, 'to satisfy British righteousness at the cost of Indian revenue'. I trust it is not too much to hope that no further pressure will be brought on Your Excellency's Government to impose an excise-duty on our tobacco.

"My Lord, I would like to say a few words on the question of Provincial finance, with reference to the remarks of the Hon'ble the Finance Member that 'the finances of the provinces is a subject which has recently caused no small embarrassment to the Government of India.' Sir Guy Fleetwood Wilson gave the Provincial Governments excellent advice when he asked them 'to confine their expenditure within the limits of their resources.' But this, though a consummation devoutly to be wished for, is not very easy for the Provincial Governments to attain, with all their efforts to meet with the wishes of the Government of India, as expressed by the Finance Member, when he asked them 'to overhaul their expenditure and to adapt it to their normal resources.' I shall be very sorry indeed, and would never forgive myself, were I to do any injustice to so considerate and sympathetic a Finance Member as the Hon'ble Sir Guy Wilson; but it seems to me—unless I am greatly mistaken—that the sum and substance of his appeal to the Provincial Governments comes to this, that they are to carry on the administration of their respective provinces, as best they can, with the funds at their disposal—funds admittedly insufficient to meet their growing needs and requirements, and the only result of which would be indefinitely postponing works of public utility and shelving measures of reform calculated to benefit the people. In recent years, on more than one occasion, the view that the Provincial Government—some of them at any rate—are seriously handicapped for want of adequate funds to cope with their requirements, has been pressed in this Council by not only non-official but also, I believe, by some of the official members, and there is almost a consensus of opinion amongst educated Indians that unless the Government of India would place at the disposal of the Provincial Governments more money than what is available to them at present, it would be impossible for the latter to carry out measures urgently wanted in the interest of the people committed to their charge. And the Provincial Government which is perhaps most seriously handicapped for want of funds is that of the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh.

"To my mind, my Lord, there is hardly a question in which the people are more deeply interested than in that of provincial finance, for larger funds at the disposal of the Local Governments mean direct and tangible benefit to the people of the various provinces, whereas the curtailment of expenditure by them—so keenly desired by the Hon'ble the Finance Member—is possible, I fear, only at the cost of useful public works and beneficial schemes of reform. So long therefore as the Imperial Government will continue to claim the lion's share of the revenues raised by the Provincial Governments, there is very little chance of improvement in the condition of the people, and the administration of the provinces can hardly make any satisfactory progress. The fabric of the Imperial Government is so costly and such large funds are required for some of its spending departments that it has all along had to appropriate to its own use the fruits of the improvements effected by the Provincial Governments, and some of the members of this Council may remember the complaint of the late Sir Alexander Mackenzie about the Imperial Government's shearing the provincial sheep and leaving it shivering in the cold.

"But apart from this aspect of the question, there is another to which I may bespeak the attention of the Council. This is the question of the want of an uniform plan on which the present system of provincial settlements is based. Taking for this purpose the figures of the year 1908-9 as given in the 'Finance and Revenue Accounts of the Government of India' for that year—the last for which the accounts are available—we find that the percentage of revenues appropriated by the Imperial Government ranges from 30 per cent. in the Central Provinces and Berar to over 44 per cent. in the United Provinces and over 45 per cent. in Madras. In the above calculation I have left out of consideration the revenues derived from customs, salt, opium and tributes from Indian States, as, though the two former are nominally included in the revenues collected in particular provinces, their weight falls over the whole country, while the two latter are not paid by the people. Leaving these four sources of revenue out of consideration and confining ourselves to the major heads, we arrive at the following results:—

Name of Province.	Total Revenue.	Provincial share.	Imperial share.	Percentage of Imperial to Provincial.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Central Provinces and Berar	2,91,89,432	2,03,29,962	88,59,470	30
Bombay	7,77,45,900	5,30,03,212	2,47,42,688	31·8
Burma	6,37,62,093	4,12,56,256	2,25,05,837	35

“ Out of a total revenue of nearly three crores in the Central Provinces and Berar the Imperial Government takes a little over 88 lakhs and a half, or 30 per cent. of the whole. In Bombay, out of a total revenue of over $7\frac{3}{4}$ crores, the Imperial Government takes nearly $2\frac{1}{2}$ crores, or 31·8 per cent. of the whole. In Burma, out of a total revenue of nearly $6\frac{1}{4}$ crores, the Imperial Government takes just a little over $2\frac{1}{4}$ crores or 35 per cent. of the whole. In the Lower Provinces, out of a total revenue of a little over $7\frac{1}{2}$ crores, the Imperial Government takes nearly $2\frac{3}{4}$ crores, or 37 per cent. of the whole. In the Punjab, out of a total revenue of nearly $3\frac{1}{2}$ crores, the Imperial Government takes a little over $1\frac{1}{2}$ crores or 39 per cent. of the whole. In Eastern Bengal and Assam, out of a total revenue of nearly $4\frac{1}{4}$ crores, the Imperial Government takes nearly $1\frac{1}{2}$ crores, or 40·5 per cent. of the whole. In the United Provinces, out of a total revenue of a little over 9 crores, the Imperial Government takes a little over 4 crores or 44·4 per cent. of the whole. In Madras, out of a total revenue of nearly 10 crores, the Imperial Government takes well over $4\frac{1}{2}$ crores or 45·5 per cent. of the whole.

“ My Lord, the diversity brought out by the above statement is too marked, and though there might be good reasons for it, yet, I confess, that to the average person, the system seems to be more or less arbitrary. I trust I am not asking too much in expressing the hope that the Government of India will be able in due course to see their way to so adjust their financial relations with the Provincial Governments as to leave them not less than two-thirds of the revenues raised in the province. At present only two of the provinces, namely, the Central Provinces and Berar and Bombay, have at their disposal two-thirds, or rather a little over two-thirds, of their revenues; all the other provinces are laid under contribution by the Imperial Government in a larger measure, the percentage being the highest in case of the United Provinces and Madras. If the Government of India could only bring themselves to limit their demands to one-third of the revenues raised in the provinces, it would mean a substantial relief to six of our larger provinces and but a slight strain to the resources of the Central Provinces and Bombay, which at present retain just a little over two-thirds. It will no doubt be said that any such adjustment will materially cripple the resources of the Government of India, but surely when the Provincial Governments are being called upon to practice retrenchment and economy, and to 'mitigate future difficulties by examining the causes of the insidious growth of expenditure and by sharply checking them', it is not too much to expect that the Government of India will not be content with merely offering precepts to the Provincial Governments but will set an example to them 'by examining the causes of the insidious growth' of their own expenditure, which has been going up at an alarming rate during recent years 'and the steady growth of which', the Finance Minister has told us, he views 'with grave anxiety.' Retrenchment and economy might well begin with the Government of India, and an ounce of practice by the Imperial Government will be certainly better than a ton of precepts to the Provincial Governments. It is not necessary for me to deal here with the specific proposals to reduce the expenditure of Government of India, as they have been made from time to time, by Indian public men both in and outside the Council, and they merit careful consideration at the hands of the Government.

"My Lord, the broad outlines of the economic conditions of India are such that he who runs may read. A very poor country—one of the poorest in the world—has to sustain the fabric of a very costly system of administration, the revenue and expenditure of which at best balance in average years, even if—as in the forthcoming year—no additional taxation is necessary in normal times to avoid a deficit. The incidence of taxation—relative to the tax-paying capacity of the people—is at a high level, and which cannot be enhanced except by inflicting upon them some kind of privation of even the necessities of life—as in the case, for instance, of the enhanced duty on petroleum. Of the revenues raised, comparatively speaking, a much smaller sum than is absolutely necessary is left at the disposal of the Provincial Governments for expenditure on such works of public utility and beneficent measures as are indispensable for raising the material and moral condition of the people; while by far the larger proportion of the revenues is spent on the army, which alone absorbs more than the total land-revenues, and on other departments. At the same time, we are face to face with diminishing returns in the opium-revenue and threatened, in course of time, with its disappearance. Though much is heard of the recuperative powers of India, it is difficult to contemplate with equanimity the present financial position of the country, specially in view of the threatened extinction of the opium-revenue. With the new imposts recently levied, we have reached the farthest limits of taxation, while our growing requirements, specially for education and sanitation, will make a heavier demand in future on the Finance Minister's resources. These broad facts of our economic situation have got to be grappled with in such a way as will redound to the prosperity of the people, without a sacrifice of efficiency in administration. I have no doubt that Your Excellency's Government, which has done much for the progress of the Indian people, will not fail to devise schemes which will meet with the requirements of the situation. In the meantime, I earnestly hope that the Government will devote a substantial portion of the surpluses to two such beneficent objects as education and sanitation, which are the crying needs of the country. Such a response on the part of Your Excellency's Government to the appeals of the Indian members of this Council, who have pressed the Government to be generous in expenditure under these two heads, will not only evoke their gratitude but of the educated Indian community throughout the Empire."

The Hon'ble SIR SASSOON DAVID said :—"My Lord, I rise to say a few words regarding the characteristics of the Budget for the year 1910-11.

"As a merchant the taxations embodied in the Budget suggest to me the term 'chow chow' or peddling. It will, I think, produce the minimum of revenue with the maximum of disturbance and anxiety in a number of directions. If there was any real necessity for enhanced taxation, it would, I think, have been much better to increase the import-duties generally, by say 1 per cent., which would, I see, yield something like Rs. 14 crores.

[Sir Sassoon David.]

"The stamp-duty as modified will bring in a small revenue, and I wish Government had seen their way to omit it entirely. The revenue to be derived from it will, I think, be found to be far from commensurate with the annoyance caused. If, in the place of this duty, Government would make compulsory the registration of transfers of shares, the effect would be not only to acquire a substantial sum in revenue without friction, but to institute a system greatly neglected in several parts of India.

"The silver-duty has awakened serious anxiety about India's trade with the silver-using countries.

"The tobacco-duty I admit was justifiable, but I see it has evoked a singularly unfortunate suggestion as coming from England—that of an excise-duty upon Indian tobacco. I earnestly hope that means will be found to close at once the discussion of a project that is sinister both in nature and origin and, as I believe, quite impracticable in maintaining a staff capable of collecting the excise.

"I must advert again to the silver-duty, not with the intention of repeating what I said on a previous occasion but because it seems to me important to nail to the counter one or two arguments that are fallacious to a dangerous degree. One of these is the contention that the large extent of India's imports of silver proves that the business is very profitable. I assert, on the contrary, that it is precisely the enormous volume of India's imports of silver that satisfies the market and keeps profit on a single operation at a moderate level. This is in accordance not only with theory but with practice. The price of silver is ruled by the London and New York markets, and its price in India follows the Home rates closely. I see that it has been stated that the effect of the enhancement of this duty in the world's price of silver must be small. I do not know on what figures the estimate was based. I find however that the world's production of silver is some 174,000,000 ounces on the average of the 5 years ending 1908-09, and that in the same years India imported nearly 101,000,000 ounces per annum or about 58 per cent. of the total. It seems clear that if, as is argued, the effect of enhanced duty is to raise the value of silver as a store of value, existent silver hoards must appreciate and further hoarding be for a time discouraged. By my reckoning, India should under such conditions only take about 51 per cent. of the world's silver instead of 58 per cent. I make no prognostication as to the decline likely to appear in the world's price, but, I do not doubt, the decline will be sufficient to be felt in our trade with the silver-using countries.

"I do not propose to recapitulate the burdens under which the Indian cotton-industry is suffering at this time, but I am sorry that there was not on the Government side a more frank admission of the reality of the fresh burden to be imposed by the new silver-duty on the trade with the Further East. It may be worth while to give one or two figures that show how that important branch of the trade is already being impaired. It should be borne in mind that formerly Japan was amongst one of our best customers, and in 1888-89 she took from us more than 23 million pounds of yarn. Now she takes none, but takes instead, large quantities of raw cotton, thereby raising the price of our raw material while lowering the price of our finished products in the Chinese market. The largest quantity of raw cotton shipped to Japan in a single year was 2,525,200 cwts. in 1901-02. But in the eleven months of the current year 1909-10 no less than 2,873,400 cwts. have been shipped. In the face of these facts and of the increasing activity and efficiency in the Chinese spinning-industry it is vain to pretend that India's trade with the Further East is in a position to stand any superfluous handicap whatsoever, and I foresee injury to India's cotton-industry from duties that have now been imposed.

"My practical knowledge of the opium trade may perhaps be accepted as atoning in some measure for the fact that I am personally interested in it. It may perhaps be useless at this time to suggest a doubt as to the expediency of the abolition of this trade at the expense of the Indian tax-payer who will before long have to make good a lost opium-revenue of five or six crores of rupees annually, while the balance of trade will be weakened by a shrinkage of some ten crores in India's export.

"I have already asserted that the estimated price of Rs. 1,750 per chest for next year is too low. The first sale in the new financial year takes place in a week. I prophesy that it will bring in about Rupees thirty lakhs in excess of the estimate for that month. At the end of the year, if no change be made in the programme, there will be an excess on this account amounting to not less than $3\frac{1}{2}$ crores. This is more than double the Budget deficit, and I hope that this excess will not be presented to us as a windfall of an entirely unexpected kind and be expended in the manner commonly associated with windfalls.

"It is accepted that China has greatly restricted poppy cultivation. But China is notoriously going through a process of awakening which demands money. Opium cultivation is a possible source of revenue. Is it certain that all Chinese Finance Ministers will be able to resist temptation? We know that it is not; and if one should fall, what will be the result? India will have sacrificed a large revenue, China will enjoy it in her place. And the position of the user of opium in the Far East will be as at present. For this reason I urge that under any further international agreement that may be concluded the continued abstinence of India from engaging in the opium trade should be made contingent on the perpetual abstinence of China. This will not only secure to India the right to protect herself in the event of a backsliding on the part of China, but it will pretty nearly ensure the furtherance of those philanthropic aims for which we have to pay so dearly.

"Turning to the question of the Gold Standard Reserve, the Hon'ble the Finance Minister in his speech of the 25th February 1910 said:—

'The whole of our coinage profits without reservation will be paid into the Gold Standard Reserve until such time as the gold held by us, in that Reserve and in the Paper Currency Reserve combined, reaches the figure of £25 millions sterling.'

(1) When referring to the 'gold held by us' does Government mean only 'gold coin and bullion' or 'gold securities and gold coin and bullion'?

(2) For fixing the limit, if any, up to which profits on coinage must be credited to the Gold Standard Reserve, I deprecate the combination of the Gold Standard Reserve, with the Paper Currency Reserve or with any other Reserve.

"Gold in the Gold Standard Reserve is the true Reserve, whereas gold in the Paper Currency Reserve resembles rather working capital, as part of the security for currency notes in circulation.

"Suppose at a given date Government decided to give an order to buy silver and coin rupees.

"Suppose at that date the gold in the Gold Standard Reserve and Paper Currency Reserve together exceeded £25 millions.

"Under the new scheme the profit on the coinage of the said rupees need not be credited to the Gold Standard Reserve, no matter how large a proportion of the said £25 millions be held in the Paper Currency Reserve.

"Suppose the proportion to be £15 millions in the Gold Standard Reserve, £10 millions in the Paper Currency Reserve.

"Supposing also that the year following the said order for coinage were a bad one, it might conceivably happen that the £10 millions of gold would leave the Paper Currency Reserve and the total gold would thus be reduced to £15 millions.

"And if the next year were good and the gold came back again Government might again give an order for coinage, the profit on which would not be credited to the Gold Standard Reserve.

"Thus it might happen over a series of cycles of good and bad years that no further additions from coinage profits were made to the Gold Standard Reserve, which would remain at £15 millions, in spite of Government's increased liability in respect to the fresh rupees coined during that period.

"Therefore in that case the true reserve would be in my opinion only £15 millions, not £25 millions, whereas £25 millions appear to be none too much as a minimum true reserve.

"Consequently I think the limit, if any, should be fixed only for the gold in the Gold Standard Reserve, quite irrespective of the gold in Paper Currency Reserve or in any other Reserve."

The Hon'ble MR. MESTON said:—"I wish to say a few words about our Currency policy, more especially with reference to the Gold Standard Reserve. I am grateful to the Hon'ble Sir Sassoon David for giving me an opening on the subject, for otherwise it would have been difficult to break the traditional practice by which Government makes its statement of Currency progress once a year and then stands to be shot at for the rest of the twelve months. But the firing this year has been particularly active, the aim has generally been indifferent, but all sorts of bullets have been used,—not always in accord with the Geneva Convention! I have collected a few specimens which may interest the Council. To our old and valued critic, Mr. Webb of Karachi, I need only refer very briefly. He hits hard, and he generally hits fairly, but his recent catalogue of our 14 deadly sins in currency was a volley that went, in my humble judgment, a little wide of the mark. There is, however, a much more inveterate sniper, Mr. Moreton Frewen. In a long series of attacks which he has scattered over the Press of three continents, he has accused our Currency policy, among other gentle arts, of the following:—abolishing the Decalogue, famines, drunkenness, thieving, and wholesale manslaughter, to which he, or one of his disciples, has thrown in the unrest in India, bombs and the deportations. Thus Mr. Moreton Frewen, fresh from the Far West. It would be very wrong and mischievous all this, if it were not so ludicrous, so laughably overdone. The Hon'ble Sir Sassoon also comes from the west, but he has dealt with us very tenderly to-day.

"What our more temperate and thoughtful critics generally urge is the complaint that we are not sufficiently steadfast in our Currency policy and that we allow our Gold Reserve, which is the backbone of our Currency, to be manipulated too largely in the interest of the London market. In developing their indictment, they lay stress on three main counts:—

- (1) that our Reserve is not big enough,
- (2) that it is not held in India, and
- (3) that it is not held in solid gold.

"I should like to say a few words on these charges: I will try to show that there is another side to each of these questions, a side of which we never seem to hear very much, and then I shall leave it to the Council to form their own judgment on the points at issue.

"On the first charge, we are told that the Reserve should be allowed to grow to a much more imposing figure than any that has yet been named. The Hon'ble Finance Member explained in his speech introducing the Financial Statement that we mean to accumulate gold up to 25 millions before we divert any of our coinage profits to other purposes. Our critics say that 25 millions indicates an altogether imperfect recognition of our liabilities. Well, does it? In theory, we ought to accumulate gold enough to ensure the convertibility of all the rupees in circulation. How much that would be, is difficult to say—probably about 160 millions; a much higher figure if we include hoardings and rupees which are in other ways out of circulation. Any how we may take the figure as somewhere between 150 and 200 millions sterling; and of course that figure has only got to be named to show how much room there is for difference of opinion as to the exact amount that we should put into our Reserve. As a matter of practice, we know that no substantial fraction of the total circulated is ever likely to be called upon. Rupees are not like bank notes: you cannot conceive every rupee being collected in haste, as people collect their notes for a run on a bank, and hurried off to our Currency centres to be exchanged for gold. The whole life of the country would be paralyzed. I need not labour the point. But I go further and say we could hardly conceive any substantial part of the circulation suddenly being thrown upon our hands. There is a natural limit to the possible drain on our gold. Everything which tends to contract the circulation also tends to make further contraction more difficult. Discount rates are affected, prices of imports rise, imports are checked and exports encouraged, and so more Currency is wanted again and equilibrium is gradually restored. If we can weather this process with our Reserve, then our Reserve is strong enough for practical purposes. In 1907-8 we found 8 millions enough to keep our system afloat. The test was not so severe as can be easily imagined, but if we build up 25 millions, and if the Secretary of State covenants—as he has done—to make the whole of it readily available at need, and if he is prepared, should the worst come to the worst—as I have every hope he would be—to supplement our Reserve, if needed, by gold borrowings—then I would ask the Council if they see much wrong with the 25 million standard, not in theory but as a working business proposition.

“But in the second place, we are asked, why not hold our Reserves in India? Every sovereign that we now hold in London should be realized and shipped out here, to be kept in our currency vaults in Calcutta. Well, Sir, I have used every endeavour to get at the foundation of this belief. I have discussed with all sorts and conditions of men and I have had to come to the conclusion that it is very largely sentimental. It would be very wrong to decry sentiment. Even in the money market, sentiment exercises a great deal more influence than we often imagine. But I do not think it carries us through this problem. The gold, say our critics, belongs to India, and we should have it in our own land. Its mere presence would give people a confidence in the reality of our Gold Standard which no amount of published accounts can give, and we could always stop a slump in exchange by opening our vaults and pouring out our gold.

“Now, the other side to this question is this. We do keep a supply of gold in India—nearly 6 millions today—and we are ready to hand it out in support of exchange when the people are genuinely willing to take it into circulation as a substitute for silver. But when a slump in exchange threatens, what is really wanted is gold for export; and instead of giving the trade gold in Calcutta which they will have all the trouble, expense and delay of shipping to London, is it not much easier and in every way more satisfactory to give them an order on the Bank of England, where they will find the gold already exported for them, ready for immediate use at the centre where it is wanted and where a fall in exchange can be most effectively countered. That is what we arrange, and I think the practical considerations far outweigh the sentimental.

“Thirdly—and this is the chief accusation against us—the Reserve should be kept in solid gold, and not invested. Its investment, we are assured, is simply a device to gratify the City, who make a convenience of our gold and drive India's interests to the wall. Time is too short to give you the other side of this story so fully as I should like. But I would only ask you to remember this. It is in London that we raise practically all our loans for our railways and our canals, it is from London that our commerce and industry draw the funds which are necessary to their development, London is the clearing house of our trade with the world. We have no wish to feed the speculator in Throgmorton Street, but we must walk carefully when there is any danger of disturbing the chief gold market of the world, or of creating or exaggerating any gold stringency which will react on Indian finance as surely as the day follows the night. I do not think that any one will question the skill with which the Secretary of State and his advisers have handled our sterling loans and all the complicated problems of our remittances between England and India. I submit that we should give them credit for equal skill, and for an equally vigilant watch over India's interests, in their custody of our Gold Reserves. I must now end. We have passed through many changes in Currency policy and made not a few mistakes. But the broad lines of our action and our objects are clear and unmistakeable, and there has been no great or fundamental sacrifice of consistency in progress towards our ideal. Since the Fowler Commission that progress has been real and unbroken. There is still one great step forward before the ideal can be reached. We have linked India with the gold countries of the world, we have reached a gold exchange standard, which we are steadily developing and improving. The next and final step is a true gold currency. That, I have every hope, will come in time, but we cannot force it. The backwardness of our banking arrangements, the habits and suspicions of the people, the infancy of co-operation,—all stand in the way. But the final step will come when the country is ripe for it. I trust that will not long be delayed; for when it comes, it will obliterate all the mistakes, all the inconveniences, all the artificialities, of our present position. In the meantime I would ask our critics to continue to help us with their advice, and to assist us in carrying out the development of the policy, not on grounds of theory, not in an economic vacuum, so to speak, but in touch with the realities of business and the wide interests of Indian finance.

"I cannot sit down without acknowledging the compliment which the Hon'ble Mr. Gokhale has paid me in today's debate. The Hon'ble gentleman has reminded me that he is a veteran in this Council, and that I am only a newcomer. I fully admit the truth of this: and if a newcomer may venture so far, I would like to express the admiration which we newcomers feel for the high influence which the veteran so clearly exercises and for the high level to which he has raised the debates in this Chamber. When therefore the veteran mounts his biggest war horse and orders out his longest spear, to tilt at one of the newest of his colleagues, I take it as a true compliment.

"But in his onslaught the veteran has made free use of a very old trick, the use of the red herring. On the occasion to which Mr. Gokhale refers he had assured the Council that our estimates of revenue for next year are under the mark; and he built up his argument on the contention that our Bengal opium is likely to give us at least Rs. 250 a chest more than we took in the Budget, i.e., our revenue forecast is really some 90 lakhs short of what we are certain to get under this head alone. In answering Mr. Gokhale, I made a casual opening remark about the unusual character of his argument, and then went on to say that even if he was right in his opium estimate, we should have been very imprudent to budget for and spend an abnormal receipt of that nature. With Your Lordship's permission, I will quote exactly what I said. It was this:—

'If the receipts from opium in the near future should rise far beyond our expectations as the result of an artificial market, let us treat the excess as a windfall. That is virtually what we have done this year. It is what I hope the Government would be prepared to consider should similar conditions recur. I have no desire and no authority to commit the Government in this matter in any way; but if the market should happen to yield the extra 90 lakhs which the Hon'ble Mr. Gokhale hopes for, I trust that the money will not be spent in recurring expenditure which will only increase our difficulties hereafter, but will be in some way reserved for special purposes which we have been unable to provide for in the budget now before the Council.'

"Now, the Hon'ble Mr. Gokhale has taken my innocent opening casual remark as his red herring and dragged it across the trail of the whole question of the opium revenue. For what does he propose today? He advises Government to fix a descending scale of revenue from opium so as to discount the inevitable fall: and he then urges that any revenue which we may get from the artificial prices now ruling should be set apart outside the ordinary expenditure of the year, for some beneficent purpose. In what respect does this differ from the suggestion which I hazarded on the 4th of March, and what has become of the Hon'ble gentleman's strictures on our under-estimates? I can assure him that the descending scale of revenue which he advises has already been framed in the Finance Department, and that his views are welcomed as strong support of the course which some of us would like the Government of India to follow. He and I are on the same trail, and I hope that he will now bury the red herring."

[Kanwar Sir Ranbir Singh; Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu.]

The Hon'ble KANWAR SIR RANBIR SINGH said :—"My Lord, before offering any remarks on any of the points that have been under discussion during the present Budget debate, I venture to say a few words regarding the peace and comfort we are enjoying under the just and benign rule of the British Government. To enumerate the advantages and improvements of the last forty years is no easy task, and one which will fill volumes. But I may be allowed to refer to a few matters which are none the less important—I mean the participation of the educated Indians in the administration of the country. The number of Indians appointed to the most important posts in all the Departments of Government is daily on the increase, and this is a state of affairs that cannot but fill the hearts of all Indians with feelings of gratitude and thankfulness. The increased outlay on railways is not without its advantages, when we consider the facilities in communications and the opening up of undeveloped areas. Similarly, the beneficial effects of irrigation are boundless. The activities of Government in various other directions afford us ample scope for satisfaction. The freedom of speech and the opportunities for a full discussion of public affairs in the enlarged Councils are boons which cannot be forgotten.

"Turning to the points in the present debate, there is one to which I attach particular importance, namely, the general state of education in this country. I think that the present system is one which requires overhauling; though there has been a great deal of discussion on introducing free primary education into the country, yet the want of free intercourse and the exchange of ideas between teachers and students appears to me to be a point which requires early attention. Another defect is that the boys enter into political discussions too early, when they have hardly any definite aims and objects. It is this matter on which Indian parents above all things, as well as the teachers, should exercise their influence, and exert their utmost to keep the boys away from politics. A system of education on a residential basis, which will afford ample opportunities for free intercourse between the teachers and the students, cannot but be productive of excellent results, and I trust the Government will see fit to take steps towards the achievement of this object."

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU said :—"My Lord, the one noticeable feature about the Budget is the imposition of new taxes following years of surpluses. My friend the Hon'ble Finance Member ascribes this situation to the shrinking opium revenue and to the increasing cost of the new province of Eastern Bengal and Assam. As regards this opium revenue the shrinkage was foreseen years ago. I wish, my Lord, that this increasing cost of the Eastern Bengal province had also been foreseen. Unfortunately, buried in huge surpluses, the Government in those days were unable to see into the future. Lord Curzon was pleased to say that the reduplication would cost India eight lakhs of rupees a year, and His Lordship with his characteristic eloquence said that that would be a very light cost for the inestimable blessings that the new province would enjoy. My Lord, light cost indeed! These inestimable blessings have cost us innocent lives of men and women, they have cost us very repressive legislation one after another, they have compelled our Ministers to travel to Austria and Russia for precedents in the administration of British territory, they have cost us, my Lord, what we were ill able to spare—the good relationship which ought to exist between the rulers and the ruled.

"My Lord, the Finance Member has said that we are abandoning to East Bengal £255,000 out of land-revenue and we are making a cancellation of the overdraft in regard to opium and paying the Government of East Bengal on a substantial basis by giving it a minimum cash balance of 12 lakhs. The Finance Member makes a present of another £246,000. Roughly they come up to about 80 lakhs or a little more. If this were all, if we felt that these 80 lakhs would meet the demands of East Bengal, something might be said. But we have recently had before us the Financial Statement which the Hon'ble Mr. Kershaw of that province has placed before the country. He says that the Government of India have undertaken to pay the charges of the Port of Chittagong. He has also indicated five large schemes of administration—very big schemes, indeed, my Lord, which he knows are imperative and which he says the Government of India have undertaken to finance out of its surpluses.

[Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu.]

"I do not see those surpluses, they have vanished like the proffered millions, and I do not see how sustenance may be found for the discarded bantling of Lord Curzon. We have taxed petroleum, a prime necessity, notwithstanding what has been said, to the peasants of India. I have no doubt that the peasant of India will follow the sagacious advice of the Finance Member and to save his oil will practice the good old maxim of 'early to bed and early to rise,' but he will be a sadder, if a wiser, man. Lord Curzon gave us an assurance when he launched forth this scheme of the partition of Bengal—reconstruction as he was pleased to call it—gave us the assurance that the cost would be light and the benefits would be great. He had also said that the cost of housing this reduplicated machinery would only be about 8 or 9 lakhs of rupees. In answer to a question of mine it has been elicited that more than a crore of rupees has been spent in these last five years for housing this reduplicated administrative machinery. Lord Curzon was in great haste: he pointed out to the Secretary of State that if time was given those troublesome agitators who were fighting against the partition would carry on the agitation, and he urged upon the Secretary of State to consummate the measure of partition as soon as he could, with the least possible delay, as Lord Curzon expressed himself, and the result was that the Government of East Bengal was held under canvas and in borrowed houses for a long time. All these were pointed out in a memorial to which I am glad to find amongst the signatories were my Hon'ble colleagues, the Raja Bahadur of Dighapatia and Maulvi Syed Shamsul Huda, pointing out the heavy outlay which the new province would entail upon the resources of the country. To all those remonstrances Lord Curzon, like the proverbial adder that 'stoppeh her car, which will not hearken to the voice of the charmer, charm he ever so wisely,' turned a deaf ear. The cost of administration has risen from 3 lakhs before the partition to 13 lakhs to day. The cost of inspection on education has risen from Rs. 50,000 to 5 lakhs; there has been a large increase in the cost of police administration. My Lord, hand to hand, there has been an increase in the cost of education, for imparting, for forming, for expanding the mind of the youth of East Bengal, and increased cost in police for putting that mind under fetters. My Lord, in all this cost not a single rupee has been taken as the cost of maintaining the High Court, the entire burden of which falls upon the shoulders of West Bengal. We maintain the fifteen judges and the whole staff of the High Court. There are other heads which I have not got the skill nor the materials to discover, items of expenditure lurking under other heads as in the case of the great pageant at Delhi which was shown to have cost the country practically nothing. My Lord, with this growing expenditure, with the five schemes still to be carried out, with the demands of the Eastern Bengal Province, how are we to cope? Your Lordship will remember that more than half of the area of the Eastern Province is covered by Assam, and more than half of Assam is covered by jungle: there is no prospect of an increasing revenue, and it stands to reason that all this increasing cost will fall ultimately upon the shoulders of all India.

"This has been the financial result of the new province. I have got something else to say, but as I am limited to time I would ask Your Lordship's leave to read my speech rather than deliver it as regards that portion. I believe it is no longer necessary for me to demonstrate the unwisdom of the measure; men better competent to judge than the people concerned have recorded their opinions against it. Lord Macdonnell, than whom a higher authority on Indian affairs so thoroughly conversant with Bengal does not exist, pronounced it to be the greatest blunder of British Government in India since the Battle of Plassey. In the famous debate in the House of Lords, no one was willing, not even Lord Curzon, to acknowledge its paternity. My Lord, it was openly asserted that the measure was intended to divide and weaken the Bengali community; it was a serious charge to make against the

[Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu; Sir Harvey Adamson; the President.]

Government of the country. It was repeated in the House of Commons. It has never been denied. I shall quote from the speech that Lord Morley, then Mr. Morley, made in the House. He said—

‘So far as my information goes I cannot assent to the views of those gentlemen who have said that the movement for the partition of Bengal arose from political motives and from the desire to repress the expression of its political opinion. Whether the original motives may not have taken on some colour of that kind I am not in a position to affirm or deny.’

“This shows, my Lord, the real force of the opposition, this shows—” •

The Hon'ble SIR HARVEY ADAMSON: “I submit that the Hon'ble Member is out of order. This has no relevancy to the Budget.”

His Excellency THE PRESIDENT:—“I think the Hon'ble Member is out of order. I must ask him to confine his remarks to the Budget.”

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU: “As your Lordship pleases. My Lord, we Indians owe to Your Lordship a debt of gratitude which we can never hope to repay. Your Lordship's quiet and dignified attitude amidst gathering clouds and brewing storms, betokening that rare virtue, the courage of the spirit, has reminded us the Hindus of India that the days of our ‘Rajarshis’, the sovereign and sage, are not yet over. You have not suffered the misdeeds of a few perverted and fanatical youths to divert you by a hair's breadth from the course that Your Lordship set before yourself in the discharge of your high duties. You have allowed misrepresentation of your conduct and action to pass by you as the idle wind. My Lord, whatever may be our differences in the way that the great reforms inaugurated by you have been put into execution, we frankly acknowledge their generous and far-reaching character, and in the fulness of time, when they will bear fruit, Your Lordship's name will ever be remembered and cherished as the great ruler from whom emanated India's first charter of constitutional government. My Lord, you have liberated the deportees, amongst whom were men held by us in the highest esteem for the purity and piety of their life, from their silent prison. You will excuse the liberty if on behalf of the people of Bengal and in their name I venture to offer Your Lordship our humble thanks for your noble and kindly act in the face of the embarrassments confronting the Government. My Lord, will it be too much to appeal to you in the closing year of Your Lordship's administration to mitigate if not to undo the great wrong done to Bengal? As to the character of the measure and how it was carried out, I shall again take the liberty of quoting from Lord Morley. Referring to the partition of Bengal he said:—“It was, and remains, undoubtedly an administrative operation which went wholly and decisively against the wishes of most of the people concerned. Whether the partition was a wise thing or not when it was begun, I am bound to say nothing was ever worse done so far as the disregard which was shown to the feeling and opinion of the people concerned.” My Lord, we do not desire that the privileges and advantages which the partition has conferred on our Muhammadan fellow-subjects in East Bengal or on the people of Behar should be curtailed by a single iota. It stands to reason that in East Bengal, where the Muhammadans form two-thirds of the population, and Beharis in Behar should have the full benefit of their numerical strength: it also stands to reason that communities which through untoward circumstances have come to be looked upon as backward now, should have special facilities accorded to them. Lord Curzon while touring through East Bengal drew a vivid and alluring picture of the greatness in store for the town of Dacca and the port of Chittagong, for the people of East Bengal in general and the Muhammadans in particular if they were severed from West Bengal. May every line of that picture be realised! But, my Lord, that is not the way of Government, alluring individuals and communities from their common allegiance. History knows it by an unpleasant name. My Lord, I shall quote again from the writings of Lord Morley, which to me have been a constant source of profit and inspiration. 'Moral forces decide the strength and weakness of constitutional contrivances. The hunger for breakfast and dinner has not been the master impulse in the history of civilized communities. Selfish and interested individualism has been truly called non-historic. Sacrifice has been the law-sacrifice for creeds, for churches, for kings, for dynasties, for adored teachers, for native land.' However that may be, I can assure Your Lordship that we Hindus of Bengal are prepared to enter into a solemn league and covenant to give up, if need be, all our claims to the expanded Councils, all our claims to Government emoluments, if only our Province is reunited."

His Excellency THE PRESIDENT: "I must again interrupt the Hon'ble Member. The question of reuniting the Provinces of Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam has nothing to do with the Budget, and I must again ask the Hon'ble Member to confine his remarks to that subject."

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU:—"As Your Lordship pleases. I do not wish to go into the question of reconstituting Bengal on different lines, except on the ground of financial relief.

"If it can be reunited, if it ought to be reunited, if for nothing else but financial grounds, what is it that stands in the way? Is it a feeling that any such attempt would be interpreted as a sign of weakness: my Lord, we ourselves have never looked upon an act of grace on the part of those who have the power to bind and to unloose as a sign of weakness. An act of justice will not weaken but strengthen the prestige of an all powerful Government."

The Hon'ble SIR HARVEY ADAMSON:—"I submit the Hon'ble Member is more out of order than before."

His Excellency THE PRESIDENT:—"I am afraid I must again call the Hon'ble Member to order. I have already twice called him to order."

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU: "In giving to India a constitutional government, in releasing the deportees, in appointing our countrymen to high offices of state, Your Lordship has disregarded the fears of the weak, and the misgivings of the timid. Have these acts been treated by the Indians as signs of weakness?"

His Excellency THE PRESIDENT:—"I must again interrupt the Hon'ble Member. He is making a purely political speech on the state of India. The release of the deportees has nothing to do with the Budget, and I must again ask him to conform to the rules of this assembly."

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU: - "As Your Lordship pleases. I was only thanking Your Excellency for having released the deportees and did not intend to deal with the subject of deportation at all. By your recent acts you have rallied round yourself and the Throne of England all the forces of law and order in this vast continent. Do us this supreme act of justice and your name, my Lord, will live through passing centuries as one of the great benefactors of India, as one of the strongest pillars of British rule, proclaiming to unborn generations and distant time, like the monoliths of Asoka, a message of peace and good will from England and India."

The Hon'ble MR. LYON said:—"My Lord, Your Lordship's ruling with reference to a great part of the Hon'ble Member's most earnest speech—and I am sure all Hon'ble Members will recognise the earnestness with which he has spoken—has relieved me from something of a dilemma, as I am sure it would have taken me a good twenty minutes to lay before the Council the other side of the partition of Bengal, and then I should have had to ask for the indulgence of Your Lordship for some little time to talk about the Budget. However, I think but a few words will be sufficient to deal with the financial side of the partition. There has been a great deal of exaggeration about the cost of the partition. The critics of that measure have recently been communicating their views on the subject to the Press at length, and they and the Hon'ble Member have left the impression of enormous sums expended as the cost of the partition. I think this exaggeration may be best explained to the Council by an analogy. Most Hon'ble Members of this Council know that in a well known game it is customary to divide your score by ten or a larger number before you record it. I think in this case it is the invariable practice to multiply by ten or a larger number before you make the record. The actual figures are now before us in the statement * which has recently been placed before the Council. It has been shown that the partition of Bengal has cost ten lakhs of rupees in recurring charges, and that sum may be arrived at from calculations other than those given in the statement which was laid on the table today. In the settlements that were made in 1906-07 in the two provinces after the partition, the basis taken was the actual expenditure in these two provinces at the time of partition. That is, the estimates of expenditure for the year 1905-06 were taken as the actual expenditure of the time, and an addition was made on the side of Eastern Bengal and Assam of nine lakhs to meet the cost of the partition, while four lakhs were added to Bengal on account of the transfer of Sambalpur from the Central Provinces. The total of the existing expenditure in the two provinces taken together in Bengal and the old province of Assam was 684 lakhs, 606 lakhs for Bengal and 78 lakhs for Assam. The total of the expenditure allowed for in the new settlement which was made the year after the partition was 697 lakhs, the difference of 13 lakhs being due to the additions that I have mentioned. But in addition to this recurring cost there is a statement showing the non-recurring expenditure as 56½ lakhs, and I invite attention to the fact that the sum of over a crore which has just been mentioned as expended on buildings in Eastern Bengal has practically nothing to do with the partition. The Hon'ble Member has added up the whole expenditure on buildings in our large province and has implied that there would have been no expenditure on buildings in the province if there had been no partition. I need scarcely point out that there are vast sums spent on buildings in every province in India. The actual sum is 56½ lakhs of rupees, which is still in course of expenditure in the province. But this sum has nothing to do with the present financial position, and I think the Hon'ble Finance Member will bear me out in this statement. Thirty lakhs of rupees were given to the province as an initial grant to meet this expenditure four years ago, and the remainder of the expenditure, except a small amount paid by Imperial Departments, has been met by the province out of its ordinary resources. Therefore, the 30 lakhs that were given to the Provincial Government four years ago and were provided for in the estimates of that year disposes of this question of 56½ lakhs so far as the present financial position is concerned, and I do not think that anybody will argue seriously that an addition of ten lakhs of rupees to the provincial expenditure of one province four and a half years ago is the cause of the imposition of additional recurring taxation amounting to a crore and a half in the present year. It may be argued however—in fact it has been argued by my Hon'ble friend—that the whole cost of the partition was not arrived at in the year it was carried out, and that there has been an enormous increase in expenditure since which is partly due to the partition. I do not think that an examination of figures will support this. The increase in the expenditure of the two Bengals has been 28½ per cent. in the last four and a half years, that is, it has risen from 684 lakhs in 1905-06 to 880 lakhs in 1910-11. In the same time the expenditure of Bombay has risen by 26½ per cent. without any partition; the expenditure of the United Provinces has risen by 47 per cent. without any partition; the expenditure in Madras has risen by 62 per cent. I do not think that we can place the rise of 28½ per cent. in Bengal to the debit of the partition.

"I pass next to a charge which has been made very freely in this Council against our province, and that is that we have been extravagant in our administration and have poured money out like water, and, mirabile dictu, it has been said that the Government of India have supported us in this extravagance. I think that Hon'ble Members who know the Finance Department of the Government of India will agree that this is a most extravagant charge to make. But although the charge is unfounded we quite realize in Eastern Bengal that in the present circumstances, when new taxation is being imposed and one of the reasons given for the imposition of that taxation is that a subvention is required to meet our growing needs, it is quite reasonable that we should be asked to explain the nature of our expenditure and to show that we are not extravagant. I hope the figures that I am about to give will justify us in the claim that we are economical. The total expenditure of our province will be next year 305 lakhs, which is below the general level of expenditure in any of the larger provinces of India. Tested by the usual tests of administrative expenditure, which are the cost per head of population or per area of the territory administered, it will be seen that we, with our 305 lakhs, are spending one rupee per head of our population as against Rs. 1-1-6 in Bengal, nearly Rs. 1-3-0 in the United Provinces, Rs. 3-4-0 in Bombay, Rs. 1-10-0 in Madras; and I would invite the Hon'ble Mr. Fenton's special attention to the fact that this expenditure is Rs. 1-9-0 in the Punjab. If we take the cost per square mile, we are spending Rs. 308 per square mile, as compared with Rs. 494 in Bengal, Rs. 525 in the United Provinces, Rs. 493 in Bombay, Rs. 397 in Madras, and again Rs. 360 in the Punjab. With reference to the Punjab I cannot admit the comparison which has been made by the Hon'ble Member from that Province between Eastern Bengal and his province. We are in the north-eastern corner of India, he is in the north-western; the consequence is that in the cost of living, in cost of labour and material, in rates of wages, in everything that goes to make an administration expensive, the balance is much against our province. The Punjab is also a smaller province and it has a smaller population, and in spite of these facts and of the high charges from which we suffer the Punjab spends more than Eastern Bengal and Assam by over 40 lakhs in the year.

"There are one or two heads among the detailed figures which it is perhaps worth while to mention. I would specially refer to the Police. My Hon'ble friend (the Hon'ble Babu Bhupendra Nath Basu) has talked about expenditure on Police, and I can only suggest to him that it would be desirable that he should come to take up his residence in Eastern Bengal and Assam; he is much less likely to meet a policeman in Eastern Bengal than in any other province of India. We have only 10,000 civil police in our province as compared with 21,400 in his own province and 33,900 in the United Provinces. Putting this into statistical form, we have one policeman for 9 square miles of our area as against one policeman for 5 square miles of Bengal, one for 3 square miles of the United Provinces and one for 4·8 square miles in the Punjab."

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU: "On a recent visit to Dacca, my Lord, I found two policemen following me from Serajgunge."

The Hon'ble MR. LYON: "No doubt when a distinguished visitor comes to our Province we take every care of him. Or to take the test of population, whereas in the Punjab there is one policeman guarding every thousand of the population, in the United Provinces one for every 1,400, and one for every 2,300 in Bengal, there is only one for every 3,100 of the population of Eastern Bengal and Assam. The cost of our police is somewhat higher, but that is because we have to keep up a large force of military police to guard the north-eastern frontier of India, the Army being conspicuous by its absence in all parts of the province. But even with that and with the heavy cost of living which adds to our charges, our expenditure is only Rs. 0-2-10 per head of the population as compared with Rs. 0-2-8½ in Bengal, with Rs. 0-4-0 in the Punjab and with larger figures in all the other provinces I have mentioned; and as regards area the cost is less in Eastern Bengal per square mile than in any other province of India."

[Mr. Lyon.]

"As to Education, I need only say a very few words. We have paid unremitting attention to this subject during the last four and a half years. We have dealt with every stage of educational reform, improved our schools and colleges, given many grants for primary education, and have encouraged Muhammadan educational institutions and the cause of female education. We have also spent large sums in adding to and improving the supervising and inspecting agency, without which most of our expenditure on educational reform would have been wasted. But even with all this improvement and all this expenditure our 27 lakhs of expenditure on education compares badly with the 59 lakhs spent in Bengal, 38 in the United Provinces or similar sums spent in Bombay and Madras; and whether it be per head of population or per square mile of area, we pay less for education than any other province.

"I have no time to deal with the general administration figures mentioned by the Hon'ble Member. Reduced by the cost of the old Assam Administration which has been absorbed in the new Government they will be found to come within the ten lakhs, a good deal within the ten lakhs, which has been acknowledged as the cost of the partition. And as for Civil Works, our expenditure has been heavy, but we have great need for it, for the cost of building generally is heavier in Eastern Bengal than in other provinces, and building work has been neglected more than any other duty of the administration in the outlying districts which we took over from Bengal.

"I must come now to the third charge, that we do not pay our way, and that we have had to come upon the Government of India for a larger share of general revenues than that to which we are entitled. I think there is a great deal of misunderstanding on this subject. The recurring assignments to be made to all provinces this next year amount to 370 lakhs, out of which our share, 50 lakhs, is not, I think, a very extraordinary proportion. Among the other assignments which are to be made to other provinces, I notice 54 lakhs to be made to the Punjab, 55 to the Central Provinces, 88 to Bombay and 92 lakhs to Burma. It must not be supposed that we are receiving an assignment and that others are receiving none. Moreover, in Eastern Bengal we suffer from the financial disadvantage of a permanent settlement, which means that large sums ordinarily paid by the cultivators for the use and occupation of the land go not into the coffers of the State but into the pockets of middlemen, leaving very little to filter through as a contribution to the cost of Government. But even with these disadvantages, we still pay our fair share to the revenues of the Supreme Government. Including the assignment which I have mentioned, we pay out of Provincial revenues raised in the province 34 per cent. to the Imperial Treasury as compared with 36 per cent. paid in Bengal, 35 in Burma, 33 in Bombay and 31 in the Central Provinces. I think, therefore, that we may claim that we have taken our place among the provinces of India relying on our own resources and paying our own way. I would suggest finally, my Lord, that if there had been no fresh taxation this year, there would have been less criticism of our financial affairs. The new settlement has come at an unfortunate time, when the Government of India have been unable to meet the exigencies of the situation without recourse to additional taxation. But this very circumstance adds strength to the case which I have to lay before the Council, for Hon'ble Members may rest assured that our affairs must have received the closest and most jealous scrutiny before the admission of our claims. The Hon'ble the Finance Member in introducing this budget gave expression to the reluctance and deep regret with which he asked for the imposition of fresh taxation. It may be well understood that our claims would have received but short shrift had they not been based on solid grounds. As matters stood, we welcomed that scrutiny and we awaited its results with confidence, and we only hope that the public in general will have an opportunity of testing those results. We have not asked for special treatment, for indulgence; we have asked merely for financial justice in order that we may do the right by the vast population of our province. We believe we have governed that province with economy in the past and we have no desire to stray from the paths of financial caution in the future. We are grateful to the Government of India for the recognition they have accorded to our urgent needs, and we earnestly believe that the Hon'ble Members of this Council and the tax-payers whom they represent will not grudge to our people that help and encouragement which this new settlement will afford."

The Hon'ble RAJA PRAMADA NATH RAY OF DIGHAPATIA said :—" My Lord, being comparatively a new member of this Council, I feel quite diffident to criticise the many intricate questions of Imperial finance ; all the same, I cannot allow this occasion to pass by without deploring the necessity that has forced the Government of India to resort to fresh taxation in a country which the Hon'ble Finance Member has himself admitted to be 'very poor.' Coming from the Province of Eastern Bengal and Assam, I deplore it all the more that our Province, in the opinion of the Hon'ble Finance Member, has been one of the chief causes for disturbing 'the imperial financial equilibrium.' But, my Lord, the Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam cannot be taken to task for asking for a fresh grant, as we have it from the Financial Statement itself that the cost of the development of the new Province was 'largely guesswork.'

" Having started a new Province, it is incumbent on the Government of India to help in the development of its railways and the improvement of its education, sanitation, and other useful institutions so that it may be brought into line with the progressive administrations of the other Provinces of the Empire.

" As regards railways in the new Province, it will be found from the Budget that the sum of Rs. 4,000 has been charged to provincial revenues under a separate head and that sanction has been given for the expenditure of about 10 lakhs of rupees for more railways to be provided from imperial revenues in 1910-11. It is a regrettable fact that our Province has about the least number of railway mileage in comparison to the other Provinces. To make the capital of the new Province more accessible, it is necessary to extend the Dacca-Mymensingh Railway to a point opposite Goalundo, which will save the uncertainty of river navigation and bring Dacca within easy reach of the metropolis of the Empire. Some means, my Lord, should also be found at an early date to link North Bengal direct with the capital of the Province, as the people of Northern Bengal have got a just grievance that they should be so far away from the seat of their Government. They are, in fact, much nearer to Calcutta and Darjeeling than to Dacca and Shillong.

" There is another part of our Province which requires opening up very badly. Of all the district head-quarters, Rajshahye is perhaps one of a very few in our Province which remains in an isolated position even in these days of general advance and progress. Its connection with the outer world can, however, be easily effected by diverting the proposed line between Godagari and Santahar through the town of Rajshahye to Natore. By this diversion, the whole of the District of Rajshahye may be opened out and the line also in all probability may be a few miles shorter than the one proposed. It will not only benefit all classes of the district itself but will also be a great boon to the whole of Northern Bengal, as the town of Rajshahye is the only important educational centre in North Bengal and is quite a big mart for rice.

" It was only the other day we were informed in this Chamber by the Hon'ble Home Member that almost every Province in India were making attempts to found good schools for the study of the higher branches of the mechanical and industrial arts and sciences ; but our Province, my Lord, I regret to say, is yet far from being blessed with such an institution, though there are one or two insignificant and ill-equipped technical schools here and there. It would not therefore be out of place to appeal to the Government of India for the establishment of a high-class Institute of Technology in the Province.

" It will be seen from the Financial Statement, under head 'Medical,' that a heavy lapse occurred in our Province in the special subvention made from the imperial revenues for the improvement of sanitation in last year's budget. My

[Raja Pramada Nath Roy of Dighapatia ; Mr. Shamsul Huda.]

Lord, in a Province which is notoriously unhealthy and almost the home of malaria, such lapses of imperial grants are very unfortunate. Probably the lapses occurred because the conditions under which the money was available could not be easily satisfied; but, my Lord, if the conditions are made more elastic in future, people will not be slow to take advantage of them. It is also highly desirable that wider publicity should be given to so kind an intention of the Government to help the people in bettering their sanitary conditions.

"Lastly, I have to congratulate the Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam for its attempt to reorganise the Police Service and for their being allowed a larger grant of money from the Imperial Exchequer for this purpose. We fervently hope that after the reorganisation we shall hear less of dacoities that have been rather frequent of late years and that the reorganised force will show greater activity and better ability in detecting crimes and eradicating anarchism from our Province.

"My Lord, the Hon'ble Mr. Lyon has mentioned that the Eastern Bengal and Assam Government are under a disadvantage owing to the Permanent Settlement. All that I can say in reply to this charge is that the Permanent Settlement has been keeping off so many famines from East and West Bengals.

"Before I sit down, my Lord, I think it my duty to acknowledge the deep debt of obligation the people of India have been laid under by His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief and His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for having enforced considerable economy in the expenditure under their control. I have no doubt that the courage and thoroughness exhibited by two such high officials in overhauling their expenditure will be generally followed by the various provincial Administrations and also by other officials who have the control of the large spending departments of the State."

The Honble MR. SHAMSUL HUDA said:—"I had no mind, my Lord, to take any part in this debate, but having regard to the fact that I represent a constituency which forms the majority of the population of Eastern Bengal and having regard to the fact that the new province has been attacked right and left from different points of view, I consider it my duty to say that so far as partition is concerned it is a measure that has been greatly beneficial to the Muhammadans in that province. I will deal with it in its financial aspect. I am aware that the question of partition as a general question has been disallowed. But unfortunately it was disallowed after a great deal was said about it. A reference was made by my learned friend to my having signed a document against the partition as to which I will only say that I am not ashamed of having grown wiser as years have rolled by. As regards the financial aspect of the question my Hon'ble friend Mr. Lyon has demonstrated by facts and figures that when Hon'ble Members attacked the partition as being almost solely responsible for the financial difficulty they did so more from imagination than from real facts. If the new province requires more money it is because the new province at the time when it formed part of Bengal was greatly neglected. My Hon'ble friend Mr. Bhupendra Nath Basu also has attacked the partition from its financial aspect. It has been said, why should the other provinces suffer for the wants of a new province which cannot pay its own way? I do not think it necessary to reply to the attacks made by members from the other provinces. But it comes with a singularly bad grace from those who represent Bengal to attack Eastern Bengal on that ground, because they have benefited for very many years out of the revenues of Eastern Bengal and have paid very little for its progress and advancement. Before the new province came into being, Eastern Bengal was a sort of step-child to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal. The most influential people were those who lived near about Calcutta. The best of educational institutions, hospitals, and all other public institutions were those near about the metropolis. No one thought of Eastern Bengal at all. It is since the partition that the Government of Eastern Bengal has been trying to bring the province in a line with Bengal; and it is natural that that should cost money. There is another thing, my Lord, which the new province is trying to do, and it is this.

[Mr. Shamsul Huda.]

At the time when Eastern Bengal formed a part of the province of Bengal, Muhammadans were considered a sort of negligible quantity whose wants were seldom seriously consulted. In the new province they are providing educational and other institutions according to the requirements of the majority of the population. That also costs money. Without entering into the various details of the financial difficulty, I will only say that if Eastern Bengal now for some years costs money, and if that money is to come from any province outside East Bengal, it should come from Western Bengal, and the members from that province should not at any rate grumble at it.

"Now, my Lord, having said so far about Eastern Bengal I will only make one or two general remarks. First as regards taxation. As regards the tax imposed on cigarettes and liquor I would support a tax on those articles at all times whether money was or was not required. As regards the tax on petroleum, a great deal has been said about its being one of the necessities of life. No doubt in one sense this is perfectly true, but that is a tax which falls so lightly upon the tax-payer that I do not think any single individual in the whole of India will feel it at all. Calculation shows that this tax has only increased, or has the effect of increasing, the value of petroleum by 2 annas per tin. Now the agricultural population, I mean the poorer classes of people, do not spend one tin even in two months, and if the tax falls at the rate of 4 pice on a family I do not think any one has a right to grumble. As regards the tax on silver I do not feel competent to speak; but I congratulate the Hon'ble Finance Member on making the best choice he could make when it was necessary for him to impose additional taxation, because as I pointed out I cannot conceive of any other articles upon which the taxes would have fallen more lightly or would have been less felt than the articles upon which he has imposed them. I will also say a word as regards the requirements of the province of Eastern Bengal and Assam in regard to sanitary improvements. It is an unfortunate fact that in looking into the report of Eastern Bengal and Assam as regards sanitation, I find that every year 675,000 persons die of fever alone. I would appeal to Your Excellency's Government—and I feel very great hesitation in making an appeal after all that has been said about the lavish generosity with which Eastern Bengal has been treated—to make a large grant to Eastern Bengal for the purposes of sanitation. The next thing I would say is about Law and Justice. As regards that, the first thing that I would suggest to the Hon'ble Finance Member is this. In showing the accounts, I find that stamps, judicial and non-judicial, are grouped together and shown as distinct from income, from Law and Justice. It seems to me somewhat illogical that the revenue derived from judicial and non-judicial stamps should be shown together, because so far as judicial stamps are concerned they have absolutely no connection with non-judicial stamps and the income under judicial stamps, I would suggest, should always be shown under the head of receipts from Law and Justice. If this is so shown, it will appear to what extent the country pays in the shape of court-fees and other expenses of litigation. Having regard to the large income derived from these stamps and other receipts from Law and Justice, I would put in a plea for better treatment of the members of the Judicial Service. I refer, my Lord, to the Munsifs and Subordinate Judges, hard-working men whose pay and prospects are certainly not adequate to the work that they do and that they are expected to do, and I would submit that something should be done to increase the number of Subordinate Judges and to increase the number of Munsifs in the several provinces. My experience is confined to Bengal and Eastern Bengal. I feel that on account of the paucity of men and the large work which is thrown upon them, our judicial officers cannot give that attention to the cases that come before them which the importance of those cases demand. Another way in which the work of these Munsifs may to a certain extent be made lighter is, I submit, by having a system of something like Village Munsifs introduced in Bengal as well as in Eastern Bengal. Looking to the statistics I find that in Eastern Bengal alone, the only province as to which I have got the figures, there were 362,476 original suits instituted in the year 1907. These are the only figures that were available to me. This number is simply appalling. In every case there would be about 5 persons concerned, and taking, my Lord, that there are about 5 witnesses in each case, we find on both sides about 36 lakhs out of 3 crores involved in some shape or other in litigation in my Province. The country will be very grateful if something could be done to put a check to this extravagant litigation, and my humble suggestion to Your Excellency is this that an attempt should be made to appoint honorary Judicial Officers as there are honorary Magistrates, so that village disputes may be decided in the villages themselves without being brought to the Sadr Courts, so that there may not be a large number of appeals in all sorts of petty cases.

"I have finished, my Lord, and in conclusion I will only express my gratitude to Your Excellency's Government for the consideration that has been shown to my community in the matter of the reforms that have been introduced. As we had no occasion before to refer to this matter I beg to say that my community is extremely grateful to Your Excellency for the considerate treatment that it has received. It would be presumptuous, my Lord, for me to say anything on the administration of Your Excellency all these years. All I can say is that the whole country is grateful to Your Excellency for what has been achieved during Your Excellency's administration of this vast empire."

The Hon'ble MR. GHUZNAVI said: "My Lord, the dominant feature of the Financial Statement and the Budget is the new taxation. Curiously enough on the very first occasion when a public statement of the finances of the country was made and on the first opportunity of a public discussion of the 'budget' seventeen years ago, the Hon'ble Finance Member had to provide against a deficit, as in the present year, which inaugurates a new era in the discussion of the country's finances. I cannot help congratulating the Hon'ble Finance Minister on the way he has provided against the deficit and on tapping such new sources of revenue as are embodied in the scheme of taxation that he has devised. The taxation is indirect, and it is so in spite of the fact that the Hon'ble Member could have withdrawn the remissions of income-tax that were made a few years ago. It is also satisfactory to note that no increase in the salt-duty was resorted to even when its reduction was held to have created a financial reserve for the Government of India, to be drawn upon whenever needed. These facts of omission and the tax on such luxuries as wines, spirits and tobacco are sufficient to indicate the solicitude of Your Excellency's Government for the poorer classes and the earnest desire not to tax their necessities. The only tax about which I had some misgivings, my Lord, is that on petroleum, which is really a necessary of the poor in India. As however the enhancement of the duty on foreign petroleum may benefit the petroleum industry of the country, my doubts as to its expediency are to some extent removed. But if an excise-duty on petroleum is imposed, it will swallow up all this advantage. The consideration of an excise on tobacco that Government has undertaken will, we are confident, lead to the conclusion that the revenue from such a source will be quite disproportionate to the cost of its collection and the attendant inconveniences thereof.

"My Lord, the people of this country of all classes and creeds are practically unanimous with regard to most of the measures necessary to be adopted for the advancement of their country's welfare. Systematic and gradual extension of primary education, the provision of a 'modern' side to secondary schools, the making of all education more efficient by the supplying of trained teachers and better equipment and supervision, education yet again, technical and technological, and industrial research for the industrial development of the country, the fostering of agriculture by the diffusion of the knowledge of scientific and economic methods and by the relief of agricultural indebtedness, sanitation and extension of medical aid, form a comprehensive programme on which the country is united, as was recently pointed out by my distinguished co-religionist, His

Highness the Aga Khan. These are also points which touch closely the most sympathetic instincts of this Council. Financial stringency may have hitherto prevented an adequate tackling of these questions, but we have the fullest confidence and faith in the ability and statesmanship of the Government of India in finding a solution to these problems and in providing for them in due course.

"My Lord, allow me to express my gratitude to Your Excellency's Government for the degrees in Agriculture that have been recently instituted. The grants that have been made in recent years towards the development of agricultural research, demonstration and instruction, are a source of considerable gratification to the public. I need not say, my Lord, that this country entertains the highest hopes and expectations from the extension of scientific education in agriculture and experiments in agricultural farms, the latter of which should be widely distributed over the country, according to the nature of the soil and the produce. I venture to submit, however, my Lord, that the fruits of such an education, of such experiments and of the valuable researches of the scientific officers at the Pusa Institute, obtained at great cost, will not give us an adequate return, if together with them systematic attempts are not made to place their results within the reach of the vast agricultural population by means of pamphlets, itinerant preachers and by instruction in off-seasons or at night schools. We also look upon the measures that are being taken to relieve agricultural indebtedness with great satisfaction. A generous policy of agricultural loans and takkavi advances has been followed in recent years. Co-operative credit societies are also progressing favourably under State patronage throughout the country, and it is to be hoped that the financing and management of these will be more and more a labour of love to the moneyed and leisured classes as the years go on.

"My Lord, on behalf of Eastern Bengal and Assam I beg to be permitted to convey our thanks to Your Lordship's Government for the generous recognition of its financial claims. It is with great satisfaction that I note the raising of the status of the Chittagong College to the first grade, and the more liberal grants to high schools. Muhammadan hostels are very much needed in our province, and I am glad to find that our requirements in this direction have been met to some extent this year. I have confidence that this necessity will not be lost sight of. A grant of 10 lakhs of rupees has been allotted for the construction of a very necessary railway line helpful to the tea-industry, and grants to the extent of about 16 lakhs of rupees have been given for the construction of lines in progress. We hope that these grants are an earnest for more to come, as the new province requires more facilities in communications for its material progress.

"My Lord, some of my Hon'ble colleagues have questioned the increased grants that have been given to the province that I have the honour to represent. I do not think, my Lord, that the Government of India ever maintained that the partition would entail no additional expenditure or that the increased efficiency of administration, which it was urged would be brought about by the partition, would be effected without any increase of cost whatsoever. The only question now is whether the increased efficiency and advantages have been commensurate with the increased expenditure. Any one acquainted with the conditions of the new province before and after the partition will be convinced that the progress achieved has been well worth the cost.

"My Lord, I beg leave to add that the increase of grant to the new province is nothing exceptional. The provincial contracts of all the provinces have been recently revised, according to the new system of quasi-permanent settlements that have been introduced, ensuring expanding revenue and self-dependence in the provinces. Under this system a larger share of the divided heads of revenue has been given to the different provinces. The revision therefore means much more, my Lord, to the other provinces with old-established administrations than it does to Eastern Bengal and Assam in the infancy of its administration. The grant given to Eastern Bengal and Assam is thus small compared to the increased grants that have been given in recent years, under this system, to all the other provinces, and this small grant should be beyond all cavil, specially when we take into consideration the area of the province and its population per square mile.

"My Lord, some of my Hon'ble colleagues have laid the responsibility of the new taxation on the shoulders of my province, but they forget that the decline in opium-revenue, in the net receipts of railways and the recent years of famine and scarcity throughout many provinces, together with the necessity for increased expenditure in many directions, have been the real cause of the imposition of the new taxes.

"My Lord, I associate myself unreservedly with all the expressions of regret that have fallen from the lips of Hon'ble Members when referring to your impending relinquishment of the reins of government. This first session may possibly be the last in which Your Excellency will preside over the deliberations of this enlarged and reformed Council which has been brought into being by the foresight and statesmanship of Your Excellency. This Council will remain an everlasting monument to your deep sympathy for the people of India, and 'Sympathy' in my humble opinion has been the keynote of Your Excellency's policy. The clearest indication of this sympathy has again been recently given to us, my Lord, in the prompt action that has been taken in the matter of the emigration of indentured labour to Natal.

"It is during your régime too, my Lord, that for the first time in the history of British rule in India, a distinguished countryman of mine sits on the Executive Council of Your Excellency. The reforms scheme, my Lord, may not satisfy visionaries, but in overcoming the limitations of actual facts and of the exigencies of the moment, in its eminently practical character, it is its own vindication. For such statesmanship and sympathy your name will go down to posterity as a maker of Modern India and as one of her greatest benefactors."

The Hon'ble MR. PHILLIPS said:—"There are two points in the Budget which have an important bearing on the administrative progress of the Central Provinces, and on which I should like to make a few remarks. One relates to the grant which has been made by the Government of India to the Province to restore its depleted balance. The amount of this grant is something over 7 lakhs. I have been specially instructed by the Chief Commissioner to express in this Council his extreme gratefulness to the Government of India for the timely and generous aid which has thus been afforded. Having said this I fear it will appear somewhat ungracious on my part when I go on to say that nevertheless there has been some disappointment that the amount of the grant was not considerably larger. I venture to submit, however, that the Central Provinces Administration has a substantial claim to even more generous treatment at the hands of the Government of India, and I propose to state as briefly as I can the grounds on which this claim is based.

"In dealing with the famine conditions which supervened on the drought of 1908, the Chief Commissioner made a considerable departure from the course which was clearly indicated by the Famine Code. In the matter of indirect relief indeed he had resort to most of the expedients which are recognized, such as suspension and remission of revenue, the grant of forest concessions and the advance of loans for land improvement. But in the matter of work-relief, instead of opening regular famine relief works in accordance with the provisions of the Famine Code, works which inevitably are accompanied by a certain amount of waste and by a certain amount of demoralization, he merely extended the programme of ordinary works carried out in the usual way under contractors. I need hardly say that this policy was adopted after the most careful and anxious consideration. Not unnaturally at the time it evoked a considerable amount of adverse criticism. I do not think I need enter into that point, because in the event the policy was completely successful. I feel justified in putting this forward, because its success was warmly recognized and handsomely acknowledged by the Government of India. Not only did the policy meet the requirements of the situation, it also avoided demoralisation and secured economy. It is, however, with the financial aspect of the policy that I now wish to deal. Naturally famine conditions cannot be coped with without expenditure of a considerable amount of money, and the policy pursued involved an extra expenditure of no less than 22 lakhs of rupees on the part of the Central Provinces Administration. Moreover, the conditions prevailing led to an indirect loss of revenue which amounted to another 22 lakhs. Of the direct expenditure about 15 lakhs were spent on the contract works to which I have referred. Now if the Chief Commissioner had followed the ordinary course and had availed himself strictly of the provisions of the Famine Code, as the state of things fully entitled him to do, the result would have been this, that not only would that expenditure of 15 lakhs have been thrown on to the Government of India, because under the contract they were bound to bear that charge, but a very much larger expenditure would also have been entailed on them, because it is notorious that famine relief works, however well they are managed, and with whatever precautions they may be hedged round, are always much more costly than ordinary works. The Government of India did indeed give some money to meet the conditions, for there was a certain amount of gratuitous relief given and there was relief in other forms, but the total amount of expenditure which the Government of India had to meet was less than 15 lakhs. If the Chief Commissioner had followed the course which he was perfectly entitled to do and opened regular famine relief works, there is no doubt that the expenditure which the Government of India would have been obliged to incur would have been nearly 60 lakhs instead of 15 lakhs. I think this constitutes a claim for consideration. The Chief Commissioner not only saved the Government of India a large amount of expenditure, but he depleted his own resources in the process. We gratefully acknowledge the generosity of the Government of India in making a grant of a little more than seven lakhs, but we consider that there is a claim for a very much larger sum. I think that as a matter of fact the Hon'ble Finance Member is really at one with me when I make this claim, for in the speech which he made when he introduced the Financial Statement he was good enough to say 'The Central Provinces finances have been severely tried by the recent famine which was administered with a care for the interests of the general tax-payer which the Government of India cordially appreciate.'

"The result of the Chief Commissioner taking upon his own shoulders the expenditure which he might have thrown on the Government of India has been that he is now precluded from incurring expenditure on works of various kinds which are really of very pressing importance, but which in the present state of the finances it is impossible to undertake. I hope therefore the Government of India will recognise that there is a strong claim for a further subvention from them. I know it is useless so far as the present Budget is concerned to expect a further grant, but if the revenues of India are going to expand in the way some have prophesied, if, for instance, the opium-revenue is going to bring in the enormous increase which has been foretold by the Hon'ble Member who usually sits at my right, then I hope some of it may be granted to the Central Provinces.

"The other point to which I wish to make some reference is Irrigation. We have already heard in this Council a good deal about the Tandula Canal. Here I mention incidentally that the name Tendula, which has got into the official literature on the subject, is wrong. The name of the river, which gives its name to the canal, is really Tandula, and that is what all the people in that part of the country, where the river is, whether they are literate or illiterate, call it. It is for the Tandula Canal that the Chief Commissioner is most anxious to get a grant, and he is very much disappointed in finding a statement in the memorandum attached to the Financial Statement to the effect that no grant for that purpose can be given. It is very important, if something could possibly be given, that the money should be given now. The progress in the people's appreciation of irrigation in the Chhattisgarh Division, where the canal will lie, has been extraordinary. Five or six years ago, had you asked any Revenue-officer, not only in this division but in the whole of the Province, whether the people in that part of the country would ever avail themselves of facilities of irrigation, he certainly would not have committed himself in his reply to a definite statement that they would. However, certain storage tanks were made and facilities for irrigation from them were offered, and the extent to which these facilities have been availed of is most encouraging. As one of the tanks is in that part of the country through which the new canal will run, we now feel certain that the canal will be availed of, if not at once, at any rate in a short time. It will have the effect of making practically the whole of the district quite immune from famine. The project was sanctioned by the Secretary of State several months ago, and it was hoped that some grant would have been made which would have allowed of the work being begun in the coming financial year. I have been requested by the Chief Commissioner to say that even if 3 lakhs are given in the coming year the sum will be gratefully accepted and it will prove an enormous boon. I may mention as a further argument for this grant that, although the work has been classed as protective, there is now every hope that it will really prove productive. I am afraid that the Hon'ble Mr. Jacob will perhaps be reluctant to accept this view. But after all what he has stated as to no protective work having proved a productive work refers only to the experience of the past. There is no reason why in the future a work originally classed as protective should not eventually prove productive. Anyhow in support of the view which I have put forward I may mention an incident which came within my personal experience. Less than 18 months ago I was on tour in that part of the country, and I asked one of the malguzars whether he would be prepared to pay in the coming year for water from the storage tanks at the rate of Rs. 2 an acre—he was then paying 12 annas—and somewhat to my amazement and without much hesitation he said he was quite prepared to pay Rs. 2. He said: 'Why should I not pay Rs. 2 an acre for water, when the value of the produce of my field is increased by Rs. 20 an acre by using that water?' When that is the attitude of the people, we may feel confident that the project will be fully availed of. I may mention that in one part of the Province water is already paid for at the rate of Rs. 4 an acre, and I think it is not too sanguine to hope that Rs. 3 an acre will be readily paid for water from this canal; and if a rate of Rs. 3 an acre is obtained instead of Rs. 2, the highest rate provided for in the estimate, the work will prove productive.

"I am sorry, my Lord, that both the points to which I have alluded should involve me in the position of a suppliant to the Government of India, but I hope that I have made out some sort of case on both points."

The Hon'ble RAO BAHADUR R. N. MUDHOLKAR said:—"My Lord, I do not propose to go over the ground I had to traverse during the previous stages of the discussion on the budget, the discussions on the legislative measures rendered necessary by the additional taxation imposed this month and those on the resolutions moved by the Hon'ble Mr. Gokhale and myself. What I am going to submit now will not be a repetition of what I urged on those occasions.

"My Lord, most of the non-official Indian members of this Council have given expression to the demand which is coming from all quarters of the country, for larger expenditure out of the public revenues than has been provided hitherto or is proposed to be done by the present budget on primary education, on industrial and technical education and on sanitation in rural and urban tracts. Hon'ble Members, who spoke on behalf of the Government in these discussions, while admitting the need for larger expenditure on these objects, contended that Government had given as much for these purposes as the state of the finances would allow and that more could not have been given with a falling off in receipts and the uncertainty of the opium-revenue. My Lord, it has been shown both in this Council and outside it that whatever the ultimate fate of this last-named source of revenue, it has not yet failed us. On the other hand, the predecessor of Sir Guy Fleetwood Wilson has expressly stated that the Government of India were quite prepared to lose the opium-revenue in the course of ten years and if the diminution came gradually no additional taxation would be necessary. My Lord, I believe, in common with several Hon'ble Members here and informed persons outside, that it would have been quite feasible to find substantially larger funds for these purposes if the expenditure side of the present budget and of the previous budgets had not been increasing in a larger ratio than the income side, and most of our difficulties are due to this disproportionate growth of expenditure. Beginning from 1902-03 what we find is this :—

Year.	Net revenue. Millions Pounds Sterling.	Net expenditure. Millions Pounds Sterling.	Surplus. Millions Pounds Sterling.
1903-04	45'03	42'03	2'99
1904-05	47'91	44'45	3'45
1905-06	46'69	44'59	2'09
1906-07	48'95	47'36	1'59
1907-08	47'00	46'70	0'30
Annual average	47'11	45'02	2'08
Percentage of increase over 1903-04	+4'61	+7'11	—30'47
Ditto ditto 1902-03	+9'02	+12'15	—38'56

"While preparing figures of increase in gross revenue and expenditure I read Mr. Wacha's letters in the Times of India and after checking have taken the above figures from him. The other figures are compiled by me. Let us come to the subsequent years and this is what we find :—

"The Appropriation Report issued the other day shows that while the income from the Principal Heads of Revenue was in 1908-09 more by 1½ millions pounds sterling than that for 1907-08, there was a total deficit in Revenue of over 3½ million pounds sterling, due mostly to falling off of railway earnings and in a considerably less degree to falling off of mintage and miscellaneous receipts. The expenditure side, however, shows an increase from 70'7 millions pounds to 73'5 millions pounds. There was instead of an expected surplus of 86½ lakhs of rupees a net deficit of over 5½ crores of rupees.

"Keeping aside the case of Railways for the present the increases in expenditure in the quinquennium ending with 1907-08 was thus distributed :—

1. Army charges 11 per cent.
2. Collection of Revenue 14'9 per cent.
3. Civil Departments mints 14'7 per cent.
4. Civil Works 32'5 per cent.

Taking one of these heads, the collection of revenue, we find that in 1908-09 there was an increase over the expenditure in respect to Land Revenue, Stamps, Excise, Customs, Assessed Taxes, and Forests of about 46 lakhs. There is an increase of 24 lakhs of rupees in 1909-10, and the Budget provides for a further addition of about 32 lakhs. That is, during the three years of deficits the collection charges increase by a crore and 2 lakhs. Opium and Salt have been excluded, as a charge on their account consists for a large part of cost of production. There are similar large increases in the expenses of the Civil Departments. The Appropriation Statement issued the other day states "the chief increases occurred under Land Revenue, mainly in Survey and Settlement and Land Records charges, under Excise and under Stamps. In regard to Railways the Statement points out that their net traffic earnings fell short by three millions seven hundred and seventy-one thousand pounds and yet there is not only a greater activity in increasing the mileage and strengthening the bridges and the rolling stock, about which there is something to be said, but in creating additional superior appointments and in increased pay of staff. My Lord, the Railways are not the only spheres where the creation of superior appointments in times of stress and strain is carried on. There is a very strong body of opinion among educated Indians, of men who have studied Indian finance and public affairs, that there is very great scope for retrenchment in the public expenditure of this country. They point to the extraordinary growth of expenditure on the machinery of the administration and to the springing up of highly paid posts. This opinion does not take up an unpractical stand and an irresponsible attitude. Admitting the necessity of an efficient administration, it urges that the working expenses should be kept down at a minimum consistent with that efficiency and that the capacity of the country to bear increasing taxation should be kept in view. This opinion of theirs is supported by writers in the English Press in the country. There is here eminently a case for inquiry and action, and I can quote the Hon'ble the Finance Member and the high officers of Government to the same effect.

"My Lord, is it not possible to curtail the expenditure incurred over some of the Departments? To mention one instance, is it not possible to effect a material reduction in the Survey Settlement Department by carrying out the principles enunciated by the Government of India 28 years ago in a resolution remarkable alike for its breadth of view and practical grasp? My Lord, the unsettling effects of these Revision Surveys and Settlements are well known. It is not a permanent settlement that I am suggesting. What I submit is that throughout the greater part of India proper, and I believe Lower Burma also, accurate surveys have been made and more than one revision has taken place. The classification of soils has been made and the portion of the produce fairly leviable from them has been ascertained and their valuation in money at the then prevailing rates has also been determined. Accepting the unearned increment theory what has to be done when a settlement made for 20 or 30 years falls in is merely to ascertain whether there has been such a rise in the prices of the staple products on the basis of which the expiring settlement was effected as to justify the raising of the State demand. This is a mere matter of arithmetical calculation for which ample materials are supplied by the information which is published every week or fortnight. In zamindari tracts there are accurate statistics compiled about the rents levied or leviable by the zamindar or malguzar from the tenants as also about the capacity of the sir land.

"If this method is followed the very large expenditure which is incurred over survey and settlement operations would be immensely cut down and the public finances greatly profited, while the benefit to the people of being saved from the unsettling effects of these ever-recurring settlement operations would be simply incalculable.

"The belief is also entertained that there are other departments where economy is possible and specific suggestions can be made. My Lord, a considerable overhauling of departments seems feasible. And there would be still more favourable results obtained if indigenous agency is more largely employed. The claims of Natives of India, including in the term statutory Natives, and demands of financial economy coincide, and the case for larger employment of the residents of the country is simply unanswerable. In this respect what just now is needed to be done is to carry out fully the recommendations of the Public Service Commission.

"Then there is economy possible also in the military expenditure. Without in any way touching the principle of the relative strengths of European and Indian troops or raising any question about the defence works laid down as necessary it is quite feasible to make an appreciable reduction in military expenditure. It is, I think, worth consideration whether it is not advantageous to this country to revive the system which existed in the times of the East India Company of raising locally a portion of the European army required for India. We have to pay heavily for the training in England of the European troops sent to this country. And there is also the cost of transport and the loss arising from sickness and mortality among non-acclimatized youths. The raising locally of a part of the European troops required for India would have the further advantage of meeting to some extent the problem which is facing the domiciled European community.

"There is another suggestion which I would advance for the consideration of Government which, while it would tend to effect some reduction in military charges, would have the further merit of rewarding the loyalty, the faithfulness and the valour of the Indian Army. The idea of giving a certain number of places of Commissioned Officers in the Army to Indians of proved loyalty and merit and of approved social position is not a new one. More than twenty years ago the proposal was made by the Right Hon'ble the Duke of Connaught for an Indian Sandhurst. Will Government see their way to give effect to it?

"My Lord, there are various directions in which the Government can effect reduction in expenditure without in the least touching any of the fundamental principles on which British administration here is based. Indeed, while effecting retrenchment they would, if the suggestions were advanced be given effect to, be binding still more by ties of gratitude and loyalty the well-disposed members of the Indian communities who constitute by far the largest portion of the population.

"One more matter I would only indicate. It is not possible to treat adequately on this occasion. There is a general feeling in several Provinces that they do not get for their Provincial needs a sufficient portion of the funds they contribute to the finances of the Empire. Though the settlements recently made with most of the Provinces are of a quasi-permanent character they require re-examination and re-adjustment to obtain from the Imperial Government a larger and more equitable contribution from the share they take of the divided revenues. Into this complicated question I cannot go on the present occasion. I simply indicate it now.

"Every province has been urging its claim on Government, but what the Central Provinces and Berar ask is bare justice. The Hon'ble Mr. Phillips, the official representative of the territory, has shown how the provincial funds had to meet charges which legitimately ought to have come out of the Imperial revenues and how the beneficial irrigation projects are hung up for lack of money.

"My Lord, this feeling is further accentuated by the large demands which are made on the general finances by the partition of Bengal. The duplication of the official machinery, the creation of new departments and posts, the construction of costly buildings have absorbed, and will continue to absorb, enormous sums of money for the maintenance of a policy the responsibility for which is denied by those who were instrumental in setting it up. I do not wish to go into the general question of the wisdom or necessity of that measure, which has brought untold difficulties and misfortunes to the two Bengals. But provinces which do not get an adequate share of the taxes raised in them have a right to complain if any portion of their money is diverted for keeping up the partition."

The Hon'ble MR. GRAHAM said :—"My Lord, several attacks have been made on the Government today for the expenditure on Railways, and I would like on behalf of the community which I represent to say that we in no way cavil at any such expenditure. My predecessors on this Council, who were better advised on the subject, have always clamoured for more and more expenditure on Railways, as they considered that that was the best way of opening up the country and improving it, and I follow in their footsteps in congratulating the Finance Member on what he is doing in this budget for Railways. Nobody likes new taxation. We all hate it and we sympathise with the Finance Member for having to impose it, but I think we can congratulate him on having introduced this new taxation with a view, as pointed out to this Council, of discounting the day when our opium-revenue will disappear altogether; and nobody can really cavil at a new tax when they remember that. It is all very well to say that opium will bring in more than is estimated for, but the day must come when the opium-revenue will cease altogether.

“Another point on which I much congratulate him is on his Currency policy, 25 millions of reserve which he has put forward—I won't say as the ultimate goal, but the goal in the meantime, and until that is reached the whole of the profits from coinage will go to that reserve. I take it that that is not a final say in the matter, because he has not said, when that point of 25 millions is reached we will cease to pile up the reserve. I take it when that point is reached what will happen then is that Government will consider themselves free to divert a portion of the profits for other purposes. But, as I said, 25 millions is not the ultimate goal, and a very much larger sum, if prosperity continues in the country, will eventually be credited to the reserve.”

The Council adjourned to Wednesday, the 30th March 1910.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COUNCIL OF THE GOVERNOR GENERAL OF INDIA,
ASSEMBLED FOR THE PURPOSE OF MAKING LAWS AND REGULATIONS
UNDER THE PROVISIONS OF THE INDIAN COUNCILS ACTS,
AND 9 EDW. VII, C. 4).

The Council met at Government House on Wednesday, the 30th March 1910.

PRESENT :

His Excellency THE EARL OF MINTO, P.C., G.C.M.G., G.M.S.I., G.M.I.E., Viceroy and Governor General of India, presiding,

DISCUSSION OF BUDGET FOR 1910-11.

The Hon'ble MR. MADGE said :—" My Lord, I desire to refer very briefly to one or two matters of some little importance. As a non-official Member in this Council I have had my ears open, and my mind also, in the expectation of hearing some useful facts from our non-official Indian Members such as I have gathered from my own experience in the past, facts upon which we could build a theory safely. Instead we have rather received theories round which facts were gathered in a very intelligent, in a very instructive manner, but in a manner that did not wholly convince me that my hunger for facts had been satisfied. I should like, my Lord, before I say another word, to say at this stage of the debate, when Members will have no opportunity of replying to anything that I may say, that I am not speaking at any Member at all, but rather taking up subjects that Members have spoken of in connection with the Budget. These Members have been spokesmen here on various subjects connected with the Budget, and it is to some schools of thought that they have represented connected with the Budget that I wish to speak.

" The first point to which I wish to refer is the separation of the judiciary from the executive, about which some remarks have been made here. And if I link it with the Budget, instead of condoling with the Government on the delay that has taken place in introducing the scheme referred to, I would rather congratulate Government on the judicious caution that has been displayed in bringing in a movement of very great importance, some of the results of which might be very advantageous, but others of which, if the standpoint from which I look at it is correct, would be rather disastrous. The administration of justice is looked upon by some people as merely sitting upon a seat in a Court of justice and technically interpreting the texts of certain laws. I do not think it is that in any country of the world : it is that here least of all countries in the world, where Englishmen coming out to this country have a great deal to learn about the people, about their habits of thought and feeling, their social conditions, all of which are a sealed book to them until they come here. That book is not open to them in the moment at which they come here, nor in the very early years of their career do they learn all its secrets, but later in life. I should imagine from what I have seen that it is during the period from the first 12 to 15, sometimes even 20, years of their career as civil servants that Englishmen get that mastery of facts which makes them so very useful later in life. I am far from saying that they are not very useful before. But I do say that in the position of a Judge a civil servant requires to know a great deal more of the people of this country than he can learn if he is snatched off from the executive line very early in his career. It is when the man moves about through his district as an officer possessing both magisterial and executive powers that he comes to know the conditions of life to which he would have been an absolute stranger if, at any early period of his career, he were required to elect the judicial service. In the scheme which was sent to the Government of Bengal and by that Government circulated to each of the various associations, in one of which I saw it, there was an estimate in which the cost of this experiment was rated at something like 15 lakhs of rupees for this one province of Bengal. It is in connection with that estimate that I have to say what I wish to say. I have no hesitation in saying that in my humble opinion a worse use could hardly be made of these 15 lakhs of rupees than by using them in that particular manner. I think so for reasons most of which I have already stated. It is sometimes also said that a thief-catcher ought not to be a thief-trier. This is one of those statements which belong to theory rather than to facts, because, as everybody knows, the magisterial work of a district is largely in the hands of the Joint Magistrate, and it is he who is really the thief-trier, he or one of the subordinate Magistrates. To a large extent the practical value of the executive where it touches the masses depends on the magisterial powers that a Magistrate of a district possesses, and I wish to assure Your Lordship that I am putting forward not an official view but a non-official view, which has made many converts in recent years. For the Magistrate of the district to preserve what some people consider a red rag, namely, his prestige—which is absolutely necessary for the peace and safety of his district—I will not say that that is exclusively but it is very largely preserved by his possession of those double powers which enable him when he travels about to be what I used to hear 30 years ago called the 'Ma Bap' of the district. No doubt things have changed and scientific government has taken the place of the old paternal rule. We cannot put the hands back on the dial, but we can still preserve as much as possible of those old relations that made the ruling race of the country loved, respected and trusted by the people in the most serious crises of their lives. I am speaking, my Lord, of persons and things that have fallen within my own personal experience. I do earnestly hope, if this scheme of separating the executive from the judiciary is ever carried out, that it will be carried out at a very much later stage of the judicial officer's career than that at which the separation is proposed in some of the schemes which I have seen. Personally, though my opinion may not be worth much, I think it will be unsafe to make the decision earlier than the time at which a man is appointed a High Court Judge. Possibly it might be found expedient later on to do it when he is confirmed in the office of Sessions Judge, but certainly any earlier period would deprive him of one of the most valuable sources of official education, much of which civilians now enjoy, and for which I see no substitute in any of the theoretical schemes that I have seen recommended. People say you should do this and do that, but from what source is it proposed to supply the very valuable experience that a district officer gathers in those years, in which he has exercised both functions? I do not see that the advocates of the new scheme propose any substitute for this source of supply which they desire to extinguish.

"I should like to say a few words also on the subject of railway expenditure. I am not an expert at all, but like other people I have my eyes and ears open to what is published on the subject, and I am a little surprised that it has not been more clearly realised that, in an agricultural country like this, with mineral resources also undeveloped, although technical education, as has been stated, is very valuable and one means to an end, the first need of this great country is the extension of transport whether by railway or by waterway. Transport is one of the first necessities of this country, and it will be found in the years to come that if our railways and our feeder lines were more energetically developed, there are potential granaries to which justice is imperfectly done now, which would throw open their food products into wider markets than those which they now reach. My Lord, this is a matter for which personally as an individual taxpayer I feel very thankful for the very insight and foresight with which the Railway Board is directing its operations. I think that the more speedily railways and feeder lines are pushed on the better for us, and I should wish that some little attention was also given to our inland waterways. We are all familiar with the report of the Commission at home which has lately been published, and though the conditions are somewhat different in this country, yet in respect of certain conditions in which it is said the Continent of Europe enjoys greater advantages than our tight little island, this country enjoys even greater advantages than the Continent of Europe. We have large rivers. I remember the time when as a little boy I saw fleets steaming up the Ganges which have almost disappeared. There is a species of traffic in which consignees and consignors are not particular as to speed, and in which greater safety can be secured by water transit, and I think that kind of traffic would be redeveloped if more attention was paid to our inland waterways. I am aware that this subject has attracted official attention and I have no doubt that it will attract more, but when reformers tell us that you should cut down railways by lakhs and turn the money on to other expenditure, if it is not exactly a case of the Irishman cutting off the blanket at one end to add to the other end, it certainly is removing something from vital interests and transferring it to less vital interests.

“ One more subject on which I wish to dwell lightly is the big education question. We have had theories on that subject with which I am in perfect accord, and I wish to join those who have thanked the Director, Mr. Orange, for his most sympathetic speech and I may say almost illuminating speech on the subject. I thank him for this country and especially for my own community. Still there are things in connection with education that ought to be kept in mind. Comparisons are being made between this country and England. The analogy would hold better if we of this country—and here I place myself besides my Indian friends—realised some essential features of English education. What has made education succeed so well in England and in poor Scotland? The people of Great Britain generally have done a great deal to provide endowments from private wealth, and the past has laid up resources on which the present thrives, and it is part of our duty—My duty as a very humble member of one small community but more so the duty of wealthy Indians—to stir up one another to something like wholesome rivalry that will place this country in a position that might furnish a parallel to England and Scotland. What endowments have we in this country laid up by the rich from which our poor benefit? I have heard it said that very little concern is shown by the rich for the masses in this country. I do not pretend to stand here in judgment on anybody, my Lord, but I do think that there is ample room, when people cry out for primary education, for the people of this country to give the Government a lead in it by endowing private colleges to a much larger extent than has ever been done in the past, and thus releasing funds spent on high education. I have heard the great despatch of 1854 quoted in this place, and any one who has read it intelligently must have been struck by the passage quoted by Mr. Orange in his last report in which it is said that we value things in the proportion of what we pay for them: though it might not be the individual payer who will benefit, it will be his countrymen. The despatch is instinct with the principle that Indian private enterprise in other words should support its own higher education. The Government was only to give a lead in it; and here, my Lord, I think I may well refer to a matter in which my own community is especially concerned. I lay claim to no originality on the point, because I have seen it repeated over and over again in the public Press and elsewhere; but I repeat it here. The despatch refers specially to the old Parental Academy, an institution started by the domiciled community in order to educate their own people, and the despatch refers to it as the kind of institution that the Government should foster in this country. Well, my Lord, if the policy of the Government had been so shaped that private enterprise would have been more distinctly and decisively fostered, I think a great deal more justice would have been done not only to ourselves, who are in a mere microscopic minority, but to the middle classes of this country. It is good for men to be stirred up to self-help in that way, and I do say that if in this country more money was supplied by the classes who had benefited by higher education they would have undergone, in the self-denial which would have been imposed upon them, a moral discipline that would have re-acted in their favour, and it might have put a stop to sundry unpleasant eruptions that we have witnessed lately. It would have given us a more robust type of educated people, it would not only have given us colleges conducted by people who had paid for them, but it would have given us colleges in which the educated sons of this country would vie with Englishmen in teaching their young. They would have gathered from English people the best of English life and manners, and they would have taught Englishmen something that they need to learn, and these institutions would have been spread all over the country. I have no doubt, my Lord, that the Education Department is striving to do its very best, and I do not stand up to criticise merely or to condemn, but I do think that if a little more stress was laid in the future than in the past upon those portions of the despatch that encouraged private enterprise, a great deal more could have been done.

"One more point I wish to dwell upon that I would not have touched but that an Hon'ble Indian member has referred to it, and that is recruiting in this country. I shall say very little on this subject. I know all the difficulties of the subject, because I have studied it for over 20 years ; but I do wish to say that I honestly believe that, if local recruiting had not been stopped here as it has been, the British Army would have been much the better by at least some men—I will not venture to say how many—and their money's worth would have been received in picked local recruits.

"In conclusion I wish to add my humble voice to that of speakers who have preceded me in thanking Your Lordship for what you have done for us all. I do not wish to use any set phrases, but I do wish to say that though I believe Your Lordship to be too large-minded to resent any difference of opinion in this Council, I do not think that there is anyone in this country who does not understand and appreciate the spirit in which Your Lordship has acted in this country ; and I wish to thank you, my Lord, on behalf of myself and my community, most heartily and most sincerely that I am able to address you from this place today."

The Hon'ble MR. MAZHARUL HAQUE said:—"My Lord, the details of the Financial Statement were so thoroughly and exhaustively discussed in the committee stage that I thought that no room was left for discussion on the Budget in its final form. But the turn—the startling and unexpected turn—this debate has assumed in this Council has convinced me that human ingenuity has no limit, and can have no limit, in bringing inconceivable subjects under the purview of financial administration. Apart from the repetition and reiteration of the same arguments on irrigation, education,—primary and technical,—railway expenditure and what not, we had the pleasure of hearing the congratulations to the Secretary of State on the elevation of a natural leader of the people to the high post of an executive member of a Provincial Government. We had further the edification of listening to a grave and serious indictment of the Government of India in effecting the partition of Bengal, the great wrong and the terrible injustice that had been done to the people by this iniquitous measure, and an eloquent and pathetic appeal to Your Excellency to undo it. My Lord, I was prepared for a prolonged debate, but I confess that I did not imagine such subjects creeping into a discussion of the Financial Statement. I also find that most of the members here, both officials and non-officials, have had to say something on the general topics of the country. Well, I think, Sir, that I should be perhaps failing in my duty if I too did not speak on this occasion although till very late yesterday evening I did not intend to speak at all. So I crave the indulgence of this Council for a very few minutes—I shall not trespass on its patience for very long.

"My Lord, before I deal with the subject before this Council—the Budget—I desire to enter my most solemn and emphatic protest against the scene, the undignified scene, which we all so unwillingly witnessed in this Council yesterday. No less than four times Your Lordship pronounced the discussion on the partition of Bengal as out of order; but disregarding all the respect due to Your Excellency, and unmindful of the dignity of this great assembly, the speech was finished to the last sentence, even to the last word. The rules provide that the moment the President rises the member speaking shall resume his seat—I am sorry to say, my Lord, that this rule has not been observed up to this time by any one here—and that the ruling of the chair on a point of order shall be final. If the rules are not properly observed or observed only in their breach, I am afraid this Council will degenerate into a gathering of unruly schoolboys.

The Hon'ble MR. DADABHOY: "I rise to a point of order, Your Excellency. This is a matter for Your Excellency to decide. I do not think it is a matter which falls within the province of any other member to comment on."

His Excellency THE PRESIDENT:—"I do not think the Hon'ble Member is out of order."

The Hon'ble MR. MAZHARUL HAQUE:—"I thank Your Lordship. Playing to the gallery may be a fine and pleasant pastime, but when it involves the loss of our self-respect and dignity then it becomes rather a questionable proceeding. I hope and trust that in future we shall observe the rules and abide by the rulings of the chair. My Lord, I yield to none in this Council in freely, boldly, and if need be and if the interests of my country demand it even strongly, criticising Government measures; but there must be a limit to everything, and I draw the line when the decorum and dignity of this Council is at stake. But enough of this unsavory and unpleasant topic. I proceed to the consideration of the budget and the criticisms of the Hon'ble Members.

"My Lord, the dominating note of the discussion both in the committee stage and in yesterday's debate was a demand from both the non-official and official members for money—for more money. Among the non-official members the first place must of course be given to my Hon'ble friend Mr. Gokhale. He demands a few crores to be distributed over a number of years for primary education, and I confess that my sympathies are entirely with him on this point. I would curtail many of the expenditures in the Budget. I would go even to the length of imposing fresh taxation for this urgent reform. If it be heresy to plead for free primary education for my people, I plead guilty to the charge, and am ready and willing to take the consequences. Then my Hon'ble friend Mr. Dadabhoy wants 50 lakhs for his irrigation scheme. Again there is my Hon'ble friend Mr. Mudholkar with his one crore for a polytechnic institute, and also a modest sum of 6 lakhs for education and sanitation in his own Province—the Central Provinces and Berar. My Lord, as regards this last demand I would ask Your Lordship to give him a Legislative Council of his own and have done with it. This will save us in future from entering into the field of purely Provincial finance. My Lord, the official members from the different provinces are no better in this incessant and persistent demands for funds. This Council must have been struck with the fact that the official members one after the other got up and claimed for their own particular Province the distinction of being the most economical Province in the whole of India. My Hon'ble friend Mr. Fenton, whose forcible representation of the case of his Province we all so much admired yesterday, and whose speech was so excellent in every respect but for an unkind reference to the utterances in this Council of my absent friend the Hon'ble Pandit Madan Mohan Malaviya, proved to his own and I believe to the satisfaction of most of us that the Punjab was the most economical Province and was in great need of money. Well, I must say that he had converted me to his own views until I heard my Hon'ble friend Mr. Lyon, the champion of the new Province—the bete noir of all the other Provinces—and I hold fast to the view, until I am converted by some other official member, that the Province of Eastern Bengal and Assam, in spite of the numerous attacks upon its finances, is really the most economical Province in this financially distracted country. My Lord, I do not pretend to be an authority on the finances of the country, but if my Hon'ble friend Sir Guy Fleetwood Wilson has experienced one-thousandth part of the perplexities of these demands and counter-demands that I have experienced, I can only say that I do not envy his position; I would not like to be in his place for anything in this world. My Lord, I am positive that the sympathies of my Hon'ble friend are entirely with the people of this country, and he would have liked to meet their demands in full; but the great spending departments of the Government of India are so many obstacles in his way. They are constantly hammering at his door and he, like the kindhearted gentleman that he is, cannot refuse them admittance.

"My Lord, fresh taxes have been imposed upon the country in a normal year and two reasons have been assigned for this unusual course. The first is the contraction in the opium-revenue and the second the expenditure consequent upon the creation of the new Province. I need not speak much on the first point, because it has now been admitted that no country has any right to traffic in and benefit from the immoral habits of another country. As my friend Mr. Gokhale so well said the other day, that so long we have benefited from this traffic, and it is only just and right that we should bear the loss now.

"As regards the expenditure in the new Province I am aware that I am treading on delicate ground. My Lord, this is neither the proper time nor the fit occasion for a full discussion of the subject of the partition of Bengal. Your Lordship has ruled it out of order as irrelevant. I wish that my Hon'ble friend Mr. Bhupendra Nath Basu, whom I am sorry to find absent from his place today, had brought this question in the form of a resolution and invited this Council to pronounce its verdict by pressing it to a division. Then and then alone the country would have been able to fully judge of the views held by the several parties to this question. As yet the people unaffected by this measure, and for that matter the British public itself, have heard only one side of the question. The other side has not been heard at all. But the time is coming, and soon coming, when the other side will also be heard, and that in no uncertain voice.

"My Lord, let us turn to the financial aspect of this question. Before the creation of the new Province the outlying parts of the old Province were shamefully neglected. My own Province of Behar was incessantly crying for money to carry on some of the much-needed improvements and reforms; but the invariable excuse was lack of funds. Behar is the most densely populated part of the two Provinces—as a matter of fact I might say of the whole of India. From being one of the richest and healthiest Provinces it has become the poorest and the most unhealthy. Now it is the centre of famine, plague and malaria. The case of my co-religionists from Eastern Bengal—and there are no less than 18 millions of Muhammadans in Eastern Bengal—has been so well put and so eloquently pleaded by my Hon'ble friend Maulvi Shamsul Huda, that I need not go over the same ground. Before the partition the Beharis and the Muhammadans of Eastern Bengal were simply hewers of wood and drawers of water. They had no voice, no influence in their own country. Calcutta and a few other districts had simply sucked our life-blood. But all this is changed and changing every day. If Bengal Proper has become self-conscious, we Beharis have also become self-conscious and are vigilant and alert in asserting and protecting our rights and interests.

"My Lord, my Province requires financial help, which has now become possible. We heard yesterday about injustice involved in this administrative measure. Injustice indeed! It is for those parts of the Province which have been starved up to this time to complain of injustice and not for the hitherto pampered pets of Government. My Lord, you cannot have good and efficient government without paying for it. I ask this Council whether it is safe to keep the teeming millions of Behar and Eastern Bengal steeped in ignorance and darkness for lack of funds? Is it fair, is it just? Do we not pay our fair proportion of taxes? Then why should we not derive proportionate benefits? My

[Mr. Mazharul Haque; Sardar Partab Singh. Sir Guy Fleetwood Wilson.]

Lord, on the strength of the views of Lord MacDonnell, the partition of Bengal has been called a blunder and Your Excellency has been invited to undo it. I, on the other hand, knowing and realizing full well the responsibility that attaches to the utterance of a member of this Council, most emphatically assert that if the Government meddled with this beneficent measure it would be committing an act of supreme folly. It would be creating serious discontent and unrest where none exist now.

"A few words more, my Lord, and I have done. I beg to repeat my congratulations to my Hon'ble friend the Finance Minister for producing a budget which is certainly the best that could be produced under the circumstances. I sympathise with him in being compelled to impose fresh taxation, but at the same time rejoice with him in arranging it in such a manner that the burden will fall lightly, if at all, on the poorer classes, and I wish him a prosperous Budget for the next year, in the hope—and I hope my Hon'ble friend will remember these words—that he will be able to give a sympathetic hearing to the numerous representations of the non-official members of this Council. I do not want crores, but only a sympathetic consideration of our requests.

"My Lord, my final appeal is to Your Excellency personally. We Indians are not ungrateful people and cannot forget all the good that Your Excellency has done to our country. I hope, my Lord, that in your well-earned retirement and rest from the cares and anxieties of State, Your Lordship will forgive my country some of the deplorable incidents that have recently occurred and that Your Excellency will sometimes remember old India."

The Hon'ble SARDAR PARTAB SINGH said:—"My Lord, I have no intention of joining the band of critics who have assailed the Hon'ble the Finance Member, although his conscience, where Punjab finances are concerned, must be somewhat uneasy. I do not intend to depart from the purely defensive attitude adopted by my Hon'ble Colleague, the official representative of my Province; but that attitude, my Lord, is not inconsistent with the expression of an intimation that we are willing to receive any subvention that may come our way, and we will raise no objection if the Hon'ble Finance Member conveys it in the form of 'conscience money'."

The Hon'ble SIR GUY FLEETWOOD WILSON: "The Finance Member, if I may be permitted to say so, is usually in receipt of conscience money; he does not pay it."

The Hon'ble SARDAR PARTAB SINGH: "Nor do I propose to raise the question of Lord Curzon's partition of Bengal even from the financial point of view, though they do appear to have been making rather a ~~case~~ of it in the new province, across our border, judging from the latest news from Peshawar. The Peshawar riots, however, suggest a reply to the Hon'ble Mr. Lyon who has twitted us about the number of our police. I am afraid, my Lord, that the character of the people of Northern India is such that they are rather given to breaking each other's heads. Were this practice of settling disputes abandoned in favour of that more in vogue in Eastern Bengal, our police bill would no doubt be less and our court-fee income more. It should be remembered, moreover, that there is a good deal of what may be called hereditary crime still in the Punjab—blood-feuds and cattle-thieving. The time is not long past when cattle-raiding was a profession for gentlemen, as it once was on the Scottish border, and in the more remote parts of the Province hereditary proclivities are wont to survive. Finally, as regards the number of our police, do we not, my Lord, give a home to the Government of India for seven months of the year, and must we not take measures to protect them? I have referred to the vogue for litigation in Eastern Bengal. I am afraid that the growth of the litigious spirit in the Punjab too has become very marked. There is something wrong about our judicial system. The Criminal Procedure Code was designed for the protection of accused persons at a time when the position of the legal profession in the country was not a very prominent one. Now our friends the lawyers have become so powerful, that it is the Courts and Magistrates who require protection. The prolongation of proceedings in criminal cases has become a public scandal, and, it is needless to say, costs the tax-payer a very heavy sum indeed. When, as is often now said, the judicial has come to overshadow the executive, it should not be forgotten that the judicial may be entirely in the hands of our lawyer friends. The Punjab is the last province in which the transfer of power from the executive to the judicial should be allowed, and for this reason I would appeal to the Hon'ble the Home Member to give his support to the proposals of the Local Government for bettering the position of the executive side of the Provincial Civil Service. The Extra Assistant Commissioners employed on executive work are at present at a very considerable disadvantage in the matter of pay and prospects as compared with those in the judicial line. The betterment of their position will cost nothing to Imperial finances because the Punjab Government, I believe, bear all the cost.

"I cannot conclude these remarks, my Lord, without expressing the gratitude of my province, and especially the aristocracy of my province, to Your Excellency for the kind and gracious interest which you have always shown for us. It is no long time when we were organizing the Punjab Chiefs Association, and I can never forget Your Excellency's kind help and encouragement to me in the work which I had before me then, and I can assure Your Excellency that after Your Excellency is settled in your country and in your home there, Your Excellency's name will ever be remembered with affection and with respect by the aristocracy of the Punjab.

"My Lord, my friend the Hon'ble Mr. Mazharul Haque, referring to the remark made by the Maharaja of Burdwan in connection with the appointment of the Maharaja of Bobbili to the Executive Council of Madras, has referred in a sarcastic way to the words used by the Maharaja of Burdwan, 'the aristocracy being the natural leaders of the people in this country.' My Lord, all I wish to say is that time alone will prove whether they are or not."

The Hon'ble LIEUTENANT MALIK UMAR HYAT KHAN said:—"My Lord, as the time at our disposal is short I have given up the idea of touching on certain important subjects. In the beginning I wanted to bring them to the notice of Government either by way of questions or resolutions. But when I found that they did not suit the current financial circumstances, I thought they would involve a useless waste of time, energy, and also money which is spent on these enlarged Councils.

"Yesterday I meant to discuss many subjects, but as a good number of them have already been dealt with by the Hon'ble Members in their various speeches I have carefully avoided their repetition.

"Knowing that Your Excellency was going to give me a chance on this Council I have been carefully studying the budget speeches for the last few years, which so impressed me that I could not make out why the Government could not see its way to accept certain useful and necessary proposals urged by certain Members.

"However, seeing things closely now, I have found out that all the different heads in the budget for which certain sums have been allotted have been first carefully considered by the heads of the various departments and then thoroughly examined by the Hon'ble Finance Member; and although the budget is an approximate estimate and thus open to discussion, yet I think that only small and reasonable changes can generally be possible in it, and any offhand criticism may be based on defective information, as one can plainly see from the sweeping changes proposed by taking crores from one head and thus ruining it, and putting crores under the other favourite one for which the critic's mind may have been prejudiced. We do not object to wholesome criticisms which may sometimes prove very helpful, if they be based on strong grounds, by equally considering and balancing the necessities of all different heads.

"My Lord, there are only two points I want to briefly mention today.

[Lieutenant Malik Umar Hyat Khan.]

"The first is that there is a change most necessarily required of making such alterations in those sections of the Indian Penal Code which deal with the offences against the State as to make them more stringent, and I think the Government will have to do this sooner or later as a preventive measure, and I hope it will not wait to be able to make a strong case by giving illustrations as my Hon'ble friend Sir Herbert Risley, who had to show strong reasons by giving a string of illustrations to justify his introduction of the Press Bill. My Lord, I can see the thickening of clouds and am sorry to differ with the opinion that everything has passed off.

"I should like to ask Your Lordship to redress every grievance if possible by inviting public opinion in such a way that the interests of one community may not suffer or clash with the other. I must ask for funds even if there be very little available at present for the appointment of a Commission or Committee to inquire into the causes of present discontent and the grievances of individuals as well of communities, and to suggest plans how to remedy all this and to hear petitions directly sent to them which would place that body in possession of real matters on a large scale. In this way much good can be done, and even the aggrieved and dissatisfied, whose troubled minds cannot rest without doing something or other, may give vent to their feelings and be relieved to some extent, and any money spent in this direction will be well spent.

"At the same time I strongly urge that we should award severe punishment to State offenders and for the suppression of open and subterranean currents of sedition. In connection with this, though I know a good bit has already been done in that direction, I should ask the Government to be still more liberal in increasing the power and scope of the Criminal Intelligence Department. I know, my Lord, that at this stage the expenses incurred on my above suggestion would be more useful than any other scheme, be it railway, irrigation, productive or non-productive, debatable or non-debatable, as all these schemes are meant for ordinary life and prosperity, while the redress of grievances appeals to sentiments and to the mind which sometimes decides at the spur of the moment to bring a speedy end to itself in whatever best financial and prosperous circumstances it may be.

"My Lord, I shall now briefly touch on the other point, that is, our present system of education. But as it was thoroughly discussed the other day, I do not like to go into the details. I shall come to the conclusion at once and again ask for a most needed fund to appoint a Commission, not to devise means to put big schemes into operation, but entirely for a different purpose, that is, to suggest some definite and useful changes in the present system of education, the curriculums of our schools and colleges, and the time for school hours and for the introduction of technical education on an improved scale. My Lord, this scheme will not require so large a sum of money as was calculated the other day, but only a portion of the sum budgeted under Education in the current estimate.

"My Hon'ble Colleague the Maharaja of Burdwan has said all that I wished to say about the chief causes of sedition, and I only suggest this as a possible remedy.

"No number of higher or lower grades of service along with the increased technical education would absorb the overflow of students, and that only would be a temporary relief up to some extent.

"I should like to see some changes introduced in the course of teaching as would suit the ancestral occupation of the students. At present a boy is required to sit for 5 or 6 hours in the school and spend the best portion of the day there and then in cramming his prescribed lessons and exercises. In old times there existed a system in India, the old maktab system, which was very useful and suited to the requirements of the country and its people. Lessons and preparations all had to be done there and then in the presence of the teacher, which saved the trouble of reference to books and dictionaries, and the rest of the time the boys could use for their own occupation. The above times were chosen as not to interfere in their daily work in life. My Lord, I have said the above in the way of a suggestion; I do not insist that all this be taken up at once; I shall only urge that these proposals be given a full consideration whenever funds are available, and my only appeal is, the sooner the better. If, however, these necessities can be met with by any means other than those I have suggested, I shall be quite satisfied.

"Now a few words in conclusion to thank Your Excellency for granting a representation to the dumb masses on the Council. The small class which had already got a number of voices and by making them constantly heard brought on a large reduction in its own taxation by curtailing the rights of others by the virtue of possessing and thus being able to put in more and able spokesmen to fight its cause.

"But, my Lord, we are contented, we are happy and satisfied. We may eventually calmly, quietly and without making any fuss submit for consideration of the Government an equilibrium of taxation and a few other minor differences which exist between the agriculturists and non-agriculturists, and in this way we earnestly ask the support of Government that our low voices should not be hampered by the strong combination of higher and louder voices. We are thankful to them when they try to help us, but as they are not in constant touch with us their help is not always beneficial.

"Lastly, I have to thank Your Excellency on behalf of the landowning classes, for the keen interest Your Lordship has taken in our welfare and for the countless benevolent measures adopted for our good, among which may be mentioned the vetoing by Your Excellency of the last Colony Bill, which has saved them from many unnecessary expenses and which I had the honour to oppose on the Punjab Council, and the passing of the Punjab Land Alienation Act, which was a most statesmanlike step and has since proved a great success and has saved landowners from the strong clutches of the money-lenders and the benefits of which will be reaped by generations, and which I should like to see sooner or later applied to sister Provinces wherever it may be needed. My Lord, I am glad to say that the Punjab peasantry, the chief recruiting ground of the Indian Army, has always remained thoroughly loyal and trustworthy, and I can assure Your Lordship that we shall always remain such and shall be ever ready to run down the British enemies wherever they may be, as we have been doing since about the commencement of the British Raj in India; and I strongly support the views of my Hon'ble Colleague Mr. Fenton who in the speech of the season has been able to impress the necessity of more money for the Punjab. We have brought under cultivation vast tracts of waste land and provided labour for the canal works, and have brought prosperity to India, and it is only natural that we should be rewarded for it.

"I congratulate our Finance Member on the budget as a whole, but one would not like to be in his position, particularly on the dates of budget debates. I would have liked to say something on the present taxation, but my Hon'ble friend Shamshul Huda has left nothing to be desired.

"At the end, my Lord, while thanking Your Excellency for all you have done for our country in the way of reforms, etc., etc., and for seeing them through along with innumerable acts.

"We all feel sorry that Your Excellency's term of office is coming to a close. Being able to know my own heart better, I think I feel it most strongly.

"But, my Lord, we have got one consolation. We know that Your Excellency's heart will be always with us.

"May Your Lordship live long to support our cause in England and prosper."

The Hon'ble NAWAB SAIYID MUHAMMAD SAHIB BAHADUR said:—"My Lord, with Your Lordship's permission I beg to offer a few observations and that very briefly. While speaking on the Budget in past years I drew the attention of the Government among other things to the imperative necessity of effecting retrenchment in the various departments. The Hon'ble Sir Edward Baker agreed with me in the suggestion, but he said that the growing needs of India will not permit of any large reductions being made. Last year the Hon'ble Sir Guy Fleetwood Wilson was silent on the point. But I am very glad my Hon'ble friends Mr. Gokhale and Mr. Subba Rao pressed the matter in the course of the present discussion. The matter is one of great urgency, and as I do not wish to minimise its importance I again bring it to the notice of the Government. My Lord, according to the well-known saying, economy is itself a great income. If the Government is able to effect retrenchment and apply the savings to the many useful purposes which were suggested during the current session, without having recourse to fresh taxation, the people will be thankful to the Government.

"My Lord, it is my pleasant duty to associate myself with the remarks that have fallen from several of my Hon'ble colleagues—remarks that are full of thankfulness and gratitude to Your Excellency. You have, my Lord, generously given the best in you to the people of this country, and I beg to take this opportunity of expressing the extreme gratitude of the people of my Presidency which I have the honour to represent. At the same time I give expression to the feelings of regret at the prospect of Your Lordship's approaching departure from this country.

"Now, my Lord, coming to a subject touched upon by my Hon'ble friend Mr. Bhupendra Nath Basu, I am very sorry to say that he spoke on the much discussed question of the partition of Bengal in the first Budget debate of this reconstituted and greatly enlarged Council. I confess am obliged to refer to this matter and cannot help expressing my own opinion on such an important question.

"My Hon'ble friend is aware that this question has been regarded as a settled fact by the highest authorities, and I therefore think it is futile to attempt to re-open it, from an administrative point of view. The people who are closely concerned and affected by the measure both financially and otherwise are the people of East Bengal, and according to what has fallen from my Hon'ble friend Syed Shamsul Huda it seems to me that the people of that Province are quite content with the present state of affairs and would be opposed to any change. I recognise that the people of Bengal were opposed to the partition and it was carried against their will, which the Hon'ble Member said has brought on financial disaster. But, my Lord, that is no reason why such an act should be repeated against the wishes of the people of the new Province, which I am afraid will bring on a still greater financial disaster and many administrative difficulties.

"In conclusion, I beg to congratulate the Hon'ble the Finance Member for placing before this Council what may be called on the whole to be a satisfactory Budget."

The Hon'ble MR. ROBERTSON said:—"My Lord, it has been customary at the closing meeting of the session for the members in charge of the different departments of the Government of India to pass in review the leading features of the year's administration. The increased facilities for debate which now obtain render it unnecessary to continue this practice, and I shall not incur the risk of being called to order by Your Excellency by attempting to enter upon any general dissertation on the subjects which have engaged our attention during the past year. In the few remarks which I have to make, I therefore propose to confine myself to one or two questions affecting the Department of Commerce and Industry which arise from what has been said by previous speakers.

"I shall take first the speech of the Hon'ble Mr. Chitnavis. I hardly expected that it would be necessary to refer to the policy of Government in industrial matters after the full discussion which took place in the Council on Wednesday last on the subject of technical education. We had then the theory strongly put forward that what India wanted was the highest possible instruction in the industrial arts. Today we have had other panaceas suggested for the industrial ailments of the country, ranging from strong measures of protection to the subsidising of capitalists by Government and the starting of Government factories. On the first of these remedies this is hardly the occasion to enter into a discussion, but I wish to say something about the further suggestions of my Hon'ble friend. If I understand him aright, he would have Government come to the rescue and draw out capital for investment in industrial enterprise by means of subsidies, and further start model factories to show the way in the working of new manufactures. His object is one which I quite understand. He says, do not turn out highly trained young men before there are openings for their talent, or they will be idle and discontented and may become a source of anxiety to Government. Now I think there is a great deal in this, and it bears out the points that were made by the Hon'ble Sir Harvey Adamson in last Wednesday's debate. The policy of Government, as then explained, is by all means to advance industrial study, but to do it on cautious and practical lines suited to the needs of the country.

"But when I come to the measures which my friend has proposed for the industrial regeneration of India, I fear that it is impossible for me to agree with him. Unless I am mistaken in regard to his suggestions, I gather that the subsidies that he would give are to be particularly ear-marked for inducing Indians to enter the field. He surely cannot in fairness expect that Government could take up such a position. I am further surprised that he should have such a poor opinion of the business capabilities of Indians as to think it necessary that they should have to be led by the hand in the manner he suggests. In his own part of the country there are commercial undertakings which are most successfully managed by his countrymen without any question of Government subsidy or Government leading. He has heard of the great Empress Cotton Mills at Nagpur, which are managed by an Indian, and which no less an authority than Sir John Hewett in his opening speech at the Naini Tal Industrial Conference has described as the model of what a cotton mill ought to be. He must also have heard of the growth of the manganese mining industry in the Central Provinces in which Indians have taken a not unimportant part. If examples for the encouragement of enterprise are wanted, these are some, and I think the Hon'ble gentleman may take it that they are better examples than could ever be furnished by Government subsidized or Government managed concerns.

"And with regard to this second suggestion of Government management, the Hon'ble Member must surely recognise how difficult, if not impossible, it would be for Government to conduct a business of the nature and on the scale he advocates on a strictly commercial basis. I, for one, am sure that it would be most unlikely to serve as an object lesson to a nervous capitalist. There are ways in which Government can help the industries of India: these have been referred to on previous occasions in this Council and I shall not detail them now. But the Hon'ble Member must recognise that there is a point at which Government assistance must stop and the enterprise of the people take its part.

"The Hon'ble Sir Vithaldas Thackersey has mentioned the new Factory Bill and has made the suggestion that the recommendations of the Factory Commission have been set aside under orders from England. The Hon'ble Member now refers to the proposal to limit the hours of adult male labour which has been embodied in the draft of the Bill. I can assure him that he is mistaken as to this. The decision that direct limitation of the working hours of men was necessary in the circumstances of India was taken by the Government of India without any suggestion from home, and it was taken after very full consideration of the subject and with the very general concurrence of the Provincial Governments. In this connection the Council will perhaps expect to be informed of the stage at which this Bill has arrived. It will be remembered that it was introduced in Council on the 30th July last, when the Hon'ble Mr. Harvey explained at some length the main provisions of the measure. It was then referred for the opinions of Local Governments and others interested in the subject, prior to reference to a Select Committee. The opinions of Local Governments were not, however, all received till the middle of January. The Bill is an elaborate measure and the numerous points raised require careful and mature consideration. It would have been quite impossible in the circumstances for a Select Committee to complete or even do more than commence their deliberations on the Bill in the short time at our disposal this session, and the Bill has therefore had to stand over till the Council meets next cold weather."

[Mr. Miller.]

The Hon'ble MR. MILLER said :—"My Lord, the Hon'ble Mr. Mazharul Haque complained of the irrelevancy of some of the subjects that have been introduced into our debate yesterday and today. This is no doubt true, but I think that no one who has had any experience of the proceedings of the old Council will fail to agree that, while the discussion has as usual, and as is almost inevitable, ranged over a very wide variety of subjects, still there has been a distinct tendency, a noticeable tendency, to confine it more closely than before to matters that are connected, though that connection may sometimes be slight, with the finances of the country. There have been some exceptions, but I propose to follow the general example and to confine myself today strictly to matters arising out of the Budget. Looking back over the various discussions we have had this session, I am not sure that there is not a good deal in them that may give the Finance Member cause for apprehension. It is true that recently a great deal has been said, and very rightly said, about the necessity for economy, but in the discussions which have passed we have had many suggestions made that show how strong the tendency will be in future for the expenditure of the country to develop at a rapid and perhaps at an almost alarming pace. The claims of education in general and of technical education in particular, the claims of irrigation and of sanitation, these have been urged with great force and with arguments against which there is little to oppose except the argument of finance. At the same time, it is pointed out, and the official members have shown us, how inevitable it is that the expenditure of the Civil Departments will go on increasing. I think myself, as far as I can forecast the future, that there are bound to be further increases in those departments, both on account of the demands for greater efficiency and because the rise of prices and other causes tend to throw always increasing charges upon the Government. It is all very well to talk jestingly of 'efficiency' with a capital 'E.' I understand that efficiency with a capital E means a bureaucratic efficiency, efficiency such as all the departments wish to achieve; and efficiency without a capital E means real and genuine efficiency such as commends itself to the particular speaker. But I am not certain, my Lord, whether the demands of the latter class of efficiency will not involve us in just as heavy expenditure as the former, and I am quite certain, looking to the conditions under which the administration of this country is carried on, that you will not have efficiency in the wider sense without a good deal of the efficiency in the departmental sense. Having in view all these causes that must tend to increase the expenditure in this country in the future, I am in entire agreement with those who attach the greatest importance to the observance of economy. I think it is hardly possible to over-rate the importance of a strict attention to economy in all branches of the administration of India. It is necessary in all countries that expenditure by the State should be closely scrutinized, and it is certainly no less necessary in India than elsewhere.

"In the departments with which I am more particularly concerned, reference has been made to the question of restricting expenditure on settlements, of spending money more freely on irrigation, and of taking up more vigorously the question of the supply of cattle. I propose only to make a very few remarks on these points. The simplification of settlement procedure is an object to which the Government of India has always attached the very greatest importance. There is hardly any temporarily settled province in which much has not been done to simplify and shorten the procedure and to prevent the inevitable harassment to which settlement proceedings must temporarily always give rise. I do not however think that we are likely to attain to the ideal which the Hon'ble Mr. Mudholkar placed before us yesterday. I doubt if it will ever be possible to vary assessments solely with reference to changes in prices. There are very great difficulties in this matter. It has been discussed much in the past; I have no doubt it will be discussed again in the future, and I certainly do not propose to detain the Council by going into the subject at any length today. My own opinion is that, while simplification is in every way desirable, it is not likely to be carried so far as the Hon'ble Member suggested yesterday. At the same time the Council and the Government ought to think very seriously before foregoing the system of periodical investigation, and if necessary of periodical re-valuation, which has been handed down to us in this country, and which other countries now seem to show a desire to emulate.

Regarding cattle, I have explained on more than one occasion that the Government of India and Local Governments are fully alive to the importance of this question. The problem was very fully discussed in all its bearings at the Conference held at Lucknow last year, and I should like to refer my Hon'ble friend Mr. Chitnavis to the conclusions that were then arrived at by a very large and very representative Committee. I have explained to him before how the question of a cattle survey stands, and I will only say now that I think he would on reflection admit that an attempt to make a census of cattle at the same time as the ordinary census of this country would be attended with very great difficulties and probably with an expense which the result would not justify.

"In regard to irrigation, there is a very substantial amount of agreement between my friend Mr. Dadabhoy and myself, though unfortunately we always seem to express ourselves differently. The works in which the Central Provinces are interested are works which must, under existing arrangements, be financed from revenue. That is the actual position and I at least must take account of actual facts. The amount made available for financing those works is now not sufficient to carry on the programme of protective works at the pace at which our engineers are able to undertake it. Up to a year ago, it was sufficient, but that is no longer the case. We have, however, as the Council has been informed by my Hon'ble friend Mr. Jacob, been discussing arrangements for making a larger sum available under which we shall be able to undertake a larger programme and to carry it through more quickly. I am quite aware that it has been a great disappointment to the administration in the Central Provinces that they have not been able to start work on the one great scheme which has been sanctioned for that Province, the Tendula Canal; but it would be useless to start work unless we could look forward with some confidence to carrying it through uninterruptedly. I hope we shall soon be in this position, and that if the state of the finances improves, as we all hope, that we shall be able to sanction the beginning of this work. The Government of India fully recognise that this is a work from which very great benefits are likely to be derived in a tract a great part of which has suffered severely from famine. We also recognise that, through it is classed as a protective work, it is on the very verge of being a productive work, and that any improvement in the rates which the people may be willing to pay for water or any other improvement in the financial position may bring it into the productive category. For that reason we are anxious, if possible, to see it start. My Hon'ble friend Mr. Phillips has suggested that a grant of three lakhs would be exceedingly useful at the present time. I cannot of course make any promise that such a sum will be found, but I may say that his remarks on this subject will be considered. The question of course whether any grant can be made or not will depend to some extent on the arrangements that can be made for carrying on the work.

"I have listened with much interest, my Lord, to the tale of the hardships of the various Local Governments and to the competition as to which should be given the lowest place. I once belonged to a very sorely afflicted Local Government myself. I had some responsibility for its financial arrangements, and I must admit that I held very strong views on the subject at that time, so strong that I do not know that I could refer to the proceedings of those days now with the reserve and impartiality which are necessary in my position. I understand, from what my Hon'ble friend Mr. Holms has said, that the position in the United Provinces has very greatly improved, though I think he has some justification for not professing himself altogether content; and I observed with great interest that another Hon'ble Member who represents the Province of Bengal, and whose impartiality must therefore be unquestioned, had also a good deal to say about the finance of the United Provinces. We may, however, I think, give the palm for a forcible and picturesque representation of the difficulties of Local Governments to my Hon'ble friend Mr. Fenton. Nothing could well exceed the strength of the description which he has given of the position of the Punjab, and he made one or two remarks to which I should like to refer, though of course I have no intention of entering upon the general financial question as between the Imperial Government and the local one. The Hon'ble Member asked for a freer hand for his Local Government in its revenue policy. I need hardly say at this time, when the claims of decentralization are very much to the fore, that the necessity of giving Local Governments as free a hand as possible is not likely to be overlooked. At the same time, the Government of India must maintain its control over general questions of policy, and I cannot myself understand how any control that the Government of India may exercise could have such serious results as the Hon'ble Member referred to on the spending departments of his Province. Nor am I quite sure of the accuracy of the Hon'ble Member's description in all other respects. Since he made his speech, he has been very liberally supplied with figures from other speakers, some of which must have suggested to him that there are other provinces where the hardships are scarcely less than they are in the Punjab, and perhaps he may have felt that he had overstated his own case. There is one statement in his description of the position that I fail to understand, though perhaps the fault may be my own. I do not know, and he has not explained in his speech, the exact meaning of his reference to the fact that of the assessments in the Canal Colonies, the Finance Member takes 15 annas and the Punjab is left with only one anna."

[Mr. Miller ; Mr. Fenton.]

The Hon'ble Mr. FENTON: "My Lord, if time had permitted yesterday, I would have gone on to explain that, whatever the Punjab Government receives on account of irrigation revenue is virtually, and has been for some years past, and will for some years to come, be of the nature of a fixed assignment, a fixed assignment of 30½ lakhs neither more or less, which the Punjab gets on account of the profits of irrigation. When I said that the Punjab Government gets only one anna out of the assessment in the Chenab Colony, I excluded the irrigation revenue, because the Punjab share of the same does not depend on the actual assessments but is of the nature of a fixed assignment."

The Hon'ble MR. MILLER:—"My Lord, I am still in the dark. I inquired as to what the division was, and I understood that both irrigation revenue and land-revenue were divided in the ratio of ten annas to the Imperial Exchequer and of six annas to the Provincial. What I have understood from the other remarks my Hon'ble friend made was that he wished to point out that out of the Provincial six annas, five annas were spent on the cost of administration. He mentioned those costs at some length; he referred to the question of jails, Magistrates, treasuries, expenses of collection and growth, and so on. I understood that five annas went to these, and that only one anna was left over; but I understand now that this is not the case."

The Hon'ble MR. FENTON: "What I meant was this—that whatever the Punjab Government gets on account of irrigation is a fixed quantity, which does not vary from year to year, and that it is of the nature of a fixed assignment, an assignment of 30½ lakhs. Every year since the Provincial settlement came into operation the Government of India has had to make up the difference between the actual receipts and this fixed assignment; under such conditions it is not incorrect to regard all irrigation receipts as Imperial revenue, the Punjab share of the assessments being confined to three-eighths of the land-revenue."

The Hon'ble MR. MILLER:—"I do not see how the Hon'ble Member has proved his case, but I do not propose to say more about this particular calculation."

"The Hon'ble Mr. Phillips, in dealing with the finances of his Province, has carried us back to the times of large expenditure on famine. He gave a very interesting account of the manner in which the late famine was dealt with in the Central Provinces. The Government of India have already endorsed what he said about the efficiency and economy of those operations, and I need not add anything on the subject now. I only express personally the hope that the finances of the Province will not suffer in the long run.

"These allusions to famine carry us back to a time that is fortunately past. The budget of the present year makes no provision for similar expenditure; the reports from almost every part of the country are most satisfactory; and I trust that the year before us will not disappoint the promise with which it begins."

The Hon'ble SIR HARVEY ADAMSON said:—"I wish to say a word about what fell from the Hon'ble Mr. Haque about the regrettable incident that occurred yesterday. The Hon'ble Member spoke with disapprobation of the conduct of the Hon'ble Mr. Bhupendra Nath Basu in ignoring the ruling of His Excellency the President, but he exaggerated the wrong that was done when he said that the Hon'ble Mr. Basu had continued to the end of his irrelevant remarks. The Hon'ble Mr. Basu was prevented by the intervention of His Excellency the President from delivering more than two or three sentences of what he was prepared to say. The ruling of the chair was in fact enforced.

"The only point that has come up in this debate which requires an explanation from the Home Department is the separation of judicial and executive functions which has been referred to by the Hon'ble Mr. Dadabhoy and the Hon'ble Mr. Madge. The Hon'ble Mr. Dadabhoy has remarked that no provision has been made in the Budget for the separation of judicial and executive functions, and has enquired why the experiment which I outlined in this Council two years ago has been postponed. The scheme has not yet been submitted to the Secretary of State for three reasons. First, the reports of the Governments of Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam have shown that the experiment would cost considerably more than was anticipated, and as neither the Imperial Government nor the Local Governments are in a position to find the money the experiment must stand over. Second, it must be admitted that the scheme is regarded by influential sections of opinion in both provinces as calculated to weaken the power of the District Officer. The Hon'ble Mr. Madge has referred to this. The Government of India do not share this opinion, nor I may say does Sir Edward Baker. Nevertheless it is widely entertained by classes whose views are entitled to consideration. In the present condition of the provinces it is inexpedient to start a scheme regarding which there is so much diversity of opinion. Third, during the past two years crime of a political nature has overshadowed the peace of the two provinces, and in these conditions it is undesirable to make delicate experiments with the judicial system. I may add that something already is being done in the direction of separation in districts of Eastern Bengal and Assam to which additional District Magistrates have been appointed. I regret the postponement of the experiment, and I do not doubt that in more satisfactory conditions separation between the functions will eventually be carried out; but I fully concur in the reasons for the postponement."

The Hon'ble SIR GUY FLEETWOOD WILSON said:—"My Lord, I should like to give the speech of each individual Member the attention which it deserves, but the time at my disposal does not admit of my doing so. I shall therefore deal with the speeches by groups of subjects rather than with the speakers. There are one or two points as to which I must make an exception. The first relates to the prices enquiry which was referred to by the Hon'ble Member opposite.

"I thank the Hon'ble Mr. Dadabhoy for his kindly reference to me, but I must say quite candidly that it was with profound regret that I heard him discredit in advance the result of the enquiry which we have entrusted to one of his own countrymen. The difficulties which Mr. Datta will have to grapple with are sufficiently great, and it is neither just nor generous to decry the outcome of his labours. I at any rate believe that our choice will be amply justified and that Mr. Datta's research will be of great value.

[Sir Guy Fleetwood Wilson.]

"I cannot pass unnoticed Mr. Chitnavis' advocacy of economy. I welcome it, thank him for it, but I must say in reply to his hope that I may devise a means for keeping down expenditure that the reduction of expenditure rests with the Government of India as a whole and must be supported by the enlightened opinion, both English and Indian, in the country if it is to be effective.

"The Hon'ble Raja Partab Singh's speech was not delivered, because I think he is not familiar with the English language. It is given in the papers this morning, and I only allude to it for the reason that the Hon'ble Member was not, I think, present when the budget was first discussed, and he cannot have been present at the subsequent discussions which took place when the various resolutions were gone over.

"He travels over the whole of the questions which in some cases had been voted upon. I hope I shall be forgiven if I say that this plan of re-discussing questions which have not only been the subject of resolutions but have been discussed very fully and actually voted upon, is one which, if I may be permitted to say so, would in some assemblies stand a good chance of being ruled out of order. I have only one remark to make as regards the Hon'ble Mr. Quin, who complained that he wanted a bigger piece of cloth as his coat was getting too small for him. May I suggest that instead of a frock coat, Mr. Quin should wear a more homely garment, such as a jacket. That is the principle which I should like Provincial Governments to work to.

"The Hon'ble Mr. Fenton's forcible speech was marked by great ability, and I am sorely tempted to deal with it as fully as it deserves.

"He began by conclusively proving that the Punjab is the perennial home of earthquakes, plague, pestilence and famine, and concluded by likening it to a shorn lamb which I, the cruel shearer, have turned out to starve in the cold.

"His eloquent peroration, which time did not admit of his delivering but which I have read with interest in this morning's paper, dealt mainly with sheep.

"I should be disposed to vary it somewhat and to say rather that the provinces appear to be not unlike fat sheep who having fallen on their backs are incessantly baaing to me to put them on their legs again. Indeed of all the flock the gentle lamb of Madras alone greets me with a friendly bleat.

"Mr. Fenton reproaches me with retaining 15 annas out of his every rupee. Bearing in mind some features of Punjab expenditure I can only say in the words of Clive that 'I marvel at my own moderation.'

"One of the most useful purposes which this discussion has served for many years is the opportunity it affords to provincial representatives (both official and non-official) of putting the financial needs and difficulties of their provinces before us in a friendly, temperate, able and, in some ways, informal manner. This feature of the discussion has been well maintained today and yesterday, and I have listened with much interest to the speeches of Hon'ble members on the affairs of their respective provinces. I recognize much force in what they have told us: and I am sure we respect the patriotic zeal with which they have pressed their points. I can assure them that their views will be most carefully considered.

"The remarks which I made on provincial finance when presenting the Financial Statement may have been somewhat misunderstood. Nothing was further from my intention than to allot blame or to classify the provinces in any sort of financial order of merit. I have learned something of the difficulties of the provinces. They have less elasticity in their finances than the Imperial Government, for the simple reason that they have no independent powers of taxation. They have become committed to expenditure, which they find it difficult to curtail in a hurry. They have their times of calamity and forced retrenchment; and they are apt to think that the Central Government sometimes drives hard bargains with them. I recognize all this. I gladly make allowances for these difficulties, as I am sure that Local Governments make allowances for ours. For I confess I know of no more delicate task than that of weighing the claims of all the different provinces in this vast country with their varied history and their varied needs. This task in itself is heavy enough: but when we have to go a step further and balance the result with the claims of our Imperial services, then I say the allocation of funds between the Central and the Local Governments requires all the good temper, and all the tolerant give and take, of which we are collectively capable.

"My remarks on provincial finance last month were directed at another aspect of the case. We are losing our opium revenue, and heavy demands for new expenditure on education, sanitation, and so forth are being daily pressed upon us. In my judgment therefore we have reached a point at which we ought to stop and consider whether India can afford all that she has hitherto been aiming at. We may, as I have already suggested, be compelled to slacken the pace of our administration, or to seek for cheaper methods, or even to give up some sections of our governmental activities. I have no wish to prejudge the decision. But I would like Local Governments to see what is impending as clearly as I do myself, and to give them a friendly warning that they will have to bring their expenditure more directly into line with their income. I look on the position in this way. The Local Governments are our partners in the administration of the country; and I want to invite them as partners to co-operate with us in taking a clear view of the needs of the country, of what is requisite for its well-being, and how we are going to find the ways and means. After what he has seen and heard in this Council during the last two months, and after the insight he has gained into our general financial position, I do not think that any provincial representative can possibly go back to his Local Government and encourage them with hopes of large Imperial grants for general purposes. I trust that, on the contrary, he will explain how strongly the need for economy is felt in this Council, and how important it is for Local Governments to make common cause with the Imperial Government in securing it.

"It is with this view that I have laid emphasis on the danger of overstraining the provincial settlements, which are on the whole, I believe, adequate if worked with care and foresight. I do not pretend that the settlements are in all respects perfect. In particular I am impressed with the inconvenience of disproportionately large fixed assignments, if these exist. But I would remind the Council that this point and a number of kindred points were commended to our attention by the Royal Commission on Decentralization, and it would be premature to express any opinion on those points until they are fully examined by us in consultation with Local Governments. I intend to take up the subject; and I can assure the speakers of today and yesterday that anything which tends to give Local Governments greater elasticity in the management of their finances will receive my most friendly consideration. But any general recasting of the existing settlements with a view solely to increasing the spending power of the provinces is, in my judgment, out of the question, and I can only end this subject as I began it, by a strong appeal to Local Governments to co-operate with us, on broad-minded and steadfast lines, in the pursuit of that economy without which there can be no real efficiency.

"Since I introduced the Budget on the 25th of February we have had a number of resolutions moved and forcibly and eloquently supported in Council. The predominant feature throughout the discussions has been a demand for largely increased expenditure.

"We have also had a series of speeches which in book form might be suitably entitled--'What I shall do when I am Finance Member.'

"From that standpoint it has no doubt presented itself to the minds of the speakers that as money is not available money would have to be provided.

"Accordingly they have advanced a number of suggestions for very heavily adding to the burden of taxation.

"The Hon'ble Mr. Gokhale will not be offended if I say he has gone one better. He even advocates impairing our credit by ceasing all endeavours to reduce our debt.

"I think that must have been for Calcutta consumption.

"I want to be absolutely frank with the Hon'ble Members opposite whom I am glad indeed to claim as personal friends but whom I recognise also as fair and indulgent critics,

[Sir Guy Fleetwood Wilson.]

"I will tell then exactly what would happen if I yielded to their entreaties to put the heavy additional taxation which they advocate on their unfortunate fellow-countrymen. I do not know whether we should hear much about the benefit of improved sanitation or the blessings of technical colleges, but one thing I do know, and that is that from one end of India to the other Hon'ble Members would loudly proclaim that the additional taxation could quite well have been avoided and that the people may thank an extravagant and inept Government for the burden under which they are groaning. I should not presume to find fault with my Hon'ble friends for so doing. In politics you must play the game, and that would be a perfectly legitimate game to play; but they must not mind if I respectfully decline to take a hand in it. I do not wish to add to the heavy burden of taxation in the country. I would rather turn my thoughts towards economies.

"It is possible that you may have, in this country, been striving too vigorously to attain a policy of perfection. A policy of perfection is an excellent thing if you can afford it; but as is the case in regard to most other things you must cut your coat according to your cloth, and it is no good attempting to attain perfection if you have not the necessary funds wherewith to do it. Whilst we should keep a high ideal well before us, we must, I am afraid, be satisfied to go slower in that direction, for I am sure that it is absolutely essential to introduce greater sobriety in our public expenditure if we are to avoid deficits and consequent enhanced taxation.

"There is one subject on which all my non-official critics unite. Some of them think I have under-estimated the revenue: most of them would like to see more money provided for public health and education or whatever they specially support. But all of them agree that we spend too much on other purposes. In regard to the latter I wish to say at once that I personally am very desirous of seeing expenditure cut down. I do not of course accept everything that has been said on the subject today or yesterday. I demur particularly to any comparisons which take us back to times before the closing of the Mints. I do not suggest that that event, like a magician's wand, altered the whole tenor of our finances; but it is a fact that, with stability of exchange—and probably in no small part as a result of it—began a period of remarkable prosperity in the affairs of this country. Commerce improved, political aspirations awoke, a higher standard of comfort came to the front, and as a necessary consequence both our revenue and expenditure were correspondingly affected. With the progress of the country and the constant demands upon Government to undertake duties which in other countries would largely be left to private enterprise or private liberality, the claims upon the public purse must of necessity grow. I do not wish on this occasion to say anything about our military expenditure, as it is only a year ago since a masterful exposition of that subject was given to the Council by Lord Kitchener. Similarly, I have nothing fresh to say about our railway expenditure, except to express the hope, in which I trust I shall be encouraged by Sir T. Wynne, that the large share of the earnings which is now being put back into the railways in the form of betterments will yield an adequate return.

"As regards the cost of the civil administration proper, I think that it requires very careful watching and that we must very seriously examine whether we are not committed to a standard of expenditure which will ultimately be beyond our means. Apart from opium, which seems to have reached a stage which knows no laws, we cannot expect our revenues to advance with the same rapidity as they did up to 1907. That alone would be a sufficient reason for steadying the pace of the increase in our charges. But over and above this, we have the fate of our opium-revenue in much uncertainty; and on the other hand if we are going to do anything at all for education and industrial progress, we have heavy liabilities impending. However much therefore or however little we do for these new requirements, a readjustment of expenditure is in my opinion clearly indicated. How this is to be effected, is not a point on which I care to dogmatise today. We have been offered many prescriptions. We are told that the greater use of indigenous agency would tend to economy. We are told that Government might hand over a good deal of its work to local bodies and non-official effort. We are told that in some respects we have duplication of work and machinery which is unnecessarily elaborate for a simple country. I will say that on all these points there is a good deal on which my Hon'ble friends and myself will find ourselves in substantial agreement. But hasty economy is often false economy; and the particular directions in which we are asked to retrench require much thought. That thought will not be spared, and I am prepared to do what in me lies to press forward the consideration of this all important subject. With that assurance I would ask my Hon'ble friends to absolve me for today from a more detailed examination of the various suggestions which they have put forward.

"Turning for a minute to the question of the new taxes on silver, I am sure I would not be justified in taking up the Council's time with further remarks, after the very full examination to which the whole question was subjected in the debate on the Taxation Bills. I merely note that the opinion is repeated by my Hon'ble friend opposite that we could have reached equilibrium without any new taxation at all. Now, I am reasonably confident of this: that we could not have worked up to an adequate working balance on our old basis of taxation without taking a very much higher figure for opium than we did. I understand my Hon'ble friend would have been willing to see this done, and I agree with him that, in view of the excitement in the opium market, it would have involved no great risk to assume a selling-price considerably in excess of our budget figure. But should we be justified in putting our financial arrangements so largely at the mercy of a feverish speculation? And if the extra revenue is forced upon us, ought we not in prudence to set it apart in some way from our ordinary resources, and not be content to live upon what may virtually be vanishing capital? There is surely only one answer to such questions.

"Only one word more on taxation. I see that, in spite of all that was said by us to the contrary, there is still a good deal of head-shaking in certain quarters as to our real object in raising the duty on silver. I am glad that the Hon'ble Sir Sassoon David and Sir Vithaldas Thackersey are present, because I have secured an excerpt from that admirably conducted journal, the Pioneer, which I will with Your Lordship's permission read for the benefit of the Bombay Members:—

'The price of silver on Wednesday 23rd was two shillings an ounce, the figure at which it stood when the import-tax was imposed. Recovery has thus taken place in less than a month.'

"Incidentally I am glad to see that the price of silver, after a slight and we may hope a temporary fall, is now higher than it stood on the day before our Budget proposals were published; and I sincerely trust that this may be taken as a good omen that the fears of our Hon'ble Colleagues from Bombay as to the effect of the duty will not be realized. But this is a parenthesis. What I started to say was that we are still being assailed by gloomy hints that the silver duty is an insidious move in our currency policy. I wish categorically to correct that impression. If I had meant the new duty to be currency matter, I am not at all sure that I should have fixed it at 4 annas an ounce, and I am not at all sure that we should have used the proceeds as ordinary revenue. We anticipated some such criticisms, and for that reason we intentionally avoided all refinements, such as a sliding scale, which would give colour to the idea that we were manipulating silver for currency ends. We do not seem to have wholly succeeded in averting suspicion: and I can only repeat that the tax is meant to strengthen our revenue, and for revenue purposes only.

"The Hon'ble Members for Bombay have on this and on previous occasions dealt with two subjects of superlative importance in this country, with what I may term commanding ability. The problems which have been burning questions in this country for many a long year are not perhaps problems which command quite equal attention at home. From sheer lack of knowledge I should not show to advantage were I to enter the lists with the Hon'ble Members on the more abstruse features of currency questions and the various bearings of the Gold Currency Reserve. But it is not for that reason alone that I reduce my remarks to the narrowest limits. The whole matter is so closely interwoven with the gold policy of England, that I thought it more useful to advance, if slowly, at any rate steadfastly, along the path which we wish to follow, to note what we have done, and to indicate what I really hope to accomplish, rather than to deliver myself of lengthy expositions of an academical character.

"One word as to the Gold Standard Reserve. I am well aware that there exists in the financial and commercial communities in this country a strong feeling that the Gold Standard Reserve should be what the term implies, a reserve in gold. I sympathise with that feeling, but we must all, I think, recognise that there is much to be said against locking up a large sum of non-interest-producing gold, and in all such matters it is useless to ignore the fact that opinion in England has to be considered. Personally it is my earnest desire, as it is my intention, to approach Indian finance from an Indian standpoint, but I should like to add that I can conceive nothing more unfortunate than any attempt to separate the common interests of England and India, or any failure to recognise how dependent India is on the markets at home. All must, I think, appreciate the improvement which Lord Morley has effected in the position of the Gold Standard Reserve during the last year.

"I think I have now touched upon most of the points which have arisen during the Budget debates, and it only remains for me to express my genuine appreciation of the patience and consideration which have been shown me throughout the session.

"I have had as Finance Member this year to deal with a new system, the outcome of the reforms, which has thrown at times an almost unbearable burden upon me.

"At my age, handicapped by climatic conditions and faced by the painful necessity of imposing fresh burdens on the people, and, I say quite honestly, overweighted by lack of knowledge and experience, I must have broken down but for the magnificent support I have received from my dear friend the Hon'ble Mr. Meston and my financial staff, Indian and English, and I must add from Sir W. Meyer, one of the ablest officials and most loyal of comrades I have ever met.

"But it is not to that help alone that I owe my continued official existence. It is most certainly also due to the sympathetic, indulgent and considerate treatment which this Council as a whole has accorded me."

His Excellency THE PRESIDENT said:—"Gentlemen, in accordance with our new system of procedure the discussion of the Budget has been so full and detailed, that I propose to confine myself to a few very general remarks on the financial position.

"In his opening speech the Hon'ble Sir Guy Fleetwood Wilson explained to us the financial story of the past years, his view of future demands upon our revenue, and the means by which he proposed to meet them. I congratulate my Hon'ble friend on the lucidity of his explanation. Since then the Financial Statement has passed through its various stages, and has today been before you as the Budget for the coming financial year.

"My Hon'ble friend invited us to look back into the past, to the time of the Hon'ble Mr. Wilson fifty years ago, to the days of small revenues and equivalent expenditure, but entailing speeches of portentous length; he told us of the complicated methods of successive Finance Members anxious to explain to inanimate Councils their administration of the vastly growing trade and ever-increasing income of India, till he brought us down to the present day, with our revenue of over 75 millions, our enlarged Councils and their greatly increased opportunities for criticism and discussion; and now that we are at the conclusion of this debate my thoughts naturally turn to the story of our finances since I assumed the Viceroyalty in November 1905. It is four years almost to a day since I addressed the first Budget meeting of my Council, and of the advisers who then sat beside me on my Executive Council it is curious to note that none now remain to me. Some after long years of useful work have retired from the service, one distinguished amongst his compeers has gone to his last resting place, and two are ably directing the administration of great Provinces.

"In financial, as in other matters, India has passed through a time of strain and anxiety during those four years; but she has, I hope, notwithstanding many ups and downs, emerged successfully from her trials. When I took over the Government, the country was on the crest of a wave of remarkable prosperity. Notwithstanding short rains and the cruel ravages of plague, we had had in 1905-06 a surplus of over 2 millions, and at my first Budget meeting, in March 1906, we were able to announce a large number of special grants, for education, agricultural research, and police reform, as well as to remit a variety of petty cesses on the land at a cost of 82 lakhs of rupees. Yet even these large concessions failed to check the onward march of our revenues, and in the following year, 1906-07, we obtained a surplus of $1\frac{1}{2}$ millions, and found ourselves in a position to put the crown on a long series of remissions of taxation by reducing the duty on salt to the nominal figure of one rupee per maund. This however brought us to the end of our cycle of good years, and in the autumn of 1907 the outlook became suddenly overcast. The rains failed over the greater part of Northern India, and we had to prepare to avert the misery of a widespread famine, whilst almost simultaneously we found ourselves called upon to face one of those financial upheavals which periodically convulse the great markets of the world. The combination of misfortunes bore heavily upon our resources. Our revenue fell off; our trade was dislocated; and a severe drain was imposed on our reserves of gold. In 1907-08 our surplus dropped to little over $\text{£}\frac{1}{2}$ of a million; in the following year, the reaction was at its height and we had to declare a heavy deficit. Thus passed two years of anxiety, of constant watchfulness, and of many enforced economies, but throughout our time of trial we may justly recall with pleasure that our financial machinery worked efficiently, and the credit of India remained unimpaired.

"With the year which is now closing begins the third phase of Indian finance during my term of office. We are entering on a time of recovery. The Hon'ble Finance Member has told us that the new financial year promises to open 'under favourable auspices, with good harvests, active markets, expanding trade.' He anticipates prosperity in the private and public finances of the country, and, given a good monsoon, looks forward to a general improvement in our revenues. My Hon'ble friend is proverbially lucky in his 'gamble in rain', so I hope his prognostications may prove true. But there are obvious difficulties ahead of us. Our opium-revenue is menaced. We are committed in some respects—and Local Governments along with us—to expenditures on a scale which it may not be prudent to maintain and which it may be necessary to revise. We are face to face with new aspirations entailing a heavy outlay on social and industrial progress, the vital necessity for which no one recognises more sincerely than I do, but which cannot be directly or speedily remunerative; and though we may heartily rejoice over a progress which must entail increased expenditure in many directions, we cannot disregard the consideration of the sources from which that expenditure is to be met. It is a great problem—in it there is much food for thought. And behind it there may lurk many other problems which we cannot now foresee, and whilst sympathising, as I do, with many of the ambitions of advancing prosperity, I cannot but feel that the conditions of the present time call for caution, for the husbanding of our resources and the strengthening of our credit to enable us to meet the duties that lie before us.

"And notwithstanding the increased taxation to which we have been driven by stress of weather, the skies are beginning to clear now, and to my mind it is no paradox to say that our position is in reality stronger than it was four years ago at the flood-tide of our prosperity. I am not unaware of the criticisms which, in the light of more recent events, have been passed upon our financial policy and upon the large remissions of taxation which we were able to give before 1908; but I do not concur in those criticisms. We have lightened the burdens of the poor; we have raised the general welfare of the people; and we have returned to the tax-payer money that would otherwise have gone towards enhancing our scale of recurring expenditure, and consequently increasing our present difficulties. It is not only the incidence of our taxation, however, that we have improved. We have taken steps to discount the probable loss of our opium-revenue. We have proved the necessity for a less ambitious programme of capital expenditure. We have tested the strength of our gold reserves, and have, I hope, disposed of certain weaknesses in our currency system. It is on all these grounds that I consider we may take stock of our financial position with some pride, and may look forward to the future with confidence.

"I will only say one word more in reference to the conduct of our finances. Three years ago—at the Budget debate—I referred to the arrangements which had been made with China for assisting her in the gigantic task of putting down the opium habit in her vast territories. I deprecated the doubts that were thrown on the good faith of the Chinese Government, and I refused to accept the assumption that the revenues of India were being sacrificed to the views of a few faddists. The three years for which we agreed to co-operate with China as a test of her sincerity have not yet expired, and it would be premature to discuss the results of the experiment. Nevertheless, I think I may justly invite the attention of the Council to the verdict of the International Commission which sat at Shanghai last year and on which India was so ably represented by the Hon'ble Mr. Brunyate. The Commission recorded its recognition of 'the unswerving sincerity of the Government of China in their efforts to eradicate the production and consumption of opium throughout the Empire * * * and the real, though unequal, progress already made in a task which is one of the greatest magnitude.' We may welcome the integrity of China's aims, and though our co-operation with her has involved genuine sacrifices, both in British India and in the States of some of my friends, the Ruling Chiefs of Central India, we can distinctly claim that those sacrifices have been made in the interests of humanity alone. There is evidence that China appreciates our help. Whether she succeeds in her share of her compact with us, careful local enquiry alone can show; but if she attains the success which her efforts deserve India may well be proud of the assistance she has rendered to her great neighbour.

"I shall not attempt, gentlemen, to trace our financial position any further. The many points which have been raised by resolutions and questions have been dealt with by the Members in charge of the various Departments, but as this is the last Budget debate at which I shall be present, I venture to say a few words on the first session of the new Council which closes today. It has been a memorable session. The Council assembled at a moment of great anxiety, and was immediately called upon to support the Government of India in legislation which the conditions of the country had unfortunately rendered inevitable. That support was not only unhesitatingly forthcoming, but the reasons for it were discussed with a good sense and appreciation of circumstances which fully confirmed the views I have always advocated, that increased representation of the real interests of India would not weaken, but would greatly strengthen, the hands of the Government. And throughout our debates there has been ample evidence of a deep interest in public affairs and a desire to contribute to the better administration of the country. The Government has benefited by criticism and suggestions, and the dignity of procedure so necessary to an assembly such as this has been well recognized by its Members. I am aware that there have been exceptions to the observance of that dignity, and I am glad the Hon'ble Member Mr. Haque drew attention to them, as his doing so is evidence of the jealousy with which Hon'ble Members are prepared to safeguard a strict conformity with the rules of business; but I feel that I may very justly say that the exception to which he specially referred was due merely to a want of acquaintance with those rules and certainly to no intentional discourtesy towards this assembly.

"Our machinery is, I admit, not as yet perfect. It will require some alterations, especially in respect to a rearrangement of the work of the session. I fully recognise the inconvenience and waste of time that must have been caused to Members, both official and non-official, by being required to attend meetings of Council on dates scattered over many weeks. I foresee no great difficulty in a rearrangement of work. Bills might be introduced at an early meeting in the autumn which would not necessitate the attendance of Members except those especially interested in them; at a second meeting in the middle of December they might be referred to Select Committees; a short session might be held at the end of January, or beginning of February to pass them; and the Budget session would be in March. I am only foreshadowing possibilities, with which my successor will have to deal.

"But putting aside questions of administrative machinery and the great political considerations involved in the creation of this enlarged Council, I claim for it one happy result. It has brought people together—official and non-official Members have met each other. The official wall which of necessity to some extent had separated them has been broken down; they have talked over many things together. Non-official Members from a distance have, not only in our debates but in private conversation, had opportunities of explaining their grievances. Much healthy fresh air has entered this old Council Chamber, and, speaking on behalf of my colleagues as well as myself, it has been very welcome to us. And now, gentlemen, as this is the last time that I shall preside over a full Council, I would ask you to bear in mind that for some time to come there must be much that is experimental in our recent reforms; it rests upon you to consolidate the work which has been done, to prove yourselves worthy of the interests which you represent, to safeguard the moderation and good sense of the Council of which you are Members. It is to you that the Executive Government will look for the expressions of unofficial opinion; it is on your loyal support that they should be able to rely.

"I am grateful for the appreciative words in which Hon'ble Members have alluded to my services. I hope that the labours of my colleagues and myself will bear good fruit. I know this Council to be very capable of safeguarding the great responsibilities entrusted to it, and I shall leave this country in the firm belief that it is destined to play a distinguished part in the future history of India."

The Council adjourned sine die.

R. SHEEPHANKS,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of India,
Legislative Department.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 14th April 1910, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

A feeble depression of the hot weather type was shown over the north Punjab on the morning of the 9th, and it gave duststorms there and local precipitation in Kashmir, but had disappeared by the 11th. Temperature fell rapidly in the rear of the depression, probably owing to snowfall in the mountains to the north; the low temperature condition^s thus initiated on the 11th extended rapidly eastward and by the 13th temperature was normal or in defect over the whole of northern India. Rain fell over the greater part of Assam and locally in Eastern Bengal, Bengal proper, Chota Nagpur and the extreme south. A disturbance appeared in the southeast of the Bay on the 11th and has developed into a storm of great severity: on the 14th it was lying to the west of the Andamans, but up to the close of the week the rainfall associated with it had been light and confined to the Andaman Islands and the Burma coast.

Burma.—Rainfall was moderately heavy in the Tavoy and Mergui districts, and light in the Moulmein, Rangoon and Bassein districts. Skies were cloudy in Lower Burma and clear or lightly clouded in Upper Burma. Temperature was normal.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—Rain fell over almost the whole of Assam and in the Mymensingh, Bogra, Berhampore and Ranchi districts. Skies were clear or lightly clouded in Bengal and were generally lightly to moderately clouded in Eastern Bengal and Assam. Temperature was normal or in slight excess up to the 12th, and normal or in slight defect for the rest of the week.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Light cloud was reported from most observatories during the first half of the week, but skies were clear during the latter half. During the period of cloudy weather temperature was normal or in excess, but with the disappearance of the cloud temperature fell and at night was in defect over the whole division.

Northwest India.—On the 9th duststorms were numerous in the north Punjab and local precipitation occurred in Kashmir. Skies were generally clear or lightly clouded, and weather was cooler than usual during the greater part of the week.

The Peninsula.—Rain fell locally in the extreme south. Skies were more or less clouded and temperature did not differ much from the normal.

The following summarises the chief rainfall amounts as reported at 8 hrs. each day:—

April 8th. Tavoy 1·05".

„ 9th. Mergui 1·07".

„ 10th. Tavoy 2·07", Sonemarg 1·75", Cochin 3·48", Trivandrum 4·34", Pamban 2·43" and Kodaikanal 0·96".

„ 11th. Sibsagar 2·05".

„ 12th. Calicut 1·51".

„ 13th. Mymensingh 0·59", Bogra 0·62", Berhampore 0·52" and Darjeeling
0·63".

The only areas that received any rainfall during the week were Lower Burma, Eastern Bengal and Assam, Bengal proper, Chota Nagpur, Kashmir, Mysore and Madras excluding the Madras Deccan, but in all these areas the rainfall was in defect, except in Lower Burma and on the Madras coast where it was in large excess. The week's rainfall has changed a defect of 17 per cent in the seasonal rainfall from the 3rd December to date in Malabar to an excess of 30 per cent, and has decreased considerably the excess shown in Eastern Bengal and Assam, but over the rest of the country there have been no important changes in the seasonal rainfall.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 9th April 1910.

Burma.—South Tenasserim had some rain during the week. There was no rain elsewhere. Sowing of spring rice is in progress and is being reaped in parts. Cleaving of hill sides for summer rice in Upper Burma continues. Plucking of tobacco and gathering of island crops are progressing satisfactorily. The price of unhusked rice has risen considerably in one district and slightly in six others. It has fallen considerably in one district.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—Light to moderate showers fell almost throughout Assam. Practically no rain fell in Eastern Bengal where it is badly needed. Ploughing for winter rice and autumn crops continues. Sowing of jute and summer rice and hoeing and pruning of tea are progressing. Weeding of jute has commenced in places. Tea is doing well and plucking continues. Spring rice has suffered from a sudden rise of the rivers. Til, linseed and potato promise well. Burning of jhums continue in the hills. The average price of common rice has risen by one per cent. Cattle disease prevails in the Naga Hills, Goalpara, Darrang, Nowgong and the Garo Hills.

Bengal.—There was no rain during the week except a very small shower in Palamau. Harvesting of spring crops is approaching completion. Preparation of lands for the next season's crops continues but more rain is wanted for the purpose in parts of Burdwan, Hooghly, Murshidabad, Jessore, Khulna and Cooch Behar. Mahua is being gathered in the Sonthal Parganas, Angul, Palamau and Manbhum and the prospects of the crop are reported to be favourable. The price of common rice has risen in Hooghly, Murshidabad, Jessore, Saran, Muzaffarpur, Purnea, the Sonthal Parganas, Cuttack, Hazaribagh, Ranchi and Palamau and has fallen in Nadia, Patna, Gaya, Bhagalpur and Singhbhum. Cattle disease is reported from 11 districts. The supply of fodder is reported to be getting scarce in Angul and the Sonthal Parganas. Water is sufficient except in parts of Angul.

United Provinces.—No rain fell during the week. Rain is urgently needed in parts of two Himalayan districts. The condition of crops and prospects of outturn are excellent. Harvesting is nearly completed in many districts. Threshing and winnowing are progressing. Extra crops and sugarcane are being sown and irrigated. Opium weighments have commenced. Cattle disease is reported in parts of sixteen districts but the general condition of agricultural stock continues good. Fodder supplies are abundant. The new crop is coming into the market and prices of spring grains are falling.

Punjab.—There has been rain in parts of Shahpur and at Murree. Harvesting of spring crops and sowings of extra spring crops are in progress in several districts. Crops are generally in good to average condition except in parts of Hissar, Sialkot, Shahpur and Mianwali where they are below average. Sugarcane and cotton sowings are in progress. The cold wave of March last caused damage to gram in the dry area of Shahpur. Prices of food grains are generally unchanged. The condition of cattle is good. Fodder is sufficient except in Jullundur, Rawalpindi, Mianwali and parts of Rohtak and Shahpur. Canal water is badly needed in Rohtak.

North-West Frontier Province.—Slight rain fell during the week amounting to about 2 cents in Peshawar and 30 cents in Ahmadzai in the Bannu District. More rain is required. The condition of standing crops is generally average, but below average on unirrigated lands in the Swabi tahsil of the Peshawar district and in the Dera Ismail Khan district. Sowing of extra spring and autumn crops is in progress. Hail is reported in certain villages of the Marwat tahsil of the Bannu district but no damage to crops has occurred. Harvesting of gram and barley has commenced in the Dera Ismail Khan district. There is no irrigation from the Paharpur canal; otherwise the water supply and fodder are generally sufficient. The condition of cattle on the whole is good except in one village of the Nowshera tahsil of the Peshawar District. Prices, except those of gram, show a slight tendency to rise. Prices:—wheat 11½ to 14¼; gram 17½ to 24; maize 18 to 21; bajra 17 to 19 and barley 20½ seers per rupee.

Jammu.—No rain fell during the week. Prices are stationary. Wheat sells from 11 to 18 and maize from 18 to 26 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is fair. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—Slight rain fell during the week accompanied with some hail which did no harm to spring crops. Spring crops are in good condition. Ploughings are in progress. There is no disease among cattle. Fodder is average except in flooded villages. Prices are unchanged.

Rajputana.—Harvesting of spring crops is finished in Banswara and the Hilly Tracts and is in progress in other States. Slight damage to crops is reported in the Jaipur and Jaisalmer Parganas by hail and strong winds. Cattle disease prevails in three villages of Jaisalmer and one of Banswara. Prospects are good. Fodder is sufficient. Prices are rising in Bikaner, Banswara, Shahpura, Bundi, Kotah, and Ajmer and are steady or falling elsewhere.

Central India.—Rainfall nil. Harvesting of spring crops is in progress. Agricultural stock are good except for some disease in Indore, Bundelkhand and Bhopawar. Scarcity of water is reported in the hilly villages of Indore. Prices are fluctuating in Indore; have fallen slightly in Gwalior and Malwa and are steady elsewhere. Extraction of opium is in progress.

Central Provinces.—The weather continues hot with the nights and mornings cool. Harvesting is completed in most districts. Threshing and winnowing are in full progress. Preparation of land for sowings of autumn crops and construction of field embankments continue. Prospects are good. The supply of fodder and water is adequate except that water is becoming scarce in the hilly portions of the Betul district. The condition of cattle is good. Prices:—the price of wheat remained stationary in fifteen districts; gram in seventeen; juar in nineteen and rice in fourteen. In Balaghat gram rose by 4 seers and rice by 3 seers per rupee; elsewhere the fluctuations are unimportant.

Feudatory States.—Threshing of spring crops still continues. Construction of field embankments and preparation of land for sowings of autumn crops are in progress. Prospects are satisfactory. Fodder and water are sufficient. Prices:—rice became dearer by 3 seers per rupee in Korea. In other States prices are almost steady.

Bombay.—Standing crops have been damaged slightly by insects in parts of Hyderabad; by unfavourable wind in the Upper Sind Frontier and are generally good elsewhere. Harvesting of spring crops is generally in progress. Threshing continues in parts of Hyderabad, Broach, Colaba, Khandesh, Nasik and Mahi Kantha. Cotton-picking is progressing in parts of Gujarat, West Khandesh, Belgaum, Dharwar, Kathiawar, Baroda, Cutch, Rewa Kantha and Kolhapur. Lands are being prepared for the next season in parts of Karachi, Hyderabad, Thar and Parkar, Ahmedabad, Broach, the Konkan, the Deccan, the Karnatak and Baroda. The fodder supply is generally adequate. Agricultural stock are sufficient except in parts of the Deccan and are generally in good condition. Drinking water is generally sufficient except in parts of Sholapur and Belgaum. Irrigation water is adequate except in parts of Nasik, Poona, Sholapur, Satara and Belgaum. Grain stocks are sufficient. Prices have fallen in the Pauch Mahals, Surat, Sholapur, Satara and Belgaum; have risen in Sukkur, Ahmedabad, Broach and Colaba and are stationary elsewhere. The quantity purchasable per rupee is in Sind 28 to 45 per cent; in Gujarat 16 to 30 per cent; in the Konkan 2 to 26 per cent; in the Deccan 11 to 32 per cent and in the Karnatak 24 to 37 per cent less than the normal.

Hyderabad.—No rain fell during the week. Harvesting of spring crops is almost over but picking of cotton is going on in places. Late rice is being irrigated and weeded in many parts. The crop is being harvested in parts of the Nalgonda and Warangal districts and in the latter district it is suffering for want of water. The area sown with crops is limited as many tanks contain little or no water. Distress prevails in parts of the Karimnagar district where Rs. 1,000 has been sanctioned by Government for the present for distribution in doles or in cash to the distressed or infirm according to the rules of the Famine Code. The Public Works Department has been asked to start ordinary works as far as possible. Water scarcity is reported in the Ashti taluka in the Bir district; Jintur and Pallam in the Parbhani district; Biloli in the Nander district; Lingsugur in the Raichur district; Udgir and Janwada in the Bidar district and Mahadeopur and Sultanabad in the Karimnagar district. The water supply is decreasing in parts of Deglur in the Nander district; Gulbarga in the Gulbarga district; Alpur, Gangawati, Kushtagi and Manvi in the Raichur district; Kallam and Parenda in the Osmanabad district; Nilanga in the Bidar district; Charyal, Deverkonda and Miryalguda in the Nalgonda district; Nizamabad in the Nizamabad district; Pakhal, Paloncha and Mulug in the Warangal district; Chinnur in the Adilabad district and Jagtiyal, Karimnagar and Parkal in the Karimnagar district. Cattle disease is reported in two talukas and fodder scarcity in twenty-nine. Prices:—wheat 6½; coarse rice 6½ and juar 13¼ seers per rupee. White and yellow juar are selling in Hyderabad City at 13 and 15 seers per rupee respectively. The highest price in districts is 8 seers in Jagtiyal, Jamikunta and Sirsilla in the Karimnagar district and the lowest 22 seers in Kandhar in the Nander district.

Mysore.—Prices of food grains are generally steady. Markets are well supplied. Standing crops are in good condition. Prospects of the season are good. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Rainfall nil. Prices of food grains are stationary. The public health is fair. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Madras.—There was light rain in the Vizagapatam littoral, Madura, Malabar and Tinnevely and nil elsewhere. Irrigation supplies are sufficient in Malabar and the Nilgiris and insufficient in parts of other districts. Ploughing, sowing, weeding, and transplanting are in progress in parts. Standing crops are generally fair but some in parts of Guntur, Cuddapah, the Carnatic, Central and Tinnevely have withered or are withering or require more rain. Harvests continue with outturn poor to normal. Pasture is sufficient in Vizagapatam, Chingleput, South Arcot, Salem, Tanjore and the Nilgiris and insufficient in parts of other districts. Fodder is scanty in parts of Guntur, Cuddapah and Nellore. The condition of cattle is generally good. The price of rice is stationary in twelve districts; has fallen in seven and has risen in four. The prices of millets have fluctuated as follows:—Ragi is stationary in twelve districts; has fallen in three and has risen in six. Chulam is stationary in six districts and has risen in eight. Cumbu is stationary in nine districts and has risen in six. The public health is generally good. Prospects are generally fair but more rain is required in Salem. The condition of the labouring classes is satisfactory everywhere and employment is readily available. Grain stocks are generally sufficient.

CIVIL VETERINARY ADMINISTRATION.

No. 852, dated Simla, the 22nd April 1910.

The following Proclamation issued by the Government of the Colony of the Cape of Good Hope is published for general information :—

PROCLAMATION

By His Excellency the Honourable Sir Walter Francis Hely-Hutchinson, Knight Grand Cross of the Most Distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George, Governor and Commander-in-Chief of His Majesty's Colony of the Cape of Good Hope, and of the Territories and Dependencies thereof, etc., etc., etc.

WHEREAS it has been made known to appear to me that the disease amongst animals known as "Surra" exists in the Island of Mauritius and India, and is known or suspected in certain other countries on or contiguous to the Asiatic Continent.

NOW, THEREFORE, under and by virtue of the powers and authorities in me vested by the provisions of Act No. 27 of 1893, entitled "The Animal Diseases Act, 1893," as amended by Acts No. 16 of 1906, and 17 of 1908, I do hereby proclaim, declare and make known that it shall not be lawful, from and after the date hereof, to introduce into this colony any live-stock imported, whether directly or indirectly, from any of the countries or islands enumerated in the Schedule hereto.

AND I DO hereby further declare that any such live-stock introduced into this Colony in contravention of this my Proclamation shall be liable to be summarily destroyed, and that any importer or agent contravening any of these Regulations shall be liable to the penalty provided in Section 14 of Act No. 27 of 1893, that is to say, a fine not exceeding Fifty Pounds Sterling or, in default of payment, to imprisonment, with or without hard labour, for any period not exceeding three months, unless such fine be sooner paid.

Nothing in this Proclamation contained shall be deemed to affect the validity of the prohibition on the landing or transshipping of live-stock at any port on the East African Coast north of Durban, Natal, imposed by my Proclamation No. 405, bearing date the 13th day of November 1905, which shall be read and construed as one with this Proclamation.

Proclamation No. 164 of 1906 is hereby cancelled and repealed.

GOD SAVE THE KING.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 21st April 1910, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

The storm which was to the west of the Andamans on the 14th moved in a north-north-easterly direction with unusual rapidity and struck the Arakan coast between Akyab and Kyaukpyu at 8 p.m. on the 15th, giving very high winds and heavy rain. After crossing the coast the storm continued on its course but with greatly diminished violence; it reached the neighbourhood of Mandalay about 8 a.m. of the 16th and had completely disappeared by the following morning. It gave nearly general and in places heavy rainfall in Burma and Assam, and a few falls in deltaic Bengal. The storm caused a rapid fall in temperature in Burma and Assam, especially in the maximum which had not recovered at the close of the week. Rainfall was fairly widespread in Eastern Bengal and Assam, and occurred locally in Bengal proper and the extreme south. A disturbance appeared over northwest India on the 19th and caused nearly general precipitation north of the latitude of Multan and local precipitation in northeast Baluchistan. Temperature was high in upper India up to the 19th, but after precipitation commenced it fell rapidly and was normal or in defect.

Burma.—The storm gave rain over the whole province, the falls being heavy in several districts, and skies were completely overcast for the first three days of the week, but were clear or lightly clouded on the remaining days. Maximum temperature was in moderate to large defect and the minimum normal or in slight defect.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—The Bogra and Dinajpur districts were the only ones in Eastern Bengal and Assam and Bengal proper that did not receive any rain during the week, and Balasore and Chaibassa reported light falls. Clear skies generally prevailed in Bihar and Chota Nagpur, but there was more or less cloud in the rest of the division. Temperature was normal or in defect, the deficiency in the maximum being large on several days in Assam.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—The sky was generally clear and temperature normal or in slight defect.

Northwest India.—Widespread precipitation occurred in the North-West Frontier Province, the southwest Punjab, the Lahore and Rawalpindi districts, Kashmir and north-east Baluchistan. Skies were overcast in the areas of precipitation during the latter half of the week, but in the rest of the division they were clear or lightly clouded. Temperature was normal or in excess up to the 19th, after which date it fell and was normal or in slight defect.

The Peninsula.—There was nearly general rainfall in the extreme southwest of the Peninsula and a few isolated falls in other parts of south India. Clear or lightly clouded skies prevailed and temperature did not differ much from the normal.

The following summarises the chief rainfall amounts as reported at 8 hrs. each day:—

- April 15th. Moulmein 1'18", Diamond Island 1'06", Minbu 1'40", Yamethin 1'96", Maymyo 1'20", Barisal 2'26", Saugor Island 0'80" and Burdwan 0'49".
- " 16th. Akyab 11'50", Minbu 6'02", Thayetmyo 2'70", Monywa 2'41", Kyaukpyu 2'67", Toungoo 2'12", Diamond Island 1'26", Bassein 1'23", Rangoon 1'56", Moulmein 1'87", Calicut 1'47", Cochin 1'50 and Madras 1'15".
- " 17th. Moulmein 3'60", Mandalay 3'16", Bhamo 1'39", Myitkyina 0'97", Silchar 2'81" and Gauhati 1'46".
- " 18th. Dhubri 1'25" and Shillong 1'66".
- " 20th. Cherrapoonjee 6'70", Narayanganj 2'37", Mymensingh 2'26", Sonemarg 1'42", Gilgit 1'25" and Mercara 1'24".
- " 21st. Silchar 3'20", Mymensingh 1'51", Lahore 0'70", Rawalpindi 1'06", Srinagar 1'49" and Murree 1'26".

The rainfall for the past week was in very large excess in Burma: in moderate excess in Eastern Bengal and Assam; Bengal proper, the Punjab and Baluchistan; normal in Malabar and unimportant elsewhere. It has increased very much the already large excess in the seasonal rainfall from 3rd December in Burma, but has not materially affected the departures from normal in other parts of the country.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 16th April 1910.

Burma.—The rainfall, which was practically general, was heavy in Akyab and light to moderate elsewhere. Cultivation of spring rice and clearing of hill sides for autumn rice continue. Plucking of tobacco and reaping of island crops are in progress. Some damage has been done by insects to the tobacco crop in Maubin; by rats to spring rice in Kyaukse and by rain to the cotton crop while being gathered in the Minhla township of Thayetmyo. The price of unhusked rice has risen considerably at one centre. Changes are slight at five centres, otherwise they are unchanged.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—The rainfall during the week was almost general. It was light in the Rajshahi division; fairly good in Assam and light to moderate elsewhere. Harvesting of spring rice has commenced with good prospects. Plucking of tea continues but more sun is needed in Lakhimpur. Pressing of sugarcane is still going on and its transplantation has commenced in places. Sowing of jute and summer and winter rice is in full swing but ploughing for them still continues. Weeding of jute is in progress. The potato crop at the foot of the hills has been damaged seriously by heavy rains. Til is doing well. The average price of common rice is almost stationary. Cattle disease prevails in Cachar, Sylhet, the Naga Hills, the Garo Hills, Goalpara, Kamrup and Darrang.

Bengal—Light rain fell in Bhagalpur, Darjeeling, the Sonthal Parganas, Balasore, Angul, Puri, Ranchi, Manbhum, Singhbhum, Cooch Behar and in all the districts of the Burdwan and Presidency divisions except Birbhum, Hooghly and Khulna. Preparation of lands continues but more rain is wanted for the purpose in the Presidency division. Harvesting of spring crops is approaching completion. Planting of sugarcane continues. The newly planted sugarcane crop and vegetables are doing well. Standing crops in parts of Bhagalpur have been damaged by a heavy hail storm. The price of common rice has risen in Shāhabad, Saran, Muzaffarpur, Monghyr, Cooch Behar and in the districts of the Presidency division, excepting Khulna, and has fallen in Burdwan, Bankura, Ranchi and Palamau. Cattle disease is reported from ten districts. The fodder supply is sufficient except in parts of the Sonthal Parganas and Angul. Water is reported to be getting scarce in parts of Angul.

United Provinces.—No rain fell during the week. Harvesting of spring crops has begun in the hills and is finished or nearly finished in all the districts of the plains. Prospects are good and sowing and irrigation of sugarcane continue. Extra crops have germinated well and are being irrigated. Land is being prepared for the coming autumn harvest. Threshing and winnowing of spring crops are in progress and opium weighments continue. Sporadic cattle disease is reported in eighteen districts but the general condition of agricultural stock is good. Fodder and supplies are ample. Prices continue to fall in many districts owing to the arrival of new grain in the market.

Punjab.—Light rain has fallen in parts of Rawalpindi. Harvesting of spring crops is in progress and their outturn in the Delhi division is generally average. Sowings of extra spring crops continue. Standing crops are generally good to average except in parts of Shahpur and Mianwali where they are below average. Sugarcane and cotton are being sown in several districts and great millet in Rohtak. Prices of food grains have fallen slightly in some districts. The condition of cattle is good. Fodder is sufficient except in Rawalpindi and parts of Shahpur and Mianwali.

North-West Frontier Province—No rain fell during the week. Rain is badly wanted in the Peshawar and Dera Ismail Khan districts. Standing crops are generally average except on unirrigated lands in the Swabi tahsil of the Peshawar district and in the Dera Ismail Khan district where they are slightly below average. Extra spring and autumn crops are being sown. Reaping of barley, sarson and gram has also commenced in the Peshawar and Bannu districts. The water supply and fodder are sufficient except in the Shigga and Pakha circles of the Marwat tahsil in the Bannu district. There is no irrigation from the Paharpur canal. Cattle are generally in good condition. The public health is generally good. Prices, except those of gram and bajra, are fluctuating. Prices:—wheat 11½ to 14½; gram 17½ to 24; maize 18 to 22½; juar 17 to 19 and bajra 19½ seers per rupee.

Jammu.—Rain nil. Prices are stationary. Wheat sells from 11 to 18 and maize from 18 to 25 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is fair. Cattle disease of mild type prevails in the Ranbirsingpura and Basohli tahsils. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—Slight rain fell on 2 occasions during the week which has been beneficial to the spring crops. The condition of standing crops is good. Ploughings for autumn crops are in progress. There is no disease among cattle. Cattle have commenced grazing on green grass. There is no difficulty about fodder. Prices are unchanged.

Rajputana.—Harvesting and threshing of spring crops are in progress. The wheat crops have been damaged in some places in Jaisalmer by strong winds. Cattle disease of a very mild form is reported in one village of Banswara. Prospects are good. Fodder is sufficient. Prices are rising in Bikaner, Banswara, and Ajmer by ½ seer; in Shahpura by 2 seers and are steady or falling elsewhere.

Central India.—Rainfall nil. Threshing of spring crops continue. Crops have been damaged slightly in Malwa. Agricultural stock are good except for some disease in Baghelkhand, Bundelkhand and Bhopawar. Prices have fallen slightly in Gwalior and Bundelkhand and are high and steady elsewhere.

Central Provinces.—The weather has been hot and occasionally cloudy. Harvesting is completed. Agricultural operations are confined to threshing, winnowing and preparation of land for the next monsoon crops. Fodder and water are generally sufficient but the latter is getting scarce in the hilly portions of the Betul district and in the Umrer tahsil of the Nagpur district. Cattle are in good condition. Prices :—wheat and rice remained stationary in fifteen districts ; gram in thirteen and juar in eighteen.

Feudatory States.—Threshing of spring crops is approaching completion and winnowing is still in progress. Land is under preparation for the next monsoon sowings. Fodder is ample and water is sufficient except in Kawardha where the latter is becoming scarce in some villages. Prices :—wheat became cheaper by 2 seers per rupee in Kawardha and rice became dearer by 3 seers in Sakti ; elsewhere prices are almost steady.

Bombay.—Moderate rain fell during the week in parts of Belgaum. Standing crops have been damaged slightly by unfavourable winds in the Upper Sind Frontier and are generally good elsewhere. Harvesting of spring crops is nearly completed in Thar and Parkar, Colaba, Khandesh, Dharwar and Kolhapur and is generally in progress in parts of Sind, Gujarat, Kanara and in Savantvadi and the Gujarat Native States. Threshing is going on in Colaba, Khandesh, Nasik and Ahmednagar. Cotton-picking is progressing in parts of Gujarat, West Khandesh, Belgaum, Dharwar, Kathiawar, Baroda, Cutch, and Kolhapur. Lands are being prepared for the next season in parts of Sind, Ahmedabad, Broach, Surat, the Konkan, the Deccan, and the Karnatak. The fodder supply is generally adequate. Agricultural stock are sufficient except in parts of the Deccan and generally in good condition. Drinking water is generally sufficient except in parts of West Khandesh, Sholapur and Belgaum. Irrigation water is adequate except in parts of Nasik, Poona, Sholapur, Satara and Belgaum. Grain stocks are sufficient. Prices have fallen in Sukkur ; have risen in Kanara, Poona and Sholapur and are stationary elsewhere. The quantity purchasable per rupee is in Sind 28 to 44 per cent ; in Gujarat 16 to 30 per cent ; in the Konkan 2 to 26 per cent ; in the Deccan 13 to 32 per cent and in the Karnatak 24 to 37 per cent less than the normal.

Hyderabad.—The average rainfall during the week was 1 cent. Sixty-seven cents of rain fell in the Miryalguda taluka of the Nalgonda district and 86 cents in Madhra in the Warangal district. Harvesting of spring crops is almost over except for picking of cotton which is going on in places. Late rice is being weeded and irrigated in many parts and harvesting of the crop has begun in many parts of Telengana but is reported to be suffering for want of water in parts of the Mahbubnagar, Warangal and Karimnagar districts. Distress prevails in the Karimnagar district where Rs. 1,000 has been sanctioned by Government for the present for distribution to the distressed or infirm in doles or cash according to the rules in the Famine Code. The Public Works Department have started ordinary road or irrigation works. Water scarcity is reported in the Ashti taluka in the Bir district ; Jintur and Pallam in the Parbhani district ; Biloli in the Nander district ; Lingsugur in the Raichur district ; Udgir and Janwada in the Bidar district and Mahadeopur and Sultanabad in the Karimnagar district. The water supply is decreasing in parts of Diglur in the Nander district ; Gulbarga in the Gulbarga district ; Alpur, Gangawati and Manvi in the Raichur district ; Kallam and Parenda in the Osmanabad district ; Nilanga in the Bidar district ; Chiryal, Deverkonda and Miryalguda in the Nalgonda district ; Nizamabad in the Nizamabad district ; Pakhal and Mulug in the Warangal district ; Chinnur in the Adilabad district and Jagtiyal, Karimnagar and Parkal in the Karimnagar district. Cattle disease prevails in three talukas and fodder scarcity in thirty. Prices :—wheat 6½ ; coarse rice 6½ and juar 13½ seers per rupee. White and yellow juar are selling in Hyderabad City at 13 and 15 seers per rupee respectively. The highest price in districts is 8 seers in the Siddipet taluka of the Medak district and Jagtiyal in the Karimnagar district and the lowest 22 seers in Rajura and Udgir in the Bidar district.

Mysore.—Slight rain fell throughout the State. Prices of food grains are steady. Markets are well supplied. Standing crops are in good condition. Prospects of the season are good. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Rainfall 10 cents. Coffee blossoms are out in parts. Prices of food grains are stationary. The public health is fair. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall during the week was good in Malabar and Madura ; nil in the Vizagapatam littoral, Bellary, Anantapur, Nellore, Chingleput, Madras and South Canara and light to fair elsewhere. Irrigation supplies are sufficient in Malabar and the Nilgiris and insufficient in parts of other districts. Ploughing, sowing, weeding and transplanting are in progress in parts. Standing crops are generally fair but some in parts of Cuddapah, the Carnatic, Central and Tinnevely have withered or are withering or require more rain. Harvests continue with outturn poor to normal. Pasture is sufficient in Vizagapatam, Chingleput, Madras, South Arcot, Tanjore and the Nilgiris and insufficient in parts of other districts. Fodder is scanty in parts of Guntur, Cuddapah and Nellore. The condition of cattle is generally good. The price of rice is stationary in twelve districts ; has fallen in four and has risen in seven. The prices of millets have fluctuated as follows :—Ragi is stationary in seven districts ; has fallen in ten and has risen in four. Cholam is stationary in six districts ; has fallen in two and has risen in six. Cumbu is stationary in six districts ; has fallen in two and has risen in seven. The public health is generally good. Prospects are generally fair but more rain is required in Nellore. The condition of the labouring classes is satisfactory everywhere and employment is readily available. Grain stocks are generally sufficient.

Separate paging is given to this Part in order that it may be filed as a separate compilation.

PART II.

Notifications by High Court, Comptroller General, etc.

GAZETTE OF INDIA.

NOTICE.

The 24th March 1910.

From the 9th April next till further notice, Parts I, IV, V and VI of the Gazette of India and the Weather and Crop Report will be published at Simla. After the 2nd April all notifications and other matter intended for publication in the Gazette should be addressed to the Officiating Publisher at Simla.

Attention is invited to the following Circular Memorandum of the Government of India, Home Department, of August 1901:—

"It has been brought to the notice of this Department that matter for the Gazette of India is sometimes sent to the Press late on Friday evenings for publication in the next day's Gazette, and that this involves considerable inconvenience to the Press and expense to Government. In the Circular Memorandum of this Department, No. 777-79, dated 9th February 1870, the Government of India directed that all notifications or other matter intended for insertion in the Gazette of India should be delivered at the Press not later than 2 P.M. on Friday, and that any papers sent thereafter must be certified to be extremely urgent in order to ensure their appearance in the next day's Gazette. The undersigned is directed to request that these orders may be more strictly observed in future, and that Departments will refrain from sending to the Press as extremely urgent any papers which can without harm or inconvenience be held over for the next Gazette."

J. P. HEWETT,

Secretary to the Government of India.

1. The examination is held annually at the Civil Engineering College, Sibpur, on the first Monday in June. The examination will be conducted, either at the College, or by an Examiner, Public Works Accounts (including Railway and Telegraph), in Bengal, Eastern Bengal and Assam and Burma only. The Examination will be ipso facto vitiated, if it be not held (begun and completed) on the dates fixed; but the officer who will conduct the examination may make his own arrangements, in regard to the place and hour of examination, with the candidates.

Candidates will not be examined in any of the Calcutta offices.

A candidate already in permanent Government employ * may be allowed to compete in the examination, even if he is more than 25 years of age, and may be appointed to an accountantship if he passes it; but if he is not already in pensionable service, he will be eligible only for appointment to the non-pensionable establishment on State Railways.

*This term includes employment under Local Boards and foreign bodies, if such is pensionable by the British Government.

2. The candidate should apply to an Examiner of Public Works Accounts not later than 30 days previous to the date fixed for the examination, and obtain his consent to conduct the examination, if examination at the College is not convenient. The application must bear the address of the candidate, must be accompanied by a fee of Rs 10 and the following certificates and registration form duly filled in and must be forwarded by him, not direct to the Principal, but through the Examiner.

Certificates may be submitted in original, or true copies attested by an officer of the Engineer or Accounts Branch, but none will be returned :—

(1) Certificate of good character signed by applicant's immediate official superior, or by the instructor under whom he has been educated, or by some other superior under whom he may have been brought up or employed, or to whom he may be well known. (This certificate must have special reference to the two years immediately preceding the application.)

(2) Certificate of age, baptismal or of birth (not required if the candidate is already in permanent Government employ).

(3) Certificate that the application is in the candidate's own handwriting.

(4) Registration statement containing the following information :—

(a) Name in full.

(b) Father's name.

(c) Nationality or class, i.e., European, European Indian, of candidate; and if Indian, caste or tribe.

(d) Date of birth.

(e) Place of birth.

(f) Present address.

(g) Examinations passed.

(h) Thumb mark of candidate, left hand, to be made in the presence of a responsible person who knows candidate.

(i) Signature and address of above-mentioned witness.

NOTE.—A candidate already in Government service should, in like manner, submit, through his immediate official superior, to an Examiner of Accounts qualified to hold the particular examination, and should state whether he desires to be examined at the office of the Examiner of Accounts concerned or at the College.

It will rest with the Examiner of Accounts, to whom the candidate submits his application, to decide, on a consideration of the certificates submitted, whether the candidate should be allowed to appear for the examination, or whether his application should be rejected. The Examiner of Accounts will then forward to the Principal for registration the names of the accepted candidates together with their registration statements which should be signed by the Examiner. The registration statements should be carefully preserved by the Principal. The names of these candidates should be entered in a statement showing their ages and their addresses, and also showing where each candidate is to be examined, whether at the College or at the office of the Examiner of Accounts. This statement, together with the fees, should be transmitted to the Principal not later than 15 days after the dates fixed in paragraph 2 for the submission of applications of candidates.

3. Examination papers that are issued for examination need not be returned.

4. Each examination is complete in itself. A candidate who has failed in an examination, and presents himself for examination on a subsequent occasion, must undergo the full examination and furnish fresh fee and certificates.

5. If from any cause a candidate fails to appear for the examination the fee paid will not be refunded.

6. It must be distinctly understood that the passing of this examination does not give any claim to an appointment, and that in making appointments, preference will be given to qualified persons who are already employed in the Department.

7. Passed candidates should apply, not to the Principal of the College, nor to the Accountant-General, Public Works Department, but direct to the Examiner of Public Works Accounts, in the province or railway under whom they may desire to be employed.

8. The Civil Engineering College acts solely as an examining body in reference to admission to the 4th grade of Accountants, Public Works Department.

9. Candidates for the 4th grade Accountantship examination, who are not Government servants and over 25 years of age, are allowed to appear at the examination at the Sibpur College centre only, but, even if successful, they are debarred from employment in the service of Government, and their names will be excluded from the list of passed candidates which is furnished to the Accountant-General, Public Works Department.

10. Candidates over 25 years of age should apply in writing to the Principal of the Civil Engineering College not later than 30 days previous to the examination; the application to be accompanied by the fee of rupees ten, and the registration statement prescribed in Rule 2 (4).

ACCOUNTS AND FINANCE.

APPOINTMENTS.

The 28th April, 1910.

No. 2064-F. O. & A.—With reference to Rule XIII of the rules promulgated with Resolution No. 3581-F. O. & A., dated 15th July 1909, published on pages 562—565 of the Gazette of India, Part I., dated the 17th July 1909, it is hereby notified for general information that an examination will be held at Calcutta during the last week of July 1910 for the selection of officers to fill one vacancy in the Enrolled List of the Civil Accounts Department and two vacancies in the Superior Accounts Branch of the Public Works Department.

2. Only candidates who have been nominated by the Government of India in the Finance Department will be entitled to compete. Intending candidates should submit applications for nomination in accordance with the rules referred to above; but fresh applications are not required from candidates who have already received intimation that they have been registered as such. It is only in very exceptional cases and for special reasons that applications will be considered unless forwarded through the Local Government or the Director of Public Instruction of the Province in which the candidate resides or has received his education. All applications should be timed to reach the Government of India by the 31st May 1910 at the latest.

3. Nominated candidates will be examined in the subjects described in the Schedule below. No candidate will be admitted to either Department who fails to show a competent knowledge of the compulsory subjects, and the Government reserve the right of declining to make any appointment when no candidate reaches a high standard of proficiency.

4. The examination will be mainly by written questions and answers. There will be a viva voce test in the last two groups of the compulsory subjects mentioned in the Schedule.

5. Accepted candidates for each Department will be appointed to the posts thrown open to competition according to their order of merit at the examination, and the Departments for which they have been nominated. Where a candidate has been permitted to appear for both the Enrolled List and the Public Works Accounts Branch, and his position in the examination would entitle him to a post in either Department, he will be allowed a choice as between the two.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 28th April 1910, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

Weather was generally disturbed during the week in upper India and precipitation was widespread in the North-West Frontier Province, the northwest Punjab and Kashmir, while a few falls of rain occurred in other parts of the Punjab. During this period weather was very much cooler than usual in the area of precipitation, and the low temperature conditions spread southward and eastward over almost the whole of northwest India, the United Provinces and the central parts of the country. Rain fell locally in Assam, deltaic Bengal and Orissa, and a few falls were reported from Burma and south India.

Burma.—Rain fell in the Rangoon, Toungoo and Akyab districts, while a few very light falls were reported from other parts of the province. The sky was clear or lightly clouded and temperature was normal or in slight defect.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—No rain fell in Bihar, Chota Nagpur, the interior of Orissa and the Berhampore, Bogra and Dinajpur districts, but over the rest of the division light to moderate rainfall was received. Skies were lightly clouded on most days and temperature was normal.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Agra, Dehra Dun, Muktesar, Chakrata and Pendra reported light falls of rain. Clear or lightly clouded skies prevailed, and temperature was normal or in slight defect.

Northwest India.—Nearly general precipitation occurred in Kashmir, the North-West Frontier Province and the northwest Punjab, and isolated falls in other parts of the division. The skies were generally overcast in the hills and lightly clouded elsewhere. Weather was much cooler than usual over the greater part of the division, but especially in the Punjab and the North-West Frontier Province.

The Peninsula.—Rain fell locally in the Madras Deccan, southeast Madras, Mysore and Malabar. Skies were clear or lightly clouded and temperature was normal.

The following summarises the chief rainfall amounts as reported at 8 hrs. each day:—

- April 22nd. Narayanganj 0·83", Mymensingh 1·36", Dhubri 0·60", Dehra Dun 0·38", Rawalpindi 0·56", Murree 0·45" and Srinagar 0·80".
- „ 23rd. Khushab 0·72", Rawalpindi 0·67", Murree 0·56" and Hanumkonda 0·39".
- „ 24th. Balasore 0·85".
- „ 25th. Calcutta 0·45", Dera Ismail Khan 0·53" and Mysore 0·55".
- „ 26th. Peshawar 0·93", Dera Ismail Khan 0·88", Sirsa 0·01", Rawalpindi 0·48" and Cherat 1·55".
- „ 27th. Barisal 0·67", Jessore 0·63", Burdwan 0·49", Cuttack 1·01", Dhubri 0·80" and Sonemarg 1·10".
- „ 28th. Trichinopoly 0·64" and Kodaikanal 1·09".

The week's rainfall was in excess in Orissa, the Punjab, Kashmir and the North-West Frontier Province, normal in Bengal proper and Baluchistan, and in large defect elsewhere, but it has not appreciably affected the departures from normal of the seasonal rainfall from 3rd December to date.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 23rd April 1910.

Burma.—Hot weather prevails but showers are reported from nearly all districts. Sowing and transplanting of spring rice, plucking of tobacco and other minor operations in Upper Burma are progressing normally. In Lower Burma work is not yet due to begin for the next year's crop. There are no important changes in the prices of unhusked rice.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—Good rain has fallen everywhere except in the Rajshahi division where the fall has been scanty. The heaviest fall recorded is 18 inches at Hailakandi. In Lakhimpur more sun is required for tea. Sowing of jute and summer and winter rice and transplantation of sugarcane are in progress. Preparatory cultivation for these crops still continues. Weeding of jute is progressing. Plucking of tea and harvesting of spring rice are going on. Prospects of tea, spring rice and till are good. The average price of common rice has risen by about 1 per cent. Cattle disease is reported in Cachar, Goalpara, Kamrup, Nowgong and the Naga and Garo Hills.

Bengal.—Light rain fell in Darjeeling, Balasore and Puri and in all the districts of Lower Bengal excepting Bankura and Murshidabad. There was no rain in Chota Nagpur and Bihar except small showers in the Sonthal Parganas and Palamau. More rain is wanted in Midnapore, Nadia, Murshidabad and Jessore for standing crops and for sowing of autumn crops. Preparation of lands and planting of sugarcane continue. Harvesting of spring crops is almost completed. Vegetables and the newly planted sugarcane crops are doing well except in parts of the Sonthal Parganas where sugarcane is reported to be suffering from want of rain. There were hailstorms in the 24-Parganas, Howrah and Khulna and a severe one in Angul. Standing crops in parts of Bhagalpur are reported to have been damaged by the hailstorm of the preceding week. The price of common rice has risen in Howrah, Nadia, Murshidabad, Khulna, Patna, Shahabad, Saran, Champaran, Bhagalpur, Ranchi and Singhbhum and has fallen in Jessore, Monghyr, Purnea and Balasore. Cattle disease is reported from eleven districts. The fodder and water supply is sufficient except in parts of the Sonthal Parganas and Angul in both of which districts it is reported to be getting scarce.

United Provinces.—Light rain fell in three Himalayan districts. Threshing and winnowing of spring crops continue. Sugarcane and extra crops are being irrigated and promise well. Lands are being prepared for the autumn harvest. Opium weighments continue. Sporadic cattle disease is reported in nineteen districts but the general condition of agricultural stock continues good. Fodder and supplies are ample. Prices are still falling in eighteen districts but are stationary elsewhere.

Punjab.—Moderate to light rain has fallen in all districts except Delhi, Jullundur, Ferozepore and Amritsar. Harvesting of spring crops continues. Harvesting operations were retarded to some extent in Sialkot. The outturn of crops is generally good to average. Sowings of extra spring crops as well as of cotton and sugarcane are in progress. The condition of standing crops is generally good. Spring crops have been damaged slightly by hailstones in parts of Lahore, Lyallpur and Multan. Prices of food grains are generally unchanged but in places there is a downward tendency. The condition of cattle is good. Fodder is sufficient except in parts of the Rohtak, Shahpur and Mianwali districts.

North-West Frontier Province.—Good rain fell during the week throughout the Province which was beneficial to the extra spring and autumn sowings. The condition of standing crops is generally average except that unirrigated crops in the Peshawar and Dera Ismail Khan districts are reported to be slightly below the average. Sowing of sugarcane is finished in the Bannu District. Extra spring sowings are in progress. Harvesting of the gram, barley and oilseeds crops is in progress in parts of the Bannu district. Harvesting of the wheat crop has also commenced. Hail fell in the Tank tahsil in the Dera Ismail Khan district but no damage is reported to the crops. The water supply and fodder are sufficient except in the Shigga and Pakha circles of the Marwat tahsil in the Bannu district. Irrigation from the Paharpur Canal has commenced. There were floods in the Kurram and Tochi rivers. The condition of cattle is generally good except in one village of the Nowshera tahsil in the Peshawar district. The public health is generally good. Prices are nearly stationary. Prices :—wheat $11\frac{1}{4}$ to $14\frac{1}{2}$; gram $17\frac{1}{4}$ to 24; maize 18 to $22\frac{1}{2}$; bajra 17 to 19 and barley $19\frac{1}{2}$ seers per rupee.

Jammu.—Slight rain fell during the week. Prices are stationary. Wheat sells from 11 to 18 and maize from 18 to 25 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is fair. Cattle disease of mild type prevails in the Basohli tahsil. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—It rained five times during the week. The rain has been beneficial to spring crops which are in good condition. Ploughing for autumn crops is in progress. There is no disease among cattle. Cattle have commenced grazing on green grass which is growing up. Prices are unchanged.

Rajputana.—Rain fell in Jaisalmer, the hilly tracts of Mewar, Shahpura, Jaipur, Alwar and Bharatpur. The maximum fall was 21 cents in Alwar and the minimum 4 cents in Jaisalmer. Harvesting and threshing of spring crops are in progress. Cattle disease of mild type prevails in three villages of Banswara. Prospects are good. Fodder is sufficient. Prices are rising in Marwar, Bharatpur, Banswara, Shahpura and Kishangarh and are steady or falling elsewhere.

Central India.—Rainfall nil. Threshing of spring crops continues. Agricultural stock are healthy except for some disease in Indore, Baghelkhand, Bundelkhand and Bhopawar. Prices have fallen slightly in Gwalior; are fluctuating in Indore and are steady elsewhere. Extraction of opium is nearing completion in Indore.

Central Provinces.—The weather continues hot with occasional clouds. A few cents of rain were received in Saugor and Damoh. Threshing and winnowing of spring crops are nearly completed. Preparations of land for the next monsoon sowings and construction of field embankments are in full progress. Fodder and water are sufficient in most places. Agricultural stock are in good condition. Prices :—the price of wheat and rice remained stationary in sixteen and fifteen districts respectively and that of gram and juar in eighteen. In Mandla rice became dearer by 3 seers per rupee.

Feudatory States.—Only Bastar received 1 inch and 87 cents of rain during the week. Threshing and winnowing are almost completed. Agriculturists are busy in preparing land for the next autumn sowings. Fodder is sufficient except in some of the villages of the Kawardha State. The supply of water is sufficient. Prices remained steady except in Bastar where rice rose by 2 seers per rupee.

Bombay.—Slight rain fell during the week in the Upper Sind Frontier. Standing crops are in good condition. Harvesting of spring crops is nearly completed in parts of the Panch Mahals, Kaira and East Khandesh and is progressing in Sind, Ahmedabad, Broach, Kanara, West Khandesh, Savantvadi and the Gujarat Native States. Threshing continues in parts of Hyderabad, the Upper Sind Frontier, Broach, Colaba, East Khandesh, Nasik and Palanpur. Cotton-picking is progressing in parts of Gujarat, West Khandesh, Belgaum, Kathiawar, Baroda, Cutch and Rewa Kantha. Preparation of lands for the next season is general. The fodder supply is generally adequate except in parts of Sukkur, Larkana and Hyderabad. Agricultural stock are sufficient except in parts of the Deccan and generally in good condition. Drinking water is generally sufficient except in parts of West Khandesh, Sholapur and Belgaum. Irrigation water is adequate except in parts of Nasik, Poona, Sholapur, Satara and Belgaum. Grain stocks are sufficient. Prices have fallen in Sukkur and the Upper Sind Frontier; have risen in Kaira, Surat, Nasik, Sholapur and Bijapur and are stationary elsewhere. The quantity purchasable per rupee is in Sind 28 to 44 per cent; in Gujarat 17 to 30 per cent; in the Konkan 2 to 26 per cent; in the Deccan 13 to 33 per cent and in the Karnatak 32 to 39 per cent less than the normal.

Hyderabad.—No rain fell during the week. Rice is being irrigated in many parts. Harvesting of crops has begun in many parts of Telingana. The crop is generally fair but is suffering for want of water in parts of the Gulbarga, Nizamabad, Warangal and Karimnagar districts. High prices cause great anxiety to ryots in the Nizamabad and Karimnagar districts. Distress prevails in the Karimnagar district where Rs. 1,000 has been sanctioned for distribution to the distressed or infirm in doles or cash according to the rules of the Famine Code. A further sum of Rs. 4,000 has been placed at the disposal of the district authorities to be utilised by them if the situation grows more acute and critical. The Public Works Department have started ordinary road or irrigation works as far as possible. Water scarcity is reported in Ambar in the Aurangabad district; Ashti in the Bir district; Jintur and Pallam in the Parbhani district; Biloli in the Nander district; Lingsugur and Kushtagi in the Raichur district; Udgir and Janwada in the Bidar district and Mahadeopur and Sultanabad in the Karimnagar district. The water supply is decreasing in Diglur, Biloli and Nander in the Nander district; Gulbarga in the Gulbarga district; Kallam and Parendla in the Osmanabad district; Nilanga and Rajura in the Bidar district; Chirval and Miryalguda in the Nalgonda district; Armur, Nizamabad and Bodhen in the Nizamabad district; Pakhal, Mulug and Warangal in the Warangal district; Chinnur and Sirpur in the Adilabad district and Parkal, Jagtiyal, Mahadeopur and Karimnagar in the Karimnagar district. Cattle disease prevails in two talukas and fodder scarcity in thirty. Prices:—wheat 6½; coarse rice 6½ and juar 13½ seers per rupee. White juar is selling in Hyderabad City at 11½ seers. Yellow juar is not available. The highest price in districts is 8 seers in Jagtiyal in the Karimnagar district and Luksettipet in the Adilabad district and the lowest 20 seers in Rajura and Udgir in the Bidar district.

Mysore.—Prices of food grains are generally steady. Markets are well supplied. Standing crops are in good condition. Prospects of the season are good. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Rainfall 2 inches 14 cents. Coffee blossoms are out. Prices of food grains are stationary. The public health is fair. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Madras.—Rainfall nil in Cuddapah, Chingleput, Madras, South Arcot, Trichinopoly and Tanjore and light to fair elsewhere. Irrigation supplies are sufficient in Malabar and the Nilgiris and insufficient in parts of other districts. Ploughing, sowing, weeding and transplanting are in progress in parts. Standing crops are generally fair but some in parts of Bellary, the Carnatic, Central, Tanjore and South Canara have withered or are withering. Harvests continue with outturn poor to normal. Pasture is sufficient in Vizagapatam, Chingleput, Madras, South Arcot, Tanjore and the Nilgiris and insufficient in parts of other districts. Fodder is scanty in parts of Godavari, Guntur, Cuddapah and Nellore. The condition of cattle is generally good. The price of rice is stationary in thirteen districts; has fallen in two and has risen in eight. The prices of millets have fluctuated as follows:—Ragi is stationary in thirteen districts; has fallen in four and has risen in four. Cholam is stationary in three districts; has fallen in five and has risen in six. Cumbu is stationary in twelve districts and has fallen in three. The public health is generally good. Prospects are generally fair but more rain is required in South Arcot and Salem. The condition of the labouring classes is satisfactory everywhere and employment is readily available. Grain stocks are generally sufficient.

Nepal—Report for the quarter ending 15th April 1910:—The rainfall for the period was 1·51 against ·86 for the corresponding period of last year.

January and February.—The second crop of potatoes and winter vegetables were sown.

March.—In the Terai the spring crop (wheat, barley, gram and oilseeds) was harvested and the outturn was good. The sowing of makai (Indian corn) was commenced in the hills.

April.—The wheat crop in the hills is thriving. The barley crop will shortly be ready to be harvested. Peas (small) are being gathered. The second crop of potatoes is being dug. Fields are being prepared for paddy and makai. Red pepper and early rice are being sown. The prices of food grains are normal and the market is well stocked. Rain is wanted for the makai crop.

The health of live stock is reported to be good. The epidemic amongst elephants has subsided.

RESOLUTION.

A report by the Secretary under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888 (V of 1888), on the working of the Act during the calendar year 1909, is published for general information.

No. 1533-P., dated Calcutta, the 14th April 1910.

From—H. G. GRAVES, Esq., Secretary Under the Inventions and Designs Act,

To—The Secretary to the Government of India, Department of Commerce and Industry.

I have the honour to submit, for the information of the Government of India, the Annual Report of the Patent Office during the calendar year 1909.

2. The office, at 2, Bankshall Street, Calcutta, has been in my charge throughout the year, except between 9th May and 13th June when Mr. J. C. Shields, of the Indian Telegraph Department, officiated.

3. During the year 695 applications were made for leave to file specifications and 503 specifications were filed. The total number of applications under the present Act has been 10,205, and of specifications 7,890. In the previous year there was a temporary falling-off in the number of applications received, but the figures this year show a reversion to the normal line of progress. Compared with 1908 the increase in the number of applications has been large, viz., 144, and there have been 32 more specifications filed. The amount received as continuance fees, by payment of which existing privileges are kept in force, has increased by Rs. 4,400 and the total income of the office is better by Rs. 6,602.

4. As usual the applications covered a very wide field. There is, however, no markedly new direction in which invention has been exercised though the usual predominance in railway and textile industries still persists.

5. Of the 695 applications made during the year, 47 related to inventions that prima facie did not appear to be novel. In accordance with the practice that is now well established, the state of public knowledge was pointed out to the applicant, and he was given an opportunity of amending his application. Including 8 cases pending from the previous year, the result has been that 16 applications were abandoned, 4 were finally refused and leave was granted in 24 cases, 11 being still pending. Altogether leave was granted on 506 of these 695 applications during the year, 15 were rejected, 28 abandoned and 146 were pending on December 31st. 294 specifications were filed in respect of applications made during the year, while the balance 209 appertained to the applications of the previous years.

6. Exclusive privileges were kept alive after the fourth year by payment of prescribed fees in 678 cases, or 66 more than in the previous year, whilst 449, or 21 more than in 1908, ceased. Of the 7,890 specifications brought on the register, 2,699 are now in force, an increase of 54 as compared with 2,645 at the end of last year. The appended table shows the comparative age and number of these privileges for the various years.

7. One application only was made for the extension of an exclusive privilege beyond the normal period of 14 years. After due consideration it was refused.

8. Fifty-one applications for the registration of designs were received during the year, a decrease of fifteen as compared with 1908. Thirty-seven of these designs were registered. Two applications were abandoned, one was held over for consideration, and eleven were refused. The latter included one picture, four labels or trade marks and six designs for coin-like articles. Labels and trade marks are protected under the Merchandise Marks Act, not under Part 2 of the Inventions and Designs Act, and it is frequently necessary to impress applicants with the fact that there is no provision of law in British India for their registration as such. The desirability of such a provision has frequently been urged, but the consensus of opinion in this country is so strong that the proposals for a universal system of registration have always been negatived. As regards the designs for coin-like articles, it has been found that their resemblance to current or uncurrent coins is so close that fraud is liable to occur. Accordingly further registrations in respect of these articles will not be made.

9. The work of the office has progressed satisfactorily and has been kept up to date during the year. Various minor alterations, calculated to save unnecessary routine work and to assist in the prompt disposal of matters, have been made. No reference was made to the law officers and any other expert advice that was necessary was obtained informally. The annual consolidated index of all inventions and designs, for which protection was sought or obtained during 1908, was issued early in the year. Corresponding volumes, entitled "Inventions and Designs", are at this date available for the years 1905 to 1909 at the price of Re. 1 each. A consolidated subject-matter index of inventions in the years 1900 to 1908, together with a chronological list of applications 1900 to 1904, has been issued to supplement the annual volumes. It is sold at Rs. 2.

10. The publication, in September 1908, of the draft Bill for the amendment of the law relating to patents and designs elicited a number of opinions. On the whole they were decidedly favourable to the proposed changes, but they necessitated a certain number of alterations in the details. A second draft Bill was accordingly prepared and placed on sale at the Patent Office. Owing to the inauguration of the new Imperial Council it was not found possible to take any further step towards legislation before the end of the year under consideration. Since then, however, the Bill was introduced by the Hon'ble Mr. Robertson on 23rd March 1910 and will be circulated again for a final expression of opinion before submission to a Select Committee.

W. MAXWELL,
Secretary to the Government of India.

No. 3224—3229-20.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY.

(MERCHANT SHIPPING.)

Simla, the 29th April 1910.

RESOLUTION.

It has been brought to the notice of the Government of India that the proviso (a) in the Form of Agreement for the engagement of lascars in India, which provides that, save under special agreements voluntarily undertaken, the lascar crew of a vessel shall not be bound to serve on a voyage round Cape Horn, does not prohibit a voyage through the Straits of Magellan. It appears to them desirable that the proviso in question should apply to voyages through those Straits, and they are accordingly pleased to direct that the words "or through the Straits of Magellan" should be inserted after the words "Cape Horn" in the said proviso.

Ordered that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to the Government

Bombay, Princ Department.
Bengal,
Burma, Commerce Department.
Eastern Bengal and Assam, Public works (Marine) Department.

Ordered also, that the Resolution be published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India.

GAZETTE OF INDIA.

NOTICE.

The 24th March 1910.

From the 9th April next till further notice, Parts I, IV, V and VI of the Gazette of India and the Weather and Crop Report will be published at Simla. After the 2nd April all notifications and other matter intended for publication in the Gazette should be addressed to the Officiating Publisher at Simla.

Attention is invited to the following Circular Memorandum of the Government of India, Home Department, of August 1901:—

"It has been brought to the notice of this Department that matter for the Gazette of India is sometimes sent to the Press late on Friday evenings for publication in the next day's Gazette, and that this involves considerable inconvenience to the Press and expense to Government. In the Circular Memorandum of this Department, No. 777-79, dated 9th February 1870, the Government of India directed that all notifications or other matter intended for insertion in the Gazette of India should be delivered at the Press not later than 2 P.M. on Friday, and that any papers sent thereafter must be certified to be extremely urgent in order to ensure their appearance in the next day's Gazette. The undersigned is directed to request that these orders may be more strictly observed in future, and that Departments will refrain from sending to the Press as extremely urgent any papers which can without harm or inconvenience be held over for the next Gazette."

J. P. HEWETT,

Secretary to the Government of India.

No. 528.—The following rules made by the Hon'ble the Chief Commissioner in exercise of the powers conferred on him by section 2 of the Poisons Act, 1904 (Act I of 1904), for the purpose of regulating the possession for sale by retail and the sale by retail of certain poisons specified in the said rules within the limits of all Municipalities and Cantonments in Ajmer-Merwara, are published for general information :—

RULES.

1. The following substances are specified as poisons for the purposes of section 2, sub-section (3), of the Poisons Act, 1904 (I of 1904), namely :—

- (1) Aconite (Mahoor Mitha Telia) ;
- (2) Nux Vomica (Kuchla) ;
- (3) Perchloride of mercury (corrosive sublimate) (Raskapur) ;
- (4) Cyanide of potash (Vernacular name not known), and
- (5) Stramonium (Dhatura).

The expressions "sell" and "sale" mean respectively "sell by retail" and "sale by retail."

2. No person shall—

- (1) possess for sale by retail ; or
- (2) sell by retail any poison except under a license granted in this behalf by the District Magistrate and for Cantonment areas by the Cantonment Magistrate.

3. The grant of a license to any applicant shall be at the discretion of the District Magistrate and in the case of a Cantonment, the Cantonment Magistrate, whose decision thereon shall be final. The license shall be granted for the calendar year.

4. A fee of Rs 1 shall be charged for each annual license granted under rule 3, and shall be paid before the grant of such license. The license shall be inscribed on a non-judicial impressed stamped paper of the appropriate value : Provided that no fee shall be charged to any person already licensed to possess white arsenic for sale under the rules framed under section 4 of the Act.

5. A license shall terminate on the death of the license-holder.

6. The District Magistrate and in the case of a Cantonment, the Cantonment Magistrate may for any sufficient cause revoke or cancel any license granted under rule 3.

7. A license-holder shall effect every sale of poison in person.

8. A license-holder shall not sell any poison to any person,

- (a) who is not personally known to him or identified to his satisfaction, or
- (b) who appears to him to be under the age of eighteen years, or
- (c) who does not appear to him to be in full possession of his faculties, or
- (d) who is a wandering mendicant.

9. A license-holder shall not sell any poison in any quantity exceeding one ounce at any one time and to any one person.

10. (1) A license-holder shall maintain a register in which he shall enter all sales of poison.

(2) The following particulars shall be entered in respect of each sale in the register maintained under sub-rule (1), namely :—

- (a) serial number,
- (b) name of poison,
- (c) quantity sold,
- (d) date of sale,
- (e) name of purchaser,
- (f) address of purchaser,
- (g) purpose for which the poison is stated to be required,
- (h) signature of purchaser (or where the purchaser is illiterate, his thumb mark) and
- (i) signature of vendor.

11. A license-holder shall maintain in respect of each poison a stock register which shall contain the following particulars, namely :—

- (a) serial number,
- (b) date,
- (c) amount received,
- (d) name and address of person from whom received,
- (e) amount sold,
- (f) balance in stock and
- (g) remarks.

12. Any Magistrate, any Police Officer of or above the rank of Sub-Inspector, any revenue officer of or above the rank of Naib Tahsildar, or any Medical Officer of or above the rank of Hospital Assistant may at any time visit and inspect the premises of a license-holder where poison is kept for sale and may inspect all poisons found therein and the registers maintained under rules 10 and 11.

13. (1) All poisons shall be kept in securely closed receptacles of glass, tin or earthenware.

(2) All such receptacles shall be kept in a separate locked almirah or box and shall be marked in paint with the name of the poison contained therein.

(3) Every almirah or box and each receptacle within such almirah or box shall have the word "poison" in English and vernacular painted upon it in red letters.

14. (1) When any poison is sold, it shall be securely packed in a packet.

(2) Every packet sold shall be labelled by the vendor with a red label bearing the name of the poison in the vernacular and the number and date of the entry in the register of sales.

15. When a license-holder also deals in poisons wholesale, the stock maintained for sale as defined in these rules shall be kept entirely distinct from any stock maintained for the purpose of wholesale transactions.

No. 529.—The following rules made by the Hon'ble the Chief Commissioner in exercise of the powers conferred on him by section 4 of the Poisons Act, 1904 (Act I of 1904), for the purpose of regulating the possession for sale by retail and the sale by retail of white arsenic in Ajmer-Merwara are published for general information.

RULES.

1. For the purposes of these rules the expressions "sell" and "sale" mean respectively "sell by retail" and "sale by retail".

2. No person shall

- (1) possess white arsenic for sale by retail, or
- (2) sell white arsenic by retail except under a license granted in this behalf by the District Magistrate and for Cantonment areas by the Cantonment Magistrate.

3. The grant of a license to any applicant shall be at the discretion of the District Magistrate and in the case of a Cantonment the Cantonment Magistrate whose decision thereon shall be final. The license shall be granted for the calendar year.

4. A fee of Rs 1 shall be charged for each annual license granted under rule 3 and shall be paid before the grant of such license. The license shall be inscribed on a non-judicial impressed stamped paper of the appropriate value : Provided that no fee shall be charged to any person already licensed to possess poisons for sale under the rules framed under section 2 of the Act.

5. A license shall terminate on the death of the license-holder.

6. The District Magistrate and in the case of a Cantonment the Cantonment Magistrate may for any sufficient cause revoke or cancel any license granted under rule 3.

7. A license-holder shall effect every sale of white arsenic in person.

8. A license-holder shall not sell any white arsenic to any person,

- (a) who is not personally known to him or identified to his satisfaction, or
- (b) who appears to him to be under the age of eighteen years, or

No. 1014.

Simla, the 7th May, 1910.

The Governor General in Council announces with the deepest regret the demise of His Most Gracious Majesty King Edward VII, King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas and Emperor of India.

The Governor General in Council hereby directs that the Officers of His Majesty's Civil, Military and Marine Services do put themselves into mourning until further orders.

The Governor General in Council requests that a similar mark of respect may, on this most melancholy occasion, be observed by all other classes of British subjects in India.

The flag at Fort William and at all other forts and stations will be hoisted half-mast high until further orders and 101 minute guns will be fired at each of the principal Garrisons and Stations.

By Order of the Governor General in Council,

H. G. STOKES,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of India.

Government of India Notifications, Appointments, Promotions, &c.

Simla, the 5th May, 1910.

No 828-M.—Notice is hereby given that HIS EXCELLENCY THE VICEROY AND GOVERNOR GENERAL will hold a Levée at Viceregal Lodge, Simla, at 9-45 P. M. on Tuesday, the 24th May 1910.

All Civil and Military Officers and the Indian Officers of the Infantry Guard are invited to attend.

The following regulations are to be observed :

- I.—Admission into Viceregal Lodge on the occasion of the Levée will be by ticket only which will be issued by the Military Secretary's Office on receipt of applications from Officers and other gentlemen who are already on the Viceregal Lodge List, or who have already been presented at the Court of St. James, and are desirous of attending the Levée.
- II.—Applications for tickets of admission, with addresses, should be submitted to the Military Secretary's Office not later than the 21st May, after which date no applications will be received.

III.—On receipt of applications, tickets of admission to Viceregal Lodge will be issued. These same tickets will be made use of by the Military Secretary when reading the names to His Excellency the Viceroy and must consequently be carefully preserved. No other name-cards will be required.

IV.—Rules I, II and III do not apply to gentlemen who have the privilege of the Private Entrée to Viceregal Lodge.

V.—Gentlemen who have not already been presented at the Court of St. James, or at the Viceregal Court, should send in their names and addresses through the gentlemen who propose to present them to the Military Secretary's Office not later than Wednesday, the 18th May 1910, in order that the names may be submitted to His Excellency, when, if they are approved, presentation cards will be forwarded. These presentation cards will be made use of by the Military Secretary when reading the names to His Excellency the Viceroy and must therefore be carefully preserved.

VI.—Gentlemen presenting others must themselves attend the Levée.

VII.—Gentlemen entitled to wear uniform will appear in Full Dress: Military Officers—Review Order, dismounted; Civilians—Levée Dress. Helmets will not be taken to the Levée.

VIII.—Clergymen being University Graduates and other gentlemen entitled to wear robes or gowns on account of Judicial or Academical office or status, and not entitled to wear uniform, will appear in such robes or gowns.

IX.—Gentlemen not entitled to wear uniform, or robes or gowns, will appear in Evening Dress.

X.—Indian gentlemen who do not appear in the dress prescribed above will wear Choga, Aba or Jubba and Chapkan, Chilta, Saya or Kaba with trousers and their distinctive National head dress, or the ceremonial dress approved for their class by the Local Government.

In the case of Bengali gentlemen the head dress should be a Pugree generally known as Shamla or Mouratta, and not a brimless cap.

In the case of Burmese gentlemen, the head dress should be a white fillet, the hair being dressed in a top knot.

Indian gentlemen who do not appear in the dress prescribed in Rules VII, VIII and IX should not remove their head dress when they pass His Excellency.

At the Viceregal Court, only patent leather boots or shoes of an English pattern are allowed to be worn, except in the case of Indian Military Officers, who wear the particular style of boot or shoe which forms part of their uniform.

N.B.—Gentlemen who had intended to be present but have found themselves unable to attend should submit an explanatory letter to the Military Secretary to the Viceroy before, or as soon as possible after, the Levée,

By Command,

VICTOR BROOKE, Lt.-Colonel,

Military Secretary to the Viceroy.

EDUCATION.

Simla, the 3rd May 1910.

No. 434.—The following Consolidated Regulations of the several societies of Lincoln's Inn, the Middle Temple, the Inner Temple, and Gray's Inn are published for general information:

1st October, 1910.(See Rule 40.)

CONSOLIDATED REGULATIONS

SOCIETIES OF LINCOLN'S INN, THE MIDDLE TEMPLE, THE INNER TEMPLE, AND GRAY'S INN

(HEREINAFTER DESCRIBED AS THE FOUR INNS OF COURT)

AS TO

THE ADMISSION OF STUDENTS, THE MODE OF KEEPING TERMS, THE EDUCATION AND EXAMINATION OF STUDENTS, THE CALLING OF STUDENTS TO THE BAR, AND THE TAKING OUT OF CERTIFICATES TO PRACTISE UNDER THE BAR.

Admission of Students.

1. Every person, not otherwise disqualified, who shall have passed an Examination prescribed by Rule 2, and made the Declaration set out in Rule 5, and lodged such certificate or certificates of good character as are required by Rules 6, 7 and 8, shall be entitled to be admitted as a Student of an Inn of Court.

2. Every person, except such as come under Rules 15, 17, 18, and 19, who applies to be admitted as a Student of an Inn of Court must have passed one of the examinations in the Schedule hereto or such examination in lieu thereof as may from time to time be approved by the Council of Legal Education. Provided that the Masters of the Bench of the Inn of Court to which such person desires to be admitted, shall have power to relax or dispense with this Rule in any case in which they think special circumstances justify such a course.

3. No person being or acting directly or indirectly in the capacity of a Solicitor, Attorney at Law, Writer to the Signet, Writer of the Scotch Courts, Proctor, Notary Public, Clerk in Chancery, Parliamentary Agent, Agent in any Court original or appellate, Clerk to any Justice of the Peace, Registrar or High Bailiff of any Court, Official Provisional Assistant or Deputy Receiver or Liquidator under any Bankruptcy or Winding-up Act, Chartered Incorporated or Professional Accountant, Land Agent, Surveyor, Patent Agent, Consulting Engineer, Clerk to any Judge, Barrister, Conveyancer, Special Pleader, or Equity Draftsman, Clerk of the Peace, or Clerk to any Officer in any Court of Justice :¹

And no person either directly or indirectly acting in any capacity similar to any of those above enumerated :¹

And no person being or acting as Clerk to, or in the service of any person acting in any of the above capacities or in any capacity similar thereto¹ (except as a pupil as herein-after mentioned) :

And no person holding any appointment which involves the performance of duties analogous to those of a Clerk to any Officer in any Court of Justice :

And no person engaged in trade² or who is an undischarged bankrupt shall be admitted as a Student at any Inn of Court until he shall have entirely and bond fide ceased to be such or to act or practise in any of the capacities above-named or described, and if on the Rolls of any Court, shall have taken his name off the Rolls thereof.

4. A Student of an Inn of Court shall not after his admission be a "pupil" for more than 12 months altogether, and shall cease to be such not less than 12 months before making the declaration required by Regulation 25.

"Pupil" means a pupil or clerk of any of the persons mentioned in the first paragraph of Rule 3, who is such for educational reasons only, without remuneration, and with no intention of practising or adopting the profession or calling of the persons whose pupil or clerk he is.

1. These disqualifications do not necessarily apply to persons holding these positions elsewhere than in the United Kingdom; in such cases each application for admission is considered on its merits.

2. This regulation may be relaxed where such special circumstances are shown to exist as would render the occupation of the applicant compatible with his qualification for and his practice of the Profession of a Barrister.

5. Every person who applies to be admitted as a Student of any Inn of Court shall make a Declaration in the following form :—

Declaration to be made by the Applicant.

I, _____ of _____ a British subject¹ aged _____ the Son of _____ Solicitors.

15. A Student who, at any time previously to his admission at an Inn of Court, was a Solicitor in practice for not less than five consecutive years, either in England or in any Colony or Dependency, but who in either case was admitted in England, and in accordance with Rule 3 has ceased to be a Solicitor, before his admission as a Student, may be examined for Call to the Bar without keeping any Terms, and may be called to the Bar upon passing the public Examination required by these Rules, without keeping any Terms;

Provided that such Solicitor has given at least twelve months' notice in writing to each of the Four Inns of Court, and to the Incorporated Law Society, of his intention to seek Call to the Bar, and produces a Certificate that he is a fit and proper person to be called to the Bar, signed, if his practice was in England, by two Members of the Council of the Incorporated Law Society, and, if his practice was in a Colony or Dependency, by the Chief Justice of such Colony or Dependency;

Provided also that before his admission as a Student such Solicitor has ceased to have any capital invested in the business with which he was formerly connected, or to be in any way interested therein, or to have his name connected therewith and makes a Declaration to that effect.

A Student desiring to take advantage of this Rule is to pay the same fees as are payable by other Students, make the usual Deposit, enter into the usual Bond for Commons and pay the sum of £5 5s. for the forms of notice required by this Rule, in addition to the usual Student's fees on entrance to an Inn of Court.

A Student coming under this Rule may be exempted by the Masters of the Bench of the Inn to which he seeks Admission from passing any Examination under Rule 2.

Dealings between Members of the Bar and Solicitors.

16. Any dealings between Members of the Bar and Solicitors as regards sharing costs or profits in any shape are incompatible with the discipline of the Bar.

Irish Barristers.

17. So long as the Regulations affecting the Call to the Bar in Ireland remain substantially as at present, any Member of the Bar of Ireland of three years' standing at the Irish Bar may, upon presenting a Certificate of his Call duly authenticated, and a Certificate from the Attorney-General or the Solicitor-General of Ireland that the Applicant is a fit and proper person to be called to the English Bar, become a Member of an Inn of Court and be called to the English Bar, upon keeping Three Terms without submitting to any Examination.

Colonial Barristers.

18. While the two branches of the Profession are kept distinct in New South Wales, Ceylon, and the Cape of Good Hope, as at present, and the Regulations affecting the Call to the Bars of those Colonies remain substantially as they are at present, any Member of the Bar of New South Wales, or of the Bar of Ceylon, and any Member of the Bar of the Cape of Good Hope, qualified under the Charter of June 1834, the Acts of 1858 and 1873 or either of them, being a Barrister of three years' standing, may, on presenting a Certificate of Call to any of such Bars duly authenticated, and a Certificate by a Judge of the Supreme Court of the Colony, and by the Attorney-General or Senior Law Officer thereof, that the Applicant is a fit and proper person to be called to the English Bar, become a Member of any Inn of Court; and be called to the English Bar on keeping Three Terms without submitting to any Examination.

Vakils.

19. (1) A Vakil on production of a Certificate that he is on the roll of Vakils of a High Court of India, shall not be required to pass any Examination under rule 2.

(2) A Vakil, on production of a Certificate from a Barrister, that he has attended, as a Student, for twelve months in the said Barrister's Chambers in London, shall be granted a dispensation of Four Terms, in addition to such Terms as may be dispensed with by his Inn of Court, under Rule 59, by reason of his having passed his Bar Examination with Honours.

Calling to the Bar.

20. Every Student shall have attained the age of Twenty-one years before being called to the Bar.

21. Every Student, except such as come under Rules 15, 17, 18, and 19, shall have kept Twelve Terms before being called to the Bar, unless any Term or Terms shall have been dispensed with under special circumstances by the Benchers of the Inn;

Provided that in no case shall a dispensation of a greater number than Two Terms be granted.

22. Except in cases within Rule 17 or 18, no Student shall be called to the Bar unless he has, to the satisfaction of the Council of Legal Education, passed a Public Examination for the purpose of ascertaining his fitness to be called to the Bar, and obtains from the Council a Certificate of having passed such Examination.

23. No Student shall be called to the Bar until his name and description shall have been screened in the Hall, Benchers' Room, and Treasurer's or Steward's Office, of the Inn of which he is a Student, twelve days in Term before such call.

24. The name and description of every such Student shall be sent to the other Inns, and shall also be screened for the same space of time in their respective Halls, Benchers' Rooms, and Treasurers' or Stewards' Offices.

25. No Call to the Bar shall take place except during a Term; and such Call shall be made on the same day by each of the Inns, namely, on the sixteenth day of each Term, unless such day shall happen to be Saturday or Sunday, and in such case on the Monday after; and every Student shall, previous to Call, make either the following Declaration, or the Declaration in the Appendix to these Regulations, as the case may be.

[DECLARATION TO BE MADE BEFORE CALL TO THE BAR BY ANY STUDENT WHO FIRST BECAME A MEMBER OF ANY INN OF COURT AFTER THE 25TH MAY 1908.]

* Declaration to be made by a Student before Call to the Bar.

I,

Certificates to practise under the Bar.

26. No Student shall be allowed to take out a certificate to practise under the Bar without the special permission of the Masters of the Bench of the Inn of Court of which he is a Student, to be given by order of such Masters, and no such permission shall be granted to any Student unless he shall be qualified to be called to the Bar, and the regulations, as to screening names in the Halls, Benchers' Rooms and Treasurers' or Stewards' Offices, applicable to Students desirous of being called to the Bar, shall be applicable to Students desirous of practising under the Bar. Such permission shall be granted for one year only from the date thereof, but may be renewed annually.

Council of Legal Education.

27. The Council of Legal Education shall consist of twenty Benchers, five to be nominated by each Inn of Court, of whom four shall be a quorum. The Members of the Council shall remain in office for two years, and each Inn shall have power to fill up any vacancy that may occur in the number of its nominees during that period. To this Council shall be entrusted the power and duty of superintending the Education and Examination of Students, and of arranging and settling the details of the several measures which may be deemed necessary to be adopted for those purposes, or in relation thereto, and such other matters as are herein in that behalf mentioned.

†State name, address and profession or calling of the person or persons firm or firms, whose pupil the Declarant was, and the period or periods for which he was such pupil.

The following Regulations shall, as regards the powers of the Council, be directory only, and shall be subject to such modifications and amendments as the Council shall deem expedient, but any such modification or amendment shall be forthwith reported to the Four Inns, and shall be discontinued if objected to by any one of them :

The Committee of Education or Board of Studies.

28. The Council shall appoint a Committee of the Members of the Council, or, if deemed expedient, a Board of Studies consisting of Members of the Council and of the Teaching Staff. The constitution of such Committee or Board, and the period for which its Members shall hold office, shall be from time to time determined by the Council.

29. The Committee or Board shall, subject to the control of the Council, superintend and direct the Education and Examination of Students, and all matters of detail in respect to such Education and Examination.

Lectures and Classes.

30. The Lectures and Classes shall be open to all members of the Inns of Court, and such other persons as the Council may admit.

31. Students shall be provided with the means of Education in the general principles of Law, and in the Law as practically administered in this country, and for the purpose of such Education, systematic Instruction shall be given in the following subjects :

1. Roman Law and Jurisprudence and International Law, Public and Private (conflict of Laws).

2. Constitutional Law (English and Colonial) and Legal History.

3. Evidence, Procedure (Civil and Criminal), and Criminal Law.

4. English Law and Equity, viz. :

(a) Law of Persons, including :

 Infancy.
 Lunacy.
 Corporations.

(b) Law of Real and Personal Property and Conveyancing, including :

{ Trusts; Mortgages.
 Administration of Assets on Death; on Dissolution of Partnerships, on Winding-up of companies, and in Bankruptcy.
 Practical Instruction in the preparation of Deeds, Wills, and Contracts.

(c) Law of Obligations :

{ Contracts.
 Torts.
 Allied Subjects (implied or quasi contracts), estoppel, &c.
 Commercial Law, with especial reference to Mercantile Documents in daily use, which should be shown and explained.

Staff of Teachers and Mode of Teaching.

32. There shall be a permanent staff of such a number of Readers, not more than eight, as the Council may think expedient, and such Readers shall give instruction both catechetically and by lectures, in such subjects as shall be directed by the Council.

33. In addition to the Readers there shall be a permanent staff of Assistant Readers for Elementary Classes, but the number of such Assistant Readers and Elementary Classes shall be left to the Council.

34. In addition to the staff of Readers and Assistant Readers the Council shall also have power to engage the services of Lecturers on particular subjects, whether enumerated above or not, as they may think fit.

35. Both Lectures and Classes shall be held throughout the entire year, except during the Legal Vacations, at such place or places as the Council may appoint, but so as not to unduly prefer one Inn to another.

Tenure of Offices as regards Readers, Assistant Readers, and Examiners.

36. All appointments shall be annual.

37. In all cases the holder of the appointment shall be eligible for re-election.

38. To secure systematic instruction, the Scheme of the Lectures to be given by each Reader and Assistant Reader shall be submitted to, and approved by, the Committee or Board of Studies, at such times and in such manner as the Committee or Board shall direct.

39. Students, in addition to availing themselves of the means of instruction provided by these Regulations, are recommended to attend in the Chambers of a Barrister or Pleader for the purpose of studying the practice of the Law; but such attendance shall not be compulsory.

Salaries and Payments.

40. The sum of £500 per annum shall be paid to each of the Readers.

41. The remuneration of the Assistant Readers and Lecturers on particular subjects shall be left to the discretion of the Council.

42. Each Student shall pay on admission a sum of Five Guineas, which shall entitle him so long as he shall be a Student to attend all the Lectures and Classes of all the Readers and Assistant Readers and all Examinations which Students may be required to pass. The Council shall have power to require payment of additional fees for attendance at the Lectures of Lecturers on particular subjects appointed under Regulation 34.

The Examinations for Call to the Bar.

43. There shall be four examinations for Calls to the Bar in each year—one before each Term, and in sufficient time to enable the requisite Certificates to be granted by the Council on or before the first day of each Term.

44. The Bar Examination consists of two parts. No Student will receive a Certificate of Fitness for Call to the Bar unless he has passed a satisfactory Examination in both parts. Every Student must satisfy the Examiners in each of the following subjects :

PART I.

I. Roman Law.

II. Constitutional Law (English and Colonial) and Legal History.

III. Criminal Law and Procedure.

Every Student must also satisfy the Examiners in one of the following subjects :

IV. Real Property and Conveyancing,

or

Hindu and Mahomedan Law

or

Roman-Dutch Law.

PART II.

THE FINAL EXAMINATION.

Every Student will be examined in the same subjects.

Four papers will be set, namely :

(a) A paper in Common Law.

(b) A paper in Equity

(c) A paper on the Law of Evidence and Civil Procedure.

(d) A General Paper on the above subjects (a), (b) and (c).

Every Student must present himself for these four papers at the same Examination.

NOTE.—Any Student, who before 12th January 1908, passed in the subject "Evidence, Procedure (Civil and Criminal) and Criminal Law," under the former regulations, will for the present be allowed the following option :—

(a) He may if he wishes proceed under these regulations and present himself for Subject IV. of Part I, and for the Final Examination as now constituted,

or

(b) He may if he prefers be excused from passing separately in Subject IV. of Part I, and take the paper on Real Property and conveyancing as part of his Final Examination instead of the paper on the Law of Evidence and Civil Procedure [Part II, (c)] ; in which case he will be asked in his General Paper questions on Real Property and Conveyancing instead of questions on the Law of Evidence and Civil Procedure.

45. A Student may present himself for Examination in all or any of the Subjects I, II, III, and IV of Part I of the Bar Examination at any time after admission. Without the special leave of the Council no Student shall present himself for Part II unless he has kept Six Terms.

46. No Student will be allowed to pass in Part II of the Bar Examination unless he has previously, or at the same Examination, satisfied the Examiners in all four subjects of Part I. But if a Student takes up any subject of Part I at the same time as Part II and fails in Part II he will nevertheless be allowed to pass in any subject of Part I in which he has satisfied the Examiners.

47. A Student who presents himself for any Examination and whose papers show that he had no reasonable expectation of passing will not be admitted for Examination again until the expiration of such time as the Council may direct.

48. In all Examinations successful Students will be classified according to merit. In each Class the names will be arranged alphabetically, except as to Class I and Class II in the Final Examination, in which the names will appear in order of merit.

49. The Council may, at their discretion, substitute an Examination in Hindu and Mahomedan Law, or in Roman-Dutch Law, for an Examination in English Real and Personal Property or one of the other subjects mentioned in Rule 31.

50. The Council may accept as an equivalent for the Examination in Roman Law—

i. A Degree granted by any University within the British Dominions, for which the qualifying Examination included Roman Law ;

ii. A Certificate that any Student has passed any such Examination, though he may not have taken the Degree for which such Examination qualifies him ;

Provided the Council is satisfied that the Student, before he obtained his Degree, or such Certificate, passed a sufficient Examination in Roman Law.

51. There shall be a Board of Examiners in each subject, vis., a Reader, with such Assistants selected by the Council, not being members of the Staff of Readers and Assistant Readers, as the Council may determine.

52. Examination for Call to the Bar shall be by written papers, and by such viva voce questions (if any) as the Examiners may think desirable.

53. The Council shall have power to appoint such Assistant Examiners as may be necessary, who shall hold office during the pleasure of the Council.

54. The fee to be paid to each Examiner and Assistant Examiner shall be left to the discretion of the Council.

Honours and Studentships.

55. A Student who obtains a First Class at the Final Examination (Part II), and who, either before or at such Examination, passes in Subjects I, II, III, and IV of Part I will receive a Certificate of Honour.

56. At the Hilary and Trinity Examinations in each year a Studentship of one Hundred Guineas per annum, tenable for three years, will be awarded to the Student who passes the best Examination in Part II, and obtains a Certificate of Honour. The Council will not award a Studentship if the result of the Examination be such as, in their opinion, not to justify the award. Where Candidates appear to be equal, or nearly equal, in merit, the Council may divide the Studentship between them equally, or in such proportions as they consider just.

57. The expense of these Studentships shall be defrayed out of the Common Fund.

58. At every Call to the Bar those Students who have obtained Studentships or Certificates of Honour will take rank in seniority over all other Students called on the same day. Those Students who have obtained Certificates of Honour will take rank immediately after the holder of a Studentship called on the same day.

59. The Inn of Court to which the holder of any Studentship or of any Certificate of Honour belongs, may, if desired, dispense with any Terms, not exceeding two, that may remain to be kept by such Student previously to his being called to the Bar.

60. At the Easter and Michaelmas Examinations the Council may award to the Student who passes the best Examination in Subject II (Constitutional Law, English and Colonial, and Legal History), a Special Prize of £50, and a similar Prize to the Student who passes the best Examination in Subject III (Criminal Law and Procedure). The Council will not award the Prize if the result of the Examination be such as in their opinion not to justify the award. Where Candidates appear to be equal, or nearly equal, in merit, the Council may divide the Prize between them equally, or in such proportions as they consider just.

61. No Student will be eligible for a Studentship or for a Prize who is over twenty-five years of age on the first day of the Examination. This limit of age does not apply in the case of Honours.

62. A Student who has passed the Examination in any subject in Part I will not be allowed to present himself again for Examination in that subject. A Student who has passed the Examination in Part II will not be allowed to present himself again for that Examination. Nevertheless, any Member of an Inn of Court who has already passed in any one of the three alternative papers in Subject IV of Part I (Real Property and Conveyancing, Hindu and Mahomedan Law, or Roman-Dutch Law) may subsequently, after passing Part II, present himself for Examination in any other of these alternative papers, and if he passes will be granted a special Certificate to that effect.

63. The Examiners shall submit their Examination Papers to the Committee or Board of Studies, for approval at such time as the Committee or Board shall direct; and the number of marks to be attributed to each paper shall also be submitted to the Committee or Board for their approval.

64. Previous to each Examination the Committee or Board shall give such notice as they shall think fit of the Books and branches of subjects in which Students will be required to pass at such Examination in order to be entitled to a Certificate.

65. One Examiner at least shall be present during the whole time of the Examination in writing.

66. The Board of Examiners shall, after each Examination, report the result thereof to the Committee or Board of Studies, who shall submit to the Council the names of those Students (if any) who are in their opinion entitled to receive Pass or Honour Certificates or to obtain Studentships.

67. All Students shall be bound by such variations as may from time to time be made in these Regulations.

Common Fund.

68. The four Inns of Court shall continue their annual contributions of Three Hundred and Sixty Pounds each towards constituting the Common Fund, to which shall be added the several fees for Forms of Admission and for attending Lectures; and also the several sums of Five Guineas for each Student, to be paid by the Inns of Court respectively, as additional contributions pursuant to the Report of the Committee of the four Inns of Court, dated 6th December 1871; and any further money which may, from time to time, be required to enable the Common Fund to meet the charges on it in any year, shall be contributed by the four Inns of Court at the end of such year, rateably and in proportion to the number of Students belonging to the four Inns respectively, who shall in that year have been called to the Bar or have for the first time obtained permission to practise under the Bar.

69. These Regulations shall come into force on the first day of October 1910.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 5th May 1910, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

Moderately heavy rain fell in all parts of Assam, and light rain over the greater part of Eastern Bengal and Bengal proper. Weather was unsettled on most days in northwest India, and precipitation occurred in northeast Baluchistan and the extreme north. Temperature, especially during the first part of the week, was in defect over the greater part of northern India, but it had recovered by the 5th. Isolated falls of rain were reported from Burma, the east of the Central Provinces and the peninsula.

Burma.—Rain fell at Mergui, Tavoy and Lashio. The sky was generally clear or lightly clouded, and temperature was normal or in slight defect.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—Rain fell in Assam on every day of the week, and light to moderate rainfall occurred over almost the whole of the division. Skies were lightly to thickly clouded, and temperature was normal or in defect.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Rain fell in the Raipur, Pendra, Jagdalpur, Muktesar and Chakrata districts. The sky was generally clear to lightly clouded. In the early part of the week the air was damper than usual; later however the humidity fell below the average. Temperature was for the most part in defect, but exhibited a tendency to rise.

Northwest India.—Light falls of rain occurred almost throughout the division. Skies were generally lightly clouded and the air contained the average amount of moisture. Temperature was in moderate to large defect in the early part of the week, but increased later, night temperature becoming normal in nearly all parts.

The Peninsula.—Light rain fell in many districts in the southern half of the peninsula. The sky was clear to lightly clouded over the Bombay Deccan, and lightly to moderately clouded elsewhere, while humidity was equal to the average or in defect. Temperature was normal or in slight defect.

The following summarises the chief rainfall amounts as reported at 8 hrs. each day :—

- April 29th. Tezpur 1'17", Dhubri 0'48", Narayanganj 1'45", Mymensingh 3'38", Jalpaiguri 0'76", Saugor Island 0'46", Jessore 0'55", Burdwan 1'07", Berhampore 0'55", Chaibassa 0'56", Ranchi 0'56", Darbhanga 0'39", Patna 0'58" and Tinnevely 0'50".

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday,
30th April 1910.

Burma.—The districts report that no rain or only slight showers were received during the week. Preparation of the ground for wet weather cultivation has begun in Upper Burma. Harvesting of tobacco and other island crops has now been practically completed. Standing crops—chiefly irrigated rice in certain parts of Upper Burma—are in good condition. The price of unhusked rice has fallen slightly in Akyab and Rangoon and considerably in the Southern Shan States where the price is still above normal. The price is also above normal in the Northern Shan States.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—The weather is seasonable. Light to moderate rain fell throughout the Province. More rain is wanted in the Rajshahi division for immediate sowing. Sowing of paddy and Indian-corn has commenced in the hills. Sowing of paddy and jute, plucking of tea and harvesting of spring rice are progressing in the plains. Preparation of fields for autumn crops still continues. Prospects of tea, spring rice and til are good. The average price of common rice has fallen by 1 per cent. Cattle disease prevails in Backarganj, Cachar, Goalpara, Kamrup, Darrang, Nowgong and the Naga and Garo Hills.

Bengal.—Rain fell in all districts excepting Monghyr, the fall being heavy in Burdwan; moderate in Birbhum, Midnapore, Hooghly, Nadia, Jessore, Khulna, Darjeeling, the Sonthal Parganas, Balasore, Angul, Singhbhum and Cooch Behar and light elsewhere. The recent rainfall has been beneficial in Howrah, Jessore, Darbhanga, Bhagalpur, the Sonthal Parganas and Cooch Behar but more rain is wanted in parts of Midnapore, Murshidabad and Darbhanga. Preparation of lands and planting of sugarcane continue. Sowing of jute is going on in Purnea, Darjeeling and in the districts of the Presidency division. Vegetables and the newly planted sugarcane crop are doing well. The price of common rice has risen in Bankura, Murshidabad, Khulna, Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, Purnea and Hazaribagh and has fallen in Nadia and Palamau. Cattle disease is reported from fourteen districts. The fodder supply is scanty in Angul and the Sonthal Parganas. Water is becoming scarce in these two districts and also in Birbhum.

United Provinces.—Light but general rain fell in three-fourths of the Provinces. Harvesting of spring crops continues in the Himalayan districts and threshing in the plains. Sugarcane and extra crops are being irrigated and are flourishing. Opium weighments continue. Land is being prepared for autumn crops. Cattle disease is reported in parts of nineteen districts but the general condition of agricultural stock continues satisfactory. Fodder and supplies are ample everywhere. Prices have fallen in twelve districts and are stationary or fluctuating elsewhere.

Punjab.—Light to moderate rain has fallen throughout the Province. Harvesting of spring crops and sowings of extra spring crops, cotton and fodder are in progress. Harvesting operations were retarded to some extent in Sialkot and crops have also suffered somewhat in Ferozepore and Mianwali from the recent rain. The outturn of spring crops is generally expected to be good to average. The condition of standing crops is generally good. Hailstones damaged the standing crops in parts of Shahpur and Lyallpur. Prices generally show a downward tendency. The condition of cattle is good. Fodder is sufficient except in parts of the Shahpur and Mianwali districts.

North-West Frontier Province.—Good rain fell throughout the Province during the week and though it was not beneficial to standing crops it stimulated further sowings of extra spring and autumn crops. The condition of standing crops is average on irrigated lands and below average on unirrigated areas except in certain villages of the Marwat tahsil of the Bannu district where the crops were completely ruined by hailstorms. Hail also fell in the Mardan tahsil but did no damage. Harvesting of gram and barley is finished in Bannu but is still in progress in Peshawar. Floods occurred in the Kurram and Tochi rivers. There was extensive irrigation from the Paharpur Canal. Water and fodder are sufficient. The health of the people is generally good. The condition of cattle is good but disease is reported from two villages in the Peshawar district. Fluctuations in prices are insignificant. Prices: wheat 19½ to 14½; maize 18 to 21½; gram 17½ to 24; and dajra 16½ to 19 per rupee.

Jammu.—Slight rain fell during the week. Prices are fluctuating. Wheat sells from 11 to 20 and maize from 18 to 32 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is fair. Cattle disease of mild type prevails in the Basohli tahsil. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—Rain fell twice during the week and was beneficial to spring crops which are in good condition. Sowings of autumn crops have commenced. There is no disease among cattle. Fodder is sufficient. Prices are stationary.

Rajputana.—Rain fell during the week in Marwar, Jaisalmer, Sirohi, Bundi, Kotah, Jaipur, Kishangarh, Alwar, Karauli, Dholpur and Ajmer Merwara. The maximum fall was 1 inch 30 cents in Kishangarh and the minimum 2 cents in Kotah. Harvesting and threshing are in progress. Cattle disease still continues in three villages of Banswara. Prospects are good. Fodder is sufficient. Prices are rising in Bikaner, Jaisalmer, Marwar, Karauli, Bharatpur and Ajmer and are steady or falling elsewhere.

Central India.—Rainfall nil. Threshing of spring crops is in progress. Agricultural stock are in good condition except for some disease in Indore, Baghelkhand, Bundelkhand and Bhopawar. Prices have fallen slightly in Gwalior; are fluctuating in Indore and are steady elsewhere.

Central Provinces.—The weather has been hot and cloudy. Light local showers were received in Akola, the Nagpur country and the Chhattisgarh districts. Raipur received 1 inch 49 cents of rain. Threshing and winnowing of spring crops have almost been completed. Ploughing operations and construction of field embankments continue. The supply of fodder and water is generally sufficient. Cattle are in good condition. Prices:—the price of wheat remained stationary in fifteen districts, gram in nineteen, rice in seventeen and juar in twenty-one.

Feudatory States.—Kanker, Sarangarh and Chhuikhadan received from 75 cents to 1 inch 25 cents of rain and Raj-Nandgaon, Sakti, Kawardha, Raigarh and Khairagarh from 12 to 45 cents. Threshing and winnowing are approaching completion. Preparation of land for the next autumn sowings and construction of field embankments are in progress. Fodder is ample. Water is becoming scarce in some of the villages of Kawardha. Prices remained almost steady except in Raigarh where wheat and rice became dearer by 2 seers per rupee.

Bombay.—Slight rain fell during the week in parts of Sind, Ahmedabad, Kaira and Kanara. Standing crops are generally in good condition. Harvesting of spring crops is nearly completed in the Panch Mahals and Kaira and is progressing in Sukkur, Larkana, Hyderabad, Kanara, West Khandesh, Baroda, Cutch, Mavi Kantha and Savantvadi. Threshing continues in parts of Larkana, Hyderabad, the Upper Sind Frontier, Colaba, Khandesh and Nasik. Cotton-picking is progressing in parts of Gujarat, West Khandesh, Kathiawar, Baroda, Cutch and Rewa Kantha. Preparation of lands for the next season is general. The fodder supply is generally adequate except in parts of Sukkur, Larkana and Hyderabad. Agricultural stock are sufficient except in parts of the Deccan and generally in good condition. Drinking water is generally sufficient except in parts of West Khandesh, Sholapur and Belgaum. Irrigation water is adequate except in parts of Nasik, Poona, Sholapur, Satara and Belgaum. Grain stocks are sufficient. Prices have fallen in Sukkur and the Upper Sind Frontier, have risen in Khandesh, Poona, Sholapur and Satara and are stationary elsewhere. The quantity purchasable per rupee is in Sind 28 to 43 per cent; in Gujarat 17 to 30 per cent; in the Konkan 2 to 26 per cent; in the Deccan 13 to 40 per cent; and in the Karnatak 32 to 39 per cent less than the normal.

Hyderabad.—The average rainfall during the week was 7 cents. There was a fall of 1 inch 54 cents in Gangawati and Alpur of the Raichur district; between 16 and 35 cents in parts of Mahbubnagar; 50 and 60 cents in Bhongir of the Nalgonda district; 15 cents in Warangal, 50 in Khammam, 54 in Pakhal, 83 in Madura and 90 in Mulug of the Warangal district and 20 cents in Parkal of the Karimnagar district. After the close of the week Mahbubnagar received 4 cents of rain; Siryapet of the Nalgonda district 20 cents; Miryalguda of the Nalgonda district 30 cents; Jamikunta of the Karimnagar district 39 cents; Bhongir and Nalgonda of the Nalgonda district 78 and 71 cents, respectively and Parkal of the Karimnagar district 1 inch 15 cents. Late rice is being irrigated and harvested in parts of Telingana. The crop is generally fair but is suffering for want of water in parts of the Gulbarga, Nizamabad and Karimnagar districts. Ryots are in distress in parts of Karimnagar and Nizamabad on account of the high prices of grains. To relieve distress in Karimnagar, Rs. 5,000 has been placed at the disposal of the district authorities for distribution to the distressed or infirm. Water scarcity prevails in twenty-nine talukas. Cattle disease prevails in one taluka and fodder scarcity in thirty-two. Prices:—wheat 6½; coarse rice 6½ and juar 13 seers per rupee. Prices show an upward tendency. White juar is selling in Hyderabad city at 11 seers per rupee while yellow juar is not available. The highest price in districts is 8 seers in the Jagtiyal and Jamikunta talukas of the Karimnagar district and the lowest 20 seers in the Rajura taluka of the Bidar district.

Mysore.—Slight rain fell throughout the State. Prices of food grains are generally steady and markets are well supplied. Crops are in good condition. Prospects of the season are good except in parts of the Tumkur district. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Rainfall 57 cents. Prices of food grains are stationary. The public health is fair. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall was good in Ganjam, the Nilgiris and the Vizagapatam Agency; nil in Cuddapah, Chingleput, Madras and Tanjore and light to fair elsewhere. Irrigation supplies are sufficient in Malabar and the Nilgiris and insufficient in parts of other districts. Ploughing, sowing, weeding and transplanting are in progress in parts. Standing crops are fair but some in parts of Godavari, Bellary, Cuddapah, Nellore, South Arcot, North Arcot, Coimbatore, Tanjore, Tinnevely and South Canara have withered or are withering. Harvests continue in parts with outturn poor to normal. Pasture is sufficient in Vizagapatam, Chingleput, Madras, Tanjore and the Nilgiris and insufficient in parts of other districts. Fodder is scanty in parts of Godavari, Guntur, Cuddapah and Nellore. The condition of cattle is generally good. The price of rice is stationary in fourteen districts; has fallen in four and has risen in five. The prices of millets have fluctuated as follows:—Ragi is stationary in twelve districts; has fallen in four and has risen in five. Cholam is stationary in nine districts; has fallen in two and has risen in two. Cumbu is stationary in eight districts; has fallen in four and has risen in three. The public health is generally good. Prospects are generally fair. The condition of the labouring classes is satisfactory everywhere and employment is readily available. Grain stocks are generally sufficient.

The following despatch, dated 7th May, which has been telegraphed by the Secretary of State for India, is published for information:—

MY LORD,—I am very painful to communicate to Your Excellency in Council the melancholy intelligence of the death of our late Sovereign Lord King Edward the Seventh, Emperor of India, which occurred at Buckingham Palace at 11-45 P.M. on the 6th May last to the universal sorrow of all his subjects. The Lords of the Privy Council and others according to custom will at once assemble and give orders for proclaiming His present Majesty, King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India. A copy of their Proclamation will, in due course, be transmitted to Your Excellency's Government. I will, in due course, communicate to you the date fixed for the funeral of the late King Emperor and the duration of public mourning, but in the meantime it will be for Your Excellency to issue such instructions as may appear to you proper in that behalf pending the receipt of further particulars.

The sad intelligence which I have conveyed to you will, I know, be received in no part of the British Dominions with deeper grief than in India, whose Princes and people of all races and classes were at all times the objects of His late Majesty's gracious solicitude and who in their turn bore constant witness to their affection to his person and their loyalty to his throne.

I have the honour to be,

MY LORD,

Your Lordship's most obedient, humble servant,

MORLEY OF BLACKBURN,

By order of the Governor General in Council,

H. G. STOKES,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of India.

Simla, the 11th May, 1910.

The Proclamation of the accession to the Throne of the Most Gracious Majesty King George Fifth, King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India, made by His Majesty subsequent to the Proclamation will be read by the Secretary to the Government of India, in the Home Department, on the Ridge, Simla, at 5 P.M. on Thursday, the 12th May 1910.

His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab and Staff, His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief and Staff, Members of His Excellency's Executive and Legislative Councils, the President and Members of the Railway Board, Secretaries and Deputy Secretaries to the Government of India, Members of the Legislative Council of His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor, the President and Members of the Simla Municipal Committee, all principal Civil and Military Officers and the general public are invited to attend.

Guards of Honour will be furnished by the King's Regiment, the Simla Volunteer Rifles and the 6th Gurkha Rifles.

His Excellency the Viceroy accompanied by His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief and the Head Quarters Staff will ride in procession leaving Viceregal Lodge at 4-30 P.M. They will dismount at the front of the official enclosure, and at the entry to the hollow square His Excellency the Viceroy will be met by His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor and Staff and be escorted to his station by the Dais. The Band will play the National Anthem and the Guards of Honour salute.

His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief with his personal Staff and that of His Excellency the Viceroy will follow and take up positions behind the Dais.

Members of His Excellency the Viceroy's Executive Council and the President and Members of the Municipal Committee will be in their places behind the Dais by 4-50 P.M.

All Civil Officers will be accommodated in the enclosure reserved for them at the South West end of the hollow square and should be in their places by 4-50 P.M.

The Head Quarters Staff will occupy the enclosure reserved for them at the North West end of the hollow square.

When the Secretary to the Government of India, Home Department, mounts the Dais the Trumpeters will sound a fanfare. As soon as the Proclamation and Declaration have been read another fanfare will be sounded, the Union Jack will be unfurled, the Band will play the National Anthem, the Guards of Honour present arms, and a salute of 101 guns will be fired.

His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor will escort His Excellency the Viceroy to the exit from the enclosure, and will leave in his carriage immediately His Excellency has started.

His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief and the Staff will escort His Excellency the Viceroy only as far as the cross roads opposite the General Post Office.

The following aphic between His Excellency the Viceroy and His Majesty's Secretary of State for India is published for general information :—

Telegram no. 163, dated Simla, the 8th May 1910.

From—His Excellency the Viceroy,

To—His Majesty's Secretary of State for India.

Government of India have heard with the deepest sorrow of the sudden death of His Majesty the King-Emperor. The expression of grief is universal. Messages of sympathy are pouring in from all quarters. The Princes and people of all races and creeds unite with the Government in lamenting the death of a beloved and revered Sovereign, of whose abiding affection for India they have received many tokens, and whose visit to them in years gone by has not been forgotten. On behalf of all classes we beg of you to convey to His Majesty the King-Emperor this expression of heartfelt sorrow, and to offer him our respectful homage on his accession to the throne of the British Empire.

Telegram, dated London, the 10th May 1910.

From—His Majesty's Secretary of State for India,

To—His Excellency the Viceroy.

I am commanded by the King-Emperor to transmit to Your Excellency the following answer which His Majesty has been graciously pleased to make to the address communicated to me by Your Excellency for submission to His Majesty on behalf of the Government and the Princes and people of India :—

Begins.—I have received with profound appreciation the expression of sympathy and loyalty conveyed in Your Excellency's message from the Princes and people of all races and creeds in my Indian Empire on the occasion of the death of my dearly loved father the King-Emperor. I am deeply touched by this expression of their universal sorrow for his death. He always remembered with affection his visit to India and its welfare was ever in his thoughts. From my own experience I know the profound loyalty felt for my throne by the Princes and people of India to whom I desire that my acknowledgments of the homage they have tendered to me on my accession may be known. The prosperity and happiness of my Indian Empire will always be to me of the highest interest and concern as they were to the late King-Emperor and the Queen-Empress before him.—Ends.

Simla, the 14th May 1910.

The Governor General in Council announces that the Funeral of HIS LATE MOST GRACIOUS MAJESTY KING EDWARD THE SEVENTH, KING OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND, AND EMPEROR OF INDIA, will take place on the 20th May 1910.

The Governor General in Council hereby directs that all offices of Government throughout India be closed on that date and requests local Governments to notify that day under section 25 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881, in the form annexed. The Governor General in Council trusts that all subjects of HIS MAJESTY will, as far as possible, abstain from doing business, on that day of mourning.

A Memorial Service will be held at Christ Church, Simla, at 12 noon.

His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General, accompanied by His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab, His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief in India, and the Members of the Governor General's Council will attend the Service.

Admission to the Church will be by tickets, which will be issued by the Chaplain of Simla.

Full dress will be worn by all Civil Officers entitled to wear uniform, and Review Order by Military Officers; gentlemen not entitled to wear uniform will wear Morning dress.

The "Last Post" will be sounded outside the Church at the conclusion of the Memorial Service, and sixty-eight minute guns, corresponding with the age of HIS LATE MAJESTY, will be fired from the ramparts of Fort William and at all the principal Garrisons and Stations in India; the last gun to be fired and the flag to be dropped as the sun sets.

By order of the Governor General in Council,

A. EARLE,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of India.

Form of Notification under section 25 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881.

WHEREAS it is desirable that the day of 19 , should be observed as a day of general mourning :

In exercise of the power conferred by section 25 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 (XXVI of 1881), the ^{Lieutenant-Governor}~~Chief Commissioner~~ of is pleased to declare that the said day of 19 shall be deemed to be a public holiday for the purposes of the said Act. Q

No. 1105.—The following despatch, dated 7th May, which has been telegraphed by the Secretary of State for India, is published for general information :

MY LORD,—It is my painful duty to communicate to Your Excellency in Council the melancholy intelligence of the death of our late Sovereign Lord King Edward the Seventh, Emperor of India, which occurred at Buckingham Palace at 11-45 p.m. on the 6th May last to the universal sorrow of all his subjects. The Lords of the Privy Council and others according to custom will at once assemble and give orders for proclaiming His present Majesty, King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India. A copy of their Proclamation will, in due course, be transmitted to Your Excellency's Government. I will, in due course, communicate to you the date fixed for the funeral of the late King Emperor and the duration of public mourning, but in the meantime it will be for Your Excellency to issue such instructions as may appear to you proper in that behalf pending the receipt of further particulars.

The sad intelligence which I have conveyed to you will, I know, be received in no part of the British Dominions with deeper grief than in India, whose Princes and people of all races and classes were at all times the objects of His late Majesty's gracious solicitude and who in their turn bore constant witness to their affection to his person and their loyalty to his throne.

I have the honour to be,

MY LORD,

Your Lordship's most obedient, humble servant,

MORLEY OF BLACKBURN.

By order of the Governor General in Council,

H. G. STOKES,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of India.

No. 1106.—The Governor General in Council announces that His Most Gracious Majesty King George the Fifth has been proclaimed King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India.

Flags will be hoisted to the masthead at 5 P.M. to-day and a salute of 101 guns will be fired in honour of the succession of His Majesty King George the Fifth. Flags will remain at the masthead until evening, and will be half-masted again from the following morning and remain so until further orders.

By Order of the Governor General in Council,

H. G. STOKES,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of India.

No. 1107.—The Proclamation of the Accession to the Throne of His Most Gracious Majesty King George the Fifth, King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India, and the Declaration made by His Majesty subsequent to the Proclamation will be read by the Secretary to the Government of India in the Home Department at the Town Hall, Simla, and by the Sheriff of Calcutta on the steps of the Town Hall, Calcutta, at 5 P.M. on Thursday, the 12th of May 1910.

Civil and Military Officers of Government, Consular Officers and other representatives of Foreign Governments and the Public are invited to attend.

Full dress will be worn by Civil Officers entitled to wear uniform, and review order by Military Officers; gentlemen not entitled to wear uniform will wear morning dress.

The Proclamation and the Declaration will be read at the same time at the capital city of each local Government and Administration, at Madras and Bombay by the Sheriff, and in other cases—if the local Government has not yet moved to the Hills—by the Chief Secretary or other Secretary to the local Government or Administration, and, if it has so moved, by an officer appointed by the local Government or Administration. In the latter case the Proclamation and the Declaration will be read also at the summer head-quarters of the local Government or Administration by the Chief Secretary or other Secretary as aforesaid.

The 12th May, 1910.

No. 1235.—The following telegraphic correspondence between His Excellency the Viceroy and His Majesty's Secretary of State for India is published for general information :

Telegram no. 163, dated Simla, the 8th May 1910.

From—His Excellency the Viceroy,

To—His Majesty's Secretary of State for India.

Government of India have heard with the deepest sorrow of the sudden death of His Majesty the King-Emperor. The expression of grief is universal. Messages of sympathy are pouring in from all quarters. The Princes and people of all races and creeds unite with the Government in lamenting the death of a beloved and revered Sovereign, of whose abiding affection for India they have received many tokens, and whose visit to them in years gone by has not been forgotten. On behalf of all classes we beg of you to convey to His Majesty the King-Emperor this expression of heartfelt sorrow, and to offer him our respectful homage on his accession to the throne of the British Empire.

Telegram, dated London, the 10th May 1910.

To—His Excellency the Viceroy.

I am commanded by the King-Emperor to transmit to Your Excellency the following answer which His Majesty has been graciously pleased to make to the address communicated to me by Your Excellency for submission to His Majesty on behalf of the Government and the Princes and people of India :

Begins.—I have received with profound appreciation the expression of sympathy and loyalty conveyed in Your Excellency's message from the Princes and people of all races and creeds in my Indian Empire on the occasion of the death of my dearly loved father the King-Emperor. I am deeply touched by this expression of their universal sorrow for his death. He always remembered with affection his visit to India and its welfare was ever in his thoughts. From my own experience I know the profound loyalty felt for my throne by the Princes and people of India to whom I desire that my acknowledgments of the homage they have tendered to me on my accession may be made known. The prosperity and happiness of my Indian Empire will always be to me of the highest interest and concern as they were to the late King-Emperor and the Queen-Empress before him.—Ends.

By order of the Governor General in Council,

A. EARLE,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of India.

PROCLAMATION.

Whereas it hath pleased Almighty God to call to His mercy Our Late Sovereign Lord King Edward the Seventh of Blessed and Glorious Memory by whose decease the Imperial Crown of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and all other His Late Majesty's Dominions is solely and rightfully to the High and Mighty Prince George Frederick Ernest Albert. ~~And~~, therefore, the Governor-General of India and the Members of Council, do now hereby with one full voice and consent of tongue and heart publish and proclaim that the High and Mighty Prince George Frederick Ernest Albert is now by the death of Our Late Sovereign of Happy and Glorious Memory become our only lawful and rightful Liege Lord George the Fifth by the grace of God King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India, to whom we do acknowledge all faith and constant obedience with all hearty and humble affection beseeching God by whom Kings and Queens do reign to bless the Royal Prince George the Fifth with long and happy years to reign over us.

The following is His Majesty's most Gracious

DECLARATION—To Their Lordships of the Privy Council.

My Lords and Gentlemen,—My heart is too full for me to address you to-day in more than a few words. It is my sorrowful duty to announce to you the death of my dearly loved father the King. In this irreparable loss which has so suddenly fallen upon me and upon the whole Empire I am comforted by the feeling that I have the sympathy of my future subjects who will mourn with me for their beloved Sovereign whose own happiness was found in sharing and promoting theirs. I have lost not only a father's love but the affectionate and intimate relations of a dear friend and adviser. No less confident am I in the universal loving sympathy which is assured to my dearest Mother in Her overwhelming grief.

Standing here a little more than 9 years ago our beloved King declared that as long as there was breath in His body he would work for the good and amelioration of his people. I am sure that the opinion of the whole nation will be that this declaration has been fully carried out.

To endeavour to follow in his footsteps and at the same time to uphold the constitutional Government of these realms will be the earnest object of my life. I am deeply sensible of the very heavy responsibilities which have fallen upon me. I know that I can rely upon Parliament and upon the people of these Islands and of my Dominions beyond the Seas for their help in the discharge of these arduous duties and for their prayers that God will grant me strength and guidance. I am encouraged by the knowledge that I have in my dear Wife one who will be a constant help-mate in every endeavour for our people's good.

No. 912-I.B.—In exercise of the powers conferred by the Indian (Foreign Jurisdiction) Order in Council, 1902, the Governor General in Council is pleased to amend the Bangalore Municipal Law, 1897, as follows :

1. At the end of section 21 (1) of the said Law, the words "except those whose pay does not exceed rupees ten per mensem" shall be added.

2. To section 41 (2) of the said Law, the following shall be added as the first proviso namely :

"Provided that in the case of any building not erected for purposes of being rented and not ordinarily let, the annual value thereof shall be deemed to be six per cent on the estimated present cost of erecting the building, less a reasonable amount on account of depreciation, and the estimated cost of the land in or on which the building is erected".

In the existing proviso to the same section, which should be regarded as the second proviso, the word "also" shall be inserted between the words "Provided" and "that".

3. For section 53 of the said Law the following shall be substituted, namely :

"53 (1). For the purposes of this chapter, the Commission may, by notice, in writing,

(a) call on the owner of any land or building to furnish, within a week after the service of the notice, returns of the rent actually received for such land or building, of the measurements thereof and of the cost of erecting the building, and

(b) call on the occupier of any land or building to furnish, within a week after the service of the notice, a return of the rent actually paid for such land or building and of the name of the owner.

"(2) Every owner or occupier on whom such requisition is served shall be bound to comply with the same and to make a true return to the best of his knowledge and belief."

"(3) If any person so called upon to furnish information (a) omits to furnish it, or (b) furnishes information which he knows or has reason to believe to be untrue, he shall be punishable in case (a) with fine which may extend to ten rupees, and in case (b) with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees."

4. For section 58 of the said Law the following shall be substituted, namely :

"58 (1). The Commission may at any time amend the assessment list by inserting the name of any person whose name ought to have been inserted or by inserting any property which ought to have been inserted or by altering the assessment on any property which has been erroneously valued or assessed through fraud, accident or mistake, after giving notice, to every person interested in the amendment, of a time not less than one month from the date of service of such notice at which the amendment is to be made.

- (2) Any person interested in any such amendment may tender his objection to the Commission in writing before the time fixed in the notice, and shall be given an opportunity of being heard in support of the same in person or by authorized agent, as he may think fit.

- (3) When any building is first constructed, rebuilt or enlarged, the owner shall give intimation thereof to the Commission within fifteen days from the completion of such first construction, re-building or enlargement or from the date of occupation of such building, whichever date happens first. The Commission shall, on receipt of the said intimation, assess the tax leviable in respect of the building. For every whole month intervening between the date of completion or occupation and the end of the half year, one-sixth of the half-yearly instalment of such new tax or enhanced tax shall be leviable.

5. To section 80 of the said Law the following shall be added as sub-section (2) namely:

- "(2) When a number has been affixed under sub-section (1), the owner of the building shall be bound to maintain such number and to replace it if removed or defaced, and if he fails to do so, the Commission may, by written notice, require him to replace the same."

The existing sub-section (2) of section 80 shall be renumbered as sub-section (3).

6. In section 137 (1) (c) (i) of the said Law the words "cart stands" shall be inserted between the words "encamping-grounds" and "pounds".

To section 37 (1) (c) add the following clauses, viz.,

"(vii) For the control and supervision of all premises used for any of the purposes mentioned in section 103 and of all trades and manufactures carried on therein."

"(viii) For regulating the hours and manner of transport of skins, hides, horns, salt fish, and bones, or any other articles, which may be specified by the Commission with the approval of the Resident, from which offensive or unwholesome smells are likely to arise."

7. For section 151 of the said Law the following shall be substituted, namely:

"151. Whoever drives any vehicle after dark in any street, unless the vehicle is supplied with a sufficient light, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to twenty rupees."

8. For section 159 of the said Law the following shall be substituted, namely:

"159. Whoever carries a corpse along a route prohibited by the Commission or deposits a corpse in any place prohibited by the Commission or in any place or manner likely to cause annoyance to the public shall be punishable with fine which may extend to ten rupees."

9. For section 186 of the said Law the following shall be substituted, namely:

"186 (1) When any sum is due to the Commission under this Law by any person the Commission may recover such sum in the following manner, namely:

- (a) by causing a bill for the sum stating the nature of the demand, to be served on the person liable to pay the same, in the manner provided in section 182;

- (b) if the sum is not paid within seven days from the service of such bill, by causing a notice of demand to be served on such person;

- (c) if such person does not within seven days from the service of such notice pay the sum due, with any fee leviable for the notice, or show sufficient cause for non-payment, by distraining and selling the moveable property of such person in the manner provided in the Code of Civil Procedure for the time being in force in the Station;

- (d) by suing such person in the Civil Court;

- (2) taxes levied on buildings and lands shall, subject to the prior payment of any claim on behalf of Government, be a first charge upon the said buildings or lands and upon the moveable property, if any, found within or upon such building or land and belonging to the person liable for such tax;

- (3) In the event of the non-payment of any tax imposed under Section 41, Section 42 or Section 43, within seven days from the date of the service of a notice of demand in terms of clause (b) of sub-section (1), the person failing to pay such tax, shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding twice the amount of the tax found to be due.

Provided that recovery by prosecution shall not be applicable to sums due on account of water consumed in excess of the sanctioned free allowance.

- (4) If the sum due from the owner of any house, building or land in respect of any rate or tax remains unpaid, after notice of demand has been duly served, the President may demand the amount from the occupier for the time being of such house, building or land, and on non-payment thereof, may recover the same by distress and sale of any moveable property found on the premises and in such case the occupier may deduct from the next and following payments of his rent the amount which may be so paid or recovered from him:

Provided that no arrear of rate, or tax which has remained due from the owner of any house, building or land for more than one year shall be so recovered from the occupier thereof."

10. After section 192 of the said Law the following shall be inserted, namely:—

"193. The President may summon any person to attend before him and to give evidence or produce documents, as the case may be, in respect of any question relating to taxation or inspection or to the grant of any license under the provisions of this Law.

Any person failing to obey the summons shall be liable, on conviction before a magistrate, to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees."

AGRICULTURE.

Read—

The reports received from Local Governments on the administration of the Co-operative Credit Societies Act (X of 1904) during the year 1908-09.

The Proceedings of the conference of Registrars of Co-operative Credit Societies held in Calcutta in November 1909.

RESOLUTION.

The development of the Co-operative Credit movement in India since the Co-operative Credit Societies Act was passed in 1904 has been much more rapid than was expected, and the rate of progress was well maintained in 1908-1909. The following table compares the statistics of registered societies in the last three years :—

				1906-07.	1907-08.	1908-09.
				Number of Societies.
Central	14	7	15
Urban	89	149	227

Total				29,63,449	46,66,565	84,10,895

2. The expansion of business indicated by these figures is remarkable, but the reports from many provinces show that even more striking results would have been attained if the Registrars had been able to deal with all the applications for registration received. In Madras more than 300 applications were pending disposal at the end of the year, and the Registrar of Burma reports that though the number of societies had more than doubled during the year, many applications could not be dealt with and the number of applications would have been even greater had they not been discouraged. Other provinces have experienced the same difficulty, and the future of the movement is still dependent upon the successful solution of the two connected problems of finance and supervision. As regards the former, considerable progress was made during the year. Though the aggregate capital of the societies increased largely, the amount of State aid remained almost stationary and now represents only one-twelfth of the total capital. Loans from other sources, share capital, and deposits by members on the other hand show a great increase and the figures are not only a satisfactory indication of increasing confidence in the societies, but also indicate that they are beginning to find access to the outside money market. This latter fact is one of the most encouraging features of the year's work. In Burma the Bank of Rangoon has undertaken to finance the societies. In Madras the same work is undertaken by two Central Banks established at Madras and Salem respectively. In the United Provinces loans have been received from joint stock banks, and the amount of such loans increased considerably, while in Bengal an important advance in the solution of the question of finance was made by the institution of two Co-operative Unions combining some 50 societies. The Government of Bombay have submitted a scheme formulated by the Honourable Sir Vithaldás Thackersey and the Honourable Mr. Lalubhai Samaldas for the establishment of a Central Bank to finance Co-operative Credit Societies in the Bombay Presidency. The matter is still under consideration, but it is hoped that a decision will be arrived at before long. But the problem of supervision has not yet been finally solved. The limit of personal supervision by the Registrar has already been reached in almost all provinces, and until some satisfactory method of organising and combining the societies for the purpose of control has been devised, progress will be hampered and there will always be areas undeveloped, because the Registrar cannot give them the attention which they require. The question is bound up with that of finance, and the Government of India have already indicated their opinion that the most satisfactory solution will be found in the further extension of development on the co-operative principle by the organisation of societies as they increase in number into local unions and the federation at a later stage of these local unions into central unions, the ideal to aim at being that the unions should not only finance their own societies but also supervise them and encourage the further growth of the movement in definite areas. The problem is being carefully studied in all provinces and while local conditions may necessitate difference of treatment in details the general line of policy indicated above appears to be gaining in favour. These difficulties are inevitable in the early stages of the movement; and the chief danger to be guarded against is that in the desire to achieve a more rapid progress measures may be taken that may not be in the best interest of the societies in the long run. An obvious method of providing supervision is to entrust local officers as a part of their regular work with the responsibility of controlling societies within their jurisdiction, but the Government of India doubt whether formal measures on such lines are likely to be the most successful in the end. There is no objection to entrusting to particular local officers who are interested in the work and who are well acquainted with the lines on which Co-operative Credit Societies should be managed the duty of supervision, but it is doubtful whether it is a sound policy to subject the societies to the ex-officio control of local officers, as this must increase the tendency to officialise the movement.

3. Pending the solution of the question of supervision, most Registrars have adopted a policy of consolidation rather than extension. This policy has the approval of the Government of India. So long as the societies remain dependent on Government for supervision and control, it is desirable that the attention of the Registrar and his staff should be concentrated on the development of promising areas where the movement has already established itself and from which it may be expected to spread naturally. It is as a general rule wiser to refrain from forming isolated societies in outlying districts beyond the reach of effective supervision.

4. The Government of India note with interest that in Eastern Bengal and Assam an enquiry is to be made into the important question of the exorbitant rates of interest levied in that province.

5. With one exception the Government of India do not propose to issue orders on the recommendations of the Conference, and they will leave it to Local Governments and Administrations to take such action on them as may be thought necessary. The only point they propose to take up separately is the amendment of the Co-operative Credit Societies Act and they have already addressed Local Governments in regard to this question. The Proceedings, however, have been read with much interest. They do not cover so wide a range of subjects as in some previous years, but the fact that clearer and more definite ideas are now held as regards matters which formerly were the subject of discussion is to be welcomed as an indication that the experimental stage is being left behind. The proposals of the Registrars for the amendment of the Co-operative Credit Societies Act which have been worked out with much care will assist materially in the disposal of the subject, and the Government of India are also glad to notice that questions regarding the best method of enlisting non-official aid and regarding the organisation of productive and distributive societies were discussed by the Conference. The value of non-official assistance has been fully established and there appears to be no doubt that the principle of co-operation will eventually as in other countries be extended to productive and distributive societies to the great benefit of the agricultural population.

Ordered, that the above Resolution be communicated to all Local Govern-

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 7th May 1910.

Burma.—Dry weather continues with some showers in the northern districts. In Upper Burma clearing for hill side cultivation and in some places ploughing for early wet weather crops proceeded normally. There are no important changes in the price of unhusked rice which is generally normal except in the Shan States where high prices continue.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—The weather was seasonable. Good rain has fallen throughout the Province. More sun is wanted for tea. Sowing of summer and winter rice, weeding of jute, plucking of tea and planting of sugarcane are in progress. Ploughing for autumn crops continues. Prospects of standing crops are good. The average price of common rice has risen by 1 per cent since last week. Cattle disease prevails in Cachar, the Naga Hills, Goalpara, Kamrup, Darrang, Nowgong, the Garo Hills and Manipur.

Bengal.—The rainfall was general all over the Province except in South Behar and in Saran, Cuttack, Ranchi and Singhbhum. The fall was heavy in Burdwan, Jessore, Khulna and Cooch Behar; moderate in the 24-Parganas, Nadia, Murshidabad, Bhagalpur and Darjeeling and light elsewhere. More rain is wanted in Midnapore, the 24-Parganas and Balasore. The recent rainfall has been beneficial to the standing crops and for cultivation in Murshidabad, Darbhanga and Bhagalpur. Preparation of lands for the next season's crops continues and the sowing of early autumn crops is going on in Midnapore, the 24-Parganas, Nadia, Jessore, Muzaffarpur, Bhagalpur, Purnea and Cooch Behar. The mango crop has been damaged by hail and storm in Murshidabad. The newly planted sugarcane crop and vegetables are doing well. The price of common rice has risen in Murshidabad, Patna, Saran, Monghyr, Darjeeling, Cuttack and Palamau and has fallen in Jessore and Hazaribagh. Cattle disease is reported from eleven districts. The fodder and water supply is sufficient throughout the Province except in Angul.

United Provinces.—Light rain fell in two Himalayan districts. Threshing of the spring harvest and weighments of opium continue. Sugarcane and extra crops are being irrigated and are doing well. Land is being prepared for autumn crops and cotton and maize are being sown in some canal irrigated tracts. Sporadic cattle disease is reported from sixteen districts but the general condition of agricultural stock is satisfactory. Fodder and supplies are sufficient everywhere. Some districts report a brisk export trade. Prices have fallen in nine districts and are stationary elsewhere.

Punjab.—Light to moderate rain has fallen in Gurgaon, Ambala, Lahore, Amritsar, Sialkot, Rawalpindi, Mianwali and Multan. Harvesting of spring crops and sowings of cotton, fodder, etc., continue. Harvesting operations were retarded to some extent in Sialkot from rain. The outturn of spring crops is generally good to average. The condition of extra spring and other standing crops is generally good. Prices generally show a downward tendency. The condition of cattle is good. Fodder is sufficient except in parts of the Shahpur and Mianwali districts.

North-West Frontier Province.—Slight rain fell throughout the Province except in Dera Ismail Khan and was beneficial to extra spring and autumn sowings which are in progress. The condition of standing crops is generally average except that in Dera Ismail Khan it is reported below average on unirrigated lands. The wheat crop has been damaged by hailstorm in certain villages of the Marwat tahsil of the Bannu district. Harvesting of spring crops is in progress and the outturn is generally average but in Dera Ismail Khan the outturn of oilseeds is reported below average. Fodder is sufficient. Water is ample except in the Shigga circle of the Marwat tahsil in the Bannu district. Irrigation from the Paharpur canal continues. The health of the people is good. The condition of cattle is good except in the Swabi tahsil of the Peshawar district and in one village of the Tank tahsil of the Dera Ismail Khan district. Prices, except those of gram, are fluctuating. Prices :—wheat $11\frac{1}{8}$ to $14\frac{1}{8}$; maize 18 to $20\frac{1}{2}$; bajra $13\frac{1}{2}$ to 19; gram $17\frac{1}{8}$ to 24 and barley $21\frac{1}{2}$ seers per rupee.

Jammu.—There was slight rain during the week. Prices are fluctuating. Wheat sells from 11 to 17 and maize from 17 to 25 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is fair. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—Rain fell twice during the week and was beneficial to spring crops which are in good condition. Sowings for autumn crops are going on. There is no disease among cattle. Fodder is sufficient. Prices are stationary.

Rajputana.—Rain fell in the Bikaner and Jaisalmer parganas and in Merwara. The maximum fall was 35 cents in Suratgarh and the minimum 9 cents in Rajgarh, both in Bikaner. Harvesting and threshing of spring crops are in progress. Cattle disease is still prevalent in the villages of Banswara. Prospects are good. Fodder is sufficient. Prices have risen in Bikaner by 1 seer; in Mewar by 6 chattaks; in Partabgarh by 8 chattaks; in Shahpura by 3 seers; in Bundi by $1\frac{1}{2}$ seers, in Bharatpur by $\frac{1}{2}$ seer and are steady or falling elsewhere.

Central India.—Rainfall nil. Threshing of spring crops is in progress in parts. Lands are being prepared for autumn crops in parts. Agricultural stock are good except for some disease in Indore, Baghelkhand, Bundelkhand and Bhopawar. Prices have fallen slightly in Gwalior, are fluctuating in Indore and are steady elsewhere.

Central Provinces.—The weather continues hot and occasionally cloudy. Drug, Bilaspur and the interior of the Ycotmal district had a sprinkling of rain during the week. Threshing and winnowing of spring crops are not yet completed in a few districts. The construction of field embankments in rice districts and preparation of land for the sowing of the next autumn crops continue everywhere. Harvesting of double cropped rice in the Sironcha tahsil of the Chanda district has commenced. Sugarcane is doing well in Chhindwara and Betul. Fodder and water are adequate except that water is getting scarce in parts of Nimar, Betul, Chhindwara and Nagpur. Agricultural stock are doing well. Prices :—the price of gram remained stationary in sixteen districts, wheat in nineteen, rice in twenty and juar in twenty-one. Juar in Chhindwara and gram in Chanda became cheaper by three and two seers per rupee respectively.

Feudatory States.—Jashpur had two inches of rain during the week while Chhui-khadan Kanker, Raigarh, Sarangarh, Sirguja and Korea had light showers ranging from 2 to 90 cents. Rain was accompanied by hail in Raigarh. Agriculturists are engaged in threshing and winnowing of spring crops, construction of field embankments and ploughing of land for sowing of the ensuing season's crops. The supply of fodder and water is generally sufficient but in some villages of Kawardha and Nandgaon scarcity of water is reported. Prices :—Gram fell by 6 seers per rupee in Sirguja. Prices remained steady elsewhere.

Bombay.—Slight rain fell during the week in parts of Larkana, Hyderabad, Kanara, West Khandesh, Satara, Bijapur and Dharwar. Standing crops are generally in good condition. Harvesting of spring crops is in progress in West Khandesh, Baroda and Mahi Kantha. Threshing continues in parts of Sind, Colaba, Khandesh and Nasik. Cotton picking is progressing in parts of Gujarat and Baroda. Preparation of lands for the next season is general. The fodder supply is generally adequate except in parts of Larkana and Hyderabad. Agricultural stock are sufficient except in parts of Ahmednagar, Poona and Satara and are generally in good condition. Drinking water is generally sufficient except in parts of Khandesh, Bijapur and Dharwar. Irrigation water is adequate except in parts of East Khandesh, Nasik, Poona, Satara and Dharwar. Grain stocks are sufficient. Prices have fallen in Kanara, have risen in the Panch Mahals and are stationary elsewhere. The quantity purchasable per rupee is in Sind 28 to 43 per cent; in Gujarat 17 to 34 per cent; in the Konkan 2 to 26 per cent; in the Deccan 10 to 40 per cent and in the Karnatak 32 to 39 per cent less than the normal.

Hyderabad.—The average rainfall during the week was 27 cents. The rainfall was general except in the Aurangabad, Bir and Osmanabad districts. The highest fall was about 2 inches. Four talukas in the Bidar district received from 1 to 2 inches. Late rice is being irrigated in parts and harvesting is in progress. The crop is generally fair but is withering for want of water in parts of the Gulbarga, Nizamabad, Medak and Karimnagar districts. Myots are in distress in parts of the Karimnagar and Nizamabad districts on account of the high prices of grain. Rs. 5,000 has been placed with district authorities in Karimnagar for distribution to the distressed. Water scarcity prevails in parts of 31 talukas. Cattle disease is reported in four talukas and fodder scarcity in twenty-seven. Prices:—wheat 6½; coarse rice 6½ and juar 12½ seers per rupee. White juar is selling in Hyderabad city at 11 seers, yellow juar is not available. The highest price in districts is 8½ seers in Sultanabad of the Karimnagar district and the lowest 19 seers in Rajura and Udgir of the Bidar district.

Mysore.—Good rainfall in Hassan and Tumkur and slight rain elsewhere. Prices of food grains are generally steady. Markets are well supplied. Standing crops are in good condition. Prospects of the season are good. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Rainfall 1 inch 33 cents. Ploughing has commenced. Prices of food grains are stationary. The public health is fair. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall was good in the Vizagapatam Agency and Malabar; nil in Godavari, Kistna, Cuddapah, the Carnatic, North Arcot, Trichinopoly, Tanjore and South Canara and light to fair elsewhere. Irrigation supplies are sufficient in Malabar and the Nilgiris and insufficient in parts of other districts. Ploughing, sowing, weeding and transplanting are in progress in parts. Standing crops are fair but some in parts of Bellary, Cuddapah, Chingleput, South Arcot, Central and South Canara have withered or are withering. Harvests continue in parts with outturn poor to normal. Pasture is sufficient in Vizagapatam, Chingleput, Madras, Trichinopoly, Tanjore and the Nilgiris and insufficient in parts of other districts. Fodder is scanty in parts of Godavari, Cuddapah and Nellore. The condition of cattle is generally good. The price of rice is stationary in nine districts; has fallen in five and has risen in nine. The prices of millets have fluctuated as follows:—Ragi is stationary in twelve districts; has fallen in three and has risen in six. Cholam is stationary in six districts; has fallen in three and has risen in five. Cumbu is stationary in seven districts; has fallen in one and has risen in seven. The public health is generally good. Prospects are generally fair. The condition of the labouring classes is satisfactory everywhere and employment is readily available. Grain stocks are generally sufficient.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 12th May 1910, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

Rain fell in all parts of Eastern Bengal and Assam, over the greater part of Bengal proper, and in the southern half of the peninsula. A few falls were reported also in Upper India and Burma, while isolated light falls occurred elsewhere. Temperature was normal or in defect during the early part of the week, the deficiency being most marked in the Punjab and in the rainfall area of northeast India. Later however the thermometer rose above normal in northwest India and Burma, the low temperatures which had prevailed uninterruptedly in the former area since April 21 completely disappearing. The highest temperature recorded occurred at Jacobabad on the 9th and was 115° , or $4\frac{1}{2}^{\circ}$ above the average value. At the close of the week the normal hot weather conditions had become established generally.

Burma.—Light rain was reported from Meigui, Tavoy, Moulmein, Mandalay and Lashio. Skies were generally moderately to thickly clouded at the beginning of the week, but became clear in the interior as the week progressed, while the air on the whole contained the average amount of moisture. Temperature was normal or in defect for some days, but rose above the average on the 8th, the excess persisting during the remainder of the week.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—Rain fell over the whole of Eastern Bengal and Assam and was almost general in Bengal proper, while scattered falls were reported also in Orissa and Chota Nagpur. Moderate to heavy cloud prevailed for the most part, especially in the area of greatest precipitation. Humidity was generally near the average value. Temperature was in considerable defect in the early part of the week but rose above normal later.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Light falls of rain occurred in a few districts, while skies were generally lightly clouded and the air contained the average amount of moisture. Temperature was normal or in slight defect.

Northwest India.—Local hot weather storms caused light precipitation in several parts of the division. The amount of cloud varied considerably from day to day and in different districts, the sky being overcast or clear according to local conditions. Humidity was low in the Punjab on the 9th, but elsewhere remained near the average value. Temperature rose steadily and was higher than normal during the latter part of the week.

The Peninsula.—Precipitation was almost general in the southern half of the peninsula and thunderstorms occurred in many parts. Skies were at first clear or lightly clouded and the air considerably drier than usual, especially in the Bombay Deccan. Later, however, cloud increased generally and humidity rose to its average value. Temperature was normal or in defect.

The following summarises the chief rainfall amounts as reported at 8 hrs. each day:—

May 6th.	Shillong 2'30", Barisal 0'98" and Chakrata 0'43".
" 7th.	Lashio 0'68", Narayanganj 2'39", Berhampore 1'94", Calcutta 1'81", Burdwan 1'64", Jessore 1'46" and Sibsagar 0'90".
" 8th.	Barisal 1'60", Cherra Poonjee 1'55", Jessore 1'50", Tezpur 0'53", Jagdalpur 0'75", Bellary 1'57" and Cochin 0'82".
" 9th.	Jessore 1'93", Burdwan 1'51", Bogra 1'49", Barisal 1'48", Jalpaiguri and Cherra Poonjee 1'38", Calicut 1'00" and Kodaikanal and Bangalore 0'57".
" 10th.	Calicut 2'18", Mysore 1'23", Gopalpur and Kodaikanal 1'04" and Ootacamund 0'92".
" 12th.	Dhubri 3'11", Mymensingh 1'37", Chitaldroog 1'00" and Trivandrum 0'81".

The week's rainfall was in excess of the average in Eastern Bengal, Bengal proper, Mysore, Malabar and the Madras Deccan, normal in the north of the peninsula, and in considerable defect in most other parts.

Simla, the 24th May, 1910.

HIS MAJESTY THE KING, EMPEROR OF INDIA, has been pleased to send the following letter to the Princes and peoples of India :—

“ TO THE PRINCES AND PEOPLES OF INDIA,—The lamented and unlooked for death of my dearly loved father calls me to ascend the Throne that comes to me as the heir of a great and ancient line. As King and Emperor I greet the Princes, the Ruling Chiefs and all the other dwellers in my Indian dominions. I offer you my heartfelt thanks for the touching and abundant manifestation that this event has called forth from all the diverse races, classes and faiths in India, of loyalty to the Sovereign Crown and personal attachment to its wearers. Queen Victoria of revered memory addressed her Indian subjects and the heads of Feudatory States when she assumed the direct Government in 1858 and her august son, my father, of honoured and beloved name, commemorated the same most notable event in his address to you fifty years later. These are the Charters of the noble and benignant spirit of Imperial rule and by that spirit in all my time to come I will faithfully abide. By the wish of His Late Majesty and following his own example I visited India five years ago accompanied by my Royal Consort. We became personally acquainted with great Kingdoms known to history, with monuments of a civilisation older than our own, with ancient customs and ways of life, with Native Rulers, with the peoples, the cities, towns, villages throughout those vast territories. Never can either the vivid impressions or the affectionate associations of that wonderful journey vanish or grow dim. Firmly I confide in your dutiful and active co-operation in the high and arduous tasks that lie before me and I count upon your ready response to the earnest sympathy with the well-being of India that must ever be the inspiration of my rule.”

By order of the Governor General in Council,

A. EARLE,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of India.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 19th May 1910, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

Rainfall occurred in Burma, northeast India and in the peninsula. In Burma it was restricted chiefly to the southern coast districts and in northeast India to Eastern Bengal, while in the peninsula local hot weather disturbances gave falls of rain in the southern districts and in the Deccan. At the close of the week a depression of an unusual type was appearing in the neighbourhood of Moulmein and was the cause of heavy rainfall in Tenasserim and Pegu. A disturbance in the extreme north gave precipitation in Kashmir and the adjoining districts; and judging from a large fall of temperature in Baluchistan and the extreme north it would appear to have given snow in the higher ranges, but the fall was probably only a light one as its influence on temperature soon disappeared. Strongly marked hot weather conditions prevailed during the week in upper Burma and the Gangetic plain.

Burma.—Rain fell on every day of the week in Tenasserim, the largest amounts being reported on the 18th and 19th. Only a few local falls occurred in upper Burma, where temperature was considerably higher than usual. Skies were clear or lightly clouded in the northern half of the province and moderately to heavily clouded in the southern.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—Rainfall was most widespread on the 15th, when it occurred locally over the whole division excluding the western districts: on the remaining days of the week it was restricted chiefly to Eastern Bengal. Skies were practically cloudless in the dry area in the west, and temperature was in excess in the same region.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Skies were clear except on the 15th, 16th and 17th, when light cloud was reported from the Central Provinces. Temperature was normal or in excess, the excess being shown chiefly in the United Provinces.

Northwest India.—Light precipitation occurred in the extreme north, and Dras reported snow on the 16th. Skies were more or less heavily clouded in Kashmir and the adjoining districts during the period of disturbed weather there, and temperature was in considerable defect in the same region and in Baluchistan.

The Peninsula.—Rain fell locally in the Deccan and the southern districts of the division. Skies were lightly to moderately clouded. Large local falls of temperature followed the rainfall: towards the close of the week temperature was in general excess in the Bombay Deccan, Hyderabad and on the east coast.

The following summarises the chief rainfall amounts as reported at 8 hrs. each day:—

May 13th. Kodaikanal 1·04".

" 14th. Tavoy 4·25", Jalpaiguri 1·49", Ootacamund 1·43", Trichinopoly 0·91" and Bellary 0·85".

" 15th. Mergui 2·80".

" 16th. Tezpur 1·11" and Goa 0·98".

" 17th. Tavoy 4·30", Dhubri 2·25", Dinajpur 1·40" and Jalpaiguri 1·30".

" 18th. Mergui 3·12", Tavoy 5·10", Moulmein 2·58" and Rangoon 3·24".

" 19th. Tavoy 11·75", Moulmein 5·06", Rangoon 5·48", Dhubri 1·50" and Salem 1·40".

The week's rainfall was in excess in lower Burma, the Konkan and the Madras Deccan and in general defect elsewhere.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday,
14th May 1910.

Burma.—Light to moderate rain fell in the districts along the coast line. Elsewhere districts report no rain or only slight showers. In Upper Burma usual operations for early wet weather crops are in progress. Damage to the onion crop from floods is reported in Pakokku. The price of unhusked rice has fallen at Akyab and is below normal elsewhere. The tendency in prices is slightly upward. High prices continue in the Shan States. No other important variations from the normal are reported.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—The weather is seasonable. The rainfall was scanty in the Chittagong division but good everywhere else, except in Bogra and Malda where no rain fell. Harvesting of potatoes has commenced in the hills. Sowing of paddy and jute and planting of sugarcane are in progress in places. Prospects of tea, winter rice, summer rice, jute and til are good. The average price of common rice has risen by about 1 per cent. Cattle disease prevails in Mymensingh, Goalpara, Kamrup, Darrang, Nowgong and the Naga Hills.

Bengal.—Rain fell in Muzaffarpur, Monghyr, Purnea, Darjeeling, the Sonthal Parganas, Cuttack, Balasore, Angul, Ranchi, Manbhum, Cooch Behar and all the districts of the Burdwan and Presidency divisions, the 24-Parganas excepted. The fall was generally light except in Cooch Behar and parts of Jessore and Khulna where it was heavy. Some damage has been done to the standing crops by the heavy rainfall in Jessore and sowing of jute and early paddy has been retarded in Cooch Behar. More rain is wanted for cultivation in the 24-Parganas, the Sonthal Parganas, Balasore, Puri and Singhbhum. Preparation of lands and sowing of jute and other autumn crops are going on. Vegetables and the sugarcane crop are doing well. The price of common rice has risen in Nadia, Murshidabad, Jessore, Cuttack and Sambalpur and has fallen in Patna, Shahabad, Monghyr, Purnea, Angul and Palamau. Cattle disease is reported from eleven districts. The fodder and water-supply is sufficient throughout the Province except in Angul and the Sonthal Parganas.

United Provinces.—Light rain fell in four districts. Harvesting continues in parts of the hills and winnowing in the plains. Extra crops are flourishing and are being cut in some places. Sugarcane shows good promise. Land is being prepared for the coming autumn crop. Indigo is being sown in Bulandshahr and Fyzabad. Nineteen districts report sporadic cattle disease but the general condition of cattle continues satisfactory. Fodder and supplies are ample. A brisk export of grain is reported from some districts. Elsewhere there is a downward tendency in regard to exports.

Punjab.—Slight rain has fallen in parts of Ambala, Jullundur, Shahpur, Rawalpindi and Mianwali. Harvesting of spring crops and sowing of cotton, sugarcane, fodder, etc., continue. The outturn of spring crops is generally good to average. The condition of standing crops is generally good. Melons, mangoes and vegetables have been damaged slightly by hailstones in parts of Ambala and water melons by insects in parts of Shahpur. Prices have fallen slightly in some districts. The condition of cattle is generally good. Water for cattle is insufficient in parts of Rohtak, Sialkot and Shahpur. Fodder is sufficient except in Rawalpindi and parts of the Shahpur and Mianwali districts.

North-West Frontier Province.—Slight showers fell during the week throughout the Province except in Dera Ismail Khan. The condition of standing crops is generally average. Hail is reported in certain villages of the Marwat tahsil in the Bannu district but did no damage to crops. Autumn crops are being sown. Sowing of extra spring crops is finished in the Bannu district but in other places it is still in progress. Harvesting of spring crops is in progress but in the Marwat tahsil of the Bannu district harvesting of wheat and barley is finished. The outturn of the harvested crops is generally average except in Dera Ismail Khan where the outturn of gram and oilseeds is reported below average. There is extensive irrigation from the Paharpur canal. The Tochi and Keram rivers are in floods. Water is sufficient except in the Shigon circle of the Marwat tahsil of the Bannu district. Fodder is sufficient. The public health is good. The condition of cattle is good except in the Tank tahsil of the Dera Ismail Khan district. Prices are fluctuating. Prices :—wheat 11½ to 14; gram 18½ to 23; bajra 16½ to 17; maize 18 to 22½ and barley 21 seers per rupee.

Jammu.—Rain nil. Prices are stationary. Wheat sells from 11 to 16 and maize from 18 to 25 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is fair. Cattle disease of mild type prevails in some parts of the Province. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—Rain fell twice during the week and was beneficial to spring crops which are in good condition. Autumn sowings have commenced. There is no disease among cattle. Fodder is sufficient. Prices are stationary.

Rajputana.—(Report not received).

Central India.—The rainfall during the week was slight in Bhopawar and nil elsewhere. Threshing of spring crops continues in parts and land is being prepared for autumn crops in parts. Agricultural stock are good except for some cattle disease in Indore, Baghelkhand, Bundelkhand and Bhopawar. Scarcity of water is reported in the hilly villages of Indore. Prices are fluctuating in Indore and are steady elsewhere.

Central Provinces.—The weather has been hot and occasionally cloudy. Threshing and winnowing of spring crops continue in Saugor, Jubbulpore, Seoni, Hoshangabad, Betul and Chhindwara. Agriculturists are busy throughout the Provinces in constructing field embankments and ploughing land for sowing of the ensuing season's crops. Sugar-cane is in good condition in Narsinghpur, Betul, Chhindwara and Bhandara. The supply of fodder and water is generally sufficient but the latter is getting scarce in parts of Nimar, Betul, Chhindwara, Nagpur, Chanda and Drug. Cattle are in good condition. Prices :—The price of wheat and gram remained stationary in seventeen districts, rice in eighteen and juar in nineteen.

Feudatory States.—During the week Sakti, Korea, Kanker and Jashpur received rain ranging from 10 cents to 2 inches. Construction of field embankments and preparation of land for sowing of the next autumn crops continue. Water is inadequate in parts of Kawardha, Chhuikhadan and Nandgaon but elsewhere fodder and water are sufficient. Prices :—rice has become dearer by 2 seers per rupee in Korea.

Bombay.—Moderate rain fell during the week in parts of Poona, Belgaum and Dharwar and slight rain in parts of Larkana, Hyderabad, Kanara, East Khandesh, Ahmednagar, Satara, Bijapur, Cutch and Kolhapur. Standing crops are generally in good condition. Harvesting of spring crops is in progress in Kanara, West Khandesh, Baroda and Mahi Kantha. Threshing continues in parts of Sind, West Khandesh and Nasik. Cotton-picking is progressing in parts of Gujarat and Baroda. Preparation of lands for the next season is general. The fodder supply is generally adequate except in parts of Larkana and Hyderabad. Agricultural stock are sufficient except in parts of the Deccan and are generally in good condition. Drinking water is generally sufficient except in parts of Kanara, Khandesh, Sholapur and the Karnatak. Irrigation water is adequate except in parts of the Deccan, Belgaum and Dharwar. Grain stocks are sufficient. Prices have fallen in Surat; have risen in Ahmedabad, Sholapur and Belgaum and are stationary elsewhere. The quantity purchasable per rupee is in Sind 28 to 44 per cent; in Gujarat 18 to 34 per cent; in the Konkan 2 to 26 per cent; in the Deccan 13 to 40 per cent and in the Karnatak 34 to 39 per cent less than the normal.

Hyderabad.—The average rainfall throughout the Dominion was 18 cents. The heaviest fall was 2 inches 60 cents in the Raichur district. Twenty-six talukas received fairly good showers. Water scarcity is still general. The late rice crop is still being harvested in parts but has withered in parts of the Gulbarga, Medak, Nizamabad, and Karimnagar districts. Distress in Karimnagar is now partially relieved by the low prices of grain. Cattle disease prevails in seven talukas and fodder scarcity in twenty-eight. Prices:—wheat $6\frac{1}{2}$; coarse rice $6\frac{1}{2}$ and juar $12\frac{1}{2}$ seers per rupee. White juar is selling in Hyderabad city at $11\frac{1}{2}$ seers while yellow juar is not available in the districts. The highest price is 9 seers per rupee in the Raichur, Nalgonda, Warangal, Karimnagar and Adilabad districts and the lowest 19 seers in the Bidar district.

Mysore.—Good rain fell in most parts of the State. Prices of food grains are generally steady. Markets are well supplied. Standing crops are in good condition. Prospects of the season are good. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Rainfall 2 inches 46 cents. Prices of food grains are stationary. The public health is fair. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall was heavy in Malabar; good in the Nilgiris, South Canara, Bellary, Coimbatore, Cuddapah and Trichinopoly; nil in Chingleput and Madras and light to fair elsewhere. Irrigation supplies are sufficient in Malabar and the Nilgiris and insufficient in parts of other districts. Ploughing, sowing, weeding and transplanting are in progress in parts. Standing crops are fair but some in parts of Cuddapah, Chingleput, South Arcot, North Arcot, Coimbatore, Tinnevely and South Canara have withered or are withering. Harvests continue in parts with outturn poor to normal and bumper. Pasture is sufficient in Vizagapatam, Chingleput, Madras, Tanjore and the Nilgiris and insufficient in parts of other districts. Fodder is scanty in parts of Godavari, Guntur, Cuddapah and Nellore. The condition of cattle is generally good. The price of rice is stationary in thirteen districts; has fallen in three and has risen in six. The prices of millets have fluctuated as follows:—Ragi is stationary in thirteen districts; has fallen in four and has risen in three. Cholam is stationary in four districts; has fallen in four and has risen in six. Cumbu is stationary in three districts; has fallen in three and has risen in nine. The public health is generally good. Prospects are generally fair. The condition of the labouring classes is satisfactory everywhere and employment is readily available. Grain stocks are generally sufficient.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 26th May 1910, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

A few showers due to local hot weather disturbances were reported from the United Provinces, the Central Provinces and the Deccan, but the rainfall of the week occurred chiefly in Burma and northeast India, owing to a feeble advance of the monsoon. In Burma the depression which appeared near Moulmein on the 18th introduced a period of rainy weather which lasted throughout the week, and rain fell in every part of the province. In northeast India rainfall was on most days local, but a disturbance at the head of the Bay on the 25th caused general rain in the south of Eastern Bengal and of the province of Bengal. The advance was however only temporary, and had nearly spent itself by the morning of the 26th. Very dry hot weather prevailed in the Punjab and the North-West Frontier Province.

Burma.—There were several days of nearly general rainfall, and throughout the week there was rain in lower Burma. Skies were heavily clouded, and temperature was normal or in defect.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—Rain fell locally except on the 25th, when nearly general rain was reported from the southern half of the division. Skies were lightly to moderately clouded. Temperature was in defect in the region of rainfall, and normal or in excess elsewhere.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Thunderstorms gave a few local showers, the largest number being reported on the 26th. Skies were clear or lightly clouded. Temperature was higher than usual in the United Provinces, especially in the western districts.

Northwest India.—Skies were cloudless except for light cloud in Gujarat and lower Sind. Temperature was generally in excess, and the excess was very marked in the daytime in the Punjab and the North-West Frontier Province.

The Peninsula.—A few falls of rain occurred, chiefly in the south. Skies were lightly to moderately clouded. Temperature was considerably higher than usual on the Madras coast.

The following summarises the chief rainfall amounts as reported at 8 hrs. each day:—

- May 20th. Tavoy 2'25", Moulmein 4'32", Rangoon 4'40" and Diamond Island 2'95".
- " 21st. Moulmein 3'00", Kyaukpyu 2'42", Thayetmyo and Lashio 1'50", Yamethin 1'03" and Trichinopoly 2'40".
- " 22nd. Moulmein 2'03", Mandalay 1'43", Lashio 2'75" and Dhubri 2'00".
- " 23rd. Mymensingh 2'26", Bogra 1'68" and Chaibassa 1'72".
- " 24th. Mandalay 2'05", Dibrugarh 1'93", Barisal 1'87" and Nagpur 0'95".
- " 25th. Kyaukpyu 5'75", Mandalay 2'23", Monywa 1'21", Maymyo 1'50" and Jessore 1'60".
- " 26th. Tavoy 2'40", Yamethin 2'23" and Monywa 2'54".

The week's rainfall was in excess in upper Burma, Chota Nagpur, the east of the United Provinces, of Central India and of the Central Provinces, north Hyderabad and southeast Madras: and was normal in lower Burma, Eastern Bengal, Bengal proper, Bihar, and the west of the United Provinces and of the Central Provinces.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday,
21st May 1910.

Burma.—Heavy rain fell in the Tenasserim and Pegu divisions; moderate rain in the Delta and Arakan and only slight showers in Upper Burma. Preparation of the ground for autumn crops continues normally in Upper Burma and has now begun in good time in Lower Burma. Prices of unhusked rice remain above normal in the Shan States and below normal in irrigated districts. Elsewhere prices are normal.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—The weather is seasonable. The rainfall was general. It was heavy in parts of the Rajshahi division and light to moderate elsewhere. Sowing and weeding of jute and paddy and harvesting of spring rice are in progress in the plains. Gathering of potatoes is going on in the Khasi Hills. Green fly and red spider are reported from some tea gardens. Prospects of tea are fair and of jute and winter and summer rice are til good. The average price of common rice is stationary. Cattle disease prevails in the Chittagong Hill Tracts, the Naga Hills, Goalpara, Kamrup, Darrang and Nowgong.

Bengal.—Rain fell in all districts except in Patna, Gaya, Shahabad, Sambalpur, Hazaribagh and Palamau. The fall was heavy in Cooch Behar and Purnea; moderate in Singhbhum and Darjeeling and light elsewhere. The recent rain has been beneficial in Champaran, Darbhanga, Bhagalpur and Purnea in facilitating cultivation. More rain is wanted for the purpose in parts of Bankura, Midnapore, the 24 Parganas, Murshidabad, Bhagalpur, the Sonthal Parganas and in Kharsawan. Sowing of jute and other autumn crops is going on. Preparation of lands for the next season's crops continues. Vegetables and the sugarcane crop are doing well. The price of common rice has risen in Patna, Shahabad, Champaran, Purnea, Darjeeling, the Sonthal Parganas, Hazaribagh, Ranchi and Manbhum and has fallen in Murshidabad, Jessore and Angul. Cattle disease is reported from Burdwan, Howrah, Midnapore, Champaran, Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, Monghyr, Bhagalpur, Purnea, Sambalpur, Ranchi, Palamau and Cooch Behar. The fodder and water-supply is sufficient except in parts of the Sonthal Parganas, Balasore and Angul.

United Provinces.—Light rain fell in three districts. Threshing and winnowing of spring crops are nearly completed. Extra crops are flourishing and beginning to come into the market. Sugarcane is being weeded and irrigated. Manuring and preparation of land for the coming autumn crops continue. The condition of agricultural stock continues good though twenty-two districts report sporadic cattle disease. Fodder and supplies are ample. Prices have fallen in six districts and are stationary or fluctuating elsewhere.

Punjab.—Slight rain has fallen in Murrée in the Rawalpindi district. Harvesting of spring crops and sowing of cotton, sugarcane, fodder, etc., continue. The outturn of spring crops is generally good to average. The condition of standing crops is generally good. Water melons have been damaged by insects in parts of Shahpur. Prices have fallen slightly in some districts. The condition of cattle is generally good. Water for cattle is insufficient in parts of Rohtak, Sialkot and Shahpur. Fodder is sufficient except in parts of Mianwali.

North-West Frontier Province.—No rain fell during the week. The condition of standing crops is generally average. Sowings of autumn crops are in progress. Extra spring sowings are finished in the Bannu district but still continue in other districts. Harvesting of spring crops is in progress but in the Bannu district harvesting of gram and barley is finished. The outturn of harvested crops is generally average except in Dera Ismail Khan where the outturn of oilseeds is reported below average. Fodder is sufficient. The water-supply is sufficient except in the Shigga circle of the Marwat tahsil of the Bannu district. Irrigation from the Paharpur Canal continues. Cattle are generally in good condition. The public health is good. Prices show a tendency to fall. Prices:—wheat $11\frac{3}{8}$ to $17\frac{1}{2}$; gram $17\frac{1}{2}$ to 25; maize 18 to $23\frac{1}{2}$; Jajra $16\frac{1}{2}$ to $17\frac{1}{2}$ and barley $24\frac{1}{2}$ seers per rupee.

Jammu.—Slight rain fell in the Basohli and Udhampur tahsils. Prices are fluctuating. Wheat sells from 11 to 20 and maize from 18 to 28 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is fair. Cattle disease of mild type prevails in the Basohli tahsil of the Province. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—No rain fell during the week. Spring crops are in good condition. Autumn sowings are in progress. There is no disease among cattle. Fodder is sufficient. Prices are stationary.

Rajputana.—Harvesting and threshing are in progress. Land is being prepared for autumn crops in some States and in Ajmer-Merwara. Cattle disease prevails in seven villages of Banswara. Prospects are generally good. Fodder is sufficient. Prices have risen as follows:—In Mewar by 6 chattaacks, in Shahpura by 12 chattaacks, in Jaipur by 1 seer, in Bharatpur by 4 chattaacks, in Ajmer by 6 chattaacks and in Merwara by 8 chattaacks. Elsewhere prices are steady or falling.

Central India.—The rainfall was slight in parts of Bhopawar and nil elsewhere. Threshing of spring crops continues in Gwalior and is completed elsewhere. Land is being prepared for autumn crops in Bhopal, Malwa and Bhopawar. Agricultural stock are good except for some disease in Baghelkhand, Bundelkhand and Bhopawar. Prices are falling in Bundelkhand and are steady elsewhere.

Central Provinces.—The weather continued hot and occasionally cloudy with high winds. During the week light local showers were received in ten districts and there was a hurricane with hail and rain amounting to 95 cents at Nagpur. Threshing and winnowing of spring crops are almost completed throughout the Provinces. Construction of field embankments in rice districts and preparation of land for sowing of the next autumn crops continued everywhere. Harvesting of double-cropped rice in the Sironcha tahsil of the Chanda district is approaching completion. Fodder and water are adequate except in Drug and in the Sohagpur tahsil of Hoshangabad. Scarcity of water continues in parts of Nimar, Betul, Chhindwara and Nagpur. Agricultural stock are in good condition. Prices:—The price of wheat remained stationary in seventeen and gram, rice and juar in twenty districts. Variations are unimportant elsewhere and prices generally indicate a tendency to fall.

Feudatory States.—During the week Kanker had ninety cents of rain and Sakti and Jashpur each ten cents. Ploughing of land and construction of field embankments are in progress everywhere. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient but scarcity of both is felt in a number of villages in Kawardha. Prices:—Gram rose by 5 seers in Kanker.

Bombay.—Good rain fell during the week in parts of Kanara and Dharwar and slight rain in parts of Ratnagiri, Nasik, Poona, Satara, Bijapur and Kolhapur. Harvesting of spring crops is nearly completed in West Khandesh and is progressing in Ahmedabad, Kanara and Mahi Kantha. Threshing continues in parts of Sind, West Khandesh and Nasik. Cotton-picking is progressing in parts of Ahmedabad, Kaira and Baroda. Preparation of lands for the next season is general. The fodder supply is generally adequate except in parts of Sukkur, Larkana and Hyderabad. Agricultural stock are sufficient except in parts of the Deccan and generally in good condition. Drinking water is generally sufficient except in parts of Kanara, Khandesh, Nasik, Sholapur, Bijapur and Dharwar. Irrigation water is adequate except in parts of the Deccan and Dharwar. Grain stocks are sufficient. Prices have risen in Hyderabad, Kaira and Ratnagiri and are stationary elsewhere. The quantity purchasable per rupee is in Sind 28 to 30 per cent; in Gujarat 18 to 34 per cent; in the Konkan 2 to 26 per cent; in the Deccan 13 to 40 per cent and in the Karnatak 34 to 39 per cent less than the normal.

Hyderabad.—The average rainfall throughout the Dominions was 12 cents. There was general rain in the Gulbarga, Raichur and Mahbubnagar districts. The heaviest fall was 2 inches 26 cents in the Warangal district. Thirty-one talukas received fairly good showers. Water scarcity is general. Lands are being prepared almost throughout the Dominions for the next season's sowings. Cattle disease prevails in seven and fodder scarcity in twenty-nine talukas. Prices:—wheat 6½; coarse rice 6½ and juar 12½ seers per rupee. White juar is selling in Hyderabad City at 10½ seers. Yellow juar is not available in districts. The highest price of juar is 8½ seers in the Karimnagar district and the lowest 18 seers in the Bidar and Adilabad districts.

Mysore.—The rainfall was good in Mysore and Chittaldroog and slight elsewhere. Prices of food grains are steady. Markets are well supplied. Ploughing operations are in progress in parts of the State. Standing crops are in good condition. Prospects of the season are good. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Rainfall 27 cents. Prices of food-grains are stationary. The public health is fair. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall was heavy in Salem; good in Trichinopoly, the Nilgiris, Malabar and Coimbatore; nil in Godavari and Madras and light to fair elsewhere. Irrigation supplies are sufficient in Malabar and the Nilgiris and insufficient in parts of other districts. Ploughing, sowing, weeding and transplanting are in progress in parts. Standing crops are fair and have been benefited by the recent rains in Salem, but some in parts of Chingleput, South Arcot, North Arcot, Coimbatore, Tinnevely and South Canara have withered or are withering. Harvests continue in parts with outturn poor to normal. Pasture is sufficient in Vizagapatam, Chingleput, Madras, Tanjore and the Nilgiris and insufficient in parts of other districts. Fodder is scanty in parts of Godavari, Guntur, Cuddapah and Nellore. The condition of cattle is generally good. The price of rice is stationary in seventeen districts; has fallen in two and has risen in four. The prices of millets have fluctuated as follows:—Ragi is stationary in six districts; has fallen in six and has risen in nine. Cholam is stationary in six districts; has fallen in three and has risen in five. Cumbu is stationary in six districts and has risen in nine. The public health is generally good. Prospects are generally fair. The condition of the labouring classes is satisfactory everywhere and employment is readily available. Grain stocks are generally sufficient.

No. 453—XV-203.—The agreement hereafter set forth entered into by the Company known as the Muhammadan Anglo-Oriental College Aligarh Association in accordance with the provisions of Part VII of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894 (I of 1894), are hereby published for general information.

By order, etc.,

L. STUART,

Secretary to Government, United Provinces.

An agreement entered into this day the 13th of May 1910 A. D., between the Secretary of State for India in Council (hereafter called the Secretary of State) on the one part, and the Muhammadan Anglo-Oriental College Aligarh Association, a Company registered under the Societies Registration Act (XXI of 1860), on the other part.

Whereas the aforesaid Muhammadan Anglo-Oriental College Aligarh Association has made an application to the Government of the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh to acquire, under the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act (I of 1894), land situated in Bhamla, district Aligarh, for the purposes of such Company amounting to 23 bighas or thereabouts as detailed and described in the schedule annexed hereto and for the sake of greater clearness delineated or shown on the plan* hereto annexed and thereon with its boundaries coloured red. And whereas the aforesaid local Government is satisfied that the said Muhammadan Anglo-Oriental College Aligarh Association is a Company within the meaning of section 3 (c) of the aforesaid Land Acquisition Act of 1894 (as per certificate of the Registrar of Joint Stock Companies, dated 22nd January 1890).

And whereas the aforesaid local Government after making and holding such inquiry as is required and prescribed by law is satisfied that the acquisition of the aforesaid land required by the Muhammadan Anglo-Oriental College Aligarh Association is needed for the construction of some work and that such work is likely to prove useful to the public.

And whereas under section 41 of the aforesaid Land Acquisition Act of 1894 the Muhammadan Anglo-Oriental College Aligarh Association is required to enter into an agreement with the Secretary of State for India in Council regarding matters laid down in the aforesaid section 41 of the said Act.

It is hereby agreed and declared as follows :—

1. That the aforesaid Muhammadan Anglo-Oriental College Aligarh Association will pay to the local Government of the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh or to such person (or persons) whom the local Government may appoint in this behalf all such sum or sums of money as shall be awarded under the provisions of the aforesaid Land Acquisition Act of 1894 as compensation to any person or persons who may be found on inquiry held under the provisions of the said Act, to be interested in the land hereinbefore mentioned as required by the Muhammadan Anglo-Oriental College Aligarh Association.

2. That the Muhammadan Anglo-Oriental College Aligarh Association will defray and pay to the local Government from its funds the charges of and incidental to and the cost of the acquisition of the aforesaid land under the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act of 1894.

3. That upon the Muhammadan Anglo-Oriental College Aligarh Association having made the payment mentioned in the foregoing paragraphs Nos. 1 and 2 of this agreement the local Government will forthwith in consideration of the repayment of the compensation money and cost of acquisition aforesaid convey and grant to the Muhammadan Anglo-Oriental College Aligarh Association all those aforesaid pieces of land containing by admeasurement 23 bighas situated in M. Bhamla district Aligarh, and described and shown in the schedule and plan annexed hereto free from all incumbrances and occupancy rights together with all rights, easements and appurtenances thereto in fact or by reputation belonging or now or heretofore enjoyed therewith to hold the land into and to the use of the Muhammadan Anglo-Oriental College Aligarh Association.

4. That the Muhammadan Anglo-Oriental College Aligarh Association will perpetually hold and enjoy the aforesaid land and use the said land for the purposes hereby agreed upon.

5. That the Muhammadan Anglo-Oriental College Aligarh Association will use the aforesaid land for the purposes of erecting new buildings on the aforesaid land as boarding houses for students of the aforesaid Muhammadan Anglo-Oriental College as dwellings and quarters for professors, lecturers, teachers clerks, menials and servants for constructing scientific laboratories and observatories and gymnasia and any other buildings which will be required for the Muhammadan Anglo-Oriental College or Muhammadan Anglo-Oriental Collegiate School which is affiliated therewith for providing for a future new building for classes for students and lecture rooms for professors and like purposes of providing for play grounds for the students of the Muhammadan Anglo-Oriental College or Muhammadan Anglo-Oriental Collegiate School aforesaid and of keeping the College and School aforesaid free from insanitary or otherwise undesirable surroundings.

6. That the Muhammadan Anglo-Oriental College Aligarh Association shall have plenary power of discretion to demolish, add to, extend, alter, or repair any buildings which may be now in existence or may be erected in future upon the aforesaid land and to erect and construct any new buildings and to cut down or plant trees, shrubs and hedges and to lay out gardens or lawns and to dig wells or make other excavations and fill up ditches or wells and lay water pipes and to build or pull down huts and farm houses and do all other things upon the aforesaid land at any time for the purposes mentioned in paragraph 5 of this agreement.

7. That the Muhammadan Anglo-Oriental College, Aligarh Association will allow the public to have the full right and liberty to utilize the aforesaid institutions known as the Muhammadan Anglo-Oriental College and Muhammadan Anglo-Oriental Collegiate School and the boarding houses and play grounds and other accessories and appurtenances that shall be attached thereto by having their sons and wards admitted as students and scholars of the aforesaid institutions according to their rules and regulations and subject to the payment of such fees and the observances of such rules and regulations on the part of the students and scholars and their guardians as are or shall be for the time being fixed and framed by the said Muhammadan Anglo-Oriental College Aligarh Association or such person or persons as Muhammadan Anglo-Oriental College, Aligarh Association shall appoint on their behalf or by any higher authority to whom the Muhammadan Anglo-Oriental College Aligarh Association is, or may be, hereafter by law subject.

In witness whereof the parties hereto have set their hands the day and year first above written.

No. 1692.—HIS MAJESTY THE KING, EMPEROR OF INDIA, has been pleased to send the following letter to the Princes and peoples of India :—

“ TO THE PRINCES AND PEOPLES OF INDIA,—The lamented and unlooked for death of my dearly loved father calls me to ascend the Throne that comes to me as the heir of a great and ancient line. As King and Emperor I greet the Princes, the Ruling Chiefs and all the other dwellers in my Indian dominions. I offer you my heartfelt thanks for the touching and abundant manifestation that this event has called forth from all the diverse races, classes and faiths in India, of loyalty to the Sovereign Crown and personal attachment to its wearers. Queen Victoria of revered memory addressed her Indian subjects and the heads of Feudatory States when she assumed the direct Government in 1858 and her august son, my father, of honoured and beloved name, commemorated the same most notable event in his address to you fifty years later. These are the Charters of the noble and benignant spirit of Imperial rule and by that spirit in all my time to come I will faithfully abide. By the wish of His Late Majesty and following his own example I visited India five years ago accompanied by my Royal Consort. We became personally acquainted with great Kingdoms known to history, with monuments of a civilisation older than our own, with ancient customs and ways of life, with Native Rulers, with the peoples, the cities, towns, villages throughout those vast territories. Never can either the vivid impressions or the affectionate associations of that wonderful journey vanish or grow dim. Firmly I confide in your dutiful and active co-operation in the high and arduous tasks that lie before me and I count upon your ready response to the earnest sympathy with the well-being of India that must ever be the inspiration of my rule."

By order of the Governor General in Council,

A. EARLE,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of India.

NOTIFICATION.

Simla, the 2nd June, 1910.

No. 34.—The following Statute is published for general information :—

ARMY (ANNUAL) ACT, 1910.

[10 EDW. 7, CH. 6.]

AN ACT TO PROVIDE, DURING TWELVE MONTHS, FOR THE DISCIPLINE AND REGULATION OF THE ARMY.

[29th April, 1910.]

WHEREAS the raising or keeping of a standing army within the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland in time of peace, unless it be with the consent of Parliament, is against law :

And whereas it is adjudged necessary by His Majesty and this present Parliament that a body of forces should be continued for the safety of the United Kingdom and the defence of the possessions of His Majesty's Crown, and that the whole number of such forces should consist of one hundred and eighty-four thousand two hundred, including those to be employed at the depôts in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland for the training of recruits for service at home and abroad, but exclusive of the numbers actually serving within His Majesty's Indian possessions :

And whereas it is also judged necessary for the safety of the United Kingdom, and the defence of the possessions of this realm, that a body of Royal Marine forces should be employed in His Majesty's fleet and naval service, under the direction of the Lord High Admiral of the United Kingdom, or the Commissioners for executing the office of Lord High Admiral aforesaid :

And whereas the said marine forces may frequently be quartered or be on shore, or sent to do duty or be on board transport ships or vessels, merchant ships or vessels, or other ships or vessels, or they may be under other circumstances in which they will not be subject to the laws relating to the government of His Majesty's forces by sea :

And whereas no man can be forejudged of life or limb, or subjected in time of peace to any kind of punishment within this realm, by martial law, or in any other manner than by the judgment of his peers and according to the known and established laws of this realm; yet, nevertheless, it being requisite, for the retaining all the before-mentioned forces, and other persons subject to military law, in their duty, that an exact discipline be observed, and that persons belonging to the said forces who mutiny or stir up sedition, or desert His Majesty's service, or are guilty of crimes and offences to the prejudice of good order and military discipline, be brought to a more exemplary and speedy punishment than the usual forms of the law will allow :

And whereas the Army Act will expire in the year one thousand nine hundred and ten on the following days :—

- (a) In the United Kingdom, the Channel Islands, and the Isle of Man, on the thirtieth day of April; and
- (b) Elsewhere, whether within or without His Majesty's dominions, on the thirty-first day of July :

Be it therefore enacted by the King's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows :—

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as the Army (Annual) Act, 1910.

2. (1) The Army Act shall be and remain in force during the periods herein-after mentioned, and no longer, unless otherwise provided by Parliament (that is to say) :—

Army Act to be in force for specified times.

- (a) Within the United Kingdom, the Channel Islands, and the Isle of Man, from the thirtieth day of April one thousand nine hundred and ten to the thirtieth day of April one thousand nine hundred and eleven, both inclusive; and
- (b) Elsewhere, whether within or without His Majesty's dominions, from the thirty-first day of July one thousand nine hundred and ten to the thirty-first day of July one thousand nine hundred and eleven, both inclusive.

(2) The Army Act, while in force, shall apply to persons subject to military law, whether within or without His Majesty's dominions.

(3) A person subject to military law shall not be exempted from the provisions of the Army Act by reason only that the number of the forces for the time being in the service of His Majesty, exclusive of the marine forces, is either greater or less than the number herein-before mentioned.

3. There shall be paid to the keeper of a victualling house for the accommodation provided by him in pursuance of the Army Act the prices specified in the Schedule to this Act.

Prices in respect of billeting.

AMENDMENT OF ARMY ACT.

4. With a view to reducing the number of cases which have to be sent for trial by courts-martial owing to the limited powers of punishment exercisable by commanding officers, the maximum period of detention which may be awarded by a commanding officer who deals with a case summarily shall be twenty-eight days, and accordingly "twenty-eight" shall be substituted for "fourteen" in paragraph (a) of sub-section (2) of section forty-six of the Army Act, and sub-section (4) of the same section shall be repealed.

Amendment of s. 46 of Army Act with respect to powers of commanding officers.

SCHEDULE.

Accommodation to be provided.	Maximum Price.
Lodging and attendance for soldier where meals furnished ...	Sixpence per night.
Breakfast as specified in Part I of the Second Schedule to the Army Act.	Fourpence each.
Dinner as so specified	Elevenpence halfpenny each.
Supper as so specified	Twopence halfpenny each.
Where no meals furnished, lodging and attendance, and candles, vinegar, salt, and the use of fire, and the necessary utensils for dressing and eating his meat.	Sixpence per day.
Stableroom and ten pounds of oats, twelve pounds of hay, and eight pounds of straw per day for each horse.	One shilling and ninepence per day.
Lodging and attendance for officer	Two shillings per night.

Note.—An officer shall pay for his food.

JUDICIAL.

Simla, the 30th May, 1910.

No. 769.—In exercise of the power conferred by section 138 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 (XXVI of 1881), the Governor General in Council is pleased to appoint Lala Ram Rakha Mal to be a notary public and to exercise his functions as such within the Lahore district.

The 31st May, 1910.

No. 778.—In exercise of the powers conferred by sections 43 and 57 of the Administrator General's Act, 1874 (II of 1874), the Governor General in Council is pleased to make, in supersession of all previous rules, the following rules for the guidance of the Administrator General of Bengal in respect of the matters referred to in the said sections.

RULES.

1. Any of the duties required by these rules to be performed by the Administrator General may be performed by the Deputy Administrator General unless it appears from the context that the contrary is intended.

Powers of Deputy Administrator General.

2. The Administrator General shall keep the accounts, statements and other records enumerated and described in the first Schedule hereto annexed.

Accounts, etc.

3. Every payment charged in the Administrator General's general cash account shall be supported by a voucher which shall be passed for payment under the initials of the Administrator General.

Vouchers.

4. All payments made to persons resident in the United Kingdom shall be made through the Official Agent to the Administrator General at the India Office by means of bills of exchange payable on demand in London. Such bills of exchange shall be obtained by the Administrator General from the Bank of Bengal, who shall be at liberty to select the Bank or Banks from which such bills shall be purchased.

Payments to persons in United Kingdom.

5. The Administrator General shall not, except for special reasons, retain in his hands a larger sum in cash than Rs. 2,000. Any excess beyond that amount shall be lodged in the Bank of Bengal as soon as practicable after its receipt.

Limit of cash balance.

6. (a) Whenever the cash balance to the credit of the general account of any estate, after providing for ascertained current demands and outgoings, amounts to or exceeds Rs. 100, it shall be invested in Government securities, or in any other securities expressly authorised by the will or deed under which the Administrator General holds the estate and in which he is requested so to invest the same by the persons beneficially interested in such cash balance.

Investments.

(b) The cash balance standing to the credit of a separate account which represents the interest or income of investments or other property, and which is payable by way of annuity or otherwise to the person or persons entitled thereto, or standing to the credit of any depositor in the sundry estates deposit account, although it exceeds Rs. 100 in amount, should not be invested unless it can properly be treated as dead assets.

(c) No cash balance standing to the credit of an estate in the Dividend Account, although it exceeds Rs. 100 in amount, shall be invested until three years have elapsed from the date of the transfer of the amount to such account.

7. In dealing with the payment of claims of creditors the amount of which claims has been transferred by the Administrator General to the credit of the Dividend Account, the Administrator General shall in each case, as soon as he is in a position to pay such claims, forward a special notice to each creditor whose claim has been admitted and registered, together with a receipt for the amount payable to him, for his signature, whether such receipt represents the total amount of his claim or a dividend, and such notice shall be sent to the creditor at his registered address. On presentation of the receipt duly signed accompanied by the Registry Certificate (unless the non-production of the latter be satisfactorily accounted for), the amount shall be paid and debited in the Dividend Account.

Procedure on payment of creditors.

The Registry Certificate, where payment is made in full, shall be retained, but where only a dividend is paid it shall be returned to the creditor with an endorsement thereon showing the amount of dividend so paid.

All sums of money which have been transferred to the Dividend Account as heretofore provided for, and which remain unclaimed in such account for a period of three years from the date of the transfer, shall, if they exceed the aggregate of Rs. 100 in any estate, thereafter be invested in Government securities, which shall be earmarked to the particular estate in that account, and all interest realised on such securities shall be credited to that account. Any creditors who subsequently come forward to receive payment will be paid their proportionate share of the interest on such securities, and should there be a loss on the general balance of the account owing to the depreciation in the value of the securities at the time of sale, they will have to bear their proportionate share of such loss.

8. All Government securities and Bank or other shares or debentures coming into the possession of the Administrator General shall as soon as practicable be lodged in the Bank of Safe custody of securities.

Bengal for safe custody, except in any case in which it may be necessary for him to retain them temporarily for any purposes, such as drawing dividends, sale in due course of administration, closing the accounts of the estate, or such like. All such securities or shares shall as soon as practicable be endorsed or transferred into the name of the Administrator General and earmarked to the estate to which they respectively belong.

9. There shall always be maintained in the office of the Administrator General a room which shall be provided with iron safes for the safe custody of all cash, currency notes and other securities and other assets, such as jewels, etc., and also title-deeds and other documents belonging to the estates, and the keys of such room and safes shall be kept in triplicate, one set in the possession of the Administrator General and the Deputy Administrator General respectively, and the third set in the Bank of Bengal. All jewels, ornaments and other articles of a like nature which are of any substantial value shall as soon as possible be listed and valued by an expert to be selected by the Administrator General. When the value of such jewels or other articles exceeds Rs. 500, the Administrator General shall deliver them for safe custody after they have been valued to the Bank of Bengal or to a Bank or firm approved by the Government of India in this behalf; and if their value does not exceed Rs. 500, he may either deliver them to such Bank or firm for safe custody or retain them in the strong room in his office.

10. The Administrator General may transfer to a separate account, which shall be styled "The Petty Receipts of Closed Estates Account," all small balances which, when the accounts of an estate are closed, are, owing to the amounts being so small, indivisible amongst the beneficiaries or creditors of the estate entitled thereto, and also any sum received as and by way of further assets of an estate after it has been closed, and which, owing to the smallness of the amount, is equally indivisible. Should any further assets be received to the credit of an estate in which such a transfer has been made, and such further assets together with the amount or amounts, if more than one, so transferred to this account be in the aggregate capable of division amongst the beneficiaries or creditors entitled thereto, the amount or amounts so transferred to this account shall be written back to the credit of the general account of the estate concerned, which shall be re-opened and a further distribution of such assets then made.

11. The following fees shall be payable to the Administrator General for inspection of and searches in the books and records of his office, and all such fees shall be credited to the issue a general citation and advertise the same in such newspapers as he thinks fit, and he shall after having granted such certificate cause an advertisement of having granted the same to be issued in such newspapers as he thinks fit.

13. On receipt of notice of the death of any person who was, or who the Administrator General has reason to suppose may have been, the subject of any foreign State to which the provisions of section 8 of the Administrators General and Official Trustees Act, 1902 have been applied by the Governor General in Council, the Administrator General shall forthwith give notice of such death to the Consular Officer of such foreign State at Calcutta, and shall inform the District Judge, who has reported such death, of his having done so. In such a case the Administrator General shall take no steps to administer or in any way deal with such estate, without the consent of such Consular Officer, or until he has expressed his intention of not moving in the matter.

14. The Administrator General may, after the expiration of one year from the date of his closing the administration of any estate in his hands, destroy any private papers, bills, receipts, memoranda or other similar documents of no value which he has received along with the estate and which are not claimed by the beneficiaries, next of kin or any other persons entitled thereto.

15. In order to allow of the more efficient and economical management of house properties and zamindaris belonging to estates under charge of the Administrator General, the costs of the management of which are debitable to estates under the provisions of section 54, it shall be open to the Administrator General to employ a General Manager and such assistants as may be necessary for the management thereof in the House Property and Zamindari Departments instead of employing separate managers and assistants in the case of each estate. The costs of establishment and expenses in connection with such general management shall be debited to the estates concerned in proportion to the value of the house property and zamindaris respectively owned by each estate, taking also into consideration the nature and expenditure involved in the management of the different properties belonging to each estate. All expenditure in the House Property Department shall be debited to an account to be called the House Property Department Account, and each estate may be debited with a monthly sum, such sum being calculated upon its proportionate share of the annual expenditure in the Department and being altered and adjusted from time to time in accordance with the increase or reduction in the amount of property in charge of the Department and the corresponding increase or reduction in the total expenditure. The salaries of the manager and assistants and other expenditure of the Zamindari Department which is not incurred specifically on account of any particular estate shall similarly be rateably divided amongst all the estates concerned in proportion to the amount of the annual collections of the various zamindaris, taking also into account the nature and the amount of work involved in the management thereof. Each estate shall however be debited with any particular expenditure solely and exclusively incurred in that Department on its account. In the case of each of the two Departments the general expenditure shall be so regulated that in no case shall any estate be debited with a larger sum than it would ordinarily cost to manage it were the property belonging to it placed under the management of its own separate staff, or with a higher proportion of the cost of the general establishment than should reasonably and properly be debited to it.

16. For the better classification of the information which by section 44 of the Act the Administrator General is required to exhibit and deliver to the High Court at Calcutta and to publish in the official Gazette of the Presidency, the Administrator General shall periodically cause tables to be prepared in the forms set forth in the second Schedule hereto annexed.

17. (1) The General Accounts of the Administrator General shall be audited by the Auditors appointed under section 45 of the Act and in order to ensure the timely preparation and publication of the Schedules referred to in rule 16 the said accounts shall be closed twice each year, vis., for the Schedule which is required by section 44 of the Act to be exhibited in Court on or before the 1st April up to the 31st December preceding, and for that which is required to be exhibited on or before the 1st October up to the preceding 30th June.

(2) All general expenditure on account of estates, including that referred to in section 48 of the Act, which is not payable out of the Administrator General's commission but is debitable to estates under section 54, and which is neither separately provided for by rule 15, nor exempted from the operation of this rule by orders passed by the Government of India from time to time, shall be ascertained and settled by the auditors and distributed amongst the estates each half-year. As the actual amount of such general expenditure cannot be ascertained till after the close of the half-year, and some estates have to be closed before it is so ascertained, the amount to be distributed amongst the estates shall be the average amount of such expenditure during the preceding three years, and this amount is to be distributed amongst the estates by way of a percentage based upon the average value of the assets realised in respect of all estates during the same period. The percentage so determined shall continue the same till it is found necessary to alter it owing to any considerable change in the amount of such general expenditure, or in the average value of the assets collected each half-year.

(3) The Administrator General shall have the local accounts of zamindaris in his charge and the accounts of any firm or business carried on by him on behalf of and belonging to any estates in his charge audited from time to time either by private auditors or, with the previous approval of the Government of India, by the auditors appointed under section 45 of the Act. When the accounts of a zamindari or business accounts are audited, the whole expense of such audit shall be debited to the estate concerned.

THE FIRST SCHEDULE.

I. CASH BOOK.—This book shall contain full particulars of all daily transactions in cash, Government and other securities and shares, there being separate columns on the debit and credit side for all receipts and payments made in cash, or through the Bank, and for all transactions in Government or other securities and shares. This book shall be balanced at the close of each day and then be laid before the Administrator General, who will sign it after checking the entries and satisfying himself that the balance is correct.

II. LEDGERS.—(a) General Estate Accounts Ledgers.—Separate Ledger Accounts for each estate under charge of the Administrator General and of each separate Share Account opened in any estate shall be kept, and each ledger account shall contain a full and detailed account of every transaction whether in cash, Government or other securities or shares, and the Ledger Account in each estate shall be posted up daily.

(b) Commission Account Ledger.—This ledger shall show the amount of commission and fees earned by and paid to the Administrator General and the amount paid from time to time by the Administrator General to the Government of India on account of such commission and fees, and shall be daily posted up from the commission vouchers and entries in the Cash Book.

(c) Dividend Account Ledger.—This Ledger shall show in detail amounts transferred to the credit of this account in each estate as from the 1st of January 1902, and a subsidiary ledger will also be kept which will show the transactions of each estate separately and the names of creditors, the amounts of their respective claims, and amounts paid out with the names of the creditors to whom payment is made. The ledger shall also show particulars of any transactions in Government securities purchased or sold in connection with this account.

(d) Old Dividend Account Ledger.—This ledger shall be similar in form to that provided for in the case of the Dividend Account, but shall only include the accounts of estates in which transfers were made to the Dividend Account prior to the 1st January 1902, and a subsidiary ledger shall similarly be kept in connection with this account which will show the transactions in each estate separately and the like particulars to those provided for in the subsidiary ledger to be kept in connection with the Dividend Account.

(e) Security Ledger.—This book shall show particulars of all securities of whatsoever nature received by the Administrator General or purchased by him, and shall show his dealings therewith. The account of each estate shall be kept separately.

(f) Sundry Estates Deposit Account Ledger.—This book shall show particulars of all amounts deposited with the Administrator General whether in securities or otherwise in each estate and whether by tenants or employes, and the account shall contain entries of all interest realised on such securities and particulars of all payments made thereout. There shall also be kept under this head subsidiary ledgers showing the account of each depositor in each estate.

(g) Miscellaneous Ledger.—This ledger shall contain entries relating to the following accounts:—

(i) Advertising Account.—Containing particulars of all sums received and disbursed on account of advertisements in respect of certificates granted under the provisions of section 36 or 37 of Act II of 1874.

(ii) Petty Receipts of Closed Estates Account.—Containing entries of all sums transferred from general estates to this account and payments made thereout.

(iii) House Property Department Account.—Containing entries of all sums credited to this account from estates and payments made thereout.

(iv) Filing Fee Account.—Containing entries of all sums transferred from the general estate accounts and payments made thereout.

(v) Income Tax Account.—This account shall contain particulars of amounts deducted on account of income tax from salaries of estate employes and of amounts paid over to the income Tax Collector.

(vi) Registration Fee and Postage Account.—Showing entries of all sums realised or received by the Administrator General on account of registration fees and postage of letters addressed to beneficiaries and others and of all sums paid thereout.

Note.—All ledger accounts must be posted up daily and closed half-yearly on the 30th June and 31st December and the balances carried forward to new account, but when the administration of any estate is completed and closed, the ledger account of such estate shall be closed when the final closing order is carried out.

III. RECEIPT BOOK.—In this book shall be entered in an annual consecutive series particulars of all sums of money other than house rents received by the Administrator General in cash, by cheque or other paper representing money, and of all Government securities, debtentures, Bank or other shares made over to him in course of administration. Each entry in respect of which a receipt is granted shall contain the material portion of such receipt, which shall bear the same number as the entry, and the entry shall be compared with the receipt and initialled by the Administrator General at the time of his signing the receipt. When a receipt is granted, a note shall be made, if necessary, against the entry to that effect and reference made to the Challan Books, Money Order Register or such like where full particulars of such receipts are recorded. All entries in this book shall be initialled daily by the Administrator General at the time he checks the entries in the Cash Book and signs the cash balance.

IV. BILLS RECEIVABLE BOOK.—This book shall contain full particulars of all drafts or account sales payable on demand or otherwise, and the entries shall be made in a monthly consecutive series of numbers. Columns shall be provided to show the date of realisation, and the actual amount realised in the case of each of such drafts, etc., and such columns shall be written up on the date of realisation and the entries therein shall also be initialled daily by the Administrator General at the time he checks the entries in the Cash Book and signs the cash balance.

V. REGISTERS.—

(i) Account Registers.—

- (a) Distribution Register.—This book shall show the manner in which an estate has been wound up and also particulars of accounts rendered to beneficiaries and others.
- (b) Delivery Register.—This book shall show particulars of all accounts filed in Courts.
- (c) Advance Register.—This book shall contain particulars of all advances made to solicitors, contractors, managers of zimindari properties, or others, and columns shall be provided for the purpose of showing how and when such advances have been adjusted.
- (d) Currency Note Register.—This register shall contain the numbers and necessary particulars of all Government currency notes of the value of Rs. 50 and upwards which pass through the office of the Administrator General.
- (e) Estates Transferred to Government Register.—This register shall contain particulars of the assets of all estates transferred and paid to the Comptroller General, under the provisions of section 62 of the Act, and shall show the dates on which such transfers and payments are made.
- (f) Remittance Register.—This register shall contain particulars of all remittances made to the India Office on account of estates in the hands of the Administrator General, and on receipt of the discharge from beneficiaries or other persons an entry should be made showing the date of such discharge.

(ii) Security Registers.—

- (a) Security Deposit Register.—This book shall contain full particulars of all Government securities and shares or other securities of whatsoever nature which are deposited in the Bank of Bengal for safe custody.
- (b) Security Withdrawal Register.—This register shall contain full particulars of all Government securities, Bank shares, debentures, shares in public companies, or other securities belonging to any estate withdrawn from the Bank of Bengal, and shall show the date of each withdrawal. Each entry in this register shall be signed by the Administrator General at the time he signs the application for withdrawal, and the date on which the securities are received from the Bank shall be also noted against each entry.
- (c) Security Splitting Register.—This book shall contain full particulars of all Government securities sent to the Public Debt Office, Bank of Bengal, for purposes of splitting, renewal, etc., and shall show the date on which such securities or their equivalent are received back. This register shall also show particulars of any other shares sent for any purposes to the office of issue.
- (d) Security Enfacing Register.—This register shall contain full particulars of all Government securities sent to the Public Debt Office, Bank of Bengal, for purposes of being enfaced for payment of interest in England or elsewhere in India and shall also show the dates on which such securities are returned.

VI. ADMINISTRATION REGISTER.—This book shall be in the nature of a General Index to the other books kept in the Department and shall contain the names of all estates dealt with under consecutive serial numbers, date of grant of Probate or Letters of Administration, date when time allowed in statutory advertisement for creditors and others expires, reference to Asset Book, Inventory Book, Claim Book and similar information.

VII. ASSET BOOK.—This book shall contain full particulars in connection with the administration of each estate and inter alia shall show date and place of death of the deceased, date of grant of probate or letters of administration; date and papers in which statutory notice to creditors and others has been published; a list of the assets of the estate as set out in the petition for the grant, of all other assets as the Administrator General obtains information respecting them and their estimated value and the names and addresses of the next-of-kin and legatees. The actual value of assets when realised shall also be shown and the date of realisation thereof, and also the total amount of the claims admitted and registered. As soon as a closing order in an estate is passed a copy of it shall be entered in this book signed by the Administrator General and the Deputy Administrator General. All entries made in this book shall also be signed by the Administrator General or the Deputy Administrator General.

VIII. CLAIM BOOK.—In this book shall be entered a list of all claims preferred by creditors against each estate. The entry in respect of each creditor shall show his name and address, and any change of address subsequently notified to the Administrator General, the amount of the claim preferred, whether the claim has been admitted or not, and if admitted the amount so admitted and registered, the date of payment and whether the admitted amount is paid in full or otherwise. The entries in this book at the time each claim is dealt with and admitted or disallowed shall be initialled by the Administrator General, and the entries relating to the payment of the claims shall be initialled by the Chief Accountant and shall show the date of each payment (see Rule VII, supra).

IX. INVENTORY BOOK.—This book shall contain a list of all moveable assets other than Government securities, cash, debentures, shares, or other paper representing money, received as belonging to each estate at the time the Administrator General takes charge thereof. The original list or inventory prepared and signed by the Administrator General's representative when taking charge of such assets and countersigned if practicable by the representative of the deceased from whose charge or possession the assets are received or a true copy thereof signed by the Administrator General should be passed into this book. The valuation if and when made by experts of all such moveable assets shall also be posted in this book and provision shall be made for the necessary entries as to how such assets are disposed of. The receipts of all articles included in such lists and made over by the Administrator General to any person or expert for the purpose of the valuation or safe custody or other like purposes shall be taken either in such book itself or on a separate form to be afterwards pasted into the book. All entries relating to the receipt or disposal of assets entered in this book shall be signed or initialled by the Administrator General.

X. MILITARY ESTATES REGISTER.—This book shall show particulars of each estate transferred to the Administrator General under section 65 of the Act and shall show inter alia the name of the estate, date of transfer to the Administrator General, date of grant, or, if no grant is necessary, date on which the Administrator General takes charge under section 37 of the Act, and also the date on which the closing order is passed.

XI. REGISTER OF HOUSE RENT BILLS.—This book shall contain the following particulars:—Name of estate, particulars of property, name of tenant as to whether tenant has a lease or not, rent payable, serial number of rent bills, column showing amounts realised and date of realisation, and columns showing amount of arrears due at the commencement and end of each month. The entries in this book shall be initialled by the Deputy Administrator General at the time the rent bills are signed, and all entries showing realisation shall likewise be initialled.

It shall be optional with the Administrator General to keep a separate register for any particular estate.

XII. REGISTER OF TAX BILLS.—This register shall contain entries relating to all taxes payable by the Administrator General and realisable by him from tenants, similar to those contained in the Register of House Rent Bills, and the procedure to be followed regarding the entries in this book shall be the same as prescribed in the case of that register.

XIII. ZAMINDARI ACCOUNTS.—The account of each estate owning zamindari property shall be kept separate and distinct in the Zamindari Department, and all books, accounts and documents kept in connection with such property shall be in the forms prescribed for the time being and in use by the Court of Wards.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 2nd June 1910, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

A shallow depression formed at the head of the Bay on the 29th, and passed into the east of the Central Provinces, but the rainfall in its vicinity was very light. Monsoon winds from the Bay however penetrated into the Gangetic plain; and rain fell locally in the United Provinces and the east of Central India, extending during the next few days into the hills and submontane districts of the Punjab. Nearly general rain was of daily occurrence in Burma and local rain in northeast India.

At the close of the week there were indications of an advance of the monsoon in the southeast of the Arabian Sea, and rainfall increased to some extent in the south of the peninsula.

With the extension westwards of cloud and rainfall in northern India, the excessively high temperature conditions which had been prevailing in the Punjab, the North-West Frontier Province and upper Sind gave way, and at the end of the week temperature was in general defect in the plains of northwest India.

Burma.—Rainfall occurred in all parts of the province. Skies were moderately to heavily clouded and temperature was in defect, especially in the daytime.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—Rain fell locally throughout the week. Skies were moderately clouded. Temperature was generally in defect in Chota Nagpur, and in excess in Assam and the adjoining districts of Eastern Bengal.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Local falls of rain were reported from the United Provinces and the east of Central India. Skies were lightly to moderately clouded in the region of rainfall and were almost clear elsewhere. Temperature was in considerable defect in the United Provinces and the east of Central India.

Northwest India.—A few falls of rain occurred in the east Punjab and the extreme north. Cloud increased gradually during the week and on the 1st June it was reported from all parts of the division. In lower Sind maximum temperature was throughout the week lower than usual, and on the last two days it was also in defect in the Punjab upper Sind and Rajputana.

The Peninsula.—Only a few scattered falls of rain were reported until the close of the week when rainfall increased in the south. Skies were cloudless in the Bombay Deccan and Hyderabad, and lightly to moderately clouded in the rest of the division. Temperature was in excess on the Madras coast.

The following summarises the chief rainfall amounts as reported at 8 hrs. each day:—

- May 27th. Tavoy 3·20", Bassein 1·91" and Diamond Island 3·03".
 „ 28th. Rangoon 3·35", Bassein 4·21", Jalpaiguri 1·98", Hazaribagh 1·46" and Chakrata 2·02".
 „ 29th. Moulmein 4·45", Akyab 4·56", Minbu 2·10", Monywa 1·97", False Point 2·11" and Cöchin 1·60".
 „ 30th. Kyaukpyu 3·68", Monywa 3·74", Lucknow 1·30", Meerut 1·12" and Roorkee 2·27".
 „ 31st. Bhamo 2·71" and Sibsagar 2·32".
 June 1st. Shillong 3·00", Gauhati 1·62", Simla 1·46", Calicut 1·72" and Kodai-kanal 1·49".
 „ 2nd. Bhamo 2·29", Chittagong 3·40", Mymensingh 2·60" and Saugor 1·46".

The week's rainfall was above the average in Burma, Chota Nagpur, the United Provinces, Central India, East, the Punjab, East and North, and Sind.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday,
28th May 1910.

Burma.—The rainfall during the week was general. It was mostly heavy in Lower Burma; heavy also in Mandalay and the extreme north of Upper Burma and moderate elsewhere. Sowing of hill side rice is progressing. Reaping of spring rice in Upper Burma continues. Ploughing for early autumn rice is now fairly general. Ploughing for early sesamum and cotton has commenced in parts of Upper Burma. Agricultural operations everywhere are progressing normally. The price of unhusked rice has risen considerably in two districts and slightly in five others. It has fallen considerably in one district and slightly in two others. Prices are normal for the most part but above normal in the Shan States.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—No rain fell in Goalpara and Malda. The fall was heavy in the Dacca and Chittagong divisions, the heaviest fall being 9 inches at Patuakhali. There was light to moderate rain elsewhere. Harvesting of spring rice still continues. Sowing of rice is in progress. Jute promises well. Sowing is almost finished and weeding is going on. Prospects of tea are not favourable. Green fly and red spider are still reported from some districts. The condition of til is good. The average price of common rice has risen about two per cent. Cattle disease prevails in the Chittagong Hill Tracts, the Naga Hills, Goalpara, Kamrup, Darrang and Nowgong.

Bengal.—The rainfall was general all over the Province except in Shahabad, Bhagalpur and Cooch Behar. The fall was heavy in Nadia; moderate in parts of Midnapore, Jessore, Khulna, Champaran, Muzaffarpur, Purnea, Balasore, Puri, Hazaribagh and light elsewhere. Preparation of lands continues. Sowing of summer paddy and jute is going on. Standing crops are doing well. The price of common rice has risen in Murshidabad, Jessore, Gaya, Champaran, Monghyr and Angul and has fallen in Ranchi and Palamau. Cattle disease is reported from Midnapore, Gaya, Champaran, Muzaffarpur, Bhagalpur, Purnea, Cuttack, Angul, Sambalpur, Hazaribagh, Ranchi, Palamau and Manbhum. The fodder and water-supply is sufficient except in parts of the Sonthal Parganas, Balasore, Angul and Hazaribagh.

United Provinces.—Almost general rain fell throughout the Province averaging half inch per district and was generally beneficial to sugarcane, mango and extra crops and has helped the preparation of land for autumn sowings. Cotton, maize and millet are being sown in canal irrigated tracts. Extra crops and tobacco are being cut. Cattle continue in good condition though sporadic disease is reported from twenty-three districts. Fodder and supplies are ample. Prices have fallen in seven districts and are stationary elsewhere.

Punjab.—Slight rain has fallen in parts of Gurgaon, Ambala, Jullundur, Shahpur and Rawalpindi. Harvesting of spring crops and sowing of cotton and fodder crops, etc., continue. The outturn of spring crops is generally good to average. Sugarcane has not been extensively sown in Rohtak owing to canal water not coming in time. The condition of standing extra spring crops is reported good to average. Sugarcane and mangoes have been damaged slightly by insects in parts of Ambala. Prices have generally fallen more or less in several districts. The condition of cattle is generally good. Fodder is sufficient except in parts of Mianwali. Water for cattle is insufficient in parts of Ambala, Sialkot and Shahpur. Complaints of a short canal supply are being received from the Samundri tahsil of the Lyallpur district.

North-West Frontier Province.—No rain fell during the week except 6 cents in Bannu and 37 cents in Kohat. The condition of standing crops is generally average except that in Dera Ismail Khan it is reported below average on unirrigated lands. Sowings of autumn crops continue. Harvesting of spring crops is in progress and the outturn is generally average but in Dera Ismail Khan the yield of oilseeds is reported below average. The fodder and water-supply is sufficient except in the Shigga and Pakesa circles of the Marwat tahsil in the Bannu district. Irrigation from the Paharpur canal continues. The condition of cattle is generally good except in one village of the Swabi tahsil of the Peshawar district. The public health is good. Prices are fluctuating. Wheat sells from $12\frac{7}{8}$ to $17\frac{1}{4}$; gram $16\frac{1}{8}$ to 25; bajra $16\frac{1}{4}$ to $17\frac{1}{4}$; maize 18 to 23 and barley $25\frac{1}{8}$ seers per rupee.

Jammu.—Rain slight. Prices are fluctuating. Wheat sells from 12 to 17 and maize from 18 to 26 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is fair. Cattle disease of mild type prevails in the Basohli and Jasmirgarh tahsils of the Province. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—No rain fell during the week. Extra spring crops are being harvested. Autumn sowings are going on. There is no disease among cattle. Fodder is sufficient. Prices are stationary.

Rajputana.—Rain fell in Jaipur, Alwar, Karauli and Bharatpur. The maximum fall was 83 cents at Bharatpur and the minimum 15 at Karauli. Harvesting and threshing are in progress. Land is being prepared for autumn crops in some States and in Ajmer-Merwara. Cattle disease prevails in certain villages of Banswara. Prospects are generally good. Fodder is sufficient. Prices have risen as follows:—In Bikaner 4 chattaks, Partabgarh 8 chattaks, Shahpura 12 chattaks, Kishangarh 1 seer, Alwar 6 chattaks, Ajmer 10 chattaks and Merwara 8 chattaks. Prices are steady or falling elsewhere.

Central India.—The rainfall was slight in Baghelkhand and nil elsewhere. Agricultural stock are good except for some disease in Indore, Baghelkhand, Bundelkhand and Bhopawar. Prices are fluctuating in Indore and are steady elsewhere.

Central Provinces.—The weather has been hot and occasionally cloudy with high winds during the week. Raipur received 65 cents of rain and eight other districts also had a sprinkling. Preparation of land for sowing of the next autumn crops and construction of field embankments are in progress throughout the Provinces. Sowing of rice in dry fields has started in Raipur. The supply of fodder and water is generally sufficient but both are becoming scarce in parts of Drug. Water is inadequate in portions of Nimar, Betul, Chhindwara, Nagpur and Bhandara. Cattle are doing well. Prices:—The price of wheat and rice was steady in nineteen and gram and juar in eighteen and twenty-one districts respectively. There are no marked fluctuations elsewhere.

Feudatory States.—During the week light local showers not exceeding 34 cents were received in seven States. Ploughing of land for sowing of autumn crops is in progress everywhere. Sowing of rice commenced in places in Sarangarh, Sakti, Jashpur and Korea. Some insufficiency of fodder and water is reported in Kawardha and of water in Chhuikhadan. Prices:—gram became cheaper by 3 seers per rupee in Kanker.

Bombay.—Slight rain fell during the week in parts of Ratnagiri, Poona, Sholapur, Satara, the Karnatak and Kolhapur. Harvesting of spring crops is in progress in parts of Ahmedabad, Kanara, Baroda and Mahi Kantha. Threshing continues in parts of Sukkur, Hyderabad, the Upper Sind Frontier and West Khandesh. Cotton-picking is progressing in parts of Ahmedabad and Kaira. Preparation of lands for autumn cultivation is general. The fodder supply is generally adequate except in parts of Sukkur, Larkana and Hyderabad. Agricultural stock are sufficient except in parts of the Deccan and are generally in good condition. Drinking water is generally sufficient except in parts of Khandesh, Sholapur and the Karnatak. Irrigation water is adequate except in parts of the Deccan, Belgaum and Dharwar. Grain stocks are sufficient. Prices have fallen in Karachi and the Upper Sind Frontier; have risen in Belgaum and are stationary elsewhere. The quantity purchasable per rupee is in Sind 28 to 41 per cent; in Gujarat 18 to 34 per cent; in the Konkan 2 to 26 per cent; in the Deccan 13 to 40 per cent and in the Karnatak 34 to 39 per cent less than the normal.

Hyderabad.—The average rainfall throughout the Dominions was 8 cents. Slight rain fell during the week. The heaviest fall was 95 cents in the Parbhani district. Twenty-six talukas received slight showers. Water scarcity is still general. Lands for autumn crops are being prepared almost throughout the Dominions and sowings have begun in parts of the Raichur district. Cattle disease prevails in seven and fodder scarcity in thirty-one talukas. Prices:—wheat $6\frac{1}{2}$; coarse rice $6\frac{1}{2}$ and juar $12\frac{1}{2}$ seers per rupee. White juar is selling in Hyderabad City at $11\frac{1}{2}$ seers. Yellow juar is not available in districts. The highest price is 8 seers in Karimnagar and the lowest 18 seers in the Bidar, Bir and Aurangabad districts.

Mysore.—Slight rain fell in parts of the State. Prices of food grains are steady. Markets are well supplied. Ploughing operations are in progress in parts of the State. Rain is needed in parts of Bangalore, Mysore, Kadur and Shimoga. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Ploughing for rice has commenced. Prices of food-grains are stationary. The public health is fair. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Madras.—Rainfall nil in Kurnool, Anantapur, Madras, Trichinopoly and South Canara; fair in Ganjam and light elsewhere. Irrigation supplies are sufficient in Malabar and the Nilgiris and insufficient in parts of other districts. Ploughing, sowing, weeding and transplanting are in progress in parts. Standing crops are fair and have benefited by the recent rains in Salem but some in parts of Chingleput, South Arcot, North Arcot, Coimbatore, Tinnevely and South Canara have withered or are withering. Harvests continue in parts with outturn poor to normal. Pasture is sufficient in Vizagapatam, Chingleput, Madras, Tanjore and the Nilgiris and insufficient in parts of other districts. Fodder is scanty in parts of Godavari, Guntur, Cuddapah and Nellore. The condition of cattle is generally good. The price of rice is stationary in fifteen districts; has fallen in two and has risen in six. The prices of millets have fluctuated as follows:—Ragi is stationary in nine districts and has risen in twelve. Cholam is stationary in eight districts and has risen in six. Cumbu is stationary in eight districts, has fallen in one and has risen in six. The public health is generally good. Prospects are generally fair. The condition of the labouring classes is satisfactory everywhere and employment is readily available. Grain stocks are generally sufficient.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Home Department.

Nos. 609-620.—The Government of India have had under consideration the question whether certificates of identity should be granted to Indian gentlemen proceeding to America for the purposes of study, as is at present done in the case of Indian students going to Japan under the orders contained in the Home Department Resolution nos. 481-492, dated the 15th November 1901.

2. It is believed that the grant of such certificates would be of use to the holders of them, and, with the approval of the Secretary of State, the Governor General in Council now desires to recommend all Indian gentlemen proceeding to America for purposes of study or otherwise to obtain before their departure from India, an authoritative certificate of identity, in the form appended to this Resolution, signed by the head of the district (in a Presidency town, the Commissioner of Police) in the case of residents of British India, and by the Political Officer in that of residents of native states. The District or Political Officer will endorse on the certificate of identity his opinion whether the person is or is not a British subject "by birth" or "by naturalization" or a subject of a native state. Quarterly returns of the certificates granted will be submitted by the local Governments and Administrations to the Government of India for transmission to the British Embassy at Washington and to His Majesty's Secretary of State for India. But, to avoid delay, the District or Political Officer, when granting or counter-signing a certificate, will at the same time send a copy of the certificate direct to the British Embassy at Washington and also send a duplicate copy of it direct to the Under Secretary of State for India.

3. Local Governments and Administrations are requested to take steps to secure that all reasonable facilities are given for obtaining certificates of identity, and that wide publicity is given to these orders.

ORDER.—Ordered that this Resolution be communicated to all* local Gov-

CIVIL VETERINARY ADMINISTRATION.

The 10th June, 1910.

No. 1284—77-1.—The following order issued by the Board of Agriculture and Fisheries, London, is published for general information :

(7893.)

ORDER OF THE BOARD OF AGRICULTURE AND FISHERIES.

FOREIGN ANIMALS ORDER OF 1910.

The Board of Agriculture and Fisheries, by virtue and in exercise of the powers vested in them under the Diseases of Animals Acts, 1894 to 1909, and of every other power enabling them in this behalf, do order, and it is hereby ordered, as follows:

Interpretation.

1. In this order, unless the context otherwise requires,—

"The Board" means the Board of Agriculture and Fisheries:

"The Act of 1894" means the Diseases of Animals Act, 1894:

"Cattle" means bulls, cows, oxen, heifers, and calves:

"Animals" means cattle, sheep, and goats, and all other ruminating animals, and swine:

"Carcase" means the carcase of an animal, and includes part of a carcase, and the meat, bones, hide, skin, hoofs, horns, offal, or other part of an animal, separately or otherwise, or any portion thereof:

"Scheduled country" means a country or part of a country included in the First Schedule to this Order:

"Foreign" applied to animals and things means brought to the United Kingdom from any country out of the United Kingdom, and "foreign country" includes any such country:

"Foreign Animals Wharf" means a part of a port defined by Special Order of the Board for the landing of foreign animals subject to slaughter at the port of landing:

"Person" includes a body corporate:

"Port" includes place:

"Superintendent of a Foreign Animals Wharf" includes a foreman or wharfinger, or other person in charge of a Foreign Animals Wharf:

"Market authority" means the person in occupation of a Foreign Animals Wharf, whether as owner, lessee or otherwise:

"Reception-lair" means a lair adjacent or near to the place of landing which is set apart for the reception of any animals immediately after landing for the purpose of their examination:

"Lairage-men" means men specially appointed by the market authority for the purpose of landing animals at a Foreign Animals Wharf and feeding and watering and tending them in a reception-lair:

"Disease" means cattle-plague (that is to say, rinderpest, or the disease commonly called cattle-plague), contagious pleuro-pneumonia of cattle, foot-and-mouth disease, sheep-pox, sheep-scab, or swine-fever:

"Fodder" means hay or other substances commonly used for food of animals:

"Litter" means straw or other substance commonly used for bedding or otherwise for or about animals:

"Master" includes a person having the charge or command of a vessel:

Other terms have the same meaning as in the Act of 1894.

CHAPTER 1.—ANIMALS NOT INTENDED TO BE LANDED AT A FOREIGN ANIMALS WHARF.

Prohibition of bringing Cattle, Sheep, Goats, or Swine from Scheduled Country into a Port in Great Britain.

2. It shall not be lawful, except under the authority of a licence granted by the Board and subject to any conditions thereby imposed, to bring into a port in Great Britain any cattle, sheep, goats, or swine brought from a port in a scheduled country, but this Article shall not apply to any vessel not bound to a port in Great Britain which comes into a port under stress of weather or for repairs or for any purpose other than the delivery or shipment of cargo.

Conditions applicable to Vessels while in Port.

2. In the case of any cattle, sheep, goats, or swine brought into a port in Great Britain from a port in a scheduled country, the following conditions shall apply while the vessel is in the port, namely :—

- (i) The animals shall not, except under the authority of a licence granted by the Board and subject to any conditions thereby imposed, be removed from the vessel in which they are brought to Great Britain, and then only in accordance with the provisions of the Diseases of Animals Acts, 1894 to 1909, and this Order.
- (ii) Except where the licence otherwise provides, the animals shall not be removed from the vessel until they have been examined by a Veterinary Surgeon on behalf of the Board and any Inspector of the Board or Veterinary Surgeon employed for that purpose by the Board shall be permitted to examine the animals at such time or times as he may require.
- (iii) No person, except Inspectors of the Board, Officers of Customs and Excise, and persons while actually engaged in tending the animals or cleansing or disinfecting the pens, shall enter a pen in which the animals are, or have recently been kept, until the pen has been cleansed and disinfected.
- (iv) Every person upon leaving a pen in which the animals are or have recently been kept shall thoroughly wash his hands with soap and water and disinfect his boots with a five per cent. solution of carbolic acid, and every such person landing from the vessel in Great Britain shall take such other steps as may be necessary to disinfect his clothes.
- (v) The vessel shall, from time to time as and when required by notice signed by an Inspector of the Board, be cleansed and disinfected as follows :—
 - (a) All parts of the vessel with which the animals or their dung have come in contact shall be scraped and swept and then thoroughly washed or scrubbed or scoured with water, and subsequently disinfected in the manner prescribed by this Order.
 - (b) All fittings, pens, hurdles, or utensils used for or about the animals shall be scraped and then cleansed and disinfected in the same manner.
 - (c) While any part of the vessel is being cleansed or disinfected all animals shall be temporarily removed therefrom.
- (vi) While the vessel remains in any port in Great Britain, all dung of the animals, and all litter, scrapings and sweepings removed from the pens, shall at intervals not exceeding twenty-four hours be thoroughly mixed with quick-lime and thereafter without delay either be destroyed by fire on board the vessel or be disposed of as an Inspector of the Board may direct.

Prohibition of landing of Animals from certain Foreign Countries.

4.—(1.) It shall not be lawful to land in Great Britain any animal brought from a port in a scheduled country.

(2.) It shall not be lawful to land in Great Britain any animal exported from the Cape Verde Islands, Madeira, the Azores or the Canary Islands.

Prohibition of landing of Swine from the United States of America.

4. It shall not be lawful to land in Great Britain any swine brought from a port in the United States of America.

Prohibition of Landing of Carcases, etc.

6.—(1.) It shall not be lawful to land in Great Britain—

- (a.) a carcase of an animal which has died or been slaughtered on board a vessel while in a port in a scheduled country or during the passage from any such port to Great Britain or thereafter while in any port in Great Britain; or
- (b.) the dung of any such animal; or
- (c.) any partly consumed or broken fodder that has been supplied to any such animal; or
- (d.) any litter that has been used for or about any such animal; or
- (e.) any fittings, pens, hurdles, or utensils used for or about any such animal unless they have been scraped and then thoroughly washed or scrubbed or scoured with water, and subsequently disinfected in the manner prescribed by this Order, and unless the permission of an Inspector of the Board for the landing thereof has been obtained.

(2.) The Principal Officer of Customs and Excise may seize and detain any carcase, dung, fodder, litter, fittings, pens, hurdles, or utensils landed in contravention of this Article, and he shall forthwith report the facts to the Commissioners of Customs and Excise, who may give such directions as they think fit for the destruction or disposal thereof.

CHAPTER 2.—TRANSHIPMENT.

Transhipment.

7.—(1.) Foreign animals shall not be transhipped in a port in Great Britain otherwise than in accordance with this Article or under the authority of a licence granted by the Board and subject to any conditions thereby imposed.

(2.) Transhipment, otherwise than under the authority of a licence granted by the Board, shall not take place in any dock except with the special permission of the Principal Officer of Customs and Excise or of some person authorised to act on his behalf, and such special permission shall be given only when on account of the state of the tide or for some other special circumstance transhipment otherwise than in a dock is impracticable or inexpedient. Where such special permission has not been obtained the master of the vessel in which the animals are imported shall give all facilities for the transhipment of the animals before the vessel enters any dock in Great Britain.

(3.) Animals intended to be landed at a Foreign Animals Wharf may be transhipped from the vessel in which they are imported to a landing-vessel provided by the port authority or market authority, if the use of the vessel for such purpose has previously been sanctioned by the Commissioners of Customs and Excise, either generally or in the particular instance.

(4.) The animals shall be transhipped in the presence and under the supervision and control of an Officer of Customs and Excise, and an Officer of Customs and Excise shall remain in charge of the animals on board the landing-vessel until its arrival at the Foreign Animals Wharf.

(5.) The landing-vessel shall proceed direct to the Foreign Animals Wharf, and the animals shall be landed there in the presence and under the supervision and control of an Officer of Customs and Excise.

(6.) The landing-vessel shall not be used for any other purpose during the time of its being so appropriated.

(7.) All parts of the landing-vessel with which the animals or their dung have come in contact shall immediately after each occasion of use, and before being again used, be scraped and swept, and then thoroughly washed or scrubbed or scoured with water, and subsequently disinfected in the manner prescribed by this Order.

(8.) The scrapings and sweepings of the landing-vessel shall not be landed unless and until they have been well mixed with quicklime.

CHAPTER 3.—ANIMALS INTENDED TO BE LANDED AT A FOREIGN ANIMALS WHARF.

Landing of Foreign Animals not brought from a Scheduled Country and destined for a Foreign Animals Wharf in Great Britain.

8.—(1.) The landing of foreign animals, the landing of which in Great Britain is not prohibited by this Order, is hereby made subject to the following conditions:

First. That the vessel in which they are imported has not, within twenty-eight days before taking them on board, had on board an animal exported or carried coastwise from a port in a scheduled country.

Second. That the vessel has not within twenty-one days before taking on board the animals imported or at any time since taking them on board, entered or been in a port in a scheduled country.

Third. That the animals imported have not, while on board the vessel, been in contact with an animal exported or carried coastwise from a port in a scheduled country.

(2.) Animals shall not be landed unless and until the master of the vessel in which they are imported has on the occasion of such importation delivered to the Commissioners of Customs and Excise or their proper officer, a declaration made and signed that all the animals then imported therein are properly imported according to the provisions of this Article.

Charge of Animals on Landing at a Foreign Animals Wharf.

9.—(1.) Animals landed at a Foreign Animals Wharf shall, when landed, be placed under the charge of an Inspector of the Board; and, until his arrival, they shall remain under the charge of the Commissioners of Customs and Excise.

(2.) It shall not be lawful for any person to move any animals so long as they remain under the charge of the Commissioners of Customs and Excise or of an Inspector of the Board except with the permission of the Commissioners or of the Inspector, as the case may be.

Disposal of Animals on Landing.

10. Animals when landed at a Foreign Animals Wharf shall be driven by lairage-men to the nearest available reception-lair or lairs within the limits of the Wharf, there to await the examination of an Inspector of the Board, and, until so examined, shall not be allowed to come in contact with any animals other than those forming part of the same cargo.

Examination of Animals.

11.—(1.) The animals shall be examined in a reception-lair by an Inspector of the Board during daylight.

(2.) If on such examination all the animals are found to be free from disease, the Inspector of the Board may permit the animals to be retained in such lair, which shall thereupon cease to be a reception-lair, or he may permit them to be moved out of such lair and into such other parts of the Foreign Animals Wharf as the market authority or its officers or the Inspector of the Board shall direct or permit.

(3.) In the case of a cargo of animals landed or intended to be landed at different times or different ports in Great Britain, an Inspector of the Board may cause the animals in a reception-lair to be there detained until he has examined, or become acquainted with the result of the examination of, the rest of the cargo.

Time for Slaughter.

12.—(1.) The owner of an animal landed at a Foreign Animals Wharf shall cause the same to be slaughtered within ten days after the landing thereof, exclusive of the day of landing, in accordance with the provisions of this Article.

(2.) The slaughter of the animals may be commenced at any time after the landing thereof with the permission of an Inspector of the Board.

(3.) The slaughter of the animals shall be commenced at such time after the landing thereof as an Inspector of the Board in any case may direct, and when commenced shall be completed as soon as practicable.

(4.) Where an Inspector of the Board for any reason considers that an animal should be forthwith slaughtered and shall so direct, the animal shall be slaughtered accordingly.

Restrictions on Access to Foreign Animals Wharf.

13.—(1.) No person, except Officers of Customs and Excise, lairage-men, the Superintendent of the Foreign Animals Wharf, Inspectors of the Board, and such other persons as may be specially authorised in writing by an Inspector of the Board, shall during the time of the landing of the animals enter upon the landing-stage, pier, quay, or other part of the Foreign Animals Wharf at which the animals are landed, and no person except as aforesaid shall at any time enter upon any part of the Wharf which is being used as a reception-lair.

(2.) No person shall during the landing of the animals enter upon the part of the Wharf at which the animals are landed or at any time enter a reception-lair unless he is wearing suitable overall coat and leggings, and every person who enters such part of a Wharf or reception-lair shall forthwith after leaving the same remove his overall clothes, and thoroughly wash his hands with soap and water and disinfect his boots.

(4.) Any person desiring to enter a Foreign Animals Wharf may be required by any officer authorised in writing in that behalf by the market authority to state the nature of the business necessitating such entry, and if he declines to make such statement, or if the officer requiring such statement is not satisfied as to the correctness of the same, or that the business necessitates his entry, the officer so authorised may prohibit his entry into the Wharf.

(5.) The market authority shall give notice of the provisions of this Article by placards, which shall be kept affixed at or near the entrance of any landing-stage, pier, quay, reception-lair, or other part of the Wharf to which access is for the time being restricted by this Article.

Power to exclude Persons.

14.—(1.) An Inspector of the Board, or the Superintendent of a Foreign Animals Wharf, is hereby empowered to affix at or near the entrance thereof or of any building therein, a notice forbidding persons to enter therein without the permission mentioned in the notice; and thereupon any person who enters or goes into, on, or over such premises without that permission shall be deemed guilty of an offence against the Act of 1894.

(2.) An Inspector of the Board, or the Superintendent of a Foreign Animals Wharf, is hereby empowered to direct any person to quit such Wharf, or any particular building, lair, landing-stage, pier, quay, or other portion thereof; and thereupon any person who fails to quit such premises on direction as aforesaid shall be deemed guilty of an offence against the Act of 1894.

Provision of Overall Clothes.

15. The market authority shall at all times provide to the satisfaction of the Board suitable overall coats and leggings for the use of lairage-men and other persons entering the Wharf.

Disinfection of Persons and Clothes.

16. An Inspector of the Board, or the Superintendent of a Foreign Animals Wharf may affix at or near the entrance of the Wharf or any building therein a notice to the effect that persons before entering such Wharf or building, or before leaving such Wharf or building as may be stated in the notice, will be required to disinfect themselves and their clothes in the manner specified in such notice, and thereupon every person shall disinfect himself and his clothes accordingly.

Regulations in case of Detection of Disease in Foreign Animals Wharf.

17. If it appears to an Inspector of the Board that disease exists or has lately existed in a reception-lair, or in any particular building, slaughter-house, or other part of a Foreign Animals Wharf, all the animals that are then within such reception-lair, building, slaughter-house, or other part of a Wharf shall be there detained by the Inspector of the Board or shall be moved to such other part of the Wharf as he shall direct or permit, and the same shall be dealt with in accordance with instructions given by the Inspector of the Board.

Food and Water.

18.—(1.) Animals landed at a Foreign Animals Wharf shall, until they are taken charge of by the owners or consignees, be supplied by the market authority or the person in charge of the animals with a proper and sufficient supply of food and water and the expenses incurred by them in respect thereof shall be recoverable by such authority or person from the owners or consignees in any court of competent jurisdiction.

(2.) The animals shall, after they have been taken charge of by the owners or consignees, be supplied by the owners or consignees with a proper and sufficient supply of food and water.

(3.) The food supplied to sucking calves in accordance with this Article shall be gruel or milk or other proper food.

(4.) If an animal remains without a proper and sufficient supply of food or water in contravention of this Article, the market authority, and the owner and the consignee and the person in charge of the animal, shall, each according to and in respect of his own acts and defaults, be deemed guilty of an offence against the Act of 1894; and it shall lie on the person liable to supply food and water to the animal when charged to prove the proper and sufficient supply of food or water or both and the time when the same was so supplied.

Movement of Carcases, Manure, &c.

19.—(1.) No carcase, offal, fodder, litter, dung or manure shall be removed from a Foreign Animals Wharf, except with the permission of an Inspector of the Board.

(2.) All dung and manure shall, before being so removed, be disinfected to the satisfaction of an Inspector of the Board.

(3.) If an Inspector of the Board is of opinion that any such carcase or thing as aforesaid may introduce disease, the same shall be destroyed or otherwise dealt with in accordance with instructions given by the Inspector.

Removal of Fittings, &c., from Foreign Animals Wharf.

20.—(1.) Fittings, pens, hurdles, or utensils that have been used for or about animals and have been landed from a vessel at a Foreign Animals Wharf shall not be removed from such Wharf unless they have been scraped and subsequently disinfected in the manner prescribed by this Order, and unless the permission of an Inspector of the Board for the removal thereof has been obtained.

(2.) If an Inspector of the Board is of opinion that any such thing as aforesaid may introduce disease, the same shall be destroyed or otherwise dealt with in accordance with instructions given by the Inspector.

Disinfection of Foreign Animals Wharf.

21. An Inspector of the Board may give notice in writing to the market authority or Superintendent of a Foreign Animals Wharf requiring the cleansing and disinfection of any portion of the Wharf by such market authority, and when such notice shall have been given, that portion of the Wharf shall not be used for animals unless and until it has been cleansed and disinfected to the satisfaction of an Inspector of the Board.

Restriction on Use of Foreign Animals Wharf.

22.—(1.) No animals other than foreign animals shall at any time be landed at or moved into or kept in a Foreign Animals Wharf.

(2.) Any animal being in a Foreign Animals Wharf shall, without prejudice to the recovery of any penalty for the infringement of this Article, be deemed to be a foreign animal, and the provisions of this Order shall apply to such animal accordingly.

(3.) A Foreign Animals Wharf shall not be used for any purpose other than the purposes authorised by the Diseases of Animals Acts, 1894 to 1909, or any Order of the Board under the said Acts in relation thereto.

CHAPTER 4.—LANDING, DISINFECTION, AND DISPOSAL OF DUNG, FODDER, LITTER, FITTINGS AND OTHER THINGS.

Landing subject to Customs Regulations.

23. All dung of animals carried from a foreign country, and all fodder, litter, fittings, pens, hurdles, or utensils used for or about such animals, and all other dung, fodder or litter brought in the same vessel with such animals, shall, if landed, be landed in such manner, at such times, at such places, and subject to such supervision and control, as the Commissioners of Customs and Excise direct.

Regulations as to Landing and Disinfection of Dung, Fodder, &c.

24.—(1.) Dung of animals carried from a foreign country, and partly consumed or broken fodder that has been supplied to such animals, and litter that has been used for or about such animals, shall not be landed at any place without the previous consent in writing of the Local Authority of the District in which the place is situate.

(2.) All other fodder and litter brought in the same vessel with animals carried from a foreign country may be landed without the previous consent of the Local Authority, but shall, when landed, remain under the charge of an Officer of Customs and Excise, and such fodder and litter shall not be removed from the place of landing except with the permission in writing of an Officer of Customs and Excise.

(3.) Fittings, pens, hurdles, or utensils used for or about animals carried from a foreign country shall not be landed at any place without the previous consent in writing of the Local Authority of the District in which the place is situate unless they have been scraped and then thoroughly washed or scrubbed or scoured with water, and subsequently disinfected in the manner prescribed by this Order. If landed with such consent without having been so previously cleansed and disinfected they shall be forthwith cleansed and disinfected in the manner aforesaid by and at the expense of the owner, and shall not be removed or permitted to come in contact with animals until so cleansed and disinfected.

(4.) All dung of animals carried from a foreign country, and all partly consumed or broken fodder that has been supplied to such animals, and all litter that has been used for or about such animals, shall, when landed, be forthwith well mixed with quicklime and be effectually removed from contact with animals.

(5.) Nothing in this Article shall apply to any such dung, fodder, litter, fittings, pens, hurdles, or utensils landed at a Foreign Animals Wharf.

CHAPTER 5.—DISINFECTION OF VESSELS, MOVEABLE GANGWAYS, AND OTHER APPARATUS.

Disinfection of Vessels.

25.—(1.) In the case of a vessel from which animals carried from a foreign country have been landed in Great Britain, each compartment of the vessel shall, after the landing of the animals therefrom, and before any animal or cargo is placed in that compartment, be cleansed and disinfected as follows :—

(i) All parts of the compartment with which the animals or their dung have come in contact shall be scraped and swept, and then thoroughly washed or scrubbed or scoured with water, and subsequently disinfected in the manner prescribed by this Order ;

(ii) All fittings, pens, hurdles, or utensils used for or about the animals shall, if not removed from the vessel, be scraped, and then cleansed and disinfected in the same manner.

(2.) Each part of the vessel with which the animals or their dung have come in contact, and all fittings, pens, hurdles, and utensils, used for or about animals, shall be cleansed and disinfected in accordance with the provisions of this Article before any other animal or any cargo is allowed to come in contact therewith.

(3.) The scrapings and sweepings of the vessel shall not be landed unless they have been well mixed with quicklime, and when landed they shall be effectually removed from contact with animals.

Disinfection of Moveable Gangways and other Apparatus.

26.—(1.) A moveable gangway, passage-way, cage, or other apparatus, used or intended for the loading or unloading on or from a vessel of animals carried from a foreign country, or otherwise used in connection with the transit of such animals, shall, so soon as practicable after being so used, be scraped and swept, and then thoroughly washed or scrubbed or scoured with water and subsequently disinfected in the manner prescribed by this Article.

(2.) The scrapings and sweepings, and all dung, litter, and other matter so removed shall forthwith be well mixed with quicklime, and be effectually removed from contact with animals.

Disinfection of Vessels arriving in Great Britain after Discharge of Animals.

27. In the case of a vessel from which animals carried from a foreign country have been landed elsewhere than in Great Britain, this Chapter shall apply when the vessel arrives in a port in Great Britain, if and so far as its requirements have not already been complied with.

CHAPTER 6.—PROTECTION OF ANIMALS.

Protection of Animals.

28. This Chapter shall apply in the case of every vessel in or on which foreign animals intended to be landed at a Foreign Animals Wharf are carried to a port in Great Britain.

(Parts of Vessel to be used.)

(i.) Animals shall not be carried on more than three decks unless a licence from the Board has been previously obtained exempting the vessel from this requirement.

(ii.) Animals shall not be carried on any hatch above a compartment where other animals are carried, or on any hatch the coamings of which exceed eighteen inches in height.

(iii.) Animals shall not be carried in any part of the vessel where, in ordinary course of navigation, they would interfere with the proper management or ventilation of the vessel, or with the efficient working of the boats.

(Pens and Fittings of Vessels.)

(v.) No pen shall exceed eleven feet in length and nine feet in breadth, and each pen shall be constructed in such a manner, and with materials of such character and strength as to be able to withstand the action of the weather, and to resist the weight of the animals thrown against it.

(vii.) The floor of each pen shall, in order to prevent slipping, be fitted with suitable battens or other proper footholds which shall be securely fastened to the deck by angle iron plates or otherwise, and shall be strewn with a proper quantity of sand or other suitable substance.

(Overcrowding.)

(x.) The vessel shall not be overcrowded in any part or pen so as to cause injury or unnecessary suffering to the animals therein.

(Passage-Ways)

(xi.) Between every two rows of animals, and in front of every single row of animals, there shall be a passage-way of a minimum width of one foot and six inches, which passage-way shall be kept free of obstruction.

(Ventilation.)

(xii.) All parts of the vessel on which animals are carried shall be sufficiently and suitably ventilated. All such parts if below deck shall, in addition to any ventilation obtained by means of the hatchways, be provided with sufficient and suitable ventilators for the removal of foul air and for the admission of a proper supply of fresh air to all the animals carried.

(Light.)

(xiii.) Arrangements shall be made for the provision at all times of adequate light for the proper tending of the animals.

(Food and Water.)

(xiv.) When animals are carried on a vessel for a voyage which on an average takes more than eighteen hours, they shall be provided while on board with a sufficient amount of food and water, and proper accommodation shall be provided on board for the stowage of food so that the same shall not be unduly exposed to the weather.

(Securing of Cattle.)

(xv.) All cattle, whether polled or not, while being carried on a vessel shall be securely tied by the head or neck in such manner as not to cause unnecessary suffering and so as to stand athwartships.

(Approaches, Gangways, and other Apparatus.)

(xvi.) Approaches, gangways, passage-ways, cages, and other apparatus used for the landing of animals from a vessel shall be so constructed that injury or unnecessary suffering shall not be caused to the animals.

(Attendance.)

(xvii.) The vessel shall, in addition to the ordinary crew, carry a sufficient number of qualified attendants to tend the animals properly ; and every consignment of cattle shall be in charge of a responsible foreman, who shall have under him competent assistants numbering with himself one for every twenty-five head of cattle ; and proper and suitable accommodation for all these persons shall be provided.

(Injured Animals.)

(xviii.) If any animal on board a vessel has a limb broken or is otherwise seriously injured, the master of the vessel shall forthwith cause that animal to be slaughtered unless he is satisfied that it can be kept alive and led away without cruelty.

CHAPTER 7.—SPECIAL PROVISIONS IN EVENT OF A COUNTRY OR PART OF COUNTRY BEING DECLARED BY SUBSEQUENT ORDER TO BE A SCHEDULED COUNTRY FOR PURPOSES OF THIS ORDER.

Landing at Foreign Animals Wharf.

29. In the event of a country or part of a country being declared by subsequent Order of the Board to be a scheduled country for the purposes of this Order, animals carried in a vessel leaving the scheduled country before the commencement of such subsequent Order may, notwithstanding the provisions of Article 4 of this Order, be landed at a Foreign Animals Wharf in Great Britain in accordance with the provisions of this Chapter, but not otherwise.

Special Provision as to Animals destined for Manchester Foreign Animals Wharf.

30. The animals if intended to be landed at the Manchester Foreign Animals Wharf shall not be carried through the Eastham Lock until they have been examined by an Inspector of the Board, and unless and until the Inspector certifies that his examination and information do not show that there is, or during the voyage has been, an animal on board affected with foot-and-mouth disease.

Inspection by Inspector of the Board.

31. An Inspector of the Board shall be permitted to examine the animals on board the vessel in which they are brought to Great Britain at such time or times as he may require, and the animals shall not be landed or transhipped until they have been so examined.

Duty of Master of Vessel to report Foot-and-Mouth Disease.

32. If any animal taken on board any vessel for conveyance to Great Britain has during the voyage been affected with foot-and-mouth disease, the master of the vessel shall as soon as possible report the fact to the Inspector of the Board who examines the animals.

Disinfection of Persons and Clothes.

33. Unless and until an Inspector of the Board certifies that his examination and information do not show that there is, or during the voyage has been, an animal on board affected with foot-and-mouth disease, every person before landing in Great Britain from the vessel, shall, unless he lands at a Foreign Animals Wharf, effectually wash and disinfect himself, and change or effectually disinfect his clothes, so as to prevent the introduction or spread of foot-and-mouth disease by him or his clothes.

Landing or Transhipment subject to Permission of Inspector.

34. The animals shall not be landed or transhipped except with the permission of an Inspector of the Board, which permission will only be given when the Inspector is satisfied that sufficient lairage and other accommodation is available for the landing and slaughter of the animals in accordance with the provisions of this Order.

Transhipment.

35. The animals, if so required by an Inspector of the Board, shall be transhipped into vessels approved for such purpose by an Inspector of the Board. Any vessel so used shall be cleansed and disinfected by the owner thereof in such manner as shall be required by an Inspector of the Board.

Landing, &c., at Specified Part of Wharf only.

36. The animals shall be landed only at such part of the Foreign Animals Wharf as an Inspector of the Board may direct, and when landed shall be driven by lairage-men specially appointed for this purpose to such lairs within the limits of the Wharf as may be specially approved for that purpose by an Inspector of the Board.

Slaughter of Animals.

37. After such examination as may be required by an Inspector of the Board, the animals shall either be slaughtered immediately in the lairs in which they then are, or they may, with the permission of an Inspector of the Board, be moved forthwith to a slaughter-house in the Wharf specially approved for that purpose by an Inspector of the Board and there immediately slaughtered.

Special Disinfection of Vessel in event of Foot-and-Mouth Disease.

38. If an Inspector of the Board certifies that there is, or during the voyage has been, an animal on board the vessel affected with foot-and-mouth disease, then after all animals shall have been landed the vessel shall, if instructions to such effect be given by an Inspector of the Board, proceed to sea for a preliminary cleansing and disinfection of the parts of the vessel used for animals, subject to such supervision as the Board may require, and in accordance with any instructions given by an Inspector of the Board.

Disposal of Fittings.

39. Any fittings used in connection with the animals shall, if so required by an Inspector of the Board, be landed and burnt at such time and place and in such manner as an Inspector of the Board may direct.

Disposal of Dung, Fodder, &c.

40. The dung of the animals brought in the vessel, and any fodder or litter brought in the vessel, and the fittings, pens, hurdles or utensils used for or about the animals shall not be landed in Great Britain, except at a Foreign Animals Wharf, unless the Board for some exceptional cause by licence otherwise permit. For the landing thereof at a Foreign Animals Wharf the previous consent of the Superintendent of the Wharf shall be obtained.

CHAPTER 8.—MISCELLANEOUS.

Prescribed manner of Disinfection.

41. The prescribed manner of disinfection to be adopted under this Order shall be as follows :—

- (i) The place or thing, or the part thereof required to be disinfected, shall be thoroughly washed with—
 - (a) a one per cent. (minimum) solution of chloride of lime containing not less than thirty per cent. of available chlorine ; or
 - (b) a five per cent. (minimum) solution of carbolic acid (containing not less than ninety-five per cent. of actual carbolic acid), followed by a thorough sprinkling with limewash ; or
 - (c) a disinfectant equal in disinfective efficiency to the above mentioned solution of carbolic acid, followed by a thorough sprinkling with limewash.
- (ii) The application of limewash shall not be compulsory as regards such parts of a vessel as are used for passengers or the crew.

Animals Dying on Voyage.

42. (1.) If on a vessel arriving at a port in Great Britain from a foreign country an animal taken on board for the purpose of importation has died or been slaughtered during the voyage, the master of the vessel shall, immediately on arrival at the place of discharge, report the fact to the proper Officer of Customs and Excise at the port.

(2.) The carcase shall not be landed or discharged from the vessel without the permission in writing of the Officer.

General Power of Detention.

43. If it appears to the Principal Officer of Customs and Excise with respect to any foreign animal, or with respect to any foreign carcase, fodder, litter, dung, or other thing, that disease may be thereby introduced, he may seize and detain the same; and he shall forthwith report the facts to the Commissioners of Customs and Excise who may give such directions as they think fit, either for the slaughter or destruction or the further detention thereof or for the delivery thereof to the owner on such conditions, if any (including payment by the owner of expenses incurred by them in respect of detention thereof), as they think fit.

Duties of Local Authority and Police.

44. The Local Authority and their officers and all constables and police officers shall assist the Inspectors of the Board to carry into effect and enforce this Order, and shall do or cause to be done all things necessary for the effectual execution of the same.

Exemption of Certain Animals.

45. This Order shall not apply in relation to animals brought to Great Britain from the Channel Islands or the Isle of Man or to animals to be landed at a Foreign Animals Quarantine Station, provision as to which is made by separate Orders of the Board.

Offences.

46. (1.) If any animal, carcase, dung, fodder, litter, fittings, pens, hurdle, utensils or other thing shall be brought into a port or transhipped or landed or moved in contravention of this Order or of the conditions of a license granted under this Order, the owner thereof, and the owner and the lessee and the occupier of the place of landing or other place where or from which such animal, carcase, or other thing is landed or moved, and the person causing, directing, or permitting the bringing into port or transhipment or landing or movement, the owner and the charterer and the master of the vessel in which the same is brought or from which the same is transhipped or landed, shall, each according to and in respect of his own acts and defaults, be deemed guilty of an offence against the Act of 1894.

(2.) If any person, whose entry into a Foreign Animals Wharf or any part of a Wharf is prohibited, enters or attempts to enter into such Wharf or part of a Wharf he shall be deemed guilty of an offence against the Act of 1894.

(3.) If anything is done or omitted to be done as regards cleansing or disinfection in contravention of this Order, the owner and the charterer and the master of the vessel in or in respect of which, and the owner of the gangway or passage-way, cage or other apparatus in respect of which, and the market authority of the Foreign Animals Wharf in which, and the owner and the lessee and the occupier of any other place or thing in respect of which, as the case may be, the same is done or omitted to be done, shall, each according to and in respect of his own acts and defaults, be deemed guilty of an offence against the Act of 1894.

(4.) If any person fails to carry out or observe any direction as regards cleansing or disinfection, which he is by this Order required to carry out or observe, he shall be deemed guilty of an offence against the Act of 1894.

(5.) If any animal is not slaughtered in accordance with the provisions of this Order, the person failing to cause such slaughter shall be deemed guilty of an offence against the Act of 1894.

(6.) If anything is done or omitted to be done with respect to any vessel or any animals thereon in contravention of this Order, the owner and the charterer and the master of the vessel in which the same is done or omitted to be done, shall, each according to and in respect of his own acts and defaults, be deemed guilty of an offence against the Act of 1894.

Revocation of Orders.

47. The Orders described in the Second Schedule to this Order are hereby revoked.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on the day, the 9th June 1910, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

The advance of the monsoon in the Arabian Sea referred to in last week's summary was associated with an area of squally weather and cyclonic winds off the Kathiawar coast. The stormy weather disappeared on the 5th, but left a shallow depression in Gujarat, in the neighbourhood of which rainfall was nearly general. Monsoon conditions strengthened next day in the south and moderately heavy rain fell in Malabar, but although rainfall continued nearly general for the rest of the week on the west coast of the peninsula, an area of low pressure in the Arabian Sea checked the flow of monsoon winds to the coast, and rainfall in consequence was not as heavy as it might otherwise have been. The influence of the monsoon however penetrated to a certain extent inland, and caused local showers in the central parts of the country and as far west as Chota Nagpur. The Bay monsoon was not very active and rainfall due to it was confined to Burma and northeast India, only one or two isolated falls occurring in the submontane districts of the United Provinces: heavy rain was reported on the 9th from Eastern Bengal and Assam. The rainfall associated with the depression in Gujarat caused a very rapid fall of temperature; and temperature remained very low and humidity unusually high during the greater part of the week in Gujarat and the adjacent districts to the north and west.

Burma.—Rainfall was nearly general in lower Burma and local in Upper Burma. Cloud was moderately heavy. Temperature was nearly normal.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—Rainfall occurred chiefly in Eastern Bengal and Assam. Skies were moderately to heavily clouded. Temperature did not differ much from the normal.

The United Provinces, Central India and the Central Provinces.—Local showers of rain occurred in the Central Provinces, Central India and along the hills in the United Provinces. Skies were heavily clouded in parts of the United Provinces on the 5th and 7th, but on the remaining days they were clear or only lightly clouded. Light to moderately heavy cloud covered the Central Provinces and Central India. Temperature was approximately normal, except in Central India and the adjoining districts, where rainfall was the cause of unusually cool weather.

Northwest India.—Rain fell in Gujarat, the south of Rajputana and in the extreme north. Cloud was heavy in the parts of the division affected by the disturbance in the Arabian Sea, and skies were cloudy in the extreme north on the 3rd and 5th. Temperature was low in the regions of rainfall, especially in Gujarat and south Rajputana, where maximum temperatures more than 20° below normal were recorded.

The Peninsula.—Nearly general rainfall continued throughout the week on the west coast, and local showers occurred in the Deccan and the south of the division. Cloud was moderate to heavy. Temperature was approximately normal.

The following summarises the chief rainfall amounts as reported at 8 hrs. each day:—

June 3rd.	Bogra 2'21".
" 4th.	Burdwan 2'30".
" 5th.	Monywa 2'00", Sibsagar 2'05", Mymensingh 3'02", Rajkot 3'37" and Ahmedabad 1'98".
" 6th.	Akyab 6'28", Chittagong 5'82", Narayanganj 4'14", Seoni 2'01" and Udaipur 1'87".
" 7th.	Sibsagar 2'15", Silchar 3'77", Burdwan 4'26", Kurnool 2'14" and Mangalore 3'34".
" 8th.	Bhamo 2'14", Dibrugarh 2'45", Cherra Poonjee 8'35" and Mormugao 3'05".
" 9th.	Tavoy 3'40", Dibrugarh 3'87", Dhubri 2'45", Cherra Poonjee 15'74", Mymensingh 6'57" and Jalpaiguri 5'47".

The rainfall of the week was heavier than usual in the divisions of Assam, Eastern Bengal, Bengal, Central India, Rajputana East, Gujarat and the Madras Coast North.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending 4th June 1910.

Burma.—The rainfall was general and in some places excessive. Spring rice in Shwabo, early sesamum in Kyaukse and cotton in Thayetmyo have been damaged. Ploughing for the winter rice crop in Lower Burma and other agricultural operations are proceeding normally. There are no important changes in the prices of unhusked rice which remain above normal in the Shan States and below normal in irrigated districts.

Eastern Bengal and Assam.—Good rain has fallen throughout the Province. The fall was heavy in parts of the Dacca and Chittagong divisions, the heaviest amount being 16 inches at Tippera. Harvesting of the early variety of summer rice has commenced in the Assam Valley Division. Harvesting of spring rice continues in Eastern Bengal. Sowing of jute and paddy is progressing and weeding is going on. Green fly and red spider which are prevalent have affected the prospects of tea. Prospects of jute, rice and sugarcane are good. The average price of common rice has risen about three per cent. Cattle disease prevails in Mymensingh, Backarganj, the Naga Hills, Goalpara, Kamrup, Darrang, Nagaon and Sibsagar.

Bengal.—Rain fell in all districts excepting Shahabad and Bhagalpur. The fall was heavy in Cooch Behar and feeling moderate in Burdwan, Bankura, Midnapore, Jessore, Khulna, Muzaffarpur and Monghyr and light elsewhere. The recent rainfall has been beneficial for sowing and cultivation in Saran, Champaran, Darbhanga and Monghyr. More rain is wanted in the 24-Parganas and Bhagalpur for agricultural operations. Sowing of autumn crops and weeding of jute continue. Standing crops are doing well. The price of common rice has risen in Bankura, Murshidabad, Khulna, Champaran, Muzaffarpur, Balasore, Angul, Sambalpur, Hazaribagh, Ranchi and Palamau and has fallen in Jessore, Patna, Monghyr and the Sonthal Parganas. Cattle disease is reported from Midnapore, Jessore, Muzaffarpur, Darbhanga, Bhagalpur, the Sonthal Parganas, Cuttack, Sambalpur, Hazaribagh and Palamau. Fodder is insufficient in parts of Balasore, Angul and Hazaribagh. The supply of water is sufficient except in Balasore and Angul.

United Provinces.—Almost general rain averaging fifty-six cents per district fell during the week. It has benefited sugarcane and early autumn sowings. Fields are being manured and prepared for autumn crops. Cotton, millet and maize are being sown in places. Extra crops are flourishing. Twenty districts report sporadic cattle disease but the general condition of agricultural stock is satisfactory. Fodder and supplies are ample. Prices have fallen in eight districts and are generally stationary elsewhere.

Punjab.—Light to moderate rain was received in all districts except Delhi and Ferozepore. More rain is badly wanted in Mianwali. Harvesting of spring crops is in progress and the outturn is generally good to average. Sowings of cotton and fodder crops continue in Rohtak. The sugarcane crop is suffering owing to an insufficient supply of water. The condition of extra spring crops is generally good. Prices are falling. The condition of cattle is generally good. Fodder is sufficient except in parts of Mianwali. Water for cattle is insufficient in parts of Ambala, Sialkot and Shahpur. Complaints of a short canal supply are being received from parts of Rohtak and Lyallpur.

North-West Frontier Province.—Rain fell during the week averaging from 3 cents to 1·8 inches. The condition of standing crops is average except in Dera Ismail Khan where it is below the average on unirrigated areas. Wheat is being harvested and the outturn is average. The outturn of oilseed crops is below average in Dera Ismail Khan. Autumn crops are being sown. The fodder and water-supply is sufficient in the Shigga and Pakha circles of the Marwat tahsil in the Bannu district. from the Paharpur canal continues. The condition of cattle is good. The public health is good. The price of wheat has fallen slightly. Prices:—Wheat 12½ to 17½; maize 18 to 23; gram 16½ to 25 and bajra 16½ to 17½ seers per rupee.

Jammu.—Slight rain fell during the week. Prices are fluctuating. Wheat sells from 11 to 18 and maize from 18 to 27 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is fair. Cattle disease of mild type prevails in some parts of the Province. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—Extra spring crops are being harvested and gathered. Spring crops are in good condition. Autumn sowings are going on. There is no disease among cattle. Prices are stationary.

Rajputana.—Rain fell in Bikaner, Kotah, Jaipur, Alwar, Karauli, Bharatpur, Dholpur and Merwara. The maximum fall was 46 cents in Merwara and the minimum 6 cents in Jaipur. Slight showers fell in Sirohi and Ajmer. Land is being prepared for autumn crops. Cattle disease prevails in certain villages of Banswara. Prospects are generally good. Fodder is sufficient. Prices have risen as follows:—In Bikaner, 4 chattaks, in Marwar 1 seer 15 chattaks, in Sirohi, Partabgarh and Kishangarh 1 seer, in Mewar 2 seers, in Shahpura and Ajmer 3 chattaks, in Tonk 9 chattaks, in Karanika 1 seer, in Merwara 2 seers 8 chattaks. Prices are steady or falling elsewhere.

Central Provinces.—Slight rain fell during the week in Indore and slight rain elsewhere. Land is well prepared for sowing of autumn crops. Agricultural stock is in good condition except for some disease in Indore, Baghelkhand, Bundelkhand and Bhopawar. Prices are steady in Indore and are steady elsewhere.

Central Provinces.—The weather was generally unsettled and local showers occurred during the week in all districts except Bhandara. Seoni, Buldana and the Vindhyan districts had rain ranging from $1\frac{1}{2}$ to $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches. Elsewhere the rain did not exceed 67 cents. Agriculturists are busy in ploughing land for sowings of autumn crops. Construction of field embankments in rice districts continues. Sowing of rice in dry fields is in progress in Bhandara and Raipur. Fodder and water are adequate, except in parts of Betul and Drug. Scarcity of water continues in parts of Nimar, Chhindwara and Chanda. The condition of agricultural stock is good. Prices:—The price of rice remained stationary in sixteen districts, wheat in nineteen, gram in twenty and juar in twenty-one districts. Variations elsewhere are unimportant.

Feudatory States.—Eleven states received rain during the week ranging from 4 cents in Kawardha to 81 cents in Sarangarh. Preparation of land for sowings of autumn crops is in progress. Sowing of rice continues in Raigarh, Sarangarh, Sakti, Jashpur and Korea. Fodder and water in Kawardha and Raigarh in Chhuikhadan, Khairagarh and Nandgaon are becoming scarce. Prices:—Rice rose by 3 seers per rupee in Kanker.

Bombay.—The rain during the week was good in parts of Ahmedabad, Kaira, Kanara and Kathiawar; moderate in parts of Broach, Surat, Colaba, East Khandesh, Baroda, Palanpur, Mahi Kantha, Rewa Kantha and Kolhapur and slight in parts of Sind, the Panch Mahals, Thana, Patnagiri and other Deccan districts and in the Karnatak and Cutch. Sowing of autumn crops has commenced in Kaira, the Konkan, Poona and Belgaum. Preparation of lands for autumn cultivation continues elsewhere. The fodder supply is generally adequate except in parts of Sukkur, Larkana and Hyderabad. Agricultural stock are sufficient except in parts of the Deccan and are generally in good condition. Drinking water is generally sufficient except in parts of East Khandesh, Sholapur and the Karnatak. Irrigation water is adequate except in parts of the Deccan and the Karnatak. Grain stocks are sufficient. Prices have fallen in Sukkur and Hyderabad; have risen in Karachi, Ahmedabad, Patnagiri, East Khandesh and Dharwar and are stationary elsewhere. The quantity purchasable per rupee is in Sind 25 to 41 per cent; in Gujarat 20 to 34 per cent; in the Konkan 2 to 26 per cent; in the Deccan 13 to 40 per cent and in the Karnatak 34 to 41 per cent less than the normal.

Hyderabad.—Slight rain fell during the week, the average rainfall throughout the Dominions being 3 cents. Water scarcity is general. Lands are being prepared for autumn crops in all districts. Cattle disease prevails in seven and fodder scarcity in thirty-one talukas. Prices:—wheat and coarse rice $6\frac{1}{2}$ and juar $12\frac{1}{2}$ seers per rupee. White juar is selling in Hyderabad City at $11\frac{1}{2}$ seers while yellow juar is not available in districts. The highest price of juar is 8 seers in Karimnagar and the lowest 20 seers in Bidar.

Mysore.—Slight rain fell in parts of the State. Prices of food grains are steady. Markets are well supplied. Standing crops are in good condition. Prospects of the season are good. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Rainfall one inch 26 cents. Ploughing for rice continues. Prices of food-grains are stationary. The public health is fair. Water and fodder for cattle are sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall was good in Malabar, South Canara, Trichinopoly, the Nilgiris and Anantapur; nil in Guntur, Madras and Tinnevely and light to fair elsewhere. Irrigation supplies are sufficient in Malabar and the Nilgiris and insufficient in parts of other districts. Ploughing, sowing, weeding and transplanting are in progress. Standing crops are fair but some in parts of Chingleput, South Arcot, Coimbatore, Tinnevely and South Canara have withered or are withering. Harvests continue with outturn poor to normal. Pasture is sufficient in Vizagapatam, Chingleput, Madras, Tanjore and the Nilgiris and insufficient in parts of other districts. Fodder is scanty in parts of Godavari, Guntur, Cuddapah and Nellore. The condition of cattle is generally good. The price of rice is stationary in eleven districts, has fallen in three and has risen in ten. The prices of millets have fluctuated as follows:—Ragi is stationary in thirteen districts, has fallen in four and has risen in five. Chulam is stationary in five districts, has fallen in four and has risen in six. Cumbu is stationary in eight districts, has fallen in five and has risen in two. The public health is generally good. Prospects are generally fair. The condition of the labouring classes is satisfactory everywhere and employment is readily available. Grain stocks are generally sufficient.
